LABOR SHORTAGE IS DISCUSSED

FULLEST COOPERATION IN SOLVING LABOR PROBLEM IN KENTUCKY—PLANS WILL BE COMPLETE IN NEAR FUTURE.

For many months the favorite topic of conversation of farmers has been the question of agricultural labor. At times throughout 1942 farmers have not been able to find agricultural labor to do a certain job. Some farmers have not had that problem. In some localities there has been a surplus of labor.

In order to stop a recurrence of such a situation, farmers working on the 1943 production goals should also study the question of labor on the farm for the peak seasons of 1943 and make plans now.

The labor shortage that arose in 1942 was in part due to insufficient planning in advance of the time of the actual labor needs.

There is no organization that can, in a few days, furnish labor for a job in an area where there is a lack of labor. But with proper forethought that same organization, if notified far enough in advance, can study the labor needs of that locality and make plans to take care of that labor need. To do this job will take cooperation not only between farmers but also between agricultural agencies.

These agencies met a few days prior to Christmas and discussed the labor problem and they assured each other at that time the fullest cooperation in solving the labor problem as it exists in Kentucky.

Within a short time, plans will be completed that should help erase the labor problem for farmers in 1943.

But if this plan is expected to work, farmers will have to make their labor needs known in advance of the time of that actual need. By this we do not mean they must make known the actual day or week that they will need this labor. However, they should estimate that they will need so many hands in addition to those on their farm to harvest so many acres of crop at harvest time or that they will need so many hands to plant a crop at planting time.

Every farmer in Kentucky when making plans for the 1943 production should also make plans for the 1943 labor needs. In many cases farmers can locally take care of a 2 or 3 day job, but if he can't . . . that is a need he should make known in advance of the peak seasons, says Mark Cook, Chairman of the AAA County Committee.

What to do with this new labor plan will be announced in the next issue of this paper.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Baker, of Indiana, spent part of the Christmas holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maurer and son.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Lamb, of Ft. Mitchell called on friends here one Saturday night during the holidays.

GAS RATIONING TO BE ENFORCED

OPA SENDS AGENTS INTO KENTUCKY TO ENFORCE MILEAGE RATIONING—STIFF PENALTIES IMPOSED ON VIOLATORS.

A state-wide drive to enforce provisions of the mileage rationing was under way Monday of this week, with 25 special agents of the Price Administration taking the field.

The first step of the enforcement will be to see that stickers indicating the type of ration be displayed correctly. The law provides that one sticker, that showing the total ration, be displayed in the lower right part of the rear window of the car.

This will enable the person placing gasoline in the car to readily see the type of book held by the person.

The penalty for the driver violating any of the ration rules is suspension or revocation of his ration allowance for the duration by either George H. Goodman, State Administrator, or by the local Ration Board. Penalty for the person selling gasoline in violation of the ration regulations is suspension for the duration of the right to deal in gasoline or any other rationed goods.

J. P. BROTHERS TO ACT AS CHAIRMAN

OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS CAMPAIGN IN BOONE COUNTY—HALF OF PROCEEDS WILL REMAIN IN STATE FUND.

Plans have been completed for the annual winter campaign to raise money to fight Infantile Paralysis in the State and the Nation.

When President Roosevelt gave the go-ahead signal for the drive, he said: "The fight we have been carrying on against Infantile Paralysis . . . has shown remarkable results . . . but more than that, it has followed a course which indicates that we will succeed in this struggle."

In Boone County, the campaign will be directed by J. P. Brothers of Limaburg, whose appointment as County Chairman was announced by H. St. G. T. Carmichael, Chairman for Kentucky.

The money which is given by the people to this cause is divided into two equal parts; one half is turned over to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which uses its funds for research grants to laboratories and universities in an effort to learn the cause and prevention of this disease, and also sends doctors, nurses, money and other help to any community in the country where an epidemic rages.

The other half is placed in the custody of the National Foundation. The Chapter pays out the money when called upon by the Kentucky Crippled Children's Commission in cases of Infantile Paralysis only. The State Chapter also finances aids to alleviating the crippling after effects of the disease, such as sending a Kenny-trained technician to the Kosair Hospital in Louisville to instruct doctors and nurses in the method perfected by the famous Australian nurse.

The money in the Chapter treasury is ready on call for any case of Infantile Paralysis anywhere in the State.

MOBILIZATION DAY IS NEAR

FOOD GOALS FOR 1943 EXCELL PAST YEAR ON PRACTICALLY ALL CROPS — MOBILIZATION DAY SET TUESDAY, JAN. 12.

Kentucky farmers are now making plans for the greatest food production program in the history of our nation.

The 1943 food goals excell the food goals of 1942 on practically all crops. Probably the greatest increase for Kentucky will be in the growing of hemp for fiber and hemp for seed. The 1943 goals ask Kentucky to grow 50,000 acres of hemp for seed and 48,000 acres of hemp for fiber. This 98,000 acres of hemp leads the other 47 states in individual crop increases. Illinois and Minnesota are second in the proposed 1943 production of hemp with each anticipating meeting goal requirements of 60,000 acres each.

The deadline for all food goal activities will be Mobilization Day, Tuesday, January 12.

On that day farmers throughout the nation will meet with various USDA Agencies to discuss the 1943 job.

Throughout January AAA Community Committeemen will contact every farmer in Kentucky in the signing of 1943 production goals.

This mobilization period will be the greatest food production activity the nation has ever seen. It will be the farmers' part in the all out war effort, according to Mark Cook, Chairman of AAA County Committee.

LEADERS MAKE PROGRAM VISITS

BEGINNING NEXT WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 12—EACH FAMILY WILL BE GIVEN VALUABLE INFORMATION ON WAR NEEDS.

Three hundred seventy-one Boone County neighborhood leaders will begin visiting all farm families in the county next Wednesday, January 12, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. They will give each family valuable information on the following five important government war programs:

(1) Share the meat
(2) Fire prevention
(3) Tin Salvage
(4) Salvage of nylon and silk hosiery.
(5) 4-H Victory project enlistment.

Democratic government is founded on the principle of giving the people the facts in order that they in turn may give their wholehearted support to the need. One of the greatest difficulties in this plan of operation is getting the information to the local people as rapidly as possible. Three hundred seventy-one local leaders representing the 2027 farm families and 1397 urban families in the county have volunteered as a special war service to cooperate through the neighborhood leader system and to contact approximately ten of their neighbors in these and other important war programs. These leaders will serve without pay in order to get official important war information to our people.

Community meetings to train neighborhood leaders will be held at Burlington, Monday night, January 11; Petersburg and Florence on Tuesday, Jan. 12; Belleview, Wednesday, Jan. 13; Walton and Verona, Thursday, Jan. 14; Hamilton and Constance on Friday, Jan. 15; Hebron and New Haven on Saturday, Jan. 16. All meetings will start at 8:00 on the time used in the respective communities. The services of all, in addition to the present neighborhood leaders, who wish to donate their services are invited to attend.

Ryle-Smith

A pretty holiday wedding was solemnized Christmas Day at two o'clock at the Belleview Baptist Church, when Elma Marie Ryle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Ryle, of Grant, Ky., and Herman Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Smith, of Rising Sun, Ind., were united in marriage by Rev. Walter C. Guth.

The bridal party proceeded to the altar to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March played by Anna Louise McArthur. A large Christmas tree was decorated in silver and lighted in blue provided an attractive background for the ceremony which was attended by relatives and friends.

The bridesmaid, Mrs. Orville Sebree, of Burlington, sister of the bride was dressed in a pink net and lace gown, accented with blue velvet bows and carried pink baby mums. The bride was very attractive in a white taffeta gown, fashioned with long bouffant skirt, and a filmy finger-tip veil of tulle. and carried a bouquet of white roses. Mr. Orville Sebree served as best man.

Mrs. Smith has been employed for some months at the Ideal Restaurant in Rising Sun and Mr. Smith is employed at Aurora. The young couple expect to make their home in Rising Sun.

VICTORY DRIVE SHORT OF GOAL

TOTAL OF $370,927.75 RAISED IN BOONE COUNTY—FOUR PRECINCTS OVER SUBSCRIBED QUOTA.

The Victory Fund Drive closed on December 31st, showing a total of $370,927.75 in bond sales for Boone County. This is short of our $490,000.000 quota but reflects a splendid effort on the part of the precinct chairmen and their coworkers, when it must be considered that Boone County is strictly an agricultural county. Many people work outside of our State and subscribed for bonds in other states through their employers, for which Boone County did not receive credit. Another matter that retarded subscriptions is the fact that farmers have sold only a portion of their tobacco crops in December and were not prepared to subscribe for bonds. Several large subscriptions have been reported since the drive ended but can not be counted in the December drive.

It is not possible to give the sales by precincts at this time, but as all sales were handled by the banks and post offices of the county, we are listing the sales as made by each bank and the post office in its town, regardless of precincts:

Peoples Deposit Bank and Post Office	$103,313.75
Dixie State Bank and Post Office	58,356.25
Hebron Deposit Bank	57,558.25
Union Deposit Bank	50,032.75
Florence Deposit Bank and Post Office	39,487.50
Farmers Bank	22,891.75
Citizens Deposit Bank	21,950.00
Verona Bank	17,337.50
Total	$370,927.75

It is known that at least four precincts oversold their quotas and had it been a little later in the season all precincts would have reached their goal.

Information has reached us that another drive will be made in April and the County Chairman, Mr. Renaker, is requesting that the county organization remain intact and be ready to work when the April drive is announced.

The precinct chairman and their co-workers deserve much credit for the time and personal expense incurred in securing this large subscription for bonds in such a short time, even though the County quota was not reached. The nation's quota of nine billion dollars was exceeded by approximately three billion dollars.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gaines and daughter Sue, of Erlanger called on relatives here, Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kelly Clore, of Frankfort, visited Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Eddins, several days during the holidays.

RIVER REACHES HIGH OF 60.8 FEET

EXPECTED TO RECEDE TO 51 FEET BY FRIDAY, BARRING HEAVY RAINS WHICH ARE UNLIKELY DUE TO COLD WAVE

Barring heavy rains, which are unlikely because of cold wave that arrived in the Ohio Valley Monday, the Ohio River should be back in its banks early Friday—less than one week after it rose past the 52-foot mark shortly before 9 o'clock Friday morning.

After reaching a high of 60.8 feet Monday night after a day in which it rose only five inches, the water began to recede and is expected to reach 51 feet by noon Friday—one foot under flood stage.

With colder weather Monday and still colder weather predicted, the probabilities appeared to be better than ever for a respite from rainfall.

Damage in Boone County due to the high water has not been reported, but it is thought that the figure would be small.

A Week of The War

Washington—"There is no hope for any lessening of the restrictions upon the use of gasoline and fuel oil," OES Director Byrnes said after a conference with the officials in charge of the nation's petroleum program. Mr. Byrnes asked the administrators of the three agencies responsible—the OPA, the ODT, and the Petroleum Administration for War—to submit as soon as possible their suggestions on various phases of the problem, and in the meantime to take steps to increase supply and improve rationing methods.

The immediate problem of petroleum is the result of unanticipated demands for military purposes. And since 30 states are fuel-oil-rationed and all of the states gas-rationed, the problem is of vital interest to the entire nation. The suspension order on the sale of gasoline in the 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia lasted only a day and a half, but when the order was lifted at 12:01 a. m. December 21, B and C coupons in the area had been reduced in value from four to three gallons and the issuance of these books had been suspended. OPA said that when issuance is resumed a "new and tougher" policy will go into effect, with local ration boards instructed to hold issuance of extra rations to the "absolute minimum." Meanwhile, a new drive has been launched against black market operations, with 800 investigators in the east coast rationed area working to prevent illegal distribution. This means increased emphasis on strict enforcement of all gasoline rationing regulations, and special attention given to suppliers of T or commercial vehicles. Gasoline dealers have been told that they will be held strictly accountable for violations.

The ODT asked all truck, bus and taxicab owners whose certificates of war necessity do not provide sufficient mileage and fuel allotments to estimate their requirements carefully and apply for the minimum amount of fuel necessary for essential operations. Secretary Wickard called on farmers in the east to cooperate to the utmost in conserving fuels and to buy only enough for current needs. And Petroleum Administrator Ickes, to safeguard the Atlantic seaboard's limited stocks, issued an order controlling the amounts of gasoline and fuel oils which may be withdrawn from east coast refineries and terminal supply points.

Fuel Oil

WPB has approved the barge, tugboat and towboat building program recommended by ODT, and construction will begin shortly on 500 wooden tank barges, 21 steel hull towboats and 100 tugboats, to enable an additional daily eastward barge movement of 50,000 barrels of residual fuel oil within five months and 100,000 barrels within ten months. Terminals will be built at Jacksonville and Panama City, Fla., and at Cairo, Ill. OPA has issued an amendment, permitting oil brought into the 30-state rationed area in the supply tanks of locomotives, boats trucks or other motor vehicles to be consumed without a ration, as the use of this fuel does not deplete the supply of oil in the rationed area. Those homeowners who have exhausted their currently valid fuel oil rations can now use up to one-half their coupon for the next heating period, and office buildings, apartment houses and other commercial buildings which, because of a lack of labor or materials, have been unable to convert heating equipment to coal, may use temporary fuel oil rations after the January 26 deadline. Due to the recent protracted spell of abnormally cold weather, the value of fuel oil coupons has been increased in the 13 rationed middle western states—class I coupons (home owners) valued at 11 gallons instead of 10, and class II coupons (apartment houses, office buildings, etc.) valued at 110 gallons instead of 100—and consumers in the eastern area may use their third-period fuel oil coupons anytime after December 28th.

To encourage the use of fuel other than oil, electricity and gas, WPB announced that the production of fireplace grates will be permitted during the December 21-January 6 period, and extended for another year provisions permitting such construction as is necessary for the conversion or substitution of heating equipment. And this week the rationing regulations for new coal and oil heating stoves in the 30 rationed states were formally issued by OPA.

The War Front

Secretary Hull, describing the assassination of Admiral Darlan as "an odious and cowardly act," said that the all-important consideration now is not to be "diverted for a moment from the supreme objective" of gaining control of the African continent and the Mediterranean. The battle, he said, is still at a crucial and critical stage, and Gen Eisenhower and his associates need the fullest measure of unified support. Earlier, Secretary of War Stimson told a press conference that Allied forces on the offensive in Tunisia have a fairly good margin of superiority over the Axis forces defending Tunis and Bizerte, and added that in the air our margin of destruction is holding at a rate of about two to one. Both sides are bringing reinforcements into Tunisia, but "our side is preparing for an offensive to take Tunis and Bizerte"—the Axis has the advantage in existing bases, but the Allies have the advantage in the mounting size of their forces and the development of new bases.

Meanwhile, land activity has flared up in Tunisia, as Allied forces occupied a dominating position near Medjaz-el-bab. Allied fighters continued their sweeps and patrols over the forward areas, attacking Axis vehicles and destroying Axis planes.

In the South Pacific on Christmas day, a flight of army flying fortresses took off from the airfield at Guadalcanal to bomb Japanese shipping in the harbor of Rabual, New Britain Island. They scored three direct hits on a large transport or cargo ship and several near hits close to three smaller cargo vessels. The day before Christmas, U. S. planes from Guadalcanal bombed and strafed the Japanese airfield and shore installations at Munda on New Georgia Island, downed 1 intercepting enemy plane and destroyed 10 more on the ground. All the U. S. planes returned undamaged.

Manpower

The Government is preparing a program for the scientific training of civilian specialists so urgently needed in the war effort. The program is similar to that formulated by the army and navy for college-age men, but the WMC expects to use the facilities of more universities and colleges that the armed service will use.

More than 6,500 war production plants in which more than 6,000,000 men and women are at work have now been aided by the job instructor training program of the training within industry service. Better than 320,000 supervisors industrial foremen and crew chiefs have been certified as war-production job instructors and the announced goal of 335,000 "trainers" by the end of 1942 will be reached on schedule.

As for voluntary enlistment, during the 1940-41 period negroes constituted better than 16 percent of the total number of volunteers entering the army through selective service. The Director of Selective Service, in reporting to the President on the high percentage of negro volunteers, said that in one particular state every call made for negro selectees was filled over a period of several months by volunteers. Negro soldiers are now on active duty in almost all overseas theatres where American troops are stationed.

Women will make up 30 percent of the labor force in war industries next year, it is estimated.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

JESUS INSTRUCTS A GREAT TEACHER

LESSON TEXT—John 3:1-16.
GOLDEN TEXT—For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on him should not perish, but have everlasting life.—John 3:16.

Nicodemus came to our Lord when He was in Jerusalem for the Passover. Jesus had chosen six of His disciples, had performed His first miracle at Cana, and had made a brief visit to Capernaum, after which He came to Jerusalem for the feast.

In high and holy indignation He had driven the money changers out of the temple. The Pharisees who looked for the coming of the Messiah as a secular conqueror wondered at this new spiritual leader. It was probably as much on their behalf as his own that Nicodemus came to inquire of Jesus.

In answering his questions Jesus reveals the necessity, the nature, and the method of regeneration. The only entrance into the Christian life is by the door of the new birth. Regeneration is the act of God whereby the divine nature is imparted to the believing sinner and he becomes the child of God. He who has not entered by this way has not entered at all. He is still dead in trespasses and sins, without God and without hope (Eph. 2:1, 12).

Men seek to enter the household of God by almost any other means—culture, reform, character building—and neglect or reject God's way.

I. The Necessity of Regeneration (vv. 1-7).

Jesus was not unduly impressed by the dignity and high station of his visitor, nor by the visitor's courteous acknowledgment of His own position as a great teacher. With incisive boldness Jesus declared that this man, a cultured and distinguished ruler of the Jews, must be born again if he is to see the kingdom of God.

God is no respecter of persons. This "doctor of divinity" must be born again, just as was the illiterate fisherman. The requirements are the same for all, and the necessity as great in one level of society as in another.

The surprising thing is that this teacher of theology could be so ignorant of the one essential element of a real spiritual experience. He evidently thought he could bring his soul to eternal life by his own works, when in fact he was not able to give himself physical—let alone spiritual—life.

Two reasons are given by our Lord for the "must" of verse 7: (1) The kingdom of God is a spiritual kingdom, and cannot be entered by way of our human nature; and (2) "that which is born of the flesh is flesh" and is radically and essentially bad. To learn why the flesh is bad read Jeremiah 13:23 and Galatians 5:19-21. Scripture on this point is diametrically opposed to the teaching of unbelieving men. When such a difference arises be sure of this—God's Word is right. Follow it!

II. The Nature of Regeneration (vv. 8-13).

The new birth is a divine mystery, not fathomable by human reason. Those who insist that all spiritual truth be put through the little norm of their intelligence will never understand it or receive its blessing.

The striking illustration of the life-giving and energizing wind used by our Lord is most illuminating. Wind is unseen, but the results of its movement are evident. Even so the spiritual rebirth of men is an enigma to the worldly man, but even he can see its results in godly living.

Observe the clarity and simplicity of our Lord's teaching on what is undoubtedly the most profound subject in all the world. Let us follow His example and always "make the message clear and plain, Christ receiveth sinful men!"

III. The Method of Regeneration (vv. 14-16).

Many there are who ask Nicodemus' question, "How can these things be?" (v. 9). The answer is clear—"Only by faith in the Son of God, our Saviour."

Just as there was healing and life in a look at the uplifted serpent (Num. 21:8), so there is life for a look at the Crucified One. Faith receives God's perfect provision for sin.

John 3:16 may well be regarded as the greatest sentence in the greatest Book in the world. It presents the whole plan of salvation—its source, its ground, its recipients, its condition, and its result. It also reveals God's love—its "object, character, manifestation, purpose, and the result" (John W. Bradbury).

This glorious salvation is for all men—"whosoever"—but some reject it. Notice that God does not condemn them. Their own evil works and desires condemn them (vv. 17-20). God in His grace is ready and willing to save, but men love "darkness rather than light," for their works are evil.

Nicodemus came to Jesus by night—but he came. Have you come? Will you come now?

FOR VICTORY--BUY U. S. WAR BONDS EVERY PAYDAY

This Week On The Home Front

The big news on the Home Front is still the expanded rationing program set up by the Office of Price Administration. It is a part of the democratic process of assuring that our food is fairly apportioned, and that a sufficient supply is kept available.

It is worked out as a balance of our own domestic needs, the needs of our armed forces, who must have the very best, and the needs of our Allies who are helping us in the fight to keep Axis oppression from our common door. The OPA was directed by the Department of Agriculture to undertake the rationing of virtually all commercially processed vegetables and fruits—canned, bottled, and frozen vegetables, fruits, juices, dried fruits, and all soups. It is expected that this food rationing program will begin in February when the mechanics of the system will be ready to roll. The reasons for announcing the program this far is advance may be found in the magnitude of the job to be done before rationing can begin. War Ration Book 2 must be distributed to every family and 1,500,000 OPA volunteers must be recruited and trained to handle registration. Food wholesalers and retailers must be instructed in the plan, and trade meetings must be held from coast to coast.

The consuming public itself must be adequately informed on the use of War Ration Book 2, so that they will know how to use it when the program starts.

To register for Book 2, it will be necessary to make a declaration of all the commercially processed fruits and vegetables in the individual's possession, and stamps will be deduced accordingly before the book is issued. The national acceptance of the program has been highly gratifying, for in only a few isolated instances, has there been any unpatriotic rush of hoarders who buy extra stocks of canned goods.

This far-reaching step may be taken by consumers as a sign that the OPA and the Department of Agriculture will keep the food situation under firm control, and that adequate diets will be assured to everyone.

• • •

Jury members, who need additional mileage when they are on court duty, will be eligible for special gasoline rations.

• • •

"Physical Fitness, Through Physical Education, For The Victory Corps," a pamplet outlining the physical training aspects of the National Wartime Physical Fitness Program for high school boys and girls, has been released by the United States Office of Education.

• • •

Desk pencil sharpeners and metallic file fasteners may no longer be manufactured. Other war casualties are copper-engraved business stationery, greeting cards and calling cards.

• • •

Inter-city buses must henceforth be loaded to capacity, where passengers are available, to eliminate waste of tires, fuel and equipment. The order is designed to fill empty seats with passengers, who, otherwise, would require a second bus.

• • •

Have your tires inspected at once, if you wish to be eligible for a recap or a new tire. Now that mileage rationing is in effect, it's possible for every car owner, whether he holds an A, B, or C book, to secure tires for his automobile, but only after a qualified inspector has looked over his car. This must be done before January 31st.

• • •

American civilians will largely have to do without the mounting list of consumers goods, such as cellophane, plastics, asphalt, wood, and wood products, in order that delicate equipment may be shipped safely to the fighting men throughout the world. Such materials that have been used for purely decorative and display purposes will disappear.

• • •

Widespread bootlegging of beef in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, and West Virginia, has been uncovered by the Cleveland Regional OPA. Plans are being completed to forcibly stop the practice. "Black market" operations of irregular slaughterers has resulted in wasteful and unsanitary conditions that will not be tolerated.

• • •

Milk price increase of 1c a quart has been granted to 44 northern Ohio and 4 West Virginia counties.

• • •

In order to assure a fair distribution of the limited quantities of consumer goods available under war economy, the WPB has acted to limit the size of mercantile inventories of these goods in the hands of large retailers, wholesalers, and stock-carrying branches of manufacturers. A new order will hold consumer goods inventories of the larger concerns at about the same level, in relation to their sales, as they maintained prior to Pearl Harbor, and thus assure that larger quantities are available for distribution through the smaller outlets.

• • •

A rule requiring owners of radio sets to turn in their old tubes when they buy new ones is being worked out by the WPB, and probably will go into effect early this year.

• • •

In November, the country scored the biggest monthly gain in munitions production made since we began to re-arm in the summer of 1940. The percentage increase was 12 per cent. This breaks a 6-month series of declining percentages of gain that began in May.

• • •

The OWI has made a coast to coast survey of the drinking conditions in and around army camps. Three explicit conclusions were made. One: There is no extensive drinking among troops and drinking does not constitute a serious problem. Two: The sale of 3.2 beer in the post exchanges in training camps is a positive factor in army sobriety. Three: No American army in all history has been so orderly.

• • •

Relatively few sugar and coffee rationing books issued to persons who have since died or joined the armed forces are being returned to War Price and Rationing Boards, and the regional OPA has placed the matter in the hands of its regional enforcement attorney.

• • •

Moving to combat the diversion of milk in Indiana, the OPA has granted an almost state-wide increase in the price of milk in Indiana.

MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR LIGHTING

(No. 7 of a Series)

Place Lamps to Utilize Light Most Efficiently

The amount of useful light you get from a lamp decreases rapidly as the lamp is moved away from the working area to be lighted. Conversely, the useful light increases greatly as the light source is moved toward the working area. In the above example, merely by moving the end table lamp eight inches from the far to the near side of the table, the amount of useful light for reading or sewing was more than doubled. Remember this important point and always place chairs close to lamps. You'll not only get more light for your money, but you'll prevent needless eyestrain.

There's a Right and Wrong Way to Wire a plug

Repairing loose plugs helps conserve vital war materials, but be sure you do it right or a "short" may develop.

RIGHT WAY, right, shows wires put around prongs. When cord is yanked or jerked, pressure is put on the prongs, not the connections.

The Great Toe

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

Did you know that the great toe supports the entire weight of the body for an instant, in the last act of walking?

The foot muscles acting upon the four lesser toes preserve the balance of the body, by causing the toes to grip in the shoes, and in the last act of walking to give the final spring, or "take off." By their attachment the toes flex at their first (holongel) points and extend at their second and third joints, so that the ends of the toes are pressed upon and grip in standing so as to form powerful propelling levers as the body swings forward upon the toes.

Now, take off your shoes—and look at the bottoms of your toes. In every case (there are few exceptions) you will see where the fleshy tissue on the bottom ends of the toes come to a point, from being forced tight together and in many cases the toes themselves lap over one another. This is positive evidence of ill fitted and ill shaped shoes. This continued distortion of toes in many cases leads to bunions, Hommar toes and other toe defects.

Lack of balance will cause you to walk incorrectly and create strain in other parts of the body, inducing fatigue, pain and more misery, NOT ONLY in the feet, but also in the limbs and back, even in the back of the neck and headaches. Resolve right now to correct this condition.

It costs you nothing for a thorough analysis of your foot problems and difficulties. Remember you can't be HAPPY with UNHAPPY FEET.—Adv.

Comfort

There is a day of sunny rest
For every dark and troubled night,
And grief may bid an evening guest
But joy shall come with morning light.
For God hath marked each sorrowing day,
And numbered every secret tear,
And Heaven's long age of bliss shall pay
For all his children suffer here.

By his heart broken wife, Mrs. W. F. Fogle.

CINCINNATI PRODUCER'S BOARD DECLARES FIETEEN PER CENT REFUND

At the December meeting of the board of directors of the Cincinnati Producers, the business transactions for the year 1942 were carefully reviewed and the board again declared a 15 per cent refund on commissions paid during the year 1942. While savings per unit of business is small, it is reported that the directors of this cooperative have endeavored to render increased services for the benefit of livestock producers even though commission charges are more than 25 per cent less than those which prevailed on the market when the Cincinnati Producers began business and as prevailed the first few years of their operations. These returns to members will amount to something more than $20,000.00.

In addition to the refund to members, the Board set aside 5 per cent of commissions paid during the year for additional services and field work. These savings apply to the operations at Cincinnati. The Association operates branch agencies at Dayton and Lexington. At the three markets, the Cincinnati Producers handled approximately a million and a half dollars worth of business monthly. The total operating cost of this Cooperative is slightly more than one per cent of the value of livestock handled.

FLORENCE HOMEMAKERS

In spite of rain, snow and slush on December 22nd, approximately 20 of the Florence Homemakers met at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fossett for the regular meeting and Christmas party.

The morning session was given over to business and Mrs. Sarah Markesbery was selected as our delegate to Farm and Home Week, to be held at Lexington late in January.

The dinner was delicious and was almost entirely donated by our generous grocer, Ben Anten. It consisted of chicken, dressing, gravy, sweet potatoes with grapefruit, peas, turnips, apple and nut salad, date pudding with whipped cream and coffee.

Although the dinner did not follow the lesson for the day, the lesson was given by Mrs. Kobman in a very interesting manner.

The afternoon was given over to the party which was in the hands of Mrs. Lillian Schram and Mrs. Sarah Markesbery. Both of these girls are full of original ideas and the result was something to make you wonder. They had provided 3 or 4 games that everyone could play and they even had a Santa Claus to give out the 10c gifts, which each one had brought. Altogether it was a red letter day.

Mabel G. Sayre, Reporter.

BULLITTSVILLE HOMEMAKERS

The Bullittsville Homemakers held their December meeting at the home of Mrs. Lee Marshall. The business session and the lesson for the major project was held in the morning.

After a delightful lunch, a Christmas program and party was held. Those present enjoyed the singing of Christmas carols, a Christmas story by Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, games and the exchanging of gifts. The highlight of the afternoon program was a talk by Mrs. Jonas Stevens on "Christmas of 1942." She said in her talk that the world seemed as dark to us this Christmas as it did to Longfellow in 1863 when the U. S. was at the crisis in the war between the States. When Longfellow heard the church bells on Christmas day they seemed to be saying "Peace on earth, good will to men." But that message seemed to contradict existing conditions. How could bells ring of peace when a nation was at war. Then Longfellow remembering the real meaning of Christmas and realizing that the meaning of those bells would eventually prevail, wrote his thoughts in what is one of the greatest Christmas poems:

I heard the bells on Christmas day
Their old familiar carols play,
And wild and sweet the words repeat,
Of peace on earth, good will to men!

I thought how, as the day had come,
The belfries of all Christendom
Had rolled along the unbroken song
Of peace on earth, good will to men.

And in despair I bowed my head;
There is no peace on earth; I said,
For hate is strong and mocks the song
Of peace on earth, good will to men.

When pealed the bells more loud and deep;
God is not dead, nor doth He sleep!
The wrong shall fail, the right prevail
With peace on earth, good will to men!

Till, ringing, singing on its way,
The world revolved from night to day;
A voice, a chime, a chant sublime
Of peace on earth, good will to men!

PASSENGER CAR TIRES MUST BE INSPECTED BY JANUARY 31 BY GOVERNMENT INSPECTOR, ACCORDING TO RATION BOARD.

The Boone County War Price and Rationing Board No: 8, Walton, Ky., announced this week that all passenger car tires must be inspected by January 31, 1943, by an inspector appointed by the Government. These inspections must be made by an inspector in the County in which you live.

This is an official order and must be fulfilled in order for automobile owners to be eligible for gasoline after January 31, 1943.

The Board urges that this inspection be completed as soon as possible in order to eliminate standing in line and long hours of waiting during the last minute rush of inspection.

All holders of gasoline ration books must display the highest letter of ration book on their automobile, and all holders of ration books must write their license number and state of registration on the back of each gasoline coupon in their book. This is in accordance with the Federal Government regulation.

The Boone County Rationing Board No. 8, will be closed on Wednesday afternoon, until further notice. The office is open daily from 9 a. m. (E. W. T.) until 6 p. m. Saturday from 9:00 a. m. to 1 p. m. (E. W T.)

All persons who do not have a War Ration Book No 1, (sugar rationing book) must register or secure your ration book on or before January 15th. If you do not have this book No. 1 you cannot get your book No. 2 and will be unable to secure the other articles which will be rationed in the future. Register before January 15th.

Farm Loan Association Will Hold Meeting Jan. 16

The annual meeting of the Boone County National Farm Loan Association will be held in the court house at Burlington, Saturday afternoon, January 16th at 1:30 (E. W. T.)

In addition to election of officers, hearing of reports and other business coming before the meeting, H. R. Forkner, County Agent, will speak on the subject, "Agricultural Production in War Times."

With the present high prices for all farm products, many farmers have paid off their loans, even though the interest rate is 3½ per cent, and very few applications are being received by the association.

This community regrets the loss of one of our fine citizens this week, as Mrs. Maggie Easton is moving today to 3096 Madison Rd., Oakley, Ohio, to be near her daughter, who is now residing at Oakley. Mrs. Easton has many friends here. She has made this her home for many years.

Local Men Attend State Board Meeting

Mark Cook, John Crigler, Will Smith, O. W. Chinn and H. R. Forkner attended the State meeting of County Agricultural War Board at Lexington last Thursday.

County and State farm production goals for 1943 were outlined at the meeting. The agricultural outlook shows that Kentucky farmers plan to produce considerable in excess of practically all the goals set for this year. Hemp seed appeared to be the main exception. Kentucky farmers are being called upon to raise 50,000 acres of hemp seed in 1943.

Colored Vagrant Arrested Here Monday Morning

After receiving several complaints from persons in the Florence Community, Deputy Sheriff R. I. Rouse arrested a Cincinnati man (colored) wandering near L. D. Renaker's farm on U. S. 25 Monday morning and brought him to Burlington jail on a vagrancy charge.

After brief questioning by County Judge C. L. Cropper, it was found that the man was mentally unbalanced and not responsible for his actions. A small paper was found in his pocket which stated that his name was Albert Smith, 76, 1531 Gorman St., Cincinnati, O.

Cincinnati authorities were notified that he was being held here, and an investigation was started at once.

Benefits To Landowners Of Soil Conservation District Outlined

Landowners in the Boone County Soil Conservation District have been asking the District Supervisors what benefits they might expect through cooperating with the District. Their answer to these farmers are "that individual benefits may vary because, like any other cooperative enterprise, the individual receives in proportion to the degree of his entrance into that enterprise." However, they pointed out, that farmers will receive the benefits of organized effort to combat community problems, a few of which are soil erosion, loss of soil fertility, inadequate drainage, poor pastures and meadows, lack of adequate stock water, lack of winter cover crops, many acres of idle land, etc.

Some of the benefits of organized effort which a farmer may receive by cooperating with the District are:

1. A complete soils map of the farm developed from an aerial photograph, with soil types and land use capabilities put in by a soils specialist.

2. Aid in developing a farm plan for land use, and soil and water conservation.

3. Assistance of men trained and experienced in forestry, drainage and erosion control.

4. Assistance in the form of materials as trees and shrubs for planting, and fish for stocking farm ponds.

5. The use of the light equipment now available in the District for developing soil and water conservation structures.

Additional information concerning the assistance that may be rendered by the District may be obtained by contacting Mr. H. R. Forkner, County Agent, or any of the following supervisors, Messrs. C. Liston Hempfling, Grover C. Ransom, H. E. White, Wm. H. Presser, and J. C. Bedinger, or by calling O. W. Chinn, Work Unit Leader at the District office in Burlington, phone Burlington 94.

C. SCOTT CHAMBERS DIES SUDDENLY TUES. AFTERNOON

Funeral Services Will Be Held at Chambers & Grubbs Funeral Home, Friday Afternoon at 2:00— Was One of County's Most Popular Men

C. Scott Chambers, 72, one of Boone County's most outstanding citizens, died suddenly Tuesday afternoon at 4:00 p. m., following a brief illness of only a few hours.

He was stricken with a severe pain Tuesday morning about 7:00 a. m. and in spite of all medical care passed away at 4:00 p. m. Tuesday evening. He has been in failing health for sometime, but was thought to be much better in the last few months. According to the doctor's report, a heart condition was the cause of his death.

Besides his wife and three daughters, Ella Mae, Aleen and Mary Scott Grubbs, he leaves two brothers, Lawrence Chambers, of Petersburg and Dr. W. K. Chambers, of Pasedena, Calif.; and two sisters, Mrs. Herman Mathews, of Petersburg and Mrs. Milo Atkinson, of San Diego, Calif. He is also survived by five grandchildren and a host of relatives and friends who will greatly miss his kindness and sympathy at all times.

Brief services will be conducted from the Chambers & Grubbs funeral home Friday afternoon at 2:00 p. m., followed by services at the grave at Highland Cemetery. Revs. R. F. Demoisey, George Carloland, C. J. Alford and Roy A. Johnson will participate in the services.

Funeral arrangements will be conducted by Mr. Wallace K. Grubbs and Henry F. Mathews, son-in-law and nephew, respectively, of Mr. Chambers.

Mr. Chambers was born in the Petersburg precinct on February 18, 1871, the son of Alfred E. and Laura Scott Chambers, the father a native of Boone County and the mother of Kenton.

He moved from Petersburg to Walton about thirty-three years ago and entered the undertaking business. By his industry, courtesy and kind consideration of his fellow men, he built up a large patronage not only in his own community but in the adjoining counties as well.

After deciding to make this profession his life work he attended the Cincinnati College of Embalming, taking a course preparatory to trying the state examination. This he passed with highest honors, and received his diploma as a licensed embalmer and undertaker in the three states of Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio. His establishment was equipped with all the modern facilities necessary for the business. His latest addition was the purchase and establishment of a modern funeral home, in the belief that "Boone County having the best people deserved the best equipment." His personality and kindness to others combined with his ability made him one of the leading undertakers in northern Kentucky.

Like so many other men who have made their mark in the world, he was born and reared on the farm. He attended the county schools of the neighborhood, finishing his elementary education at the Aurora High School, Aurora, Ind. After this he engaged in farming for several years, successfully managing and operating his father's extensive acres.

On November 7, 1900 he was united in marriage with Alta Terrill of Petersburg, daughter of John and Mary Terrill of that place. To this union two daughters were born, Aleen, who was born July 25, 1902 and who was the wife of the late Reuben Conner, cashier of the Citizens Bank, of Erlanger. The second daughter Mary Scott, who was born on May 26, 1904 and is the wife of Wallace K. Grubbs, both of whom were associated with her father in business.

A dear little girl four years of age from the Orphans' Home in Louisville came to the Chambers home on a visit about 15 years ago and when the parting time came she had become so attached to him and his family that she wanted to remain, so out of sympathy and the pure kindness of his heart he kept the little girl and gave her parental care.

Mr. Chambers was a member of the State Board of Examiners of Undertakers at Louisville, having served in that capacity for several years. He was affiliated with the I. O. O. F. Lodge and a staunch member of the Masonic Order. In politics he had followed the teaching of his youth and was a loyal Democrat of the old school. He was progressive and always contributed liberally toward every worthy cause that had for its aim the upbuilding and development of his town and county. He was a member of the Christian Church and as an Elder was an active worker for the cause. He was Chairman of the official board and was superintendent of the Sunday School for a number of years. He was never absent from church services unless kept away by business or illness.

Mr. Chambers has deserved all the good things that life had brought him, among the foremost of these being his many friends which he always held in highest esteem. He was a friend to this writer and this newspaper, and it is useless to say that he will be greatly missed by everyone who has ever had the pleasure of knowing him.

Richard O. Board

Richard O. Board, retired farmer, died Wednesday of last week at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Ed Westerman, 512 Garvey Ave., Elsmere, after a short illness. He was 86 years old, and had been a resident of Erlanger 40 years.

In addition to Mrs. Westerman he is survived by two other daughters, Mrs. Charles Carroll and Mrs. Joseph Martin; two sons, Elbert and Owen Hoard; 21 grandchildren and several great grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Friday afternoon at 2:30 at the Elsmere Baptist Church, with Rev. C. B. Coots, officiating. Burial was in Florence Cemetery.

Phil Taliaferro, Erlanger funeral director was in charge of arrangements.

FOUR FRONTS

Military victory must come on the fighting front. But back of the fighting front are three other fronts — manufacturing, farming and transportation. The fighting front cannot succeed without the efficient support of the other three. Robert S. Henry of the Association of American Railroads, in stressing the importance of the four fronts, has pointed out that on two of the fronts—farming and transportation—a constantly heavier load has been imposed while plant, equipment and manpower has either expanded very little or actually declined.

As far as the railroads are concerned, Mr. Henry said that: "To meet the rising demands in 1943 we shall have to continue . . . to improve our utilization of cars and engines, already at the highest point in our history; and we shall have to have more cars and engines. The number which we are asking the appropriate authorities to authorize is 80,000 freight cars and 900 locomotives, which is in no sense a 'trading' figure but is a minimum statement of our absolute needs . . .

"Just as on the farming front, so on the transportation front we are facing not only materials difficulties but also manpower problems. It may well be, in certain places at least, that the number of switch engine crews, train crews or other railroad workers available rather than the number of cars and engines on hand, may determine how much a given railroad or a particular division on the road can handle.

"Manpower, just as materials, is a problem for those who must fix the policies for the over-all conduct of this most stupendous of all human enterprises—the war of the United Nations to restore and preserve the freedom of the earth. We who have limited parts in that enterprise can only do our best, trusting that those in a position to see the situation as a whole can carry the war forward on all four fronts. Four men, the bravest and best in the world, cannot fight without tools and food; fighting tools cannot be manufactured without food; and none of it can be done without transportation."

PAY NOW

Twenty-seven million Americans will soon be paying heavy income taxes that as time goes on will become even heavier. To all but a mere fraction of this number, personal income taxes will be a new experience. In fact, according to recent surveys, a good proportion of these people do not yet realize they have been included in the taxable brackets. They are making no preparations to pay taxes. They are spending their money as fast as they earn it. The threat to government authority and solvency by a mass of potential tax delinquents, is serious.

A practical solution is the prompt adoption of a pay-as-you-go arrangement such as the Ruml plan. Mr. Ruml, former dean of social sciences at the University of Chicago, and Chairman of the Board of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, observes that: "Nothing can be gained by arguing that people ought to have saved the tax on last year's income out of last year's income. The fact is that they did not do it and now they cannot do it."

Every taxpayer must realize that we cannot survive war, and return to a system of individual freedom unless the government remains solvent. If it is to do that, the people will have to pay taxes and buy bonds on a devastating scale. Tax laws must be mercilessly far-reaching and efficient.

LIFE OF AMERICA

There will be many changes as a result of the war. But change in itself is nothing to fear. Constructive change has made this country great. The fundamental theory of our government encourages constant change, which in turn has brought constant progress.

Every man is urged to exploit his talents to the benefit of society, for which grateful fellow men pay a fair reward. Our manufacturing and natural resource industries are built on this principle of service. Currently they are turning out the machines of war in mountainous quantity. But in normal times they are ever changing, ever seeking for things that will give the rest of us a fuller, more wholesome life. Not only does this hold true in the development of new products, but also in the field of human relations.

Men and women who work in industry, whether they wield shovels or pencils, work in an atmosphere of change, of progress. It is manifested in a thousand and one small ways, from better light and ventilation in the factory to new devices for settling differences between managements and workers.

Managements change too. Men who give their lives to building and operating industries are constantly being replaced. Their jobs are being carried on by other men who work just as hard.

"From shirt sleeves to shirt sleeves in three generations," is typical of the changing opportunities that sustain the American system of free enterprise. If we destroy individual incentive and its desire for change, the life of America will be destroyed.

JAPANESE PROBLEM

The uprising at Manzanar, the Japanese camp in California, where alien Japanese as well as American-born Japanese are being held for the duration, has brought public attention to a condition that requires careful consideration. This uprising showed clearly that there are a percentage of dangerous Japanese in this country. Not only are they dangerous to everything that is American, but they are dangerous to thousands of Japanese who are undoubtedly loyal citizens.

Apparently the hatred of the Japanese who caused the trouble at Manzanar, is as strong or stronger toward the Japanese who are loyal to this country, as it is toward Americans. Hence the lives of such Japanese are endangered when they are confined in the same locations with the alien Japanese.

The problem is a most difficult one when our government is obliged to confine American-born Japanese as well as alien Japanese. As long as dire necessity requires such action, however, it is evident the two groups must be segregated.

Furthermore, some method of procedure must be evolved to give the loyal Japanese a chance to prove their loyalty so that they will not be forced to associate with the aggressive alien Japanese whose avowed purpose is to sabotage and destroy if given that opportunity in the United States.

The people have confidence that our government will correct this situation with full consideration of the safety and humanitarian issues involved.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

JESUS WINNING SOULS

LESSON TEXT—John 4:27-42.
GOLDEN TEXT—He that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal.—John 4:36.

Man's need is the same wherever and whoever he may be. The Christ who met the need of the distinguished religious leader Nicodemus did the same for the poor sinful woman of Samaria.

The incident at Jacob's well in Sychar took place when Jesus, leaving Jerusalem because of increasing hindrance to His work, went up to Galilee. Unlike His Jewish brethren, who detoured around the land of the hated "half-breed" Samaritans, He "must needs go through Samaria," for there was a sin-sick soul that needed Him.

Our lesson abounds with instruction regarding soul-winning, both in principle and in practice. We here find Jesus:

I. Winning a Soul-Winner (vv. 27-30).

The faithful and kindly ministry of Christ led the woman to faith in Him as the Messiah. She left her water pot and ran at once into the city to share her new-found joy with everyone she knew.

Since the first expression of spiritual life is testimony, the one who brings a sinner to Christ not only saves a soul, but also wins a worker for Christ. One fears that we often assume that winning men to Christ is enough. We should expect that the new light should shine forth into the darkness.

So we have a two-fold reason for soul-winning; saving a soul from perdition, and setting a life on fire for testimony. It's a great business. Why don't we do more of it?

II. Instructing Soul-Winners (vv. 31-38).

This work of soul-winning requires a sustaining grace which this world cannot give. Jesus by His own example showed His disciples how that strength comes from above.

He who had seated Himself at the well, tired and hungry, to await the return of the disciples with food, had been refreshed in the doing of the Father's will—in reaching this forlorn woman. "The greatest thing that ever occurs in the world is the transformation of a human soul, and the greatest joy anyone can ever have is to act as the divine agent in bringing about such a transformation" (Douglass).

There is another thing these soul-winners needed to learn—even as we need to learn and re-learn it—that the time to win souls is now. How prone the human being is to procrastinate. Tomorrow—next Sunday—next week, we will speak to someone about his spiritual need. Next year we will give more liberally for missions, or for the work of soul-winning in our local church. But "look on the fields." Do you not see "that they are ripe already unto harvest"?

Again, soul-winners need to remember our Lord's words in verses 36-38. Not only the reapers receive the reward, but also those who sow and those who labor in order that the harvest may come. The man who plows is just as important as the one who reaps—perhaps some would say more important. Some of us who are called to be God's plowmen should remember that and be encouraged in our labors.

Like the perfect leader that He was, Jesus did not require of His disciples what He did not do Himself. So we find Him again in the work of evangelism. He practiced what He preached.

III. Practicing Soul-Winning (vv. 39-42).

There is real danger that those of us who have a measure of leadership in the church may be quick to tell others what they ought to do—and not do it ourselves. This is particularly true in this matter of soul-winning. One is apt to write, preach and teach about it, and then neglect to do it.

The disciples had been to town for bread. One wonders whether they had talked to the store-keeper about Christ. Have you?

Jesus did not theorize about it—He really sought men for God. The testimony of the woman He had won sent a host of people out from the city. He spoke to them the word of life and they believed.

This was evidently "group evangelism" as distinguished from the "personal evangelism" which won the woman. They are both important, and belong together. Some are saying that the days of group evangelism are gone. We doubt that, but certainly the days of personal evangelism are always here. Let us be busy about that kind of soul-winning—and God may so bless that we will have a real revival. Are you ready for it?

The Best Prayer

He prayeth best who loveth best
All things both great and small:
For the dear God who loveth us,
He made and loveth all.

This Week On The Home Fron

Getting away from our own home front for a moment, let's take a look at that of our enemies:

The Board of Economic Warfare has announced that a balance sheet of Axis economic strength and weakness at the beginning of this year shows:

ONE—Germany still economically formidable, with little likelihood of economic collapse in 1943, but past its production peak;

TWO—Japan definitely stronger than a year ago in raw materials and within reach of a powerful and intrenched economic position, except for a major weakness in shipping.

The Axis powers' ability to support defensive warfare is especially marked. Both economies, however, are strained, so that bombing damage and increased military activity in the case of Germany plus ship sinking in the case of Japan, would have immediate effects on war production.

The German diet is superior to that of 1917-18. Though meat is scarce and fats and oils available are less than half of requirements, the 1942 grain crop was better than average and the potato crop may have set a record. Other civilian supplies are low but well organized and efficiently distributed. Most civilians are unable to obtain leather shoes and a window-glass shortage complicates housing and fuel problems.

* * *

Approximately 2 million pounds of storage butter which was frozen in 35 principal markets by the WPB on Nov. 21 has been released for civilian consumption.

* * *

Sale of 4-door, hard-topped Chevrolet, Ford and Plymouth sedans on rationing Certificates has been resumed.

* * *

Sales of shell eggs purchased solely for hatching purposes are exempt from price control.

* * *

Domestic non-mechanical refrigerators to be produced during the first quarter of this year may total 150,000 units.

* * *

Manufacturers of margerine, previously allowed to use only 110 percent of their average quarterly use of fats and oil in the corresponding quarters of 1940, and 1941, or 1941 alone, are now allowed to use 180 percent. This will require an extra 230 million pounds of oil.

* * *

Acting to meet a shortage of long staple cotton yarns needed in the production of women's rayon hosiery, the WPB has imposed rigid controls over consumption of imported English-spun combed cotton yarns and fabrics.

* * *

Canners are permitted to pack oysters in metal cans until April 30, and manufacturers are allowed to pack baking powder in fibre cans with metal ends until June 30.

* * *

To provide an adequate supply of electric storage batteries for replacement in passenger cars, trucks, buses, and other vehicles during 1943, the production quota for 1943 is established at 100 percent of the number sold during 1941.

* * *

Reports that Coupon Number 3 in the A Mileage Ration Book would be good after January 21st were denied by the OPA.

* * *

It is absolutely necessary for motorists to have their tires inspected before January 31st in order to be eligible for tire replacements.

* * *

Announced casualties of the United States armed forces from the outbreak of war to January 6, total 61,126. This includes killed, wounded, missing, interned in neutral countries and prisoners of Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Merchant Marine and the Philippine Scouts.

The United States has established a chain of aircraft tailoring shops, "modification centers" where standard mass-produced fighting planes are swiftly altered to meet requirements of campaigns thruout the global war.

* * *

Consumers may continue to purchase beer in no-deposit glass bottles. The single-trip beer bottle has been established as a standard bottle.

* * *

A conference of street traffic experts will consider how traffic lights may be adjusted to war-time conditions to eliminate waste of rubber and man hours.

* * *

Householders who have refused to redeem "coupon credit notes" issued to their dealers for purchases of fuel oil in the 30-state rationed area face suspension of their rations.

* * *

Improvement in imports has enabled WPB to increase the supply of cloves and ginger for packers, wholesalers, and industrial users.

* * *

A little more than half of the 15,755 new passenger automobiles released under rationing during October went to workers in war industries.

* * *

Limits within which metal and rubber closures for glass containers can be used to pack fruits, vegetables, juices, baby foods, meats, and certain other items are provided under the terms of a new conservation order.

* * *

Local War Price and Rationing Boards in Ohio will be closed to the public on Wednesday afternoons hereafter to give their staffs a chance to catch up on the large amount of clerical work involved in operating the offices.

U. S. SCHOOLBOYS ASSIST MARINES

America's school children today are playing important parts in the training program of United States Marines.

At lathes and work benches in hundreds of the nation's schools, students are turning out thousands of model planes which are helping sailors and Marines distinguish difference between enemy and friendly planes.

A few months ago the Navy Department furnished schools with drawings of Axis and Allied bombers and pursuit ships, set a national quota of 500,000 model planes, and asked America's school boys to do the job.

For the youngsters it has been fun and for the Marines and San Diego, Calif., Parris Island, S. C., and other bases, the toy planes have become objects for serious studies.

Built to an exact scale, the models, when hung a few feet overhead, resemble planes high in the sky. By memorizing the shapes of these toys, Marines becomes experts at distinguishing types of enemy and friendly planes.

COPPER AND RUBBER REQUIRE GOOD CARE

With copper and rubber becoming more scarce due to war needs, specialists at the College of Agriculture and Home Economics advise every homemaker to take extra precautions to make articles containing them last longer.

Take, for example, the electric cord. Too often it is yanked from the wall outlet, causing a broken connection or short circuit, which might have been avoided had the plug or cap at the end of the cord had been grasped.

When a cord has a switch or an outlet controlled by a switch, a connection should be made with the switch turned off. This will prevent the sparking that eventually wears away the metal. A flat-iron should be disconnected from the wall and not from the iron.

Wear on the outside covering of an electric cord should be repaired at once. When bare wires touch while current is flowing, a short circuit is formed, which may result in a broken fuse, a cord burned in half or even a fire.

Keep electric cords away from hot surfaces, for heat can injure both covering and inside insulation.

RANK OF EDUCATION IN KENTUCKY IS DISCUSSED BY KING

W. P. King, Secretary of the Kentucky Education Association, Louisville, Kentucky, released the following statement:

Much has been said about where Kentucky ranks in the list of states on the matter of schools. The following facts show the lowly position of our state and the tremendous handicap with which we start our children out into a competitive world.

The total yearly cost of Kentucky schools per capita population is $8.76. Four states are lower.

The yearly cost of schools per pupil enrolled in Kentucky is $41.26. Six states are lower. Average for United States $86.49.

Cost of schools per day for each pupil in average daily attendance is 29c. Eight states are lower.

The average salary of all teachers, supervisors and principals in Kentucky is $826.00. Seven states are lower.

The average salary of teachers alone in the state of Kentucky is $717.00 or $13.70 per week.

The percent of school expenditures devoted to salaries in Kentucky is 66.6 per cent. Six states only are higher. Average for the nation is 59.7 per cent.

Tax revenue per pupil in Kentucky $17.48. Average for United States is $25.91.

Number of days in average school year in Kentucky, 159. Three states are lower.

Percent of children 14 to 17 (high school age) enrolled in high schools in Kentucky, 41.2 percent. Only one state is lower.

Percent of total enrollment in high schools in Kentucky, 16.1 percent. Three states are lower.

Number of high school graduates in Kentucky in 1940 for each thousand of population, 5.7 percent. One state is lower.

There are 4280 one-room schools in Kentucky. Nine states have more.

Money Talks

By FREDERICK W. STAMM, Economist, Director of Adult Education, UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

The first year of World War number two is now history, and the Department of Commerce has released some figures on national income which should be of interest to everyone.

Our total national income for 1942, will reach an all-time high of $117,000,000,000, according to government estimate. This is an increase of $22 billion over 1941, and three times the depression low of $39 billion in 1932.

This increase in national income is due in part to the production of more goods, but some of it is due to higher prices only, and not to any increase in production. If we have any inflation it will be due to increases in prices without any increase in the production of goods.

Wages and salaries of employed people make up the largest share of our national income. Of the estimated $117 billion wage earners will receive over $80 billion as compared with $61 billion last year. Factory workers' wages have advanced much more than the wages of salarred employes, and consequently the factory workers are much better off now than they have been for a long time. Employees on a fixed salary—especially professional people like school teachers, lawyers, etc.—are hard hit because their salaries have not increased enough to make up for the increase in prices. Thus their purchasing power is down.

The farmers have made the greatest gain of any class. Net income to farmers is estimated to run about 45 percent higher than last year. This is due in part to greater production of farm products and in part to higher prices for their products. Farmers are now receiving the greatest income in our history.

The picture is not so bright when we turn to business and industrial concerns. Although their sales and gross income are up from last year, it is estimated that because of higher operating costs and higher taxes their average net income will be down from 5 to 7 percent.

This gives us a bird's eye view of what has happened to income during our first War year. The outlook for 1943 is bright as far as national income is concerned for the Department of Commerce now estimates it will reach $135 billion. But if prices go up a large part of this will go to buy no more goods than this year and our net savings will go up. This, however, is to be expected in war times.

Eliminating use of asbestos textiles in unnecessary products will save approximately 750,000 pounds of these textiles for war purposes.

The armed forces will enroll 70,000 young men a month out of about 1,200,000 who reach the age of 18 next year, according to estimates.

American Indians have sent more than 11,000 men to war, out of a population of about 100,000, creating a manpower shortage on reservations.

In England, all women from 18 to 45 must register for war service, and single women and widows without children, between 20 and 30, are subject to draft.

If prices of civilian goods are held to present control levels until January 1, 1944, consumers will have saved an average of $170 for every man, woman, and child in the country.

Government expenditures for war purposes during November amounted to twice the total value of all the passenger cars and motor trucks produced in the United States in 1940.

Corp. Robert L. Butler, of Union, now stationed in North Africa states that he has received mail from home after sixty-seven days. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Butler of Union. The following letter was received by his wife and was dated December 17, 1942:

"My Dearest Wife,

"All of us boys in my unit have made it through fine up to the present, and are anxious to keep pushing forward. We had a pretty tought problem, but our by-word is 'nothing or no one is too tough for us.' I was the happiest man in enemy land tonight when our mail came in after 67 days of waiting. I received seven letters from you. I was happy when the letter contained the pictures of you. Daddy and Mother looked so worried and tired they hardly looked natural.

"I am thankful I am able to be here doing my part as thousands of others are doing, to save our country and be free as we were before this horrible situation started. We can't even have a small light at night, as it could be seen for miles by the enemy, so we're trying to read our letters by a lighted cigarette. We could see and hear the enemy's bombs dropping all around us, the sky would light up real bright, so we would read our mail by those lights. One boy said 'Oh, look, this looks and sounds like the Fourth of July.' Another boys said, 'Shut your month, I am trying to read my mail.' Those letters means so much to me and the other men in my gun crew.

"Sure was surprised to hear Rev. Roy Johnson enlisted in the Army as a private. Of course he will become an officer soon. I would think he would have enlisted as a Chaplain. He would have made such a wonderful Chaplain and we can't have too many here. I thought of him the other day, and said to myself how much I would appreciate seeing him and hearing him preach again. Maybe if he is ever sent overseas I will have the opportunity to meet him as you know we are now attached to the Air Corps. If I ever see him I most certainly, as an officer, invite him to visit my outfit for a word of prayer.

"The native women here wear veils over their faces, it is their religion.

"The French say they have been looking for us American soldiers for two years to come and free them.

"Tell all the boys who are leaving they won't have to worry about coming over here, because we are going to have the war finished before they can arrive.

"I have faith that 'God' will take care of you until I return. In thought I am beside you, and have been every day since. I've been away. Pray for me every night, so I may return home.

"Goodbye until tomorrow.

"Husband, Bob"

Sgt. Charles E. Holton, Post School, 18th Station Camp, McClellan Field, Sacramento, Calif., gives the following review of army life. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Florian Holton. The article follows:

"I enlisted in the Army Air Force September 11, 1940 at the Cincinnati, Ohio recruiting office. The same day I was sent to Fort Thomas, Ky., to be sworn into the Army. Then I was transferred to the Air Corps Technical School, Chanute Field, Rantoul, Illinois. I arrived there at 11:30 a. m. September 13, 1940. There I had to wait for approximately forty days for the class to which I was assigned to start school. Since I had some previous military training in the C. M. T. C., I was assigned as drill instructor for the recruits that were coming in. Under my supervision I had around two hundred men. The work was very interesting and I enjoyed it very much. But it takes a lot of hard work to make a soldier in as short a time as they were under me. But I had several of the officers tell me that the men that I had instructed were as good if not better than any men turned out in such a short time. Thanks to the C. M. T. C. for what I learned there has paid me big dividends.

"I entered Technical School October 28, 1940, and those days in school were the most valuable that I have ever spent in my whole life. I would advise anyone, if possible, to attend one of Uncle Sam's Technical Schools, for there you will learn things that would be almost impossible to acquire in civilian life. What you learn will be of great value to you after this great conflict is over. Aviation is going all you learn at this type of school to be a great thing after this, and prepares one for a future in aviation. You may think when reading this that I am trying to get young men to enlist in the Air Forces, it is not that, but I would advise any young man that is mentally and physically fit to enlist in the Air Force. It is to my knowledge the best branch of the service and also more education can be acquired in this branch.

I graduated from Chanute Field April 12, 1941. Then I was transferred to Moffett Field, California. I arrived at Moffett Field, June 4, 1941, and I can truthfully say that I have never seen a more beautiful field in my time. One of the largest hangars in the country is located at Moffett Field. The field belonged to the Navy and the Army took it over for a training center. It was the home of the dirigibles Akron and Macon. The larger hangar was built especially for them. The other buildings were built along the old Spanish architectural lines. The climate there was the best by government test. During my stay at Moffett Field I instructed Aviation Cadets in radio and during that time chalked up around six hundred hours flying time for myself.

Moffett Field is located on the San Francisco bay and is about thirty-five miles south of San Francisco and twelve miles north of San Jose California, and is located in the well heard of Santa Clara valley, one of the great fruit raising districts. I was stationed at Moffett Field when War was declared, but a short time later was again transferred. I have never hated to leave any place as bad as I did Moffett Field.

"On January 10, 1942, I was transferred to the Merced Army Flying School, Merced, Calif. Upon arriving there I was very disappointed with the place. The field was only about half completed and it was during the rainy season and mud was shoe-top deep. But that was to be my new home, so we had to make the best of it. We all pitched in and helped our share in getting the field in order so flying could begin.

"At the Merced Army Flying School I was assigned approximately the same type of work that I had done at the other fields. One day I was given the assignment of teaching men both Aviation Cadets and enlisted men in Aircraft Engine Mechanics. This type of training is part of the course received by Aviation Cadets, and since I have had all of that type of training I was given the job. It was one of the most interesting jobs that I have ever had, and I enjoyed my work very much. I had just begun to get started good and the school was doing very good when again I was transferred. This time to the Air Service Command which is a combat command. I had to leave the mechanics school and start training for combat duty, and I do mean train. The day started at six in the morning and never ended before nine or ten o'clock at night, seven days per week. That lasted for approximately two months, when the squadron I was in moved to the Merced Army Air Force Camp, located at the edge of the city of Merced, Calif. There I was given a very important assignment, which is Technical Inspector. My duty is to inspect all airplanes before they are flown, and also inspect them after any repairs have been made on them, and if necessary test them and that is no easy job—try it sometime for yourself.

"Since I have made myself a very good name while I have been in the service of my country and in the line of work that I have chosen, I expect to be transferred again soon. If so, it will be what I have been looking forward to for some time. I have been chosen along with twenty other men to attend a school, the first of its kind in the history of our country, and due to the fact that we are now in war, I am unable to tell about it. But I consider it a very great honor to have been chosen for the school.

"I assure anyone that may read this that I am going to do everything within my power to help win this war and get it over with as soon as possible. Time that I have spent in the service of my country has been the most enjoyable days of my life, and I expect to make the Army Air Forces my life career.

"To all mothers and wifes who have sons or husbands in the service, I extend my gratitude, for they are serving one of the greatest countries in the world.

"I remain,

"CHARLES E. HOLTON."

MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR LIGHTING
(No. 8 of a Series)

Avoid Sharp Contrasts of Light and Shadow
Ever notice how it tires your eyes to read under a single bright light when the rest of the room is in semi-darkness? The reason is that brightness causes the pupils of your eyes to contract while darkness causes them to expand. Every time you let your eyes stray from your brightly-lighted book to the surrounding shadow area, your eyes try to adjust themselves to the change. Eventually this causes eyestrain and its accompaniment of fatigue and nervous muscular tension. For maximum eye comfort, you should not only have plenty of well-diffused light on your reading or sewing, but ample soft light elsewhere throughout the room. Good light, evenly distributed, adds to your reading enjoyment and also protects precious eyesight.
Two Cures for "Spotty" Lighting

I. E. S. LAMP
I. E. S. Better Sight Floor Lamps provide both downward light for reading or sewing and upward light which is reflected from the ceiling for general room illumination. The average living room needs at least two.
I. E. S. Pin-to-Wall Lamps provide generous soft light for those hard-to-light corners and out-of-the-way nooks.

THREE CHEERS FOR YOU
from our men in uniform!

And thanks to you from Greyhound for postponing your trip until after the Holiday rush
Thanks to you, a most critical period in wartime bus transportation has been passed with flying colors.
Just before Christmas, Greyhound asked you to "Give your Holiday trips to men in the service". And you who have learned to depend upon Greyhound for travel responded wholeheartedly.
Because you postponed such trips, thousands of men and women in the armed forces were able to go home by bus for Holiday leaves and furloughs. They thank you for the precious hours spent with loved ones — and Greyhound thanks you for cooperating so patriotically.
While helping men in uniform, you also made travel smoother and more convenient for war workers and others whose trips could not wait. It's cooperation like this that makes it possible for Greyhound and other bus lines to carry on the tremendous mass-transportation job so essential to winning the war.
Now that the Holiday rush is past, Greyhound will make every effort to see that the service you count on is available when you need it—and with all the comfort and convenience that war conditions will permit.
We suggest, however, that you phone or call on your Greyhound agent well in advance of any trip. He can help you choose days and schedules that will be most convenient for you—and best for wartime travel.
Pulling together this way, we'll keep America's highways at work for Victory!

A Week of The War

Washington—New Year's Day, 1943, marked the first anniversary of the formation of the United Nations. In his first press conference of the New Year, President Roosevelt recalled the world situation that existed one year ago when 26 nations, bound together by the universal ideals of the Atlantic Charter, signed the United Nations declarations and thus created "the mightiest coalition in history." (Three other nations have since joined this coalition.)

Today, the unity achieved by these 29 signatory powers is bearing rich fruit. The United Nations, said the President, are passing from the defensive to the offensive, ever conscious, however, of the supreme necessity of planing what is to come after, of carrying forward into peace the common effort which will have brought them victory in the war.

Our task on this New Year's Day is three-fold, Mr. Roosevelt said—First, to crush completely the present "bandit assault" upon civilization; Second, so to organize relations among nations that forces of barbarism can never again break loose; and, third, to cooperate to the end "that mankind may enjoy in peace and in freedom the unprecedented blessings which Divine Providence through the progress of civilization has put within our reach."

Axis economic strength and weakness was outlined in a "beginning-of-1943" balance sheet issued by Milo Perkins, Executive Director of the Board of Economic Warfare. Germany, said Mr. Perkins, has passed her production peak, but is still economically formidable, with little likelihood of economic collapse in Germany in 1943. Japan, however, is much stronger in raw materials than she was a year ago, and except for a major weakness in shipping is now within reach of a powerful and intrenched economic position. The ability of the Axis powers to support defensive warfare is especially marked, he said, but as both economies are strained, inflicting bombing damage on Germany and attacking Japanese shipping will have immediate effects on these countries war production.

Production

As for U. S. war production, Chairman Nelson said that in 1943 this country expects to produce about twice as many arms as were produced in 1942, spending better than $90,000,000,000 for war, as compared to 1942's $52,000,000,000. November armament production showed the greatest monthly gain since the U. S. began to re-arm in the summer of 1940—four and one-third times more war material turned out than in the month before the Jap attack on Pearl Harbor. Mr. Nelson gave the box score of November war production (over October)—airplanes, up 16 per cent—ordnance, up 13 per cent—army and navy vessels, up 9 per cent, merchant vessels, up 26 per cent, and other munitions, up 9 per cent.

Special attention has been given to the items most needed in the type of warfare now being waged in North Africa, with outstanding gains recorded in the output of single-engine pursuit planes, medium bombers, smaller transport planes, navy fighters, and in production of the self-propelled guns used in tank warfare.

Right now, the U. S. is turning out enough rifle and machine gun ammunition each month to fire 83 rounds at each individual soldier in the Axis armies. In one year of war, production of small arms ammunition has increased 550 per cent—and it is still going up.

Backing up our production of finished war material is our production of metals and minerals. A year-end report from the Bureau of Mines announces that in 1942 we produced more metals and minerals than in any year of our history. Estimated value of all mineral products was $7,525,000,000—a record figure that tops the 1941 level by 10 per cent.

Rationing

Agriculture Secretary Wickard directed OPA to begin rationing about 200 canned, frozen and dried vegetables and fruits as soon as machinery could be set up. U. S. civilians will eat nearly one-third less of these foods in 1943 than they have been accustomed to eating, Wickard said, but their diets can still be well-balanced and healthful. Rationing in the U. S. does not mean sub-standard diets.

OPA said the rationing would begin in early February, under the "point" system. Supplies of goods to be rationed will be temporarily and brief frozen on retailers shelves and in distributors and processors warehouses, and before being issued a ration book consumers will have to declare whatever canned goods they have on hand so that these goods can be deducted from their allowance. Heavy penalties will be imposed for giving false information.

Under the point system, the housewife uses her stamps when she buys rationed foods from the storekeeper, the storekeeper uses the stamps when he buys from his supplier, in turn, uses the stamps to buy from his canner or from another supplier. All along the line, there is complete freedom of choice. And since the point values are the same in every store thruout the nation, the retailer's business in these rationed foods will be limited only by the point value of the stamps, he takes in from his customers. Thus, according to Elmer Davis, Director of the OWI, competition in the trade will be maintained, and a minimum of record keeping will be required of the storekeeper.

Relations With North Africa

A communique from the Office of Gen Giraud, French high commissioner, said no attempts to divide the French people in North Africa will be tolerated. The communique, explaining that steps had been taken to insure tranquility behind the fighting lines, said most persons had accepted the recent developments calmly but a small element had been trying to cause unrest. Secretary of State Hull said Gen. Giraud's leadership "will go far to assure the common victory with the restoration of French liberty everywhere," and Secretary of War Stimson said he was confident that Gen Giraud would continue the splendid cooperation the French are now giving U. S. forces in North Africa.

President Roosevelt expects to confer soon with Gen. Charles De Gaulle, but has already discussed, with a mission from Gen. Giraud, the question of supplies for French troops. Elmer Davis and Milton Eisenhower of the Office of War Information told a press conference that unless substantial quantities of food and clothing arrive in North Africa before February 1, there will be serious trouble there. Much of the food earmarked for that area by Lend-Lease has arrived, but much more is needed.

Meanwhile, the U. S. is arming Gen. Giraud's French African army as fast as possible. Allied commander-in-chief Eisenhower said planes have already been delivered to Giraud's air force and more planes and tanks are on the way. Also French forces fighting with the Allied army are being reinforced and re-equipped. President Roosevelt said that inasmuch as the U. S. is attempting to get supplies to all the fighting forces of the United Nations the crux of the North African supply situation is the question of shipping.

I want to talk to you about your children and shoes they wear.

Maybe you never realized that the wrong shoes could be the cause of nervousness in your child.

I say "It is the duty of parents, school teachers and family physicians to help bring stability and strength to nervous systems."

Symptoms of nervousness in children are often forerunners of organic dilsease. From the physician's standpoint ONLY there are many things that make us nervous. The most important are: 1, Wrong diet. 2. Over fatigue, and 3, Poor posture. Let me repeat the last and most important, POOR POSTURE, because you cannot have good posture unless your feet are fitted with proper shoes.

We all know how important posture is to the physical and mental development of a child. At home we teach our children to stand straight, to sit straight and to walk straight . . . that is we TRY to teach them how important it is. But sometimes, do you find that you are constantly reminding Billy or Mary to "SIT UP"—or "STAND UP STRAIGHT"—almost to the point of nagging and even to the point of scolding.

If your child has poor posture—and it seems hard for him to remember to stand straight— suggest that you take a look at his feet. And remember, when you want to scold him for drooping that the child is no more responsible for his posture than for the food he is given to eat. There is some reason WHY he isn't standing straight and that reason may be weak, poorly constructed shoes that do not properly support body weight.—Adv.

COUNTY CAN SAVE STEEL FOR 919 MACHINE GUNS

Boone County housewives can save enough steel for 919 machine guns simply by replacing one can of fruits or vegetables a week during the coming year with fresh or home-packed, a leading food distributor estimated today.

"This substitution, urged by the War Production Board, will not only save steel but also conserve food by using extra supplies of fresh produce made available by increased production, canning restrictions and reduced storage facilities," according to Earl R. French marketing director of A. & P.'s produce-buying affiliate, the Atlantic Commission Company.

A number two "tin" can averages .235 pounds of steel plus a small amount of tin, and a single family can save 12.2 pounds of steel in a year by the can-aweek reduction, French said. Thus Boone County's 2,639 families can save 32,195 lbs. calibre machine guns, each requiring 35 pounds of steel for manufacture, he pointed out.

"Reduced buying of canned produce doesn't mean reducing food consumption. Housewives can balance their family diets by serving more fresh produce, and our records show that many families are already doing this. In 1941 American farmers moved 142,372 carlots of fresh fruits and vegetables to consumers through the Atlantic Commission Company, 10 per cent more than in 1940 and an all-time high record," French said.

The program would save 8,467,471 pounds of steel if carried out by all of Kentucky's 694,055 families, it was brought out. On a national basis, America's 31,000,000 families could save enough steel to make 5,000 medium tanks or 38 Liberty freight ships, and enough tin for 360,000 75mm. howitzers.

The first locomotive used in the construction of the Panama Canal, "Old 104" weighed 70 tons, has gone to scrap in the national salvage drive.

During the 5-year period, 1936-40, an average of 970,000 mandays annually were spent in fighting forest fires that burned more than 30 million acres yearly on the average.

There are almost 30 billion ration stamps contained in the 150 million copies of War Ration Book Two, or more than all the postage stamps produced by the Government during the past 12 years.

Income Tax News

The following article is one of a series which will be published in this paper during the next several weeks in which many phases of the income tax program will be outlined.

Form of Return

Persons subject to the Federal income tax must report their income to the Government on forms, or blanks, prescribed by regulations. These forms are obtainable from any Collector of Internal Revenue, and generally from any bank. Special forms are designated for corporations, for partnerships, for trusts and fiduciaries, and for nonresident aliens. Farmers who keep no books of account on the accrual method must attach a special schedule to their return (Form 1040F). For individuals, two forms are used, depending upon the amount and source of income to be reported.

Form 1040. This form is intended for general use of individuals who are citizens of the United States, or residents in this country, whether citizens or not. It contains spaces to show the amount of income from various sources, deductions allowable, exemptions and credits, and computation of tax liability. As most of the items require some explanation in order to be allowable, the form also contains appropriate schedules to show in more detail how the income or the deductions are determined.

Form 1040A. This is a simplified report, which may, at the option of the taxpayer who makes his return on the cash basis, be filed instead of form 1040 by citizens and residents whose gross income was $3,000 or less during 1942, provided all this income consists wholly of one or more of the following: salary, wages, dividends, interest, or annuities. In using this form it is necessary only to enter the amount of gross income as shown, deduct the credit allowable for dependents, and insert the appropriate amount of tax in accordance with one's personal exemption status, as shown on the table on the reverse of the form. This form has no entries for deductions allowable, since the taxes indicated in the table on the back of the form are computed after taking into account what have been considered average deductions for persons of this income class.

A taxpayer should, therefore consider carefully which form would be appropriate for his purposes. Whichever form is employed, all the information called for in the spaces should be inserted so far as applicable to the taxpayer, in order to avoid the expense to the Government, and the possible inconvenience to the taxpayer, of subsequent check and inquiry.

With each return form is a set of accompanying instructions, and these instructions should be carefully read by the taxpayer before making his return.

Returns for the calendar year 1942 must be filed not later than March 15, 1943. They may be filed by mailing to the Collector of Internal Revenue of the appropriate district in which is located the legal residence or principal place of business of the taxpayer. If the return is filed by mailing, it should be posted in ample time to reach the Collector's office on or before March 15, 1943. Returns received later than the due date are subject to a penalty variable according to the lateness in filing.

Need Quality, Quantity In Vital 1943 War Foods

America's farmers must keep an eye on the quality of their cream while they strive to produce the huge quantity of butterfat asked of them for the war effort during the new year of 1943, H. C. Darger, coordinator of the National Cream Quality Program, Chicago, states in a message received by H. R. Forkner, Boone County agricultural agent.

Mr. Darger's message was sent in connection with the scheduled observance throughout the county and country on Tuesday, January 12 of Farm Mobilazation Day proclaimed by President Roosevelt with the object of "insuring for the year 1943 the maximum production of vital foods."

"Failure by many farmers to safeguard quality may result in cream so bad that state and federal laws will not permit its use for marking butter—a true Victory food," Mr. Darger writes. "During 1942 an estimated 30 to 50 million pounds of cream—enough to make more than a thousand carloads of butter—had to be rejected by creameries and cream buyers as unfit. In addition, huge quantities of finished butter were seized and condemned because made of poor cream that had 'gotten by.' This represents not only the loss of valuable foodstuff badly needed by our armed forces but also a loss of many millions of dollars to the farmers whose labor went into the production of this large volume of unacceptable cream. To the extent that we are able to whittle down the amount of poor and rejected cream mentioned, the 1943 food job will be made easier."

In his message, Mr. Darger calls attention to several facts on milk separation which hold the possibility of substantial increases in the production of cream and butter even with our present cow population.

"Farmers using outdater water dilution, deep-setting and similar methods of separation lose fully 25 per cent of their butterfat in the skim milk, in comparison with only one-half of one per cent loss shown by good mechanical separators," he states. "On the other hand, a mechanical separator not kept in efficient working condition can also be a cream thief of the first order. Cow-test association records reveal that losses of anywhere from 4 ounces to several pounds of butter per day are not uncommon on farms having poorly functioning mechanical separators, the majority of which could be quickly restored to efficient operation. There are also the totally unnecessary losses resulting from failure of many farmers to separate their milk immediately after milking, while it is still warm. Separated at a temperature of 90 degrees, 125 pounds of milk will yield about five pounds of butterfat. But the same amount of milk separated at 60 degrees will deliver less than four pounds of butterfat, the balance running off with the skimmilk. This is equal to cutting a five-cow herd down to four cows."

About 30,000 pounds of metal are salvaged on each round trip of large U. S. transports, ferrying armed forces to the Pacific fronts, from thousands of cans of pineapple, grapefruit, and tomato juice consumed by service men en route.

RENT CONTROL OFFICIALS HERE

TO EXPLAIN FEDERAL RENT CONTROL REGULATIONS—REGISTRATION FORMS AVAILABLE AT POST OFFICE.

L. F. Bossard and Geo. P. Schiffer, Area Rent Representatives, announces the following:

The purpose of this statement is to summarize what Federal rent control means to tenants and landlords in this area. It does not cover all details of the subject. There is a Rent Office in this Area at 126 E. 4th St., Cincinnati, where complete information can be obtained. This item is merely a guide to the principal features of the Federal rent control program as it applies to this Area.

Authority to control rents on dwelling units is a part of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942. Under that law the Price Administrator has issued Maximum Rent Regulations providing for the control of rents for all properties used for dwelling purposes in this Area.

This item covers the regulation on houses, flats, apartments, and similar dwelling properties. The term "dwelling unit" means all units used for dwelling purposes. A supplemental regulation, explained in a leaflet issued by the OPA office, covers rooms in hotels and rooming and boarding houses. Properties used solely for business are not covered by the rent provisions of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942.

The Maximum Legal Rent

The Maximum Rent Regulation has been issued to stabilize rents at the level of March 1, 1942. The Regulation calls for a freezing or an automatic reduction of housing rents to what they were on March 1, 1942. Generally if a tenant lives in a dwelling unit that was rented by him or any other tenant on March 1, 1942, he should pay the March 1, 1942 rent for that dwelling unit. A tenant does not have to get approval from the rent director or anybody else. He simply reduces his own rent to the March 1, 1942 rent. If he does not know what the rent was on that date, he will be able to find out from the registration statement he will receive from the Area rent office.

This general rule of establishing the legal rent at the March 1, 1942 rent applies to all the dwelling places in this Area, unless the dwelling unit in which the tenant lives was not rented on March 1, 1942, has been substantially altered since that date, was newly built and occupied since that date, or is owned by the Federal government or a state or municipal government. In any event a tenant will be able to find out the legal rent by consulting the Registration Statement.

Evictions

A landlord cannot evict a tenant because the tenant refuses to pay a higher rent than the legal rent. A landlord wishing to evict a tenant must notify the Area Rent Office in all cases. All tenants threatened with eviction for any reason should notify the Area Rent Office. The Area Rent Office is prepared to prevent eviction attempted for purposes of evading the Rent Regulation.

Registration

Wherever the rent has been increased since March 1, 1942 the landlord is required to file a Registration Statement with the Area Rent Office. This statement gives the Area Rent Office information as to the March 1, 1942 rent and other basic facts about the dwelling. Tenants living in a dwelling Unit at the time of Registration will receive a copy of the Registrations.

Tenants moving into a dwelling unit later on must be shown a copy of the original Registration by the landlord and the new tenant will be required to sign it. The landlord will also be required to file a special form if there is a change in tenancy, and the new tenant will be required to sign this.

Leases

If a tenant has a written lease for the dwelling unit he lives in, provisions of the lease remain in effect except that the rent cannot exceed the legal rent. If a lease expires, the landlord may require the tenant to renew it, but the renewal must be at the legal rent and for not more than 1 year. Certain kinds of special leases such as a graduated long-term lease, may be adjusted as to rent.

Services

Any services provided with a a dwelling unit such as heat, light, water, or services of any other kind, including repairs and maintenance that were supplied on the legal rent date must be continued unless the landlord has permission from the Rent Director for the decreased services.

Adjustments

Landlords and tenants have other rights under the Rent Regulation not elaborated upon in this leaflet. For instance, landlords may petition for the right to reduce services or to increase rents where special circumstances justify. Tenants may also apply for reduction in rents in certain cases.

Penalties

There are penalties for violating the Federal Rent Regulation. Landlords can be obliged to pay the tenant triple damage on illegal rent charges. Landlords willfully violating provisions of the Act may also be punished by maximum fines of $5,000 or 1 year's imprisonment, or both.

Registration forms are available at the Burlington post office for the convenience of local landlords. Also tenant's complaint forms for use of tenants in cases where tenant's rent has been increased since March 1, 1942. Consult Mr. Newton Sullivan, postmaster.

For further information consult your Area Rent Office, 126 E. 4th St., Cincinnati, care Jno. E. Robinson, Jr., Area Rent Director.

POULTRY SCHOOL FEBRUARY 16TH

WILL BE HELD AT BURLINGTON—PROGRAM FOR 1943 WILL BE PRESENTED AT SCHOOL, ACCORDING TO FORKNER.

The annual Boone County one-day poultry school will be held at Burlington on February 16, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Hubert Conner and Fred Heil, members of the county poultry planning committee met at Burlington, Monday afternoon with Jim Humphrey, poultry specialist, to plan a recommended program for the year. This program will be presented at the poultry school.

Kentucky's 1943 war goal is 16 percent more eggs, eight percent more chickens and 20 percent more turkeys than last year's goal. Kentucky farmers over produced their last year's egg goal by 12 percent. Indications are the 1943 goals will also be exceeded.

DATE SET FOR TIRE INSPECTION

TRUCK OPERATORS MUST HAVE TIRES CHECKED BY FEBRUARY 28—REGULAR INSPECTION SET FOR EVERY 60 DAYS.

A special reminder to truckers who possess ODT Master Fleet, Fleet Unit and Trailer Certificates, that a record of the official tire check must show on the certificate before mileage ration coupons will be issued for the second quarter, was issued today by R. D. Thomas, regional manager of the Office of Defense Transportation, Motor Transport Division.

Date for the first tire check started on January 15, and all truckers must have their tires checked between January 15th and February 28th. After the initial inspection is made, the vehicles must then be presented for regular inspection every 60 days or every 5,000 miles, whichever occurs first. All inspections must be made by inspectors designated for this service by the Office of Price Administration.

"The ODT is urging all truck operators," said Mr. Thomas, "to have their tires checked as soon as possible, so as to avoid the last minute rush. This tire check applies to all vehicles, private, common, contract carrier, as well as all farm vehicles."

When a vehicle is checked by the OPA inspector and the tires are found in good condition an endorsement is made on the Certificates of War Necessity. Certificates which do not have this valid endorsement, cannot be issued gasoline ration coupons from local ration boards.

Moreover, General ODT Order No. 21, provides that no commercial motor vehicle and this includes farm vehicles, may be operated following a tire inspection, unless the inspector has certified that all reasonable and possible adjustments, repairs, or replacements necessary to assure maximum conservation of the vehicle's tires have been made, Mr. Thomas pointed out.

Mr. Thomas also stated that a large number of temporary transport rations have been issued to operators of commercial vehicles in Ohio, Kentucky, and West Virginia, but only a small number of operators have applied for adjustment of their Certificates of War Necessity thus far.

"Operators," said Mr. Thomas, "who put off too long applying for necessary adjustment of their Certificates of War Neccessity allotments, may have difficulty in obtaining fuel rationing for their vehicles later on."

All transport ration adjustments for operators of farm vehicles and other commercial trucks must be made by January 31st.

Higher Crop Average Reported For 1942-43 Burley Tobacco Season

The highest crop average for the present tobacco season was reported this week by Everett and Bruce Ryle, Burlington, who recently sold their entire crop of 2410 pounds for an average of $53.50.

This is the highest entire crop average that has been reported to us this year, however, there may be some who can best this record.

Running a very close second was the crop grown by John Rice, of Richwood, who reports the sale of 1350 pounds of tobacco for an average of $52.50. This fine crop was grown on two acres of land and was sold on the Carrollton market about three weeks ago. The Ryle crop above was sold at the Brite-Lite Warehouse, Carrollton.

FARMERS PLAN WAR PROGRAM

WILL DISCUSS WAYS AND MEANS OF PRODUCTION OF FIBER CROPS, ACCORDING TO H. R. FORKNER.

Boone County farmers will hold a series of community agricultural planning meetings during the next two weeks to complete plans for carrying out a more effective production program under war conditions, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

Farmers will discuss ways and means that increased and more efficient production of food and fiber crops in 1943 may be secured and will plan special work on those projects demanding special attention.

These meetings are being held so that farmers may plan their own farm programs which they consider best suits their local needs.

The first of the planning meetings will be held at Belleview School on this coming Tuesday evening, January 26, at 8:00 p. m. E. W. T. This meeting will be followed by a meeting at Hamilton on Friday evening, January 29, at 8:00 p. m. E. W. T., and Verona bank, Saturday afternoon, January 30 at 2:30 E. W. T., and Petersburg at 8:00 p. m. Tuesday, February 2nd.

Meetings will be held at Constance, Hebron, Burlington, Florence, New Haven and Walton just as soon as suitable dates can be arranged by the local program leaders.

Lutheran Men of Greater Cincinnati will hold their regular meeting on Monday, January 25 at 8:00 p. m., at Trinity Lutheran Church, Bellevue, Ky., Rev. C. M. Danford, pastor.

FARM PLANNING IS NECESSARY

FOR WARTIME PRODUCTION, ACCORDING TO CHAIRMAN OF BOONE COUNTY SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT.

Producing more food and fiber with less labor, will be the problem of Boone County farmers during the coming year, according to C. Liston Hempfling, Chairman of the board of supervisors of the Boone County Soil Conservation District.

To accomplish this goal, careful planning for land use and labor management will be required. Only the fields best suited to cultivation and capable of producing the greatest returns with the least labor, should be row-cropped. Land not suitable for cultivation should be left in grass or devoted to small grain. Fields that are row-cropped should be protected from erosion by leaving sod strips in the natural waterways, and by contour planting. In some cases diversion ditches or terraces may be needed to prevent soil washing and the loss of much needed fertilizers.

Information concerning the procurement of complete soils maps, showing soil types and land capabilities, developed from aerial photographs, by soil specialists, and any assistance desired for setting up a better farm plan, may be secured by contacting Mr. H. R. Forkner, County Agent, J. C. Acra, work unit leader at the office of the Boone County Soil Conservation District, or any of the following supervisors, Messrs. C. Liston Hempfling, G. C. Ransom, W. H. Presser, H. E. White, and J. C. Bedinger.

RESTRICTIONS PLACED ON OVERSEAS SHIPMENTS TO ARMY PERSONNEL

NO PARCELS WILL BE ACCEPTED FOR OVERSEAS SHIPMENT UNLESS REQUESTED BY OUR BOYS—EFFECTIVE JAN. 15.

The War Department has informed the Post Office Department that in view of the heavy demands being made on cargo space for military shipments and because of the limited facilities available to commanders of theaters of operations for delivery of mail, the volume of mail dispatched to overseas destinations must be kept to a minimum. Therefore, in accordance with the recommendations of the War Department, the following restrictions on mail for Army personnel addressed to A. P. O.'s overseas, other than official shipments to military agencies, became effective January 15, 1943.

1. No parcel exceeding 5 pounds in weight or 15 inches in length, or 36 inches in length and girth combined, shall be accepted for dispatch to A. P. O.'s overseas for individuals. (It is contemplated that there will be no exceptions to the weight and size limits for parcels to individuals.)

2. Except as hereinafter provided, no parcels shall be accepted for dispatch to A. P. O.'s outside the continental United States unless they contain such articles only as are being sent at the specific written request of the addressee, approved by the battalion or similar unit commander of the addressee.

3. Individual copies of newspapers or magazines shall be accepted for dispatch to A. P. O.'s outside the continental United States only where subscriptions are specifically requested in writing by the addressee or for which subscriptions are now in effect. Such copies to individuals shall be accepted only from publishers who shall place on the wrapper, or on the publication when a wrapper is not used, a certificate (which shall be regarded as sufficient to authorize their acceptance) reading as follows:

"Mailed in conformity with P. O. D. Order No. 19687."

4. No circular matter of the third class should be presented for mailing to A. P. O.'s overseas, as the War Department advises that it will not be dispatched from ports of embarkation.

5. V-mail will be transmitted, either when microfilmed or in its original form, to all A. P. O.'s overseas and transported by airplane where such facilities are available. Although letters prepaid at the air mail rate of 6 cents per half ounce will continue to be transported by airplane as far as the ports of embarkation, the War Department advises that no assurance can be given that such letters, other than V-mail, will be dispatched by airplane from ports of embarkation to localities overseas served by V-mail.

Referring to restriction 2 above, the War Department states that individuals serving overseas desiring to request the mailing of parcels to them will be required to include in their request the following:

1. A general description or name of article requested.

2. The grade or rating, the complete address, and the signature of the individual (addressee) making request.

The request will be presented to the battalion or similar unit commander who will approve it when the circumstances justify. Requests of officers not assigned to organizations or separate units will be approved by the next higher or theatre headquarters. In case the individual making the request is a civilian, the request will be approved by the commanding officer of the installation concerned.

Parcels addressed to individuals at A. P. O.'s overseas must be accompanied with the approved written request from the addressee as above set forth when presented for mailing. The request shall be postmarked by the accepting employee in such manner as to prevent its reuse and then be returned to the sender.

NO SUBSTITUTE FOR FREEDOM

As free American citizens we have found we can meet the test of war. We have the ability to get things done. We have courage and daring. Our men have shown in stark heroism that on the military front we are not soft. We can fight with the tricks our forefathers learned from the Indians, and we can fight with machines. Guadalcanal and North Africa have proven that. In brief, we can win the war.

But there is more than the military front. There is the home front. And here, except for the production miracle of industry, there is evidence of softness, of confusion of ideals. Group bickering has put the attainment of personal comfort and security ahead of the national welfare. In many quarters a desire to eliminate human want at one fell swoop has become an obsession. An agency of government has even prepared a new bill of rights, the basic tenet of which is economic security. This new bill is proposed as a supplement to the old bill defining our liberties at the time the United States Constitution was adopted. It puts security on a par with freedom, on the theory that the American people will abandon freedom if they are not guaranteed three square meals a day. It implies that the American people, bitter from the "great depression" and fearful of post-war uncertainty, do not propose to go hungry; that if they cannot have their freedom with full stomachs, they will do without freedom.

If such is true, we have drifted far from the ideals the Pilgrims carried ashore at Plymouth Rock. Even as our men on the battlefields are now dying, the Pilgrims died and suffered, hardship for just one reason: to preserve a spot on this globe where the individual could be free. And they got that freedom. They got it because they were tought. Their ideal came first, their stomachs second. Our men are winning battles now because they are tough. They are thinking of freedom.

A year ago there was a grave question in the minds of millions as to whether we could arm fast enough to stem the tide of aggression. There was an equally grave question of whether we could do it without destroying free enterprise and representative government. There were those who believed it would take total dictatorship to beat the dictators. The challenge fell on industry. The machines had to be built by industry. Our natural resources and our factories had to be mobilized for war on a scale that wrought shattering changes in technique and precedent. Industry knew that the cracker-box agitators were waiting to pounce upon the country with revolutionary schemes at the slightest sign of failure.

It is to the credit of thinking government officials that revolutionary changes in government and industry were not forced before free enterprise had a chance to show what it could do to prove that our democracy was not a failure. Our factories did a magnificent job. In a matter of months, they underwent retooling and conversion. Today tanks, planes, guns, ships, are rolling off the assembly lines by the scores of thousands. Our war production has caught and passed the dictator enemy who spent years producing for war under an elaborate "economic security" program which by its very completeness had destroyed individual freedom—the same years that our industries continued to produce for America's unregimented, peaceful millions. Back of the manufacturers stand American farm producers and distributions, together with the metal and coal mines, the oil the power and transportation industries. They feed our war workers and keep the materials moving into the assembly lines.

The end of the war may be distant still, yet it is in sight. Again free enterprise faces a challenge. And again it faces it against a backdrop of threats. Those threats are cloaked in the prevalent idea that a full stomach is an inalienable right. Far-sighted leaders know that the challenge of the post-war world will be the toughest of all. It will be far tougher than the facts justify because of demagogic attempts to soften our people with illusory social dreams of total "economic security."

But industry is making its plans. These plans will have to be daring. Industry must go on the offensive. It must lay the groundwork for this production now. And it must have the wholehearted cooperation of all Americans on the home front. There is no room for the labor racketeer any more than for the exploiting capitalist or the faithless politician.

We on the home front must do a lot of clear thinking. We must now be hardened by a determination that above all else we must save the right of the individual to be free. We must realize now and in the peace to come, that individual freedom is more important than individual comfort. Bitter experience has demonstrated that without freedom there can be neither comfort nor security. We must reaffirm our belief in our Constitutional government.

NO SHORT CUT

William M. Jeffers rubber czar recently struck hard at "loose and careless" talk about the rubber problem. The rubber problem is not licked; there is a definite rubber shortage; there will be tires for all only if the most stringent measures are applied and received with 100 per cent cooperation on the part of the public. That is the grim truth.

There is no easy short cut to rubber conservation, or to the production of more rubber. "The facts are," Mr. Jeffers said, "that the Japanese cut off 90 per cent of our supplies and that as a result the United States is compressing into two years the building of tremendous synthetic rubber industry which ordinarily would take a dozen years to build.

"The greatest reserve supply of rubber we have in this country is in the million tons of rubber in the tires of our passenger cars and trucks. We must stretch that million tons as far as it will possibly go—and maybe a little farther."

JESUS THE GREAT PHYSICIAN

LESSON TEXT—John 5:2-17.
GOLDEN TEXT — Wilt thou be made whole?—John 5:6.

Hope of the hopeless, help of the helpless—who would that be, but Jesus? Coming to Jerusalem for the feast He did not seek out the homes of the mighty, the places of learning and culture, but betook Himself to the Pool of Bethesda, where there "lay a multitude of them that were sick, blind, halt, withered." Why did He go to such a place? Because He always had compassion upon those in need.

In this multitude He saw at once the neediest man of all—one without friends or loved ones to care for him, despondent and disheartened. What happened that day may well encourage the heart of every sad, lonely, and discouraged one.

We see three things here.

I. Hopeless Infirmity (vv. 1-7).

How weak and helpless is humanity. Oh, yes, we seem to be strong, capable, fearless, but only until we meet some great elemental problem. Then we see that we are indeed a great multitude of impotent folk. The gently falling snow stopped the undefeated Napoleon. The silent fog can paralyze a nation. Sickness, death—who can stay their hand? We need the steady and powerful grip of God upon our lives if we are to go through such experiences. Not only was this man ill and weak, but his long years of suffering had made him so accustomed to weakness that he had reached a state of despair.

Such an attitude invites defeat. It may be the only recourse of the man of the world, but with Jesus standing by to help, there is good reason for assurance of faith in the darkest hour.

In the face of his need—yes, even in the light of Jesus' provision for that need—the leaders of the Jews could only criticize.

II. Heartless Religion (vv. 10-13, 15-16).

Jesus had done for the man what the Jews had not been able to do; in fact, one wonders whether they had so much as lifted a finger to help this poor sufferer. But now that he was able to walk, they were greatly concerned about the violation of their Sabbath day restriction against any work.

Instead of shouting for joy that this man was able to carry not only himself but his bed, they became zealous about maintaining the letter of their law.

Are there not those in our day who would be greatly disturbed if the deathlike quiet and dignity of their church services were to be broken by the cry of a new born babe in Christ? Would a revival be welcomed in the great churches of America which have lost the savor of Christ and the power of the gospel? We think not.

The man who had been healed answered well (v. 11). He did not know who Jesus was, but he knew that if He had authority to heal, He also had the right to tell him to carry his bed. When we meet Jesus we will be healed of our infirmities and, like this man, be delivered from the fear of cold ecclesiasticism.

But let us turn to the heart of our lesson, which is the act of Jesus in giving him

III. Healing of Body and Soul (vv. 8, 9, 14).

The body of this man was miraculously healed. There was no partial improvement, no long-drawn out convalescence and regaining of strength. In fact, he was told to do something which called for the full vigor of a healthy body, to show that he was healed.

Even so when we are healed from sin it is not to a half-dead existence, but to the full vigor of spiritual life. We are to arise and walk in the power and grace which Christ has brought into our lives.

Note that the miracle performed here was for the glory of God. The miracles of God are not mere marvels or wonders. They are not for the advancement of the cause of any man or for personal glory. They are the mighty signs of an omnipotent God wrought for the good of men, for their spiritual enlightenment, and as a testimony to the one true God.

So in this case Jesus found the man in the temple to admonish him to continue steadfast in the spiritual liberty which had come to him "lest a worse thing befall" him.

Evidently this man's infirmity had been caused by sin, and even though he had suffered those 38 long years the tendency toward sin was still alive in his heart. Sin dies hard. How often have we not seen those who have cried to God out of their affliction, promising all sorts of spiritual changes if God will deliver them. When He does, they go right back to their old ways. The one who does that may well be looking for the "worse thing" which will surely befall him.

This Week On The Home Front

Smaller mercantile stores and their patrons everywhere are being protected by the War Production Board in order designed to limit stocks which can be held by the larger stores—those which do an annual business of $200,000 and closed the last year with $50,000 worth of goods on hand.

Many of these larger stores, with their greater financial resources and storage space, might well be able to obtain more than their share of war-scarce consumer goods. WPB Order L-129 (the "L" stands for limitation) now restricts these big stores to the amount of inventory they carried in corresponding quarters of last year.

John C. Virden, regional WPB director for Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia, and western Pennsylvania, explains that this is what the order seeks to accomplish:

To assure a more equitable distribution of stocks, with their normal share of the available consumer goods being available to stores in rural areas and small communities;

To curb inflation by discouraging speculative buying on the part of merchants with large resources.

Some 54 percent of the people live in small communities and rural areas and L-129 will insure that their stores are able to obtain their fair share of consumer goods. Like rationing, the system of inventory control assures everyone of his fair share of whatever is available in that particular controlled field.

* * *

The WPB requirements committee has approved an Agriculture Department request for an increased production of repair parts for farm machinery and equipment.

* * *

The OPA suggests a sashless storm window made by placing a second pane of glass over the window frame and holding it in place with picture-frame type molding. The cost is estimated at $2 per window. Yearly fuel savings for every square feet of window space are estimated for climates comparable to New York City's at four and one-third gallons of fuel, 71 pounds of coal, or 1,028 cubic feet of gas. If weather stripping is used, savings will be up to one-third greater. Window shades help keep in the heat.

* * *

Here is the rationing table:

Coffee—coupon No. 28 good for 1 pound through February 7th;

Sugar—stamp No. 10 good for 3 pounds through January 31st, stamp No. 11 will be valid from February 1st to March 15th;

Gasoline—No. 3 stamps in the A Book not good after January 21st;

Tires—B, C and T-Book holders must have inspection by February 28th, A-Book holders by March 31.

* * *

The ODT's Director has called for better adjustment or elimination of traffic signal lights to save gasoline and tires.

* * *

Manufactures must again curtail the use of tin in toothpaste and having cream tubes.

* * *

Approximately 4 million additional cans of canned soups will be packed in metal cans for the armed forces, lend-lease, and civilians during 1943.

* * *

After April 1st packers of beans, foods, flour, meal, nuts, potatoes, seeds, and many other items, may pack their products only in specified sizes of textile or paper shipping bags.

* * *

Employers who need rubber boots or rubber work-shoes for use by employees doing work essential to the war effort, public health, or safety during disaster, are eligible for rationing certificates to permit the purchase.

* * *

The OPA has set a uniform method of pricing dressed hogs, but will bring no change to the consumer in the present March, 1942, ceilings for pork cuts.

* * *

The OPA has given its regional administrators authority to adjust locally poultry prices for sellers other than retailers where this is necessary to help eliminate local shortages.

* * *

Ration banking goes into effect January 27. Coffee, sugar and gasoline stamps will be included in the plan at once. The system utilizes and facilities of the nation's commercial banking system for handling and safeguarding ration stamps and certificates after they have passed out of the hands of consumers into the trade channels. Consumers will not be affected. A grocer or other qualified seller may open a ration bank account by applying at the bank where he has a checking account.

* * *

The average family paid 1.2 percent more for food on December 15 than on November 17, the secretary of labor reports. Higher prices for uncontrolled fresh fruits and vegetables were again chiefly responsible for the rise. Prices of foods not under direct OPA control rose 7 percent while the average advance for uncontrolled foods was 0.5 percent. Among the 9 uncontrolled foods included in the index, only fresh green beans decreased (by 3.4 percent).

* * *

A total of 1,430 trucks, trailers and miscellaneous vehicles were released under the truck rationing program during the week ended January 9.

* * *

In a move designed to prevent further increases in the price of corn—America's largest farm crop—the OPA has frozen corn prices on all exchanges and in every cash and local market over the country generally at the highest levels at which sales were made on Monday, January 11, 1943.

* * *

Savings effected by coffee manufacturers who made war-necessitated changes in containers, from metal and glass to cheaper paper or cardboard, will be passed on to consumers, the OPA announces.

Baby's Precious Feet

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

Babies should not be forced to walk just to please doting grandparents. When the structures that go into the process of locomotion are ready, the infant will begin to go through the motions of walking without any helpful suggestions from its elders. Many cases of bowlegs are attributed to nothing more than over zealousness on the part of the parents to have a heavy infant walk before its leg bones were sufficiently developed.

It must always be remembered that there are no such things as "growing pains." Growing is not a painful process! PAIN IS NATURE'S danger signal, and no pain exists except where there is a defunction or a disorder of some kind.

All parents are very, very particular about the pretty pictures the baby has—the cute clothes, etc.

But the most important thing—those precious feet, will they just buy shoes for 'em. Why not take them where schooled foot comfort specialists fit to perfection, and be relieved of all worries? The children's feet will grow naturally.

The children feet will grow strong.

The children's feet will grow perfect from

Easter Will Be Late This Year

This year Easter is on Sunday, April 25, the latest possible date on which Easter can fall. This has not happened since 1886, and will not happen again in the twentieth century.

The moon is full on April 18, a Sunday, so Easter comes the next Sunday. Easter can be as early as March 22 if the moon is full on March 21 and if that day is Saturday. This has not happened since 1818.

The seasons of the Church Year are adjusted according to the date of Easter. Fifty days before Easter in Quinquagesima, the last Sunday before Lent. Fifty days after Easter is Pentecost.

The Epiphany season, which always begins on January 6, must end 10 Sundays before Easter, to allow for the three pre-Lenten Sundays (Septuagesima, Sexagesima and Quinquagesima) and the six Sundays in Lent. If Easter is early, the Epiphany season may consist of only one Sunday. If Easter is late, the Epiphany season is lengthened to as much as six weeks, as it is this year.

Sportsmen Urged To Buy 1943 Hunting And Fishing Licenses Early

Frankfort, Ky.—All hunters and fishermen were urged today by S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, not to delay in purchasing their 1943 hunting and fishing licenses.

In his statement for publication, Wakefield pointed out that the Division of Game and Fish faces a "serious reduction" in revenues because of the war, and that the only funds available for furtherance of the Division's restocking program come from hunters and fishermen. He explained that purchase of the 1943 licenses now with the resultant revenue, would be of great assistance to the division in its conservation program for the present year.

Wakefield stated that December is the big revenue month for the Division and during that month of 1941 the Division received $55,185.60 from sale of licenses but this figure dropped for the month of December 1942 down to $36,529.07. This decline resulted from so many men going into the armed service, men and women taking defense jobs with less time for sport and recreation, the rubber shortage and gasoline rationing. The decline will continue as the war progresses and the only way revenue can be maintained is through the purchase of licenses by the people left back home. Even though a person might not have an opportunity to hunt or fish, he or she can purchase a license and insure the continuance of the Conservation Program in Kentucky and know that the money spent for such a license will help to keep the out-of-doors intact for the men when they return from the pursuance of a victorious war. These men can then get out their guns and fishing tackle to seek out the sports they once enjoyed in the past.

Victory Food Special Set For Janurry 18-23

Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent, has just received literature announcing that January 18 through January 23 would be a week to buy and use dry edible beans. The supply of this commodity is more abundant than other foods now. Use of victory food specials is in cooperation with the agricultural marketing administration.

Beans are an important item in the diets of civilians and service men. They represent an excellent source of carbohydrates, protein, iron and vitamins. They can be served as soup, salads, sandwiches and main dishes. They come in wide variety. Pea or Navy. Red or white Kidney, Lima, Pinto, Yelloweyes, Blackeyes, Pinks, Red Mexicans, or small Reds, Great Northern, Small White Cranberry and Soy. The homemaker should acquaint herself with several kinds. Buy a supply, and store for future use.

In preparing beans for the table: soak over night in soft water, cook in the soaking water, add water as they cook, keep heat low and simmer. Do not add soda. Use combinations in serving—sauces, bacon, nuts, onion. Try loaves, croquetes, baked dishes and hot or cold salads. Remember "Beans for Victory."

CASTOR BEANS PAY 4-H CLUB MEMBERS

A total of 4,274 pounds of castor beans was produced by 148 club members in Jefferson county in 1942. Delivered to the Commodity Credit Corporation, which had supplied each member with from two to 24 ounces of seed, four cents a pound was paid for beans which had a shelling percentage of 70.

The highest yield of 77 pounds of beans in the hull from two ounces of seed, was produced by Leon Ellingsworth of Jeffersontown. Several members harvested from 50 to 70 pounds from a similar amount. The largest total yield was that of John E. Kalmey of Valley Station, who planted one and a half pounds and harvested 618 pounds.

The beans will be shipped to the southwestern peanut growers' association in Texas where they will be planted for the production of beans for oil needed in the war effort.

The first year's experience, with this crop, says Henry A. Quisenberry, assistant county agent, indicates that castor beans should be planted about May 1 on well drained, fertile land, with the hills spaced two and a half to three feet apart, with three and a half feet between the rows. Killing frosts damaged many of the 1942 crops in October. Earlier planting should enable the crop to mature.

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

Glenn Ford, who has the largest pipe collection in Hollywood, recently added a new prize specimen to his array. Pat O'Brien, with whom he appears in Columbia's "Flight Lieutenant" gave the actor a pipe which he had hand-carved from the top of an Irish shillalah recently sent to O'Brien by an American soldier in Ireland. Evelyn Keyes is also headlined in the new air drama.

Crammed to the brim with swift action and tuneful music, RKO Radio's "Seven Days' Leave," starring Victor Mature and Lucille Ball, is a delightful combination of hilarious farce, stirring romance and headline specialty acts.

Played against the background of an Army training camp and New York night spots and radio stations, the story depicts the trials and tribulations of an ex-bandster and recent enlistee who is trying to marry a girl he has never met in order to fulfill the requirements of a will leaving him $100,000.

The cast includes Harold (Gilderslee) Peary, Mapy Cortes, Peter Lind Hayes, Ginny Simms, Marcy McGuire, Buddy Clark, Arnold Stang, Wallace Ford, Ralph Edwards, Charles Victor, and Freddy Martin and Les Brown with their respective bands.

Hollywood, accustomed to being startled, had one of its major shocks when Andy Devine appeared in a form-fitting tuxedo and derby hat, motorcycling to Universal studio for his role in "Between Us Girls."

Andy has his first "correctly attired" assignment which will be shown at the Gayety, Tuesday and Wednesday and which co-stars Diana Barrymore and Robert Cummings.

A Week of The War

Washington — President Roosevelt will soon send to Congress information and data on his proposal that social security be extended to cover every American "from the cradle to the grave."

He told reporters there is no controversy as to the objective of the program, but it will be up to Congress to work out the method for achieving that objective.

In his state of the union message on January 7, the President had spoken of the third freedom—freedom from want—and of what the young men and women of America want beyond the winning of the war. In addition to the opportunity for employment, the people want assurance against the evils of all major economic hazards, an assurance that "this great Government can and must provide." It is possible, he continued, that this will loom very large as a task of America during the coming two years—a task for the nation to study sympathetically and to work out with fairness to all and with injustice to none.

Production

The President said the U. S. has reason to be proud of the war production accomplishments of 1942—48,000 planes, 56,000 combat vehicles, such as tanks and self-propelled artillery, 670,000 machine guns, 21,000 anti-tank guns, 10,250,000,000 rounds of small arms ammunition and 181,000,000 rounds of artillery ammunition—"the arsenal of democracy is making good."

A joint statement issued earlier in the week by the WPB, the War Department and the Navy, said the revised 1943 war production program anticipates munitions production double that of 1942, with heavy emphasis placed on aircraft, merchant shipping, and naval escort and combat vessels. As revised and adjusted to fit our actual strategic battle plans, the program provides for about twice as many planes as built in 1942, more than twice the merchant ship tonnage of 1942, and considerable increases in naval escort and combat vessels. These are, for the most part, items difficult to make items requiring large quantities of material, parts, skilled manpower and special facilities.

As for merchant shipping, Mr. Roosevelt told the press, the 1942 goal of 8,000,000 tons was exceeded by almost 91,000 tons. The present rate of shipbuilding is 14,400,000 tons a year, and as things look now, the 1943 goal of 16,000,000 tons may even be exceeded.

The War Front

Although Nazi submarines sank fewer American ships in December than in previous months, the U-boat menace, according to OWI Director Elmer Davis, is still very serious. Reports also indicate, he said, that the Japanese are massing a large armada near the Solomons, presumably for another drive on the islands.

According to the Navy's information, there have been no Japanese landings of reinforcements and supplies on Guadalcanal in recent weeks. None of the 10 destroyers which were headed toward the island and intercepted on January 2 by U. S. airmen and torpedo boats succeeded in getting through the American defenses. On January 6, American warplanes in the South Pacific attacked a Japanese transport in the shortland island area of the Solomons and reported a possible hit on the stern of the ship.

From Secretary Stimson comes word that on all fronts the outlook is "favorable." In North Africa the British first army has scored gains in the North toward Bizerte, the French have ably fought off German attacks in the southern sector, and Allied aerial activity against enemy shipping has been highly effective. Mr. Stimson interpreted the German position in Russia as grave and pointed out that in the Caucasus a German Withdrawal appears to have begun. Turning to the Pacific, he said American and Australian forces have virtually completed ejecting the Japanese from New Guinea Island, and in the Solomons, American forces have been reinforced and supplied and their positions strengthened. He pointed out, however, that the Germans and Japanese have suffered few major reverses, and cautioned against underestimating their offensive capabilities.

A. U. S. fifth army, to be commanded by Lt. Gen. Mark Wayne Clark, is now being formed to fight in North Africa. This will make Lt. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower supreme commander of two Allied armies, the other being the British first army commanded in the field by British Lt. Gen. Kenneth A. N. Anderson.

The Cost of Living

An OPA report on three typical months of residential rent control gives complete details of how the nation's $8 billion annual rent bill has been held in check. Covering the period of August 1 to October 31, 1942, this is the first detailed analysis of the operation of rent control. At the end of October, there were 191 defense-rental areas under maximum price regulations, but since October rent control has spread over 356 areas, and now covers more than 76 million Americans. Tenants in these areas are assured of stable rents in 1943 and freedom from fear of evictions.

Moving toward simplified and standardized retail food prices, the OPA has established uniform retail and wholesale margins on nine food commodities—coffee, canned fish, cooking and salad oils, shortening, corn meal, canned citrus fruits and juices, evaporated milk, pure maple and corn syrups, and flour and flour mixes. Thus every housewife in the principal population centers will now know exactly, in cents per package and per pound, the ceiling prices on these items in her food budget. This is only the initial step, said OPA—broader action later on will cover a wide range of products including meat and many staple groceries.

Food Distribution

The Food Distribution Administration is establishing machinery to deal with widespread local food shortages. Since national food supplies are not inadequate, these local food shortages are almost entirely the result of maldistribution, and the new program is intended to obtain more equitable supplies of foods until such time as rationing begins.

To handle these critical supply problems, food Administrator Wickard has directed the FDA to organize at once, local and state committees, such committees to be comprised of Government representatives and representatives of the food manufacturing and distributing industries for the territory concerned, including a representative of each of the food retailer groups and of each type of general line food wholesalers as well as wholesalers of dairy and poultry products and meats. Public officials with marketing functions will be invited to serve as advisers and FDA officials will serve as chairmen.

The plan of purpose and procedure, as outlined by FDA Administrator Hendrickson, provides for the committees to establish publicly announced headquarters, to receive and investigate food shortage complaints from consumers, dealers, institutions and organizations. The air will be to give one-day service to verify complaints, such verification to determine whether actual critical shortages of essential foods exist.

If the situation cannot be corrected locally, it will be referred to the FDA state chairman, who will try to obtain supplies elsewhere within the state. If it cannot be corrected within the state or at the regional level, it will be reported to FDA headquarters in Washington. FDA headquarters will then deal with appropriate national trade or industry associations. And in view of the success of recent arrangements with the American Meat Institute and the offers of similar co-operation by other industries, the FDA believes this can be an effective means of meeting the more critical problems of shortages.

After January 9, the production of all citrus juices, except unconcentrated grapefruit juice, will be reserved for war requirements. This is food distribution order No. 3, and its purpose is two-fold—to insure adequate supplies of canned citrus products for Government war requirements and to conserve tin by requiring civilians to use fresh citrus fruits instead of canned fruits.

Income Tax News

Personal Exemption

Every individual is allowed a credit against his net income which varies with his domestic status, that is, whether he is (a) a single person, (b) a married person living with husband or wife, or (c) a head of family. This credit is known as personal exemption, and is shown on line 21 of the return Form 1040. The amount of the personal exemption also varies depending upon the period during which the taxpayer occupied the particular exemption status.

The personal exemption for a single person is $500 for the year; for a married person living with husband or wife, $1200; and for a "head of family," $1200. (Personal exemption as head of a family has no effect on liability to file a return). For Federal income tax purposes, widows, widowers, divorcees, and married persons separated by mutual consent, as well as persons who have never been married, are classed as single persons.

A head of family is defined as "an individual who actually supports and maintains in one household one or more individuals who are closely connected with him by blood relationship, relationship by marriage or by adoption, and whose right to exercise family control and provide for those dependent individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation." A single person, or a married person not living with husband or wife, may, therefore, enjoy a head of family exemption under certain conditions.

Taxpayers using a Simplified Return (which is permitted if the gross income for the year is $3000 or less and derived solely from earnings from employment and—or from dividends, interest and annuities) obtain personal exemption based on their status as of July 1 of the year. Thus a taxpayer married and living with husband or wife on July 1 is entitled to $1,200 personal exemption on Form 1040A; if he were a widower on July 1, his exemption would be $500, irrespective of the date on which he became a widower. The amount of the exemption is not deductible from the income but is reflected in the amount of tax shown in the table on the reverse side of the form.

Taxpayers using return Form 1040 obtain personal exemption proportionate with the number of months during which the particular status is held. Thus, for a person who married on July 1, (who was not a head of a family prior to his marriage) the personal exemption would be $850 ($250 for the six months as a single man, plus $600 for the six months as a married man). In this example it is assumed that the wife has no income.

Married persons may, however, file joint returns, even though one has no income, and by filing a joint return a couple married during the year may obtain an exemption amounting to the exemption to which they would be entitled for the period of married status, plus the amount of their individual exemptions prior to their marriage. In the example given the total exemption is a joint return would be $1100 ($250 for each spouse for six months plus $600 for six months married status).

If a husband and wife living together both have income and file separate returns on Form 1040, the personal exemption applicable to a married person may be taken in the return of either or divided between them in any way as they may agree, but the total personal exemption taken in the two separate returns may not exceed $1200.

They Stop the Flow of Electricity When Something Is Wrong

The fuse is a safety valve for the electric system. If the correct size is used, a thin strip of soft metal under the glass will melt or "blow" whenever a short circuit or overload causes more electricity to flow through the wires than they can safely carry. The melted fuse link stops the flow of current before damage to the wiring in the walls can result.

It's Easy to Replace Fuses

If you do not know how to replace a "blown" fuse, call us and we'll have a serviceman show you next time he's in your vicinity.* It's almost as simple as replacing a light bulb and not only eliminates delay in restoring service, but also saves a trip for a service truck, thus conserving vital rubber.

Never Use Substitutes

Always keep a few spare fuses of correct size on hand, so you'll have them when needed. Never use pennies or other makeshift substitutes. They will not protect you and may cause a fire.

How to Locate a "Blown" Fuse

Notice thin metal strip under glass. If this strip or link has melted and shows a gap, or if glass is scorched and you cannot see link, fuse has blown and should be replaced with new fuse of correct size, usually 15 amperes for branch circuits. (Illustration shows type most commonly used. If your fuses are different, ask for specific instructions.)

TRIBUTE TO MR. C. SCOTT CHAMBERS

Mr. C. Scott Chambers during his lifetime came to the aid of many of our Colored citizens at a time of distress and dire need regardless of their situation. He was always to them a friend indeed at a time of need; and in their behalf I take this means of expressing their last tribute of respect for him. The pattern God used in making this great Undertaker, He had no further use for and later on abandoned it.

FOOD AND WAR TO BE DISCUSSED AT FARM CONVENTION

The place of food in winning the war will be the major subject of discussion at the 31st annual Farm and Home Convention at the University of Kentucky Jan. 26-29.

"This is the year to do an extra good job of farming and homemaking, to produce the enormous amounts of foodstuffs, that will be needed to win the war," says Dean Thomas P. Cooper.

Among the speakers will be Roy Hendrickson, director of the Food Distribution Administration of the United States Department of Agriculture; W. W. Shoemaker, vice-president of Armour & Co., and President H. L. Donovan and Dean Cooper of the University of Kentucky.

Discussing the machinery and transportation situations will be Frank J. Zink of the Farm Equipment Institute of Chicago, and Robert A. Hicks of the Office of defense Transportation at Washington. Other speakers will deal with the labor problem.

Sergeant Alvin C. York, hero of the first world war; Miss Hilda Beal of England; Mrs. Grace Sloan Overton, Ann Arbor, Mich.; Miss Anne Sweeney, a WAAC; Dr. Raymond McLain, president of Transylvania College at Lexington; Dr. T. S. Hamilton of the University of Illinois; Mrs. Ben Lowry, Lexington; R. D. Haun, Cecil Embry and Frank C. Wright, Louisville; Robert Jones, North Middletown; Garnett Thornton, Lexington; Frank Street, Henderson; R. M. Hagan, Owensboro, S. D. Broadbent, Jr., Cobb; R. O. Stith, Guston and M. G. Moksnes, Versailles.

After joint sessions the first half of the convention, there will be separate meetings devoted to livestock raising, homemakers, the rural community and church, dairying, poultrykeeping, beekeeping, fruit production, farm engineering, soil management, seed improvement and marketing. Dairy cattle clubs and other farm groups will meet during the week.

USE OLD MATERIALS TO DRESS-UP HOMES

How homemakers in Fulton-co. are using materials on hand to make their homes more attractive and comfortable at little cost was told by Home Agent Catherine Thompson. Eighty-one pieces of furniture were re-upholstered, 116 chairs slip-covered, 130 floor coverings reconditioned and 348 articles made from feed or flour sacks. Six hundred and thirteen women refinished old floors, 132 refinished walls and 247 reconditioned window shades. Twenty-one rugs were also made. Seventy-three women dyed or tinted household articles and 142 added new storage space in their homes.

A Week of the War

Washington, Jan. 17—Unfavorable weather in April and during almost all the last 45 days of the navigation season produced delays in vessel operations, but could not stop great lakes freight. The bulk freight commerce, the great lakes in 1942 reached the staggering total of 178,577,828 net tons. Obviously the outstanding feature of this shipping record was the movement of iron ore, which, originally scheduled to reach 89 million gross tons, actually totaled 92 million. In net tonnage, this amounts to about 103 million, and to this achievement must be given much of the credit for helping the steel industry maintain uninterrupted operations at a monthly rate of more than 7 million ingot tons of steel for war.

War Budget

The President's budget message to congress forecast federal expenditures of $108 billion in the fiscal year 1944 and called for $16 billion in new collections by taxation, savings or both. Proposed war costs for 1944 were set at $100 billion. (War expenditures for 1942, as released by the OWI, totaled more than $52 billion—3.8 times the amount spent in 1941—but at the end of the year they were running at an annual rate of about $74 billion.)

Emphasizing that methods of taxation should be determined by congress, the President asked congress to put taxpayers on a pay-as-you-go basis, simplify the tax system, and effect certain reforms in the tax structure. Specifically, these reforms would include changes in the depletion-of-reserves provisions, extension to all income of the present limitation of $25,000 net on earned income, removal of the tax exemption from future issues of securities, and curtailment of the advantages of joint income returns still allowed married couples in some states.

Pay-As-You-Go Tax Plan

A Treasury Department statement said the simplest and most effective method of placing individual income tax payments on a current basis is collection of the taxes at the source of the income. Stanley S. Surrey, tax legislative counsel of the Treasury Department, explained that if income tax collections at the source were made applicable at the normal (plus first bracket surtax) rate, the vast majority of our taxpayers—about 25 million of the estimated 35 million income taxpayers—would be placed on a current basis and would also have their income taxes automatically budgeted for them.

Americans are already subject to one withholding tax—the Victory tax. Treasury officials have pointed out that witholding, in this case, is a collection device rather than a tax in itself a device designed to help the taxpayer pay his 1943 Victory tax when it falls due in March 1944. The methods developed for administering the withholding provisions were determined upon as the most equitable for all taxpayers affected, under the terms of the statute imposing the tax.

Women In War

This week, WMC Chairman McNutt, announcing that 4 million women are now working in war plants, predicted that in very short time one out of every four workers in American war industries will be a woman. To meet 1943 war production goals, the number of women workers must increase, until, by the end of the year, 6 million women will be engaged in war production work.

An intensive campaign is to be launched this month by the Red Cross Nursing Service, to recruit 36,000 graduate registered nurses for the army and navy nurse corps, 100,000 Red Cross Nurses Aides to assist professional nurses in civilian and Government hospitals, and one million students in Red Cross home nursing classes, teaching methods of protecting health and preventing illness in the home. Mr. McNutt, as Director of Defense Health and Welfare Services, announced that if even minimum civilian and military needs of the nation are to be met, 65,000 young women must enter schools of nursing between June 30, 1943, and July 1, 1944.

Agriculture and War

Calling on farmers for unprecedented production in 1943, President Roosevelt said food already sent to the people of North Africa is saving the energies and the lives of American troops there. Food, he said, is a weapon in total war and the record crop produced last year by American farmers is a major Victory of the United Nations.

Year-end estimates from the Department of Agriculture show 1942 output of livestock and livestock products (for sale and home consumption) up 12 percent over 1941, crop production up nearly 14 percent and total agriculture production up more than 12 percent. But it is still likely that, due to unprecedented national income and rising government requirements, 1943 demand for farm products will rise well ahead of production. Attainment of the 1943 food goals would mean a 12 percent increase (over 1942) in livestock and livestock products, a 4 percent increase in total agricultural production, and a total food production increase of about 6 percent. If these goals are attained, 1943 will be the seventh consecutive year to set a food production record.

After government requirements have been met, the volume of 1943 food production left for civilians is expected to be about the same as the 1935-39 average, which was adequate to feed the nation five years ago but is 10 percent below 1942.

Offensive In Libya

The allies have opened an air offensive against Gen. Rommels retreating Afrika Korps in Libya.

On Sunday, January 10, allied planes bombed and machine-gunned the German forces on the coast road between Misurata and Tripoli. On Tuesday, January 12, they made a lightning attack on Castel Benito, 10 miles south of Tripoli, raining bombs on the airfield, setting fire to buildings and destroying at least five enemy planes on the ground . . . and on the way back, flying fortresses rushed into a 75-mile running battle with German Messerschmitt fighters and without loss brought down 14 of them.

On the thirteenth, allied planes, in broad daylight, opened a heavy attack on German positions in the Wadi Zemzem area and in a fierce air battle shot down four Messerschmitts and damaged others. The night before, bombers had attacked enemy landing grounds at Misurata (which is about 60-70 miles north of the Wadi Zemzem defense lise) and had followed up by bombing Axis-held roads and fields and machine-gunning transport convoys all the way from Misurata to Tunisia, 270 miles to the west. Allied fighter and bomber planes, the next day, again carried the battle to Misurata and to Tripoli. Meanwhile, the activity in Tunisia continues with allied air forces hitting hard against the Axis Coastal towns and French reporting gains in the southern sector.

On New Guinea, U. S. and Australian troops continue to close slowly in on the tight little Japanese stronghold on Sanada point. Hampered by torrential rains, allied troops on Friday were still one and one-half miles from the main enemy positions. In a daring commando-type raid a picked force of jungle trained Australians struck within one of Japans biggest bases in Northeast New Guinea and wiped out all the Japanese they found. The raid was at Mubo, 12 miles south of the big enemy base of Salamanua on the Huon Gulf, and was a two-day operation by Australians who had been operating in the area for some time.

Japanese Propaganda

After the Navy identified as the Hornet the aircraft carriers sunk in the battle of Santa Cruz Islands on October 26, 1942, Japanese propagandists attempted to exploit the American announcement by asserting that the Hornet brought the north American bombers for the air attack on Tokyo last April 18. A Tokyo broadcast recorded by the OWI declared that the sinking of the carrier was "revenge for the raid," adding that Japanese air units had been concentrating on this ship.

CONSTANCE MAN SUFFERS INJURIES

WHEN STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE WHILE WORKING ON TRUCK —SLIPPERY ROAD CAUSE OF ACCIDENT.

Paul McGlasson, of Constance suffered multiple lacerations and bruises when he was struck by a car operated by Arnold Craddock, of Hebron, Saturday morning.

The accident occurred near La Vista. McGlasson was working on his truck when struck by the car driven by Craddock. Craddock's car plunged over an embankment after skidding into the truck. Several minutes later, a car driven by Everett Cook, Boone County, crashed into the truck.

Many accidents were reported throughout the county, most of which were minor, due to the slippery condition of the highways. Four cars were reported to have skidded on a turn just south of Florence on U. S. 42, damaging the cars considerably, but occupants escaped injury.

FARM OUTLOOK GOOD FOR 1943

SAYS ROY E. PROCTOR, FARM MANAGEMENT SPECIALIST AT MEETING HELD HERE LAST THURSDAY.

The market outlook for all farm products produced in 1943 is good, according to Roy E. Proctor, farm management specialist in addressing a group of Boone County farmers at the County Agent's office in Burlington last Thursday. Farmers were urged not to be "penny wise and dollar foolish," in 1943. Maximum production means maximum profit and greatest aid for victory in our war effort.

Mr. Proctor pointed out that the farmer this year is confronted with the most difficult production problem in history along with an acute labor and power machinery shortage. The first problem is one's attitude, an attitude and a will to do the job regardless. A man with power machinery can do five times as much work as a man with one-horse equipment. Those who own power equipment must plan to do custom work for neighbors in rush periods and when the machinery is not otherwise in use. It is expected the neighbor will either pay for this service or exchange labor.

There are many other labor saving practices that may be carried out in the 1943 production, including the self feeding of hogs, the balancing of crops and livestock production so that labor is more evenly distributed and to relieve pressure of rush seasons.

The keeping of a complete farm account book was recommended as one of the best ways for a farmer to calculate his income tax returns.

Farmers Are Well Represented At Meeting

Agricultural Conservation committeemen from the majority of the communities in the county were represented at a meeting held at the county office on Saturday, January 23.

Purpose of the meeting was to start the farm canvass that will be made on every farm in the next few weeks. Information regarding the production of all of the important farm crops and livestock for 1942 and that intended for 1943 will need to be furnished. This information will be useful in locating and helping those farmers who need special assistance in carrying out their war production program for 1943, also in assisting the War Board in determining eligibility of the farm for ration supplies, assisting the Selective Service Board by providing information useful for classification and deferment of essential workers, and in developing the AAA 1943 Farm Plan.

Goals regarding livestock production and certain war crops have been received by the County Agricultural War Board, according to John E. Crigler. The only crops that there is very much increase needed at the present time on tomatoes for canning, potatoes, hemp and castor beans. Certain small increases have been made in other crops, namely a 10 percent increase in all burley tobacco allotments.

Live stock increases are considered more important as a 20 percent increase in the number of cattle and calves marketed will be needed; a 6 percent increase in cows and heifers for milk; 8 percent increase in milk production; 3 percent increase in chickens raised; and a 6 percent increase in egg production.

All farm operators are urged to assist the local Agricultural Conservation Committee in doing this work so that the canvass may be finished as quickly as possible, thereby helping the War production program.

Boone Farmers Are Reclassified By Local Draft Board

Boone County farmers essential to the war effort have been reclassified, according to C. G. Kelly Clerk of Draft Board No. 9, Burlington. Single men doing essential farm work have been classed in 2-C while married men on the farm, essential to the war effort have been placed in 3-C.

Thirty-one men will report this morning (Thursday) to the Local Draft Board, Burlington, when they will be sent to Cincinnati for their final examination and induction. A complete list of the men will be carried in these columns in next week's issue.

VICTORY BOOK CAMPAIGN PLAN

DISCUSSED BY REPRESENTATIVES OF RED CROSS AND U. S. O. AT MEETING HELD THURSDAY.

At a meeting in the court house Thursday night, called by Miss Mary Bess Cropper, Librarian, representatives of the Red Cross and the U. S. O. made plans to conduct the "Victory Book Campaign" in Boone County, as is being done throughout the Nation.

This drive will last until March 5, and its purpose is (1) to collect books for our soldiers, sailors and marines as a supplement to the library services maintained by the Army and Navy; (2) to provide reading matter for the U. S. O. houses outside the camps and for the American Merchant Marine Library Association.

Due to the timely nature of magazines, none can be accepted in this drive.

Last year Boone County responded well to this call for books, turning in 1173 volumes. Throughout the nation ten million books were given, but only six million were found suitable to place in the libraries for the service men. When selecting books to give in this drive be guided by the slogan "any book you really want to keep is a good one to give."

In the line of fiction, the national committee has found the following to be the most popular: Adventure, aviation stories, historical novels, humor, mystery, sports and western. In other fields books desired are such as those on applied psychology, current affairs, military publications, crime and the F. B. I., scientific books (not older than 1935,) well illustrated books of all types, sports, biography, history, and texts in present use in law and medical schools.

Begin now to look for the books you intend to give. Next week a list of the chairmen in the various precincts will be published, and everyone will have the opportunity to "Be a Book Buddy."

"Tumblin' Creek" To Be Presented January 29

Come and see the hicks from the sticks in a rip-roaring play of the hills of Tennessee. How did people live in the Tennessee mountains 15 years ago? How did they dress? Did they ever fall in love? And there's a real honest-to-goodness feud in the play.

"Tumblin' Creek" is an exciting story of a young professor who goes to a mountain town to teach the local school. He becomes involved in a local feud as well as a romance.

The play will be presented Friday, January 29, at 8:00 p. m. EWT. at Burlington High School auditorium. Admission, children 20c, adults 30c.

Farm Outlook Meeting Scheduled February 2

Cattle To Be T. B. Tested

The State and Federal Veterinary departments have announced that Boone County cattle are eligible for a sample T. B. test this spring, according to H. R. Forkner County Agent.

Boone is a Federal T. B. free accredited county. This means that the cattle of the county have been tested free from T. B. and on the sample tests taken every five years find that the cattle are 99½ percent or higher free from T. B. If the percent of reactors runs above ½ of 1 percent the county loses its accredited standing.

It is to the advantage of all dairy owners that they cooperate in this testing program and aid in keeping the herds of the county free from disease. Only five percent of all cattle will be tested in the sample test which will start in the near future. There is no charge for the testing service and owners receive indemnity on the appraised value of the reactors. Dairymen especially requesting their herds be tested will receive consideration. according to A. S. Barnes of the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry.

Several Farmers Will Attend Farm And Home Convention This Week

GAS STATION HOURS LIMITED

WILL BE ALLOWED TO REMAIN OPEN ONLY 12 HOURS IN ONE DAY—OPERATORS CAN DECIDE HOURS.

Service stations throughout the nation are complying with the wartime government regulation, requiring that gasoline pumps be operated no more than 12 hours a day. Service station operators are allowed to decide for themselves what hours of the day they will be open.

Garages and service stations in some localities of Boone County have arranged their schedule in order that their patrons will be able to purchase gasoline seven days a week. This is being worked out by one station remaining closed on Sunday while another is closed Monday.

According to regulations set out by the OPA, stations may operate on two plans: Staying open not more than 72 hours a week and for not more than 12 hours a day, or staying open 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, but serving only T card holders during 12 of the 24 hours.

MIRACLES COST MONEY

One of the first requisites of sound post-war planning is sound taxation. Our Federal tax policy should be directed toward two objectives: First, paying for the war; Second, maintaining a financially strong industrial structure. Industry should be encouraged to build reserves to meet the inevitable and gigantic costs of reconversion to peacetime needs. Unless this is done, plans for the future, both of government and industry, will be doomed to failure. Industry will be hampered in rebuilding a war-torn world. Government will be hampered in its efforts to encourage full employment, and collect needed tax revenues.

The depression consumed practically all of industry's cash reserves. Unwise tax laws, and misguided social reforms have prevented the re-accumulation of reserves.

Industry has shown during the past year that it has the imagination and capacity to respond when our national existence is threatened. Never has the world seen our equal in military production—thanks to industry. And now, with the problems of peace arising, it will again be up to industry to work a miracle. Millions of persons must be shifted from war jobs to peace jobs. Industry must supply the jobs. It must produce as never before, or this country will face state socialism, the very thing the war has fought to prevent.

When peace comes, industry must have cash reserves to remodel factories, to fashion a better civilization. If taxes take all the profits, there will be no reserves.

The first problem of Congress in 1943 will be taxes. In the wise solution of that problem will lie the success or failure of plans for peace.

POLITICS AND PRODUCTION WON'T MIX

Peter F. Drucker, writing in the Saturday Evening Post, observes that: "The production battle is not being won in Washington. The engineers in Detroit and Cleveland, the chemists in West Virginia's Kanawha Valley, the foremen and mechanics in thousands of plants all over the country have converted this country in a few months from the least armed into the best armed of the great powers . . . The individual American worker has taken the initiative and made war production his own individual enterprise."

The men who manage or work in the industries that produce the raw materials, no less than the men who turn out the finished guns and tanks, are war producers. Coal and iron, crude oil, timber and electric power may appear no different at the source, in war than in peace. But the men who produce them know that, like food, they are the key to victory. The natural resource industries are the efficient backbone of the war effort. They are efficient because like all other industry they are worked by individuals with a burning desire to win the war. After the war they will be operated with the same kind of efficiency to rebuild civilization.

As Mr. Drucker pointed out, Washington is not producing the machines to win victory. It sets the goals. It regulates the flow of orders and distribution of materials. Its task is as essential as that of industry. But it should never be confused with the task of industry. Production hinges on the drive of independent citizens. Industry is run by independent citizens. The problem in the future will be to see that it stays that way.

A VITAL TRUTH

The War Labor Board has been doing a difficult and thankless job. It has been the recipient of much criticism, particularly with respect to the highly controversial union maintenance provision which has often been included in its decisions. Wayne L. Morse, member of the board, has pointed out that this provision would not be desirable in peacetime. But war has forced its adoption as a compromise measure in settling disputes. In return for giving up many peacetime privileges including that of striking, union labor has received a degree of union security through government guarantee of maintenance of membership.

As Mr. Morse explains: "Finally, after much travail and care, the board adopted the so-called maintenance - of-membership formula, which in its most common form as applied by the board in the ordinary case provides briefly that anyone who is a member of the union fifteen days from the date of the directive order must continue his membership for the life of the contract (usually not more than a year), as must also anyone joining thereafter. All workers are free to withdraw from the union maintenance provision during the fifteen-day period or refrain from any type of coercion. Obviously this formula restricts the individual worker's liberties to a certain extent, but only after he had voluntarily submitted to those restrictions."

The maintenance-of-membership clause has often been branded as synonymous with the un-American closed shop. It may be subject to other criticisms but it cannot fairly be called a guarantee of a closed shop. If a plant's workers are half union and half non-union, the maintenance-of-membership order would apply only to the union members. Many people have been confused on this point.

The War Labor Board has emphasized that labor and management alike are only human. The worker is no different than the employer. Both, on the average, are good American citizens. If this vital truth can be kept clearly in mind during these trying times, we will stand a good chance of coming through the present emergency with a strengthened, more tolerant society, a society without class distinction, a traditionally American society.

—o—

AN EVEN BREAK

It will take hundreds of millions of manhours to do the paper work and policing if we put the war economy on a wholly compulsory basis. This was the gist of a recent announcement by Boake Carter, noted commentator. Mr. Carter then suggested that voluntary measures be tried. They worked in the last war. Why not this time?

Most of the restrictions will be in the retail field: food and clothing, necessities which now go in large quantities to our allies and the military services. And although the task that would be imposed on the retailer would be staggering, the record shows that he will gladly do his part to secure the cooperation of consumers in every instance where it is decided the force of law shall not apply.

Every effort has been made by retail distributors to secure consumer cooperation in the fair distribution of meat, coffee, canned goods, candy, gum and scores of other items. Limits often have been placed on the quantity of goods sold to a single purchaser. In practically all cases, these voluntary controls have been accepted wholeheartedly by the public. One of the reasons for this wide acceptance is the fact that modern mass distribution is a closely integrated industry. Similar controls are in effect in all sections. Particularly is this true of the chain systems. Coffee in Kansas is no more expensive than coffee in California. Likewise, rationing of pineapple juice is not confined to one or two areas.

Regardless of whether the controls are voluntarily established by the merchant or enforced by government, public cooperation is essential if the consumer is to get an even break in the distribution of scare commodities.

JESUS THE BREAD OF LIFE

LESSON TEXT—John 6:8-14, 30-35.
GOLDEN TEXT—Jesus said unto them, I am the bread of life.—John 6:35.

Spiritual truth becomes understandable to us as it is put in the language of our daily life. Jesus was the Master Teacher of all times, and made use of graphic figures to present the message of salvation.

He spoke of the wind, of water, and in this lesson of bread. Even a child knows about such things and understands the good news. Bread is still the staff of life. It speaks of life and health, of satisfaction and strength.

Beginning with the five small barley cakes (and two fishes) which a provident little boy had taken with him into the wilderness, Jesus preaches by miracle and by precept of eternal things. One is glad that a bright lad was more thoughtful than all the adults that day, for he provided the occasion for the miracle and the message.

I. Daily Bread (vv. 8-13).

The great multitude had followed Jesus to the other side of Galilee where He had gone to rest. They sought Him out and He had compassion on them—these sheep without a shepherd (Matt. 9:36). That interest was first spiritual, for "he began to teach them many things," but it was also practical in the realm of daily life, for He saw that they were physically hungry.

His appeal to Philip revealed the lack of faith which at times afflicted the disciples. They knew they had the Son of God in their midst, and yet they were bound by the matter of dollars and cents, of portions and —well, they just wished Jesus would send these people away. That would solve the problem. Oh, yes, "there is a lad here," but what he has amounts to nothing.

All this was perfectly natural. They talked just like most of us do when we are up against a similar problem. But the point is that they (and we too!) ought to realize that "little is much when God is in it." If we let Christ have all that we have and are, it will be adequate for every need.

Are you worrying about your lack of money; your inability to do things for Him? Are you limiting God when He would like to take what you have and multiply it by His blessing?

Notice that though there was plenty, there was none to waste. What was over was gathered up. God never encourages waste. Perhaps we in America may learn that lesson the hard way in these days—but having learned it let us not forget it.

II. Heavenly Bread (vv. 14, 30, 31).

The people (probably incited by the religious leaders) after their first surprise at the miracle, sought Him out in the temple and demanded a greater miracle. Jesus never put much dependence on those whose faith rested on miracles, and we do well to be careful of those who must have something spectacular going on all the time if they are to be interested.

They contrasted His miracle of one meal with the repeated miracle of the daily manna—the bread from heaven—under Moses. Jesus makes it clear that He is not in competition with Moses, for the manna came not from Moses but from God. Those who seek signs and wonders had better get their eyes off such things and get them on God who is the Giver of every good and perfect gift.

Their plea for heavenly bread gave Jesus the opportunity to tell them about the true bread from heaven.

III. The Bread of Life (vv. 32-35).

Feeding the body is important, but the real need of men is for spiritual food. Daily bread is a food that perisheth (see v. 27), but the "meat that endureth unto eternal life" is received by faith in Christ (v. 29).

Instead of a sign, or the passing blessing of daily sustenance, Jesus presents Himself as the bread of life which will eternally satisfy the deepest hunger and thirst of the human soul.

Those who teach that Christ is but our example, giving Himself as the spiritual bread to those who by development of character are seeking to be like Him, should read verses 47 to 51 of this same chapter. Here He makes clear that by the giving of His flesh in the death of the cross everlasting life comes to the believer.

It is only the man who eats of this bread, w[illegible]y faith makes himself partaker of the death of our Lord, that can have eternal life.

This must be done in the right way—the way of faith. The people said, "Lord, evermore give us this bread" (v. 34). One wonders whether some of them did not say it scoffingly, and others perhaps still with the thought of daily bread for their bodies. Among them, however, were surely some earnest souls who that day saw the light of eternity through His wonderful words about the bread of life.

This Week On The Home Front

The available supply of textiles for civilians during 1943 should not fall more than 10 percent below last year's production, according to Frank L. Walton, Director of the WPB Textile, Clothing and Leather Division.

Basing his estimate on the assumption that increased military and foreign requirements will be met through conservation measures, which have already been instituted, and allowing for possible production losses due to labor, power, transportation, or other shortages, he declared that the output of fabrics would be sufficient to meet all essential civilian requirements.

There is no overall shortage of textile fibers, he said. We have a surplus of cotton which, along with our production of rayon and our production of supply of wool and flax, should prevent any shortage of fibers. Production is limited only by the available processing capacity for fibers. Sheets, towels, bedspreads, and blankets are expected to be available in quantities to take care of essential needs, he said, and the same holds true for knitted hosiery and underwear.

Housewives, who unwrap their bread and find the loaves unsliced, need not be dismayed for lack of a fancy blade called the "bread knife." Following the announcement that bakeries would stop slicing bread on January 18th, there was a widespread buying splurge of such knives. Any keen-edged meat or other type of slicing knife that is in almost every kitchen will do the bread cutting trick as neatly as the fancy blade.

Far-reaching liberalization of the requirements for agricultural deferments which is expected to keep many additional workers on farms has been announced by the War Manpower Commission's Selective Service Bureau. The revised guide provides that a local board would be justified in some cases in deferring an agricultural worker who produced as little as 8 war units of essential products. Heretofore, 16 units was considered as a standard.

In a move to protect young workers entering war time industry, the U. S. HEBRON HOMEMAKERS

The Hebron Homemakers' Club met at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Crutcher, Jan. 13. The roll was answered by "What I am sharing with my neighbors." There were 13 members and three visitors present.

We were glad to welcome Mrs. Beulah Craddock, Mrs. Claire Goodridge and Mrs. Ethel Lea into our club.

Mrs. Sue Rogers was selected as a delegate to the Farm and Home Convention at the University of Kentucky, College of Agriculture, January 26-29.

The general theme of the convention will be the part which the Kentucky farmers and farm women are taking in the war. Sgt. Alvin C. York of Jamestown, Tenn., a hero of the first World War will be one of the speakers Thursday morning.

Discussions of the food and labor situation will feature the convention. Because of the labor shortage more women will go into the fields and otherwise help with the farm work next year. Women, therefore, will be interested in the quicker and easier methods of running the house, preparing the meals, sewing and cleaning.

Mrs. Alberta Dickey, citizenship chairman expressed the urgent need for women who are interested in taking nurse's aid.

There will be a class starting Jan. 23 at the Booth Memorial Hospital in Covington.

Several of our members have donated blood to the blood bank since our last meeting and several more are going.

Women also are asked to go to the Red Cross headquarters at the Y. W. C. A. at 9th and Walnut Streets, Cincinnati, to help make bandages.

Mrs. Chas. Riley distributed some more Red Cross sewing to the members.

Mrs. Katherine Jane Peel, program chairman asked the members to bring their Xmas cards to the next meeting to be used in making scrap books for the Children's Hospital, in Cincinnati.

Mrs. Moore gave a very interesting lesson care of the Clothing." She stated that lack of care will cause clothing of the best quality and design soon to become shabby looking, while apparel of not such good quality can be kept fresh-looking for a longer time by giving it good care.

Clothing should be brushed immediately after wearing as dust injuries materials. All clothing should be well aired as soon as taken off. The care of clothing is more important now than ever before.

Mrs. Moore also demonstrated the proper way to wash and dry gloves, sweaters and woolen materials as well as how to remove spots from such articles.

As the members were interested in making home first aid kits, Mrs. Moore displayed all of the articles that should be in every home, such as a pair of dull scissors, safety pins and a needle; absorbent cotton, gauze, roll of 2-inch bandage, a few toothpicks and long stick applicators, iodine (2 percent), alcohol, a tube or jar of vaseline, a small can of soda and some adhesive tape.

Those attending were Mesdames Jennie Goodridge, Ruby Hollis, Virginia Pope, Lizzie Graves, Hilda Hogan, Sue Rogers, Alice Schneider, Katherine Peel, Bessie Acra, Lorraine Siekman, Lorena Clore, Alberta Dickey, Claire Goodridge, Beulah Craddock, Ethel Lea and the hostess, Mrs. Crutcher.

Arousing Interest

ARE PROF. A. M. YEALEY'S ARTICLES ON EARLY HISTORY OF BOONE COUNTY.

Prof. A. M. Yealey who has composed many articles on early history of Boone county have created much interest wherever read, and especially among those who have been former residents of this county, but now reside in other states.

Prof. Yealey has received a number of letters commenting upon the old railroad survey which was mentioned in one of his articles several years ago. One of the letters, written by T. J. McNeal, of Carlisle, Penn., who attended school at Pt. Pleasant when a boy, follows:

"In the article Early History of Boone County as to the survey for a railroad, I recollect of seeing or when they passed back of the Pt. Pleasant church where I attended school and saw the stakes down Gunpowder creek as far as Limaburg where it crossed the Burlington and Florence road. Prof. N. M. Lloyd, father of Prof. John Uri Lloyd was one of the civil engineers. The road as I recollect was called the Louisville & Covington short line railroad. My understanding was the stock was to be paid in installments and a contractor graded a few miles of the road near Louisville and brought suit against the stockholders for payments, and it was quite a sensation in our neighborhood, and at least one man had to sell some of his real estate to pay for stock that was worthless, and several had to borrow money to give to the New York company for the worthless stock."

USE OLD EQUIPMENT TO BEAT RATIONING

Machinery rationing is not going to upset the food-for-freedom program in McCreary county, Kentucky. M. C. Griffin, farm agent, says farmers are using old automobiles to make seeders, limestone and phosphate spreaders, and other equipment. The drive shaft and housing are cut off the rear end of a used car, and a hopper and disk distributor attached. Phosphates, limestone, fertilizer and seed can be scattered with the outfit.

PRESERVE YOUR EYES

A WARNING

Because they have no pain, many persons never suspect they are subject to eyestrain. This is a harmful situation. Eyestrain is a constant drain on the nervous system, and may cause headaches, lassitude, etc. If neglected, it may work serious injury.

Let us carefully examine your eyes and furnish proper glasses, if needed. Relief from eyestrain will make you feel like an entirely different person.

A Week of The War

Washington—In 15 months of lend-lease aid to Russia, the U. S. has shipped about 2,600 planes, 3,200 tanks and 81,000 military motor vehicles for Russian use against the Axis. The United Kingdom, also on a lend-lease basis, has supplied Russia with more than 2,600 tanks and more than 2,000 planes.

Reporting on United Nations aid to the Soviet Union, lend-lease administrator Stettinius said we have shipped more planes and tanks to the U. S. S. R. than to any other country since the beginning of the lend-lease program, and since sufficient supplies of food are necessary to Soviet army success as are planes and tanks, we are now sending more food to Russia than to the United Kingdom. Although the lend-lease program began in March of 1941, aid to Russia did not begin until October 1941. After a slow start, shipments began to increase and are still increasing, in spite of shipping shortages and enemy attacks along the supply routes.

The weapons that got through from the U. S. to Russia were only a tricle compared to Russian production, but at the same time American machines and parts sent to replace vital elements lost when Russian industries moved to safety behind the urals, were helping Russian factories to keep operating.

Thus American products have had a part in the fight these courageous people are waging against our common enemies—in the great drive westward, the battles that have destroyed quantities of Axis equipment and supplies and killed more Germans than all the United Nations put together.

But, the OWI points out, lend-lease is doing a job all over the world. The 7,496,000,000 in goods transferred and services rendered by the U. S. up to the end of last November strengthened the fronts from Russia to Australia. Africa, for example has proved that lend-lease and fighting the war are the same thing. The supplies, installations and equipment brought in with lend-lease funds, the ports built up along the Persian Gulf and the Red Sea, the airfields, docks, warehouses, assembly and repair shops, pipelines, communications and railroads built with lend-lease aid—these are the facilities and bases now being used by U. S. forces to fight the war in Tunisia, in the middle east, and all the way to China.

Little War Labor Boards

Under a sweeping decentralization program, the national War Labor Board is establishing 12 Regional War Labor Boards, with full authority to make final decisions in labor disputes and in voluntary wage and salary adjustment cases. Each of the regional boards will be set up on the NWLB tri-parte system of public employer and labor representatives. William Davis, chairman of the NWLB, said that under this plan wage stabilization will be done primarily in the field, with the NWLB in Washington sitting as a sort of supreme court selecting its own cases for decision by orders for review. Only policy defining cases will be brought to the national board.

In October 1941, the NWLB was given the task of stabilizing wages and salaries, of assuming jurisdiction over the wage and salary rates of roughly 31,000,000 employees of some 300,000 non-agricultural business enterprises, ranging from restaurants to huge war factories.

The board found that between January 1941 and May 1942, when the President announced his seven-point anti-inflation program, the cost of living had gone up 15 percent. During that time, about two-thirds of all manufacturing wages had also risen at least 15 percent. Therefore, in ruling on wage increases, the board felt that those whose wages had already risen high enough to cover the cost of living increase should not be granted further general increases, but that all others were entitled to have their average straight-time rates brought up to a point 15 per cent above the January 1941 level.

The War Front

Japanese pockets of resistance in the Sanananda area of Papuan New Guinea—all that is left of the Japanese Papuan Army of 15,000 shock troops—are rapidly dissolving before American and Australian troops.

The American position of Guadalcanal has improved much in the past week, since the capture by U. S. troops of Mount Austen, last Japanese position dominating Henderson Field, and the United Nations position in the Pacific war is now more favorable than at any time since the Marines first landed on Guadalcanal in August 1942. Incidentally although for several months the Marines have been operating jointly with army troops in the Solomons area, most of the Marines have now been replaced by army personnel. This week Major Gen. Alexander M. Patch U. S. Army, took command of American forces on Guadalcanal, relieving Major Gen. Alexander A. Vandergrift, U. S. Marine Corps.

During the five-day period of January 13 to 17 inclusive, our forces killed over 1,000 Japanese in various actions on Guadalcanal. Even in the air, Japanese strength in the Solomons is growing steadily weaker. Major Gen. Millard Harmon, Commander of allied air and ground troops in New Zealand pointing to the enemy's dwindling supplies of all categories of combat aircraft and lack of pilots, said the Japanese are definitely short of meeting the requirements of their air forces.

From North Africa the middle eastern command, reporting the progress of the British eighth army toward and into Tripoli, said American and British planes are keeping up their relentless attacks against Tripoli and against Castel Benito Airdrome. The raids on Tripoli Harbor have been aimed at facilities the Axis might try to use for evacuation. Air activity in Tunisia continues.

Size of Armed Forces

According to Under Secretary of War Patterson, the size of the armed forces is a military problem that should be left to the military leaders to work out. Citing President Roosevelt's figure of 7½ million in the army by 1944 and estimates of more than 2 million in the Navy and Coast Guard, Mr. Patterson said 10 million men in the Army and Navy is less than one out of every 13 of our population. Germany has one out of every 10 under arms, Britain has one out of every 10, and Russia's proportion is fully as high. "To say that we Americans cannot maintain one in thirteen is . . . a note of Defeatism . . . we cannot leave the hard work of fighting to the British, the Russians, and the Chinese. And a war like this one cannot be fought, certainly it cannot be won, without an army and a navy of a size adequate to the task."

Agriculture

To help farmers increase production in 1943, agriculture Secretary Wickard has made available through the food production administration a new source of credit for the production of essential wartime food and fiber. Between $200,000,000 and $225,000,000 of additional funds will become immediately available at the county level, and the loans (shortime loans at five percent interest), which will be made through the Regional Agricultural Credit Corporation, will be limited only by the amount needed to do the production job.

Cost of Food

Although admitting that the farmer's share of the consumer's food dollar is now larger than it has been in many years, Mr. Wickard said the retail cost of food now represents the smallest share on record of the industrial worker's income. According to data available for the first 11 months of 1942, the retail cost of food for the average industrial worker's family amounted to 28 percent of the worker's earnings, a record low in relation to income, while the farmer's share of the consumer's food dollar averaged 53 percent, the largest share since 1920.

Farm Manpower

The War Manpower Commission's Selective Service Bureau has liberalized the requirements for agricultural deferments, expected to keep many additional workers on the farms. The revised guide—approved by the Agriculture Department, the WMC, the Farm Organizations and other groups—provides that a local draft board may be justified in some cases in deferring an Agricultural worker producing as little as eight war units of essential products. While emphasizing that the National objective is still a minimum per-worker production of 16 or more war units, the new guide no longer considers 16 units a standard.

CONSTANCE HOMEMAKERS

The Homemakers' Club met Wednesday, January 6th at the home of Mrs. Lena Fritz with 13 members, two visitors and Mrs. M. Moore, H. D. A. present.

The meeting was opened by the president Mrs. Alice Kenyon with singing of "God Bless America" and salute to the flag.

Citizenship chairman, Mrs. John Hempfling reported the club sent a Christmas card to all the boys in service from the Constance precinct.

Mrs. Pearl Tunning gave a very helpful lesson on "First Aid." Mrs. Moore gave the lesson the "Proper Care of Clothes" such as sewing on buttons, polishing shoes before wearing them, proper way to wash woolens, etc.

The National Farm and Home Week will be held the last week of January. Theme of the week will be "The Farm Family in War Time."

The February meeting will be held Tuesday, Feb. 9th at the home of Mrs. Grace Dolwick due to the clothing leaders' training school to be held Feb. 3rd.

They are conveniently at hand and she has saved many a trip to the storage cellar.

Stirring battle between American gun crews and attacking submarines are included among the outstanding action scenes in the picture.

If your lights go out suddenly and your neighbors' lights remain on, the chances are that a short circuit or overload somewhere in your home has caused a fuse to blow. This is really for your protection for if the fuse did not blow and cut off the current, damage to your housewiring might result. Here are some suggestions that will help you avoid blown fuses and prevent needless interruptions in your electric service:

Repair faulty appliance and portable lamp cords. Cords with worn insulation or loose connections that permit base wires to come together are a common cause of blown fuses. Inspect your cords regularly and repair them or have them repaired if they show signs of wear. Protect them from fraying, cracking, breaking or kinking.

Keep fabric-covered cords away from water. If moisture soaks into a cord it may cause a short circuit as water is an excellent conductor of electricity. Washers and other appliances used around water are equipped with rubber cords for this reason.

Do not overload your washer. Filling with too full of clothes or feeding too many pieces into wringer at one time may cause an overload on the motor that will result in a blown fuse. Stiff grease in the gear case, caused by storing washer outdoors in cold weather, may do the same thing.

Do not connect too many appliances on one circuit. The average household branch circuit is wired to carry 15 amperes or 1725 watts. Connecting lamps and appliances totaling more than this wattage on one such circuit at one time may cause a fuse to blow.

Do not use defective appliances. Have them repaired by a competent electrician or appliance dealer at the first sign of trouble.

Blown fuses may also result from defective wall switches, outlets and other parts of your wiring system, although more often the causes are those mentioned above. In the event of trouble with your housewiring, it is best to call a qualified electrician to deal with it

Credit For Dependents

A taxpayer is entitled to a credit for each person other than husband or wife, whether related to him or not, and whether living with him or not, who during the taxable year was dependent upon and received his chief support from the taxpayer, provided the dependent was either (a) under 18 years of age, or (b) incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective.

The credit for dependents is based upon actual financial dependency and not mere legal dependency. It is not necessary that the dependent be related to the taxpayer, but the taxpayer must have provided more than one-half of the support, or there is no dependency.

The term "mentally or physically defective" includes not only those who are mentally afflicted and physically crippled, but also persons who, by reason of old age or impaired health, are incapable of self-support. The state of mental or physical defect need not be of a permanent nature, but if it existed for only a portion of the year, then the credit for dependent can be claimed only for that portion of the year during which the dependent was supported by the taxpayer.

A person may not acquire a credit for dependent by reason of support of a person qualifying as a dependent if, as a result of such support, he acquires a head of family exemption, but may acquire a credit for dependent by reason of additional persons qualifying as dependents, whom he supports. Thus, if a person claims head of a family exemption on account of support of an aged mother or father, incapable of self-support or a child, he would not be entitled to a credit for such dependent; but if he supported more than one such person he could claim credit for such additional persons provided they were under 18 years of age or incapable of self-support.

Credit for dependents may not be divided between two persons filing separate returns, but must be taken by the one contributing the chief support. A credit for dependents may be claimed by a father who provides the support for his children living with his divorced wife, if the support is provided as a result of a court decree or as the result of an agreement between husband and wife.

The credit for dependent, allowable to a taxpayer filing on Form 140, is $350, and is proportionate with the number of months of dependency. Thus, for a child born on July 1, the credit allowable would be $175 (for six months), and if a child became 18 years of age on July 1 the credit allowable would be $175. One-half a month or less is not counted as a month; more than one-half a month is counted as a month in calculating the credit.

A credit of $385 for each dependent on July 1 of the year is allowable to a taxpayer using Simplified Form 1040A.

MARITIME SERVICE RESUMES RECRUITING

The go-ahead signal for enlistment into the United States Maritime Service was given today by Lieutenant Gerard W. Cross, Regional Director of recruiting activities for the tri-state area of Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky.

After a 48-day halt in recruiting activities due to the Presidential Order of December 5th which stopped enlistments of all services, the Maritime Service has been authorized to resume acceptance of applicants for Merchant Marine training.

"The increased number of merchant ships needed to win this war is demanding that sufficient personnel be trained for this vital service," Lieutenant Cross said. "Already four ships a day are coming down the ways," he added, "and our job is to recruit and train the men who'll sail them."

Applicants must be American citizens between the ages of 17 and 8 months to 35, who are not restricted by War-Manpower Commission regulations governing job-freezing.

Three to five months of intensive training at a Maritime Service training station prepares recruits for important positions aboard the new cargo ships of the American Merchant Marine. After fourteen months of sea experience, office training is available for Maritime Service graduates. At the present time American Merchant Seamen earn the highest wages ever paid for sea-faring work.

Applications are being accepted at the United States Maritime Service Office, Traction Building in Cincinnati.

Money Talks

By FREDERICK W. STAMM,
Economist,
Director of Adult Education,
UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

A great deal of confusion still exists in the minds of thousands of Americans regarding the present Federal Income Tax Law. This misunderstanding, it seems, grows out of the fact that so many plans have been proposed and are still being proposed to alter the present law that some people believe they do not have to file an income tax return. This is not true. You must file a tax return by March 15, 1943, covering your income for 1942. The last Congress passed the tax law which is now in effect, and despite proposed changes, the original law still stands. Thus every single person who makes over $500 per year and every married person who makes over $1200 per year must file a tax return or face a fine or arrest. There is an additional exemption of $350 for each dependent. An important fact to remember is that even though you have enough exemptions to release you from paying any tax you still must file a return.

The much discussed Ruml plan which would have cancelled the 1942 tax and put all of us on a "pay as you go" plan for 1943 did not become a law and therefore should be disregarded. The new proposal by Senator Capper of Kansas which would alter our present tax law does not apply to the 1942 income.

The Victory Tax which provides for a 5 percent payroll deduction on all salaries over $12 per week is not a substitute for the regular income tax but an additional tax, so do not confuse this new tax with the regular income tax due and payable March 15.

With the lowering of exemptions to $500 and $1200 for single and married persons respectively, thousands of citizens who never before paid a Federal income tax will have to do so this year. If there is any doubt in your mind as to whether you should file a return or not, the safe thing to do is to secure a blank, fill it in completely and file it with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue in your district. Under the provisions of the present law you can pay your tax in full March 15, or in four equal installments, on March 15, June 15, September 15, and December 15. But be sure and file a return and thus keep within the present law.

Students of typing and shorthand in a Wisconsin school made a war contribution by typing 8,000 transcripts of questionnaires to be used in determining distribution of food ration books.

Surgical Shoes

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

HISTORY—Mrs. G. E. M. suffered headaches and neckaches. Her neck ached so intensely at the base of the skull she could hardly see. Days at a time she could not get out of bed because of the severity of the pains. She read one of our ads., telling of the good work we were doing, and decided to see what we could do for her. After a very short time wearing surgical shoes, pain in the head and neck lessened till finally it disappeared entirely and she is well and happy. It is now possible for her to do her own work even when it is necessary for her to climb stepladders. Surgical shoes seemingly worked miracles for her.

COMMENT — Strain on ligaments and tendons naturally has a weakening effect upon muscles. Continued neglect of these conditions may be the cause of your aches and pains in the neck and back and you have been unable to get relief, come in and let us see what we can do for you.

If your ankles are weak and you are constantly rolling them, surgical-shoes are definitely the answer to your problem.—Adv.

The nurse's annual report was read. Some of the outstanding items were Home Nursing classes in practically every community in Boone County. Tuberculosis patients visited in their homes and sent to sanitorium pre-school clinics, physical inspection of school children, blue ribbon program, corrections of defects in children and home visiting to all types of cases was included in the report. At present a home nursing class is being taught at Bullittsville. Florence has asked for the next class.

VICTORY PROJECTS ARE ORGANIZED

BY 4-H CLUBS—GOAL OF 845 MEMBERS GIVEN COUNTY—WILL STRESS PRODUCTION FOR VICTORY.

Boone County 4-H clubs this coming week will begin an intensive drive to enroll every rural boy and girl between eight and twenty years of age in a 4-H Victory Project, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent, and Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent. The county has been given a goal of 845 members, which according to available figures represent over 90 percent of all boys and girls of club age in the county.

The 4-H Victory project will stress production for victory and certificates will be awarded on accomplishments with less attention to record books. The projects will include garden, corn, seed hemp, castor beans, hogs, beef cattle, dairy, poultry, food, clothing and labor service. The labor service project is a new project in which the boy or girl will be given credit for 150 hours of farm or home work with a record on what and where work was done.

The ability of 4-H club members to produce was shown the past year when 338 members in the county produced products valued in excess of $27,723.50.

The ministers' association of the state and county have promised their support in calling to the attention of the people this coming week the importance of boys and girls' work in the war effort.

Every boy and girl of club age is urged to join the local 4-H club in his or her community and to carry out a victory project in 1943. Enrollment cards can be secured at the county office for those who are unable to attend local meetings.

GAME REPORTS ARE ESSENTIAL

FOR ESTIMATING AMMUNITION NEEDS OF KENTUCKY HUNTERS FOR 1943—HUNTERS REQUESTED TO GIVE REPORTS.

An urgent plea was sent out today to all Kentucky hunters by S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, to get their 1942 game kill reports in to the Division, here in Frankfort, as soon as possible in order that this information might be forwarded to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service in Chicago as a basis for figuring the amount of ammunition that should be released for Kentucky hunters for the 1943 hunting season.

Wakefield stated that he had received a communication from the Fish and Wildlife Service requesting such information immediately so that this organization could present figures to proper authorities to prove that wild game killed in Kentucky and used as a table meat is essential to the all-out war effort and justifies the release of ammunition to the nimrods for the 1943 hunting season.

Requests have been made already by the Division of Game and Fish a number of times in practically every paper in the state for these game kill reports but to date the response has been very weak.

On the back of each hunting license is a form to be filled out. State the numbers of each specie of game killed during the season and mail the license at once to Frankfort, in care of the Division of Game and Fish.

Following the ordinations, the minister delivered a brief charge to those ordained and to the women elected and appointed to the work of serving.

HOLDERS OF B AND C GASOLINE BOOKS SHOULD HAVE THEM RENEWED EARLY, ACCORDING TO OFFICIALS

Boone County motorists who hold B or C gasoline rationing cards which expire March 1 are urged to apply at the Ration Board, Walton, Ky., as soon as possible for renewal of their cards.

Regulations permit the ration card holder to apply for renewal 30 days prior to the expiration of his card. The appeal was made to prevent a last-minute jam of B and C card holders in the county.

Regulations provide also that all expired ration books must be turned in by the holder within five days after the date of expiration, as the books are the property of the government.

Urgent Need For Tin Says Salvage Directors

The need for tin is so urgent that we must save every tin can, according to Joe Heizer, and Mrs. Anna P. Gaines, Salvage directors for Boone County.

Cincinnati has been named as one of the tin can collection centers which has been definitely set up. It is up to each community in the county to arrange for local collection centers, where cans can be stored until enough has been gathered to make a truck or carload.

You will not be paid for cans, as they bring just enough to pay for hauling charges. Cans which have not been properly prepared should be sent to the dump as the plants are unable to use them.

The Walton Lumber Co., will be the collection center for Walton.

Mrs. Morris Gaines is entertaining her mother, Mrs. Dean, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Local Forest Fire Fighting Units To Be Organized In State

On recommendation of J. J. Greenleaf, Director of the State Defense Council, K. G. McConnell, Director of the Division of Forestry, has been appointed State Area Coordinator of the Office of Civilian Defense—Forest Fire Fighters Service by the National Coordinator, Mr. David P. Godwin.

Director Landis, of the OCD, realizing the importance of forest fire prevention and suppression in connection with the war effort, has provided for this special branch of the Office of Civilian Defense.

Robert A. Blair, Corbin, Ky., as special representative of the Division of Forestry, will contact local Defense Councils and organize fire fighting units. Volunteers will be given a training course prepared by the Division of Forestry. Certificates will be issued when the course is completed.

In established protection wooded areas the new units will assist the regular forces in prevention education and in emergencies they will act as secondary lines of defense in actual forest fire fighting. They will help replace CCC and WPA workers who in the past were of great assistance.

In areas which have never had organized forest fire protection the OCD Forest Fire Fighting Service will constitute the sole protective agency and will initiate action on the fires in their districts.

A CHRISTIAN SOLDIER

The following article was written by Pvt. Wilford Hodges, Co. A. 337th Engrs., Leesville, La:

"At the age of 21 I entered the Army as a christian soldier, believing and trusting in God. I knew that as long as I trusted God that all would be well.

"We know that all things work together for good to those that trust in God (Romans 8:28) and I wanted no greater promise than that.

"My heart's desire was to help the men around me, but after I see that I'm not so good at helping the boys, I still don't let the Good lord down. I feel that I haven't done so much for the boys as I could have, and I just pray to the good Lord that He might understand because no one else can understand such a thing.

"I soon found out that in the army you have but very little time to read or pray, but I found out that God hears by prayers, while I am making my bunk, while I am drilling or taking a long hike or whatever I'm doing.. I never knew how good and kind the Lord could be until after I was in the army for a while. We don't have much time alone to pray, so you just pray silently wherever you are or whatever you're doing. I have prayed in the gas chamber, hikes, drills, firing a gun and while in the pits working targets and bullets flying over my head, and in many other places.

"We have a company of real honest-hearted men. At times we have misunderstandings, but we grow a little closer to each other each day. We try to make life as pleasant for each other as possible for we have learned that money doesn't mean so very much and we don't need much in the army—just plenty of friends.

"I don't believe the boys in the service is quite as selfish as most of the people are in the outside world. We have learned to depend on each other and try to help each other as well as ourself. We have learned that true friends are worth much more than silver or gold and when some of us receives a box from home we pass it around to all the men on our floor which is about fifty. We have an unspoken law among ourselves to pass around whatever we get.

"We can't invite our buddies home with us as we once did, so this is our way of asking the boys home for dinner. This is the way I think all Christian soldiers should be.

"Pvt. Wilford Hodges."

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for February 7

JESUS AFFIRMS HIS DEITY

LESSON TEXT—John 8:12, 25-36, 56-59.
GOLDEN TEXT—He that hath seen me hath seen the Father.—John 14:9.

"The Light of the World Is Jesus!" Who does not remember with what delight we as children sang, "Come to the light, 'tis shining for thee . . . The light of the world is Jesus."

How precious was the truth that thus flooded our souls. Jesus is the light. Just as the sunlight sheds its glory on an awakening world at dawn, so He sheds abroad the light of God in the hearts of men. As this portion of God's Holy Word is studied and taught, may the light break forth on many a soul caught in the bewilderment of this dark world.

But that is only one of the great thoughts around which our lesson centers. As Jesus here reveals Himself as divine, we consider four simple words, each fraught with rich meaning.

I. Light (v. 12).

The text says: "Then spake Jesus." When? Just after He had silenced the hypocritical accusers of a woman taken in sin, and had spoken the word of peace to her troubled soul. She was to "go and sin no more" because she had met Him who is the light of the world. They that follow Him "shall not walk in darkness"; they are the children of light, they have the very light of life shining in their hearts and lives.

Not only does Jesus light the believer's heart, but this light shines into all the dark corners of this wicked world, exposing sin and hypocrisy, and showing the way back to God.

II. Salvation (vv. 25-30).

"Who art thou?" That is the question every man must ask and answer as he considers Jesus. Even neglect is an answer—a rejection.

The answer of Christ in these verses goes to the very heart of the matter, for He takes the people right to the cross of Calvary. When they had crucified Him, they would know. Did not the centurion say: "Truly this was the Son of God" (Matt. 27:54)?

It is true today that no man knows Christ until he knows Him as the crucified Saviour. Teacher, Example, Guide—all these He is—but they are not enough, for we sinners need a Saviour. May many today follow the example of verse 30.

III. Freedom (vv. 31-36).

Free! Four letters, but what a depth of meaning! Chains have fallen off, prison doors are open. The one who was bound is free.

But here we are concerned with an even more important liberty, the freedom of the soul. Many there are who boast of their independence but who are naught but slaves. Jesus said: "Whosoever committeth sin is the servant of sin" (v. 34), not its master.

How shall they be freed? Note three things in these verses:

(1) A condition, "If ye continue in my word." This means not only a profession of faith, but a daily appropriation and realization of His truth in life.

(2) A promise, "Ye shall know the truth." The philosophies of men profess to be a seeking after truth, but how few there are who look to the one place where it can be found—in Jesus Christ.

(3) A result, "The truth shall make you free." Truth always sets free. Men are enslaved because, as in some foreign lands, they have not had the opportunity to learn the truth or because they have rejected it.

Men profess to seek truth in their research and in the process of education, but without Christ they cannot have real truth. Educational systems which rule Him out are deficient and lead to bondage rather than freedom.

IV. Eternity (vv. 56-59).

Taking up their statement that they were Abraham's children (see vv. 33, 37), Jesus enters into the sharpest controversy with the unbelieving Jews of His entire earthly ministry. They were claiming kinship with a great man of faith who in his day had looked forward to the coming of Christ (v. 56). Now He was here, and instead of receiving Him as their Messiah they were ready to kill Him.

Not only did they claim Abraham as father, but also God. Jesus told them that in their sin and unbelief they were of their "father the devil." It is possible, then, to be very religious, to follow the traditions of one's fathers, and yet to be children of the devil.

All this led up to their sharp rebuke in verse 57, which denied to Christ anything but an earthly existence and which led Him to the statement of His eternity. He identified Himself definitely and clearly with the Eternal One—the great I AM of Exodus 3:14.

Christ is God, and is therefore "infinite, eternal, and unchangeable in His being, wisdom, power, holiness, justice, goodness and truth" (Westminster Catechism).

Makeshift Substitutes FOR FUSES ARE Dangerous

Penny Used as Fuse Is Cause of Blaze

A penny, used to bridge a burned-out fuse, Monday was held responsible for the early morning fire that drove the [redacted] family out into the street in night clothing and caused $1,000 damage to their five-room frame residence at [redacted] West Daggett.

Roof of the house at [redacted] West Daggett caught fire as a brisk breeze carried burning embers to it, and firemen estimated damage there at $250.

Assistant Fire Marshal Owens announced the cause of the fire, which was reported at 6:33 a. m.

A Blown Fuse Should Be Replaced Only With a New Fuse of Correct Size

The fuses on your electric circuits protect you from the hazards of fire. When a "short" or overload causes more electricity to flow through a circuit than it can carry safely, a right-size fuse will burn-out or "blow," preventing the wiring from overheating and protecting electrical equipment from further damage.

For maximum protection, blown fuses should be replaced only with new fuses of correct size. (15 amperes is right for most household branch circuits.) Never put a penny behind a fuse or use other makeshifts and never use a fuse of too large an amperage. To do so is to invite danger and costly damage.

It's a good idea to keep extra fuses of right size on hand and to learn how to use them, if you do not already know how.* Then you can restore service quickly without waiting for a serviceman. And you'll be helping to save precious rubber by eliminating a trip by a service truck.

WHAT MAKES FUSES BLOW

Blown fuses are usually caused by damaged or loosely-connected cords, defective appliances or circuits overloaded with too many appliances and lights. Before replacing a blown fuse, disconnect cord or appliance suspected of causing the trouble. Have it repaired before using it again.

HOW TO TELL A BLOWN FUSE

Notice thin metal strip under glass. If this strip or link has melted and shows a gap, or if glass is scorched and you cannot see link, fuse has blown and should be replaced with a new fuse of correct size. (If your fuses differ from type shown, ask for specific instructions.)

COMMUNITY PUBLIC SERVICE CO.
INCORPORATED

We'll gladly show you how to replace fuses if you'll call our office. We can't make a special trip for this purpose but we'll get to you as quickly as possible on a regular trip.

Just Let Me Tell You A Few Facts About Walking, So You'll Realize Just How Much It Can Do For You.

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

The normal heart, you know, beats about seventy-two times a minute and pumps about six ounces of blood with each beat. Now, in fast walking, or at the rate of four miles an hour—(which is how fast you should walk to do you some good)—you'll find the normal heart will INCREASE its beat ten times to the minute, pumping six ounces of blood at each beat, gives sixty ounces per minute or 3600 an hour, which is 225 pounds. You can easily see that 225 ADDITIONAL pounds of blood pumped DAILY through your veins means just that much more life to your whole body.

There's no use of my telling you to get out and walk if you are having trouble with your feet, because I know you won't do it, BUT—if I tell you how to get rid of those aching, paining feet, first—then there's nothing to keep you from walking every day and benefitting your health by this wonderful exercise.

It has also been found that millions suffer without knowing the reason why — those headaches, those leg pains, and even sleepless nights may be caused by the shoes you are wearing.—Adv.

RATION BOOKS ISSUED FEB. 23-25

BY ALL SCHOOLS IN COUNTY —CITIZENS ASKED TO REPORT FOR REGISTRATION AFTER 3:00 P. M.

Registration for Ration Book No. 2, which covers canned goods of all kinds will be held in Boone County February 23, 24 and 25th at the schools of the county, according to Supt. D. H. Norris.

In order to disrupt the school as little as possible, patrons are asked to report for registration after 3:00 p. m.

It will be necessary for each person to present Ration Book No. 1 (sugar ration book) when registering for Ration Book No. 2. One member of a family may register for the entire group.

Effective date for rationing has been set for March 1st, Mr. Norris said, Tuesday.

The OPA has announced that beginning February 20, there will be a "freeze" of sales to the public of the foods to be rationed to permit retailers to prepare for the new program. The "freeze" period will be the week of February 20, and during that week War Ration Book 2 will be issued to everyone.

Food to be rationed under the point system at the start will be canned and bottled fruits, vegetables and juices, canned soups, frozen fruits and vegetables and all dried fruits.

Residents of Boone County are urged by R. E. Brugh, not to buy more canned goods than they need between now and the beginning of rationing. Hoarding, he pointed out, defeats the whole purpose of a rationing program and means that the hoarder is trying to get a bigger share of scarce items than his friends and neighbors.

According to home economists at the Kentucky College of Agriculture, there will be an ample supply of cereals for people at home as well as for lease-lend use, even though the crop this year should be short. The supply of fats and oils is not as large as last year, but larger than in pre-war years. Sugar supplies may be smaller than last year because of transportation difficulties.

With food rationing everyone will get his fair share of the food supply, thus eliminating hoarding of scarce articles.

During the three-day period of registration in Boone County, citizens are requested to apply at the school nearest their home for their ration book.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Smith returned home Monday, after spending the past two days in Louisville, where they attended the marriage of Miss Frances Maurer to Robert Lively, at the Parkland Baptist Church, Sunday afternoon at 4 p. m.

PLAN ANNOUNCED TO UP PRODUCTION

INCENTIVE PAYMENT PROGRAM WILL ASSIST FARMERS IN PRODUCING MAXIMUM ESSENTIAL FARM CROPS.

To further encourage maximum war production, incentive payments are being offered to farmers to assist them in producing maximum amounts of essential farm crops. The payments being offered by the U. S. Department of Agriculture will be based on crops including soybeans, Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, grain sorghums, dried beans as well as designated fresh vegetables for market. The designated fresh vegetables include beets, cabbage, carrots, green peas, lima beans, onions, snap beans, and tomatoes. The amount of payment varies with the crop grown.

"The purpose of this incentive payment," explained Mr. M. D. Royse, Chairman of the Kentucky USDA War Board, "Is to encourage farmers to an even greater production. Farmers are having difficulty in obtaining labor to produce the crops needed when the cash income from the crops will not pay for the labor used in planting, growing, and harvesting the crops. Wages are higher and machinery is less available for the production of these crops. We must produce to the limit of our resources to accomplish the job that is before us. Every country the Allies liberate must be fed. It is up to the farmers of this country to produce that food."

Nephew Of Burlington Man Prisoner Of Japs

Marion E. Bruce, nephew of Grover Jarrell, Burlington, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Bruce of 219 Elm St., Lawrenceburg, Ind., is a prisoner of war of the Japanese government, it was learned recently by his parents.

His parents received a telegram from J. A. Ulio, Major General of the Adjutant's General's office, Washington, D. C., stating their son was a prisoner of war of the Japanese government and that a letter would confirm the telegram. The brief message was received a few days later by Mr. and Mrs. Bruce from Major Ulio. It was dated January 23. This message told the parents how to address mail so that their son would receive it.

The last letter received from Marion from the Philippines was April 1, 1942, and informed his parents that he was well and happy.

He was 35 years old last October and has spent about 14 years in the service of Uncle Sam. He was stationed at Ft. Thomas for three years, and sent to the Philippines in September 1941.

FARMERS URGED TO CONSERVE GAS

AND FUEL OIL—WILL ALLEVIATE PROBLEM IN EAST COAST STATES, ACCORDING TO M. D. ROYSE.

M. D. Royse, Chairman of the Kentucky USDA War Board and Agricultural Adjustment Agency issued the following statement on the gasoline situation in Kentucky:

Although the gasoline and fuel oil shortage is not critical in Kentucky, it is a problem in the East Coast States. To alleviate this condition farmers everywhere can be of tremendous help. The source of shortage is the increased requirements of our armed forces, both military and naval, in addition to the winter demand for fuel oils and the essential demands for gasoline and liquid fuels for agriculture and other civilian uses.

Summed up, this means that a new appraisal must be made of what is essential and what is not essential, and the elimination of all non-essential uses as well as excessive use in essential classifications.

Agriculture is a big user of both gasoline and fuel oil. Farmers must necessarily travel to town to market their products and secure their supplies. They must have gasoline and fuel oil to run their tractors, brooders, and other equipment if adequate production is to continue. These uses are essential and their curtail is not contemplated.

In reducing essential uses to these fuels to the bare minimum, farmers and their families should join up with their neighbors on trips to town. They should do the same when going to church.

Farmers should avoid buying gasoline or fuel oils in excess of their current needs. Fuel needed for spring plowing and planting can be brought to the farmer when the demand is less for fuel oil used as heat.

These measures are necessary to avoid further crisis, and to assure that our soldiers abroad will have the gasoline their planes, tanks, and trucks require, and that our sailors will have the oil their ships need to guard the convoys of our fighting men. The farmers have never failed in a crisis and they won't fail in this one.

Cynthiana Minister Will Fill Pulpit Here

POULTRY SCHOOL DATE CHANGED

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 17TH IS DEFINITE DATE—PROGRAM OF MORE AND BETTER PRODUCTION TO BE DISCUSSED.

The Boone County annual poultry school date has been changed to Wednesday, February 17th, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The meeting will begin at 10:30 a. m. (E. W. T.) and close at 3:30 p. m.

Last year Kentucky was called upon to produce 16 percent more eggs for the war effort. Poultrymen exceeded this goal by producing 28 percent more eggs. This year poultrymen have been called upon to produce 16 percent more eggs than last year's goal, 8 percent more chickens and 20 percent more turkeys.

The school will be devoted to discussions and plans for exceeding this year's goal. The feed situation along with better chicks, disease and parasite control, housing and management under war conditions will be discussed. Jim Humphrey, poultry specialist from the college will be principal speaker on the program and he will be assisted by a number of leading Boone County poultrymen.

Each homemakers' club will be represented at the meeting with one or more poultry and Live-at-Home program leaders.

The poultry school is held each year just before the spring poultry work starts. All poultrymen are invited to attend and to take part in the meeting. The meeting will be held at the county agent's office in Burlington.

INCOME TAX MUST BE FILED BEFORE MARCH 15

No matter what the Congress does about the Ruml Plan, every married man earning over $1200 a year and every single man earning over $500 a year must file a return on or before March 15th, this year, according to Patrick M. Flannery, senior partner in Northern Kentucky's oldest established tax office.

This firm, known as Patrick M. Flannery & Associates, has an announcement in this issue of The Recorder. It is located at Flannery's Law office, 113 Park Place, opposite old post office, Covington.

Even though married men have a sufficient number of dependents so that no tax will be required, it is necessary that a return be filed. Same is true of single persons who are actually the head of a family.

HOME NURSING CLASS IS COMPLETED AT BULLITTSVILLE, FEB. 2

The Bullittsville home nursing class was completed Tuesday, Feb. 2, when the examination was held. The classes were held in the home of Mrs. Bessie Jones Hill, and her hospitality was highly appreciated. Attendance and interest was very good.

There is now time for the instructor to conduct a class in some other section of the county. A desire has been expressed by some persons for this to be at Florence. Anyone interested will please communicate immediately with Mrs. Jane Utz, Mrs. George Morith, Mrs. R. C. Eastman, Mrs. Mabel G. Sayre or Miss Elizabeth Lowry.

The new text book, which has been published by the National Red Cross recently, is interesting and up to date in every way, giving a good understanding of emotional and mental health, as well as physical.

During the past eighteen months home nursing classes have been taught in the following communities in Boone County: Burlington, Union, Hebron, Belleview, Constance, Hamilton, Verona, and a large class of colored people from all parts of the county. Walton and Petersburg have not had this work, and it is hoped they will make a request for a class in the near future.

KENTUCKY ENLISTS 200,000 YOUTH IN FOOD-FOR-FREEDOM

Enlistment of 4-H club boys and girls in the food-for-freedom program is going forward all over Kentucky. The plan calls for the enrollment of 200,000 boys and girls on farms and in towns and cities. Reports already received indicate the eagerness with which boys and girls from 10 to 20 years are filling pledge cards. Each is making plans to carry one or more types of work such as a garden to feed at least three people, poultry for meat and egg production, or the production of corn, seed hemp, castor beans, hogs, beef cattle, dairy cattle and sheep. Quantity will be stressed in all lines of work.

President Roosevelt expressed his whole-hearted approval of the part 4-H'ers play in the victory campaign in the following letter:

The Whitehouse, Dec. 29, 1942

To All 4-H Club Members of The United States:

The turn of each year is symbolic of youth and renewed confidence. Never before has a New Year presented to all youth a greater challenge to do their part in a democratic world. The whole nation recognizes your self-reliance, your steadfast determination to attain your goals, and your patriotic devotion as individuals and as a group.

At this time it is particularly gratifying to learn of your extensive mobilization plans for 1943 to help the farmers of America to bring about still greater food production. May the observance of National Mobilization Week, February 6 to 14, reach into every rural home. We have faith in your ability to render a greater service in this way. We know that you, like your brothers and sisters in the Service, have the spirit and perseverance that will bring victory in the fight for human freedom and a world at peace.

CHAIRMAN NAMES WORKERS IN CO.

IN AID IN VICTORY BOOK CAMPAIGN—USE CARE IN SELECTING BOOKS FOR BOYS IN SERVICE.

The following list of workers in the Victory Book Campaign has been announced by Miss Mary Bess Cropper, County Chairman. The names of buildings following the workers' names show where the books will be collected:

Belleview, Marian Rogers, churches; Bullittsburg, Mrs. Albert Pfalzgraf, church; Bullittsville, Mrs. Charles Engle, Engle's store; Burlington, Mrs. Herbert Snyder, churches and court house; Constance Mrs. Paul Craven, churches; Hebron-Constance Road, Mrs. Albert Rogers, Hebron school; Petersburg, Mrs. Justin Dolph, Mrs. Dolph's home.

All precincts of the county do not yet have their chairmen, because so many people are now working at other things, but it is hoped to have the list completed before the end of the week so that it may be published in the next issue of this paper.

The campaign has three more weeks to run, and due to gas rationing, it may not be possible for a house-to-house canvass to be made. However, this is everyone's job, and it is up to each one to see that all his suitable books are turned in to his local chairman. The ministers of the county are cooperating in the drive, and they may also be contacted when there are books to be contributed.

Many of our boys are in service in isolated places where there are no library facilities except what is furnished by the government, and this is your chance to provide a little enjoyment for their leisure time. No magazines may be accepted and the following is the type of books suggested as most suitable: Adventure, aviation stories, historical novels, humor, mystery, sports, western, grammars mathematics books, up-to-date technical books, accounting, shorthand, business and salesmanship. Well illustrated books of all types, geography, travel (of the last ten years) biography and history.

Be careful in making your selection of books to give, so that none will have to be discarded later. When in doubt, be guided by the slogan "The book you really want to keep is a good one to give."

DEPUTY COLLECTOR HERE FEB. 24-25TH

However, Form 1040 may be used if desired.

Your return for the calendar year 1942 must be filed not later than March 15, 1943, with the collector of Internal Revenue, Louisville, Ky. A penalty of not more than $10,000.00 or imprisonmnt for not more than one year, or both, is imposed by statute for willful failure to make return on time, and in addition, 5 to 25 percent of the amount of the tax may be added.

The matter of filing your income tax return should be given immediate attention, in order to avoid penalty and interest.

Motorists Urged To Have Tires Inspected

Motorists were urged again by Mr. Brugh, chairman of the Local War Price and Rationing Board, to have their tires inspected before Jan. 31, as provided under the mileage rationing regulations. Mr. Brugh said he understands relatively few passenger car drivers have obtained the official inspection.

It is absolutely necessary to have tires inspected and the certificate signed by the inspector, in order to be eligible for tire replacements and renewal of your gasoline ration, he emphasized. All applications and renewal for gasoline ration must be accompanied by your tire inspection sheet or you will not be able to receive your gasoline ration—so be sure to send your tire inspection sheet with your application. These can be mailed in to the Board and your books will be mailed back to you in a few days before your present ration books expire.

ALL OUT FOR SAVINGS

When you shop, take all or part of your change in War Stamps. Every pay day, buy a War Bond. That, in essence, is the idea that American retailers, through the nation-wide "Retailers for Victory" campaign, are successfully "selling" to the American people.

The stores participating in this campaign represent retailing in all its branches. The chain systems have been promoting the idea, as well as thousands of independent stores in both the food and the non-food fields. So long as this war lasts, stores will push War Savings precisely as they push any other item of merchandise the stock. And they'll do that without a penny of profit—and in addition they will absorb the substantial promotional expense themselves.

Early reports indicate that the "Retailers for Victory" campaign is fully living up to expectations. Every legitimate form of promotion—advertising, store displays, posters, etc.—is being used to bring War Savings to the constant attention of the shopper. One of the goals set by many of the chains is to have War Savings account for 4 per cent of their total sales.

Retailing's all-out cooperation in this vital matter isn't surprising. American retailing, chain and independent, has always been at the forefront in any worth while civic or national endeavor. Now it's doing its full part in the biggest job the nation has ever faced. So, when you go shopping take a War Stamp book with you—and fill it as fast as possible.

A GOOD JONES

"The willing horse pulls the heaviest load," is an appropriate caption to an editorial in the Philadelphia Record. The paper defends Jesse H. Jones, who seems to be on the spot because he told Congress long ago how to get enough rubber for the military and civilian needs of the United States.

President Roosevelt and Jones are credited with having higher average standing than other officials in the government. Jones has made as good a record during the past ten years as any other man in the Cabinet.

Synthetic rubber production lags behind expectations. Present authentic estimates are that the 1943 output may be about 300,000 tons. American manufacturers can make all the synthetic rubber needed for the supply—but they haven't been given the green light, and told to bend their backs to the job.

THE KEYSTONE OF THE ARCH

One of the most important but least known chapters of the whole thrilling story of American war production has now been told. It is an acount of the conversion of peacetime plants to war production for our armed forces. While not as spectacular in the telling as a summary of the massed weight of the American war output or the triumphs of American weapons at the battlefronts, it is just as vitally significant. For it is representative of the accomplishment of American industry in general during this period of crisis and without it the more exciting chapters of our war story could not be written.

It is particularly fitting that this chapter should concern the Eastern Aircraft Division of General Motors, because this represents the first conversion of plants from the production of completed automobiles to the production of completed fighting aircraft.

The story of this full conversion contains all the elements that show the enormous value to the country of our experienced mass production wizards not only in peace but more especially in time of great national danger. Here we see the importance of the technical "know how" of our engineers long familiar with large scale production, their ability to improvise in ways which speed plants into operation and turn out better products faster, with important savings of critical materials, manpower and money, their ability to plan quickly and correctly, and their willingness to go ahead with their plans on their own initiative and responsibility in the interests of the common good.

At the time of Pearl Habor General Motors had five plants in the Eastern area devoted to automobile assembly and the production of batteries and other items which, because of their nature, had not been able to get war work, although the company was then turning out $2,000,000 worth of war materials a day. As the country feverishly plunged into increased war production, the plant officials cast about for the opportunity to make their greatest contribution.

In the early days of 1942, after discussions with the United States Navy, it was decided that they could best serve by joining the five plants into one unit to produce aircraft for the American sky fleets. It was decided also that they should produce Grumman-designed Wildcat fighters and Avenger torpedo bombers for the Navy.

The corporation's executives, their engineering planners and production men already had their sleeves rolled up. They went to work immediately. On January 21, although their arrangement with the Navy was not yet official, they formed the Eastern Aircraft Division. On February 2 and 5 they received "letters of intent" from the Navy authorizing them to go ahead with the job of conversion and production. The job already was under way. Work on clearing the plants—stripping them down to their bare walls, because of the complete difference in the two types of production, acquiring the machinery and materials necessary, planning the production systems and engineering the products for the most efficient and speedy mass production possible, and the hiring and training of workers, had begun.

Tons of machinery and materials were scrapped or put to other uses, plants were remodeled, partly rebuilt, enlarged. New machinery was moved into position before the plants were cleared, welding and other classes were started in empty corners, the manufacture of parts was begun. Everything was speed, timing, coordination. The problems surmounted because of the difficulties in getting machines, materials, enough instructors and because of the need to adapt to complete mass production products that were formerly at least partly custom built—all these require longer telling.

By summer Eastern Aircraft began to take shape as a coordinated production unit. Autumn was still weeks away when the first plane, built of Grumman parts for practice, was rolled out and flown. Planes made of G. M.-built parts soon followed, and there are now scores on the assembly lines, while others have flown off to service.

This is a "case history" of conversion to war production. This is one important reason why America enters her second war year with steadily growing might.

JESUS HEALS A MAN BORN BLIND

LESSON TEXT—John 9:18-38.
GOLDEN TEXT—"One thing I know, that, whereas I was blind, now I see."—John 9:25.

The love of Christ is seen in its full beauty against the background of man's hatred and unbelief. Last week we saw Him coming away from the stones with which his enemies sought to kill him. As He passed by He had the time and the compassion to stop and help a man who had been born blind. His disciples, afflicted in some degree with the speculative tendencies of their time, saw in this blighted life only an illustration of a theological theory about sin.

But Jesus, by a loving and gracious act, stirred in the heart of the man that faith which caused him to obey—to go, to wash, and to see (v. 7). The enemies of Christ were not willing to believe even what they now saw to be true. Their stubborn unbelief shut the door to blessing for them, but the blind man received three things by faith:

I. Healing (vv. 18-23).

The argument with the man's parents hinged on one point—he had been healed of his blindness. The parents were unwilling to risk excommunication by discussing the matter, but they did know that he had been blind and now could see. That was clear.

An experience like that is impossible to deny. The healing of the soul of man in regeneration is also a stubborn fact which deniers of God's Word and God's grace are unable to meet and overcome. The one who was blind and now could see had no questions about the deity of Christ and His saving power. What is more, he was not afraid to testify. He could "speak for himself" (v. 21).

Note the difference between the three classes here: Blind and stubborn unbelief (v. 18), faith too fearful to speak (v. 22), and the assured faith of the one healed. That is our next point.

II. Assurance (vv. 24-34).

The appeal of the Jews in verse 24 based on their statement: "We know that this man is a sinner," reminds us that there is no knowledge so absolute (and so absolutely wrong) as that of ignorance backed by self-conceit.

They said they knew, but did not. The man had complete assurance by faith and by experience. He did not argue (v. 24), he simply restated his healing. "I was blind—now I see." When they evaded that reply (for they dared not meet it), he thrust deep with the convicting fact that God does not perform His miracles in response to the prayers of a wicked man. That was too much for them, and they cast him out.

Even as the stupidity and stubborn willful unbelief of our Lord's enemies grew step by step, so also did the healed man's assurance grow as he testified. First he called the Lord "a man called Jesus" (v. 11); then "a prophet" (v. 17), and then at last, "the Son of God" (vv. 35-38).

Standing true to Christ and speaking for Him means growth in faith, in knowledge and in grace. It may mean persecution and even exclusion, but remember that when the man was cast out by the haters of Christ, he met Christ. "His excommunication was a promotion. He went from the synagogue to the Saviour" (Scroggie). And that is our third point.

III. Fellowship (vv. 35-38).

He did not know Jesus. He had heard His voice, but he was blind then and had not seen Him. He probably did not know where to find Him. Then, too, he was now an outcast under the disfavor of the authorities, and even his friends would fear to be seen with him.

But Jesus sought him. Ah, that's the glorious difference between our Lord and those who look at the outward appearance of things. He went to find the man who now needed fellowship, instruction and encouragement.

He had sought the man out to heal him, now He sought him again to help him spiritually. We need to learn of our Lord that we are not to wait until the sin and suffering of men force themselves upon our attention and force us to do something. We are to go out into the highways and the hedges and urge sinners to come to Christ. We have failed in this. We have built churches and expected the people to come, instead of going where the people are, and bringing them the gospel. The war is teaching us some lessons in that connection, but we are none too quick to learn and to act.

There is a beautiful touch in verse 37. Dr. Maclaren points out that when speaking to the woman of Samaria, Jesus said: "I that speak unto thee am he," but to the man who had just begun to see He said: "Thou hast both seen him, and it is he that speaketh to thee." The Christ who gave sight, now gives Himself to be seen.

You can aid wartime bus service by planning essential trips for February or March—instead of Mid-Summer

Never in history has it been so important to choose with care the time and occasion for travel. Through the years bus travel has always been very heavy in some months, less heavy in others—and this has held true even in wartime when the demands on transportation are naturally increased. That's why Greyhound has long urged everyone to travel during less crowded periods — and February and March are just such times. Essential trips taken when possible, in mid-winter will greatly relieve overcrowding in the mid-summer months ahead.

You can aid wartime transportation still further by choosing the right day in mid-week — the right schedule — the least crowded one. It's wise to take along as little baggage as possible—and to get information on any trip well in advance.

Feet And The Law Of Tissue

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

There is a natural law constantly at work in the tissues of the human body. We must understand that bone, muscle and nerve consists of millions of ever changing tiny bodies called cells. These cells are held together with the tissue fluid and substances of the body.

Therefore bone, muscle and ligament respectively share the intension causes wasting especially in the feet when the body weight which they carry about and support is not evenly distributed and balanced throughout the twelve major bones of the foot framework.

If ligaments are stretched, due to long and careless standing especially — those which bind the weight-supporting and key bones together, these ligaments finally yield in about the fifth or sixth year to strain and abuse and pull away from the bone attachments.

The rest which the night affords is not enough to counteract continuous strain during the day.

This same law holds true of the muscles and tendon attachments of the feet which lift the body weight on the metatarsal heads or pivots. On the other hand, constant pressure causes wasting of tissue.

If the muscles do not hold the weight-bearing joints of feet in proper dovetailing and interlocking action, these joints become deranged, misshaped and deformed because of the pressure of the body weight upon their point surface.

When we consider that we drive hundreds of tons of aggregate weight upon bones of each foot every day that we live it is easily understood why feet degenerate.

Can you be well with unhealthy feet. Those headaches, those backaches, those leg pains may be caused by shoes you are wearing.—Adv.

BURLINGTON HOMEMAKERS

The Burlington Homemakers met February 4th at 1 p. m. with fourteen members present. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Helen Snyder, with minutes of last meeting read and approved.

The lesson on sewing, especially setting in sleeves and fitting waist was given by Mrs. Forkner and Mrs. Pope.

Mrs. Moore explained the right and wrong way to wash and iron a number of materials. She also gave quite an interesting account of Farm and Home Week at Lexington, which she attended. She related part of a talk by an English woman who told of the customs in England at this time, and was very interesting. Some of the things they have to do with and without, show us we know very little of the sacrifices of war.

Keeping EXTRA FUSES handy can shorten "homemade blackouts"

You may go along for months or even years without having any trouble with the fuses on your electric circuits. But when one does burn out because of a defective appliance cord, overloaded circuit or some other cause, it may happen at night, so it pays to be prepared.

You can save yourself annoyance from "home-made blackouts" by keeping extra fuses on hand and knowing how to use them. Then you can restore service quickly without waiting for a serviceman, who may be delayed in answering calls because of wartime restrictions on the use of cars and trucks.

Be sure to buy only fuses of correct size (15 amperes is right for most household branch circuits) and keep them handy where you can find them when you need them. Better stock up now as the scarcity of metals may limit the supply. Extra fuses for your electric circuits are even more important than a spare tire for your car.

COMMUNITY PUBLIC SERVICE CO.

INCORPORATED

We'll gladly show you how to locate and replace a burned-out fuse if you'll phone our office. We can't make a special trip for this purpose, but we'll answer your call as quickly as possible on a regular trip.

"FAIL" is a word so closely related to sight, that no one should neglect to safeguard his vision. Failure to benefit by an optical examination may drag over a long, neglected period. But—failure of sight when it does develop, can come with stunning suddenness.

Kentucky's Liquor Bill

For All Intoxicating Liquors, Year Ending June 30, 1942 28,658,696 Gallons Consumed---10.05 Gallons Per Capita; $66,696,905,75 Spent By Drinkers---$23.43 Per Capita

Total whiskey consumption tax for the year was $2,906,746.05. Dividing this sum by $1.20, the state tax per gallon, we have 2,422,288 gallons. .85 of a gallon or 3.4 quarts per capita for the state's 2,845,627 people.

Taking an average retail price of $3.50 per quart, Kentucky's drinkers spent a total of $33,912,032.00 for the 9,689,152 quarts of whiskey consumed. Doubtless, if all the sales per glass as 15c to 40c and fancy drinks could be figured, the total amount would be much higher.

The above does not take illicit or moonshine liquor into consideration. Authorities place this as high as 50 percent of all liquor consumed. Two years before Harlan county voted dry, an investigation by George T. Stewart of the State Alcoholic Control Board, revealed that 65 percent of all liquor sold there was illicit liquor. Before Caldwell county voted dry, police records in Princeton revealed that out of 60 men convicted for drunkenness in two months, 58 had gotten drunk on moonshine and only two on legal liquor.

The 3.4 quarts per capita consumed in the year ending June 30, 1942 showed a decrease compared with the 3.7 quarts for the year ending June 30, 1938. However, the consumption tax in 1938 was $1.04 compared with $1.20 in 1942. The state's population was 2,614,589 in 1938 compared with 2,845,627 in 1942. Thirty-two counties were dry during the year ending June 30, 1938 compared with 52, with a total dry population of 850,540 the year ending June 30, 1942.

The total beer consumption tax for the year ending June 30, 1942 was $1,234,233.28. Dividing this sum by $1.50, the state tax per barrel of 31 gallons, we have 822,849 barrels, totaling 25,508,319 gallons, or 102,033,276 quarts. 35.8 quarts or 8.95 gallons per capita for the 2,845,627 people in the state. (The per capita for 1938 was 7.8 gallons.)

With one-half of the above gallons of beer sold from the barrel in 8-oz. glasses at 5c and the other half from 12-oz. containers at an average price of 15c, Kentucky's beer bill last year was $30,600,607.75. Probably more.

The total wine consumption tax for the year ending June 30, 1942 was $182,022.35. At 25c, the state tax per gallon, we have 728,089 gallons or 2,912,356 quarts—.25 of a gallon or 1 quart per capita consumption. Averaging 75c per quart, Kentucky's wine bill last year was $2,184,266.00.
If illicit liquor was figured in, it is generally conceded that Kentucky's liquor bill would be nearer $30.00 for every man, woman and child.

Kentucky's 10.05 gallons per capita consumption of all intoxicating liquors is one of the lowest in the Union and considerably below the National average of over 14 gallons per capita. This is doubtless, due to the constantly increasing dry territory.

For this staggering sum of $66,696,905.75 squandered for poison slop, the state received $9,157,255.20 as her share of the tainted boodle. Cities, villages and counties paid out uncounted millions to take care of the drunks, paupers, criminals and insane. Other millions were worse than wasted through wrecks caused by drunken drivers. Thousands of home were broken, causing untold misery and suffering. Vice and disease multiplied. Reputations, character and lives blasted and thousands of our best youth made drunkards. For all this tragic wreckage the law-defying liquor outfit got the money, the public the headache, and the taxpayers the bill. Are we foolish or just plumb crazy?

BURLINGTON CITIZENS TO DISCUSS PLANS FOR FIRE FIGHTING EQUIPMENT

AT MASS MEETING TO BE HELD AT COURT HOUSE THURSDAY EVENING—SPECIAL SPEAKER WILL BE HEARD.

There will be a mass meeting of the citizens of Burlington community held at the courthouse on Thursday evening, February 18th at 8:00 p. m. (E. W. T.) for the purpose of discussing plans for some type of fire fighting equipment that will be suitable for a rural community such as Burlington and surrounding territory.

Walter Salyer, Chief of the Covington Fire Department has consented to meet with the people of Burlington on this night and explain our needs and answer questions pertaining to rural fire fighting equipment. Chief Salyer is well informed along these lines and will undoubtedly be able to bring us a fine message and answer all questions.

The Burlington community has suffered several losses in recent months by fires that could have been checked if the proper equipment could have been available on short notice to fight the flames until neighboring fire departments could arrive on the scene.

The cost of such equipment is not so great, and after a checkup this week, it was found that such equipment can be obtained now, and there is no reason for us not to have some type of fire protection.

It is very important that every property owner and citizen of this community be present Thursday in order that this meeting may be a success.

Officials of the organization are making extensive plans for a large crowd. Reed Romanowitz and his swing band will furnish the music. Dancing will begin at nine o'clock. Admission 35c per person.

Mrs. Wallace Ryle and son were very ill last week with strepp throat.

Housewives And Children Do 95 Percent Of Family Buying

In a recent survey conducted results indicate that housewives and school children of elementary age do more than 95 percent of all family food buying. This survey shows that children buy at least 80 percent of the family food under $1.00, according to Mrs. Della B. Dils, Public Relation Officer of the Boone County Rationing Board.

This is putting it very plainly who will be responsible for the success of the new point rationing system. We now have our brave women in the services of nearly all the military branches and defense industries and they have already proven themselves to be capable of all the tasks that are assigned them.

Capt. Ed Maurer Receives Commission With Coast Guard

Mrs. Jas. G. Smith received word recently that her brother Capt. Ed Maurer, Louisville, has been commissioned a Lieutenant in the Coast Guard and now is in Naval uniform.

At present he is located in the same office as formerly, in the Federal Building at Louisville.

SAVE THE SOIL URGED BY AGENT

ASSISTANCE WILL BE GIVEN BOONE FARMERS IN LAYING OUT CONTOUR LINES, BY J. CASPER ACREE.

"The most important material problem of the United States is to maintain the fertility of the soil." This statement was taken from a book written by C. G. Hopkins in 1910. Day by day we realize the importance of this statement. If China and India had realized this centuries ago things would no doubt be different in those countries now. And if Russia hadn't done a right about face after World War I, it is very doubtful whether she would have been able to have done a right about face at Stalingrad.

We have often heard the statement "that an army moves on its stomach." That army that moves the longest is the one that has the fullest cupboard. This is why farmers are called on to produce all they can this year. Keep Uncle Sams cupboard full. This does not necessarily mean that each one of us must go out and plow up more land, especially land of low fertility.

Listed below are a few suggestions on how we can increase our production and yet conserve our soil.

1. Plow as soon as possible so ground will have a chance to freeze out. This applies to sods and fallow ground but not to land with cover crops.

2. Keep manure and tobacco stalks in shelter until they are ready to be used. If it is impossible to keep manure under cover it is advisable to spread on the field as soon as possible.

3. Clean up patches of briars, brush and bottoms that are now non-productive.

4. See that bottom land is well drained.

5. Attempt to save more hay. Remember that hay (legume) is far more essential in milk production than nubbins.

6. Make two blades of grass grow where only one grew before. That means on the same ground and not on additional ground. In other words patch up the galded spots by mulching with manure, straw and brush and reseeding.

7. Be sure to plant all row crops on the contour (around the hill and not down the hill). You know that more plants can be grown in a crooked row than a straight one. These contour rows also conserve moisture and checks erosion.

8. Alternate pastures and do not graze too close.

There are many more every day simple practices that you can do to step up production and don't forget that the No. 1 problem yet is to conserve the soil.

If you would like to have assistance in laying out your contour lines, call 94 Burlington, Soil Conservation Service, J. Casper Acree, Assistant Soil Conservationist.

Frank B. Helms Stationed At Atlantic City, N. J.

2nd Lieut. Frank B. Helms, stationed at Atlantic City, N. J., has had a very interesting life in the U. S. Army. After serving four years in the Hawaiian Islands, he returned home September 13, 1942.

After arriving in the States he proceeded to Fulton, Ky., where he obtained a furlough, returning to Petersburg to marry his schoolmate, Miss Margy Hodges, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hodges. The marriage ceremony was performed October 3rd, 1942.

On October 27th he reported at Miami Beach, Fla., to attend Officers' Training School, graduatng on January 19th as a Second Lieutenant in the Air Forces. January 23rd Frank left Miami Beach and reported at Atlantic City, N. J., where he is Assistant Adjutant of the Basic Training Division. His wife is making her home with him at Atlantic City.

Many men entering the armed forces sometimes jump from Private to Technical or Master Sergeant, and even to Lieutenant, but Frank has earned his stripes the hard way, having held every enlisted rank from Private through Private First Class, Corporal, Sergeant, Staff Sergeant, First Sergeant, Technical Sergeant, and Master Sergeant to Second Lieutenant.

2nd Lt. Helms was stationed in Hawiia when Pearl Harbor was bombed and received a severe wound when struck by shrapnel from a bursting shell.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Sullivan and daughter Nancy, and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Akin and daughter Elva were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Akin and daughter.

USE CAN OPENER LESS FREQUENTLY

IS REQUEST MADE BY OPA—WILL HELP ON HOME FRONT SAYS MRS. DELLA B. DILS, RATIONING OFFICER.

Our Office of Price Administration has asked just one favor more of us—use our can opener very little. We can do this by buying fresh vegetables and fresh fruits in season and continue feeding our families the same good wholesome food they are accustomed to. In reverting to this manner, we are going to help on the Home Front, to feed our brave sons, brothers, husbands, fathers and nephews and all the loved ones who are scattered throughout the world, who must have good wholesome food and the very best, to be capable of the duties assigned to them. This food must be prepared in cans before it can be shipped. Housewives can use less can goods and prepare meals with fresh vegetables and fruits that are seasonable and budget our point rationing buying wisely.

Over radio station WLW each Sunday at 5:30 p. m., there will be a school of instruction from the OPA, Washington, D. C., conducted by the most imminent authority of Point Rationing. We shall be able to hear direct, all the new and helpful information from former Senator Prentice Brown, who is now head of OPA, at Washington. Remember to tune in and hear the experts discuss "Reports on Rationing."

BOONE HERDS ARE MEETING DEMANDS

OF GOVERNMENT FOR 6 PER-CENT INCREASE— DAIRYMEN THROUGHOUT COUNTY REPORT INCREASES.

Dairymen in Boone County are taking the government request for a 6 percent increase in production serious. A good example of this extra effort that is being put forth is found on Dr. R. C. Garrison's D. H. I. A. report, according to Wilson Short, D. H. K. tester, and O. D. Perkinson, Assistant County Agent.

One grade Holstein cow in his herd produced in 30 days, 2077 pounds of milk and 70.6 pounds of butterfat. This herd is headed by Meteror's Lad, a proven son of Brookwood Meteor.

T. O. Dunlap has two cows producing more than the average in this section. Cow No. 104 produced 8035 pounds of milk, 461 pounds of butterfat and cow No. 114 produced 8786 pounds of milk, 465 pounds of butterfat in 12 months.

Others herds that are making a successful effort to produce more for war time consumption are owned by Walter King, Verona; Ben Nichting, Walton; and Grant Maddox of Florence. These dairymen attribute their success to having good cows and better feeding and management practices. Herds of Albert Parker, and Herman Decker of Walton also completed splendid D. H. I. A. records the past year.

R. B. Huey and Sons, Robert Youell, Jesse Wilson and W. G. Kite and O. W. Purdy who are members of the Boone, Shelby, Carroll County D. H. I. A. Association in which John V. Hood is tester, also own high producing herds that are outstanding in the state.

REGISTRATION CLOSES MARCH 5

FOR PERSONS DESIRING TO VOTE IN LOCAL OPTION ELECTION ON MARCH 6, ACCORDING TO ATTY. GENERAL.

According to a recent ruling by the Attorney General on the time of registration for voters in the local option election to be held on March 6, 1943 in Boone County, County Clerk C. D. Benson was notified this week that the books will be open for registration until Friday afternoon at 5:30 p. m., March 5th.

This ruling is somewhat different from regular and primary elections, as there is always a period prior to the election that the books are closed for registration or change in voting precincts. In this election, however, persons may register or change their voting precincts up to the day of the election which would be Friday, March 5th, until 5:30 p. m., Eastern War Time.

Persons desiring to register or change their voting precincts should do so at their earliest convenience, as there will probably be a last minute rush on the last day, and many will have to wait.

Things To Remember About Rationing Feb. 23-25

The following things should be remembered by persons applying for Ration Book No. 2:

First: No one can be registered unless they present their War Ration Book 1.

MAN KILLED NEAR WALTON FRIDAY

WHEN STRUCK BY A TRUCK—VICTIM WAS WALKING NEAR CENTER OF ROAD, ACCORDING TO TRUCK DRIVER.

Robert Lee Henry, 62, Kenton County was killed instantly late Friday when he was struck by a truck while walking north on the pavement of Route 25 between Walton and Bracht Station.

The body was identified by the victim's son, Leonard Lee Henry, who hurried to the scene when informed that a man had been killed. He told Dr. James P. Riffe, Kenton county coroner, that he had not seen his father since leaving home early in the evening.

The truck owned by the J. H. Wiggins Co., of Cincinnati, was operated by William D. Newman, of Silver Grove. He was returning from Lexington when the accident occurred. He told Dr. Riffe that he did not see the elderly man until it was too late to avoid striking him. The man was walking near the center of the road, he reported.

Mr. Henry suffered a fractured skull, crushed chest and compound fractures of both legs, Dr. Riffe said, in returning a verdict of accidental death.

The body was removed to the Chambers & Grubbs funeral home, Walton, for preparation and was shipped to Danville, Ky., Monday morning of this week for burial.

HOME OF BURLINGTON BANKER DESTROYED BY FIRE SUNDAY NIGHT

LOSS ESTIMATED AT APPROXIMATELY $8,000.00—PART OF FURNITURE SAVED—FIREMAN UNABLE TO FIGHT BLAZE.

Fire destroyed the seven-room frame residence of Galen Kelly, cashier of Peoples Deposit Bank, Burlington, Sunday night. The fire was discovered about 10:00 p. m., and is believed to have started from a defective flue or defective wiring.

The blaze was discovered by Mr. Kelly in a closet of his bedroom, when he was aroused by an unfamiliar sound. After discovering the blaze he had the fire department summoned and made an effort to check the flames. His efforts were futile, and within a few minutes the flames were breaking through the roof.

Near zero weather froze pumps on both engines of the Florence and Hebron fire departments enroute to Burlington to fight the blaze. The blaze, however, had gained such headway it was impossible to save the building.

Neighbors and friends removed practically all furniture from the lower floor of the home, but two complete bedroom suites, bed clothing, and many other articles were destroyed by the blaze.

This home was one of the finest in Burlington, being modern in every respect. Loss was estimated at approximately $8,000.00, which was only partially covered by insurance. The property was insured with the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Co., of Boone County.

RURAL BOYS AND GIRLS TO MOBILIZE

FOR BIGGEST FOOD AND FIBER PRODUCTION PROGRAM IN HISTORY, ACCORDING TO H. R. FORKNER.

Boone County rural boys and girls are mobilizing for the biggest food and fiber production program in history, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The boys and girls Food and Fiber Victory Program is being mobilized thru community 4-H Clubs and with the full cooperation of the county school systems.

The great ability of boys and girls was demonstrated the past year when 160 Boone County 4-H Agricultural Club members produced project work in excess of $27,000. The state goal set up for Boone County of 845 boys and girls enrolled represents practically a 100 per cent enrollment of all boys and girls between eight and twenty years. Each boy or girl enrolling will carry one or more victory projects. The first two hundred enrollment cards received at the county office indicates that the victory garden project will be more popular among the agricultural enrollees and the victory clothing project among the home projects.

Projects include poultry, tobacco, hogs, sheep, corn, dairy, castor beans, hemp, labor service, garden, beef cattle, food and clothing.

The labor service project is proving exceptionally popular among club members. This project calls for 150 hours of farm or home work with a record of time spent. This project permits boys living in towns to work on farms producing food and fiber crops necessary for the war effort and to receive recognition certificates for the same. All boys and girls who have not sent in their enlistment cards are urged to send them to the county agent, or home agent's office in Burlington at the earliest possible date. Project outlines will be supplied members soon after their cards are received.

SAYS PURE WATER MAKES HOGS GAIN

Pure and cool drinking water is one of the secrets in getting the extra poundage of pork needed by Uncle Sam in winning the war. So declares Hershel Fears of Christian county, Kentucky, who sold a litter of nine pigs weighing 2,440 pounds for $340.

He fed a balanced ration including everything recommended by County Agent W. D. Talbert. Then he saw to it that the pigs always had a good supply of pure drinking water. Alfalfa pasture helped reduce the amount of grain needed by almost 100 pounds. Self-feeding reduced the amount of labor required.

County Agent Talbert says hog raising in Christian county jumped 35 percent last year, although the government asked for only 20 percent more pork.

Orders For Quail Must Be Turned In By March 1

Frankfort, Ky.—Game and Fish clubs and individual sportsmen over the state of Kentucky were urged by S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, to send in their orders for additional quail for liberation to the Division offices in Frankfort not later than March 1.

Wakefield stated that the total number of quail for liberation this spring would be somewhat smaller than that of last year and that additional birds this spring would cost $1.25 each.

The Game and Fish clubs were urged to appoint their quail liberation committee immediately and send names of the chairmen of said committees to the Division offices here as soon as possible so that arrangements can be made to contact these men when the birds are ready for distribution.

Attention is called to the advisability of collecting old shoe boxes and other paper containers for the distribution of the Bob White Quail which will take place around the first of April.

WHAT DO YOU WANT IN SHOES TODAY?

With shoe rationing now an actuality, instead of a vague rumor, your first concern in selecting a new pair of shoes will be "wearing qualities." You'll want a shoe that will outlast the ration coupon many times over. You'll want one that fits well, for long wear, as well as for comfort. You'll want a shoe that will hold its shape so that it will look well right down through the very last resoling. You'll want a shoe made from properly tanned leathers that will not crack and that will take a shine week after week. You'll want a shoe stitched and glued so that the sole will not tear loose from the uppers. And since you want all these things, you'll want a Star Brand for men and women—Poll Parrott for children.

The following letter was written by Bud Goodridge, stationed somewhere in North Africa. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Goodridge, of Hebron. The letter follows:

"Somewhere in North Africa
"Dec. 26, 1942.

"Hello Everybody:

"How goes it at home about now? Everything is O. K. with me here, and I find this place quite interesting, especially the people and their habits.

"There are a lot of French people here, but they dress like we do back home. These other people though, are sure a sad case. They dress in most anything that's loose—it's just like you see in pictures, it's some kind of a robe, and some of the women wear veils. Their lauguage sounds like a bunch of chickens chatting.

"We're about 5 or 6 miles from the coast and from a town, which looks almost like some I've seen back home.

"But what you at home should see, is the working of a camel and donkey together, they sure make a team. The donkeys are very small, about the size of that pany Tanner's had—so you can imagine what they look like together. Their plows are made of wood just like the ones you have seen in pictures.

"The lay of the land here is almost like the bottoms at home. You can see for miles and miles. Fact is, you can see the ocean from where I'm writing this, and it's 5 or 6 miles away.

"I had a splendid trip over, really regretted for it to end. I never did get sea sick, but some of the boys did.

"Well Ma, I hope this finds you all O. K. and feeling as well as myself. I haven't been in to town yet, so I can't tell you anything about that. Just tell all hello and write when you can find time. Don't worry about me.

"Always,

"Love
"BUD."

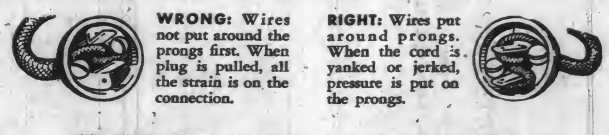
TWO COMMON CAUSES OF BLOWN FUSES
---and how to eliminate them

Frayed cords and loose plug connections that permit bare wires to come together are among the most frequent causes of short circuits that result in blown fuses. Here's how you can eliminate them and prevent needless interruptions in your electric service.

1. CORD FRAYED IN MIDDLE



Clean away the frayed or crumbled part.
Tape up each wire separately, using electrician's tape.
Then tape wires together. Adhesive tape cakes and cracks quickly.

2. CORD FRAYED NEAR PLUG

Unloosen screws and pull wire out.
Cut off frayed part of wire.
Reinsert wire in plug, and screw in place.

RIGHT AND WRONG WAY TO WIRE A PLUG

WRONG: Wires not put around the prongs first. When plug is pulled, all the strain is on the connection.
RIGHT: Wires put around prongs. When the cord is yanked or jerked, pressure is put on the prongs.

BLOWN FUSES may also be caused by defective or overloaded appliances, overloaded circuits or, occasionally, by defective house wiring. It's a good idea to keep extra fuses on hand and to know how to use them. Then you can restore service quickly without waiting for a serviceman, who may be delayed by war-time restrictions on the use of cars and trucks.

The Blood Stream

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

The blood stream has several important functions. For instance it feeds the tissues from the products of digestion; it carries away waste matter and it aids in equalizing the temperature and the water content of the body.

Blood is not just plain fluid, but has two parts. A yellowish fluid called PLASMA, in which float solid particles called corpuscles. Then there are three kinds of corpuscles: red corpuscles; white corpuscles, and blood platelets. The red corpuscles are the oxygen carriers of the body. The white corpuscles are the protectors of the body and multiply at a great rate of speed. In other words, the white corpuscles enable the body to resist infections and throw off contagious disease.

Friends, now that we understand how important a part our blood stream plays in the health of our entire body, it is easy to see that we should be careful not to choke or cramp this blood stream in any way.

When you cramp blood vessels and shut off blood supply to any part of the foot, every school physiology book tells us that you not only deprive it of the food it should have to keep healthy, but the slower blood stream cannot clear away waste matter as it should. We find chemical deposits form at the joints of the feet and the legs and then inflamation develops leading to pain and discomfort that makes you miserable all over. These symptoms are often mistaken for arthritis, rheumatism or some other ailment. Backaches headaches and many body ills may be traced to the feet.—Adv.

Her State beer license fees at $25.00 per store were	725.00
Her grand total sent the state for liquor revenue was	$17,537.12

THIS $17,537.12 IS THE SUM THE STATE WILL LOSE AND NOT BOONE COUNTY WHEN THIS COUNTY VOTES DRY March 6. This county is only one of the 120 counties of the state sharing in the general fund. So this county will lose ONLY her 120th part of this $17,537.12, which totals $146.14. This $146.14 is this conty's only loss in state revenue, less than 2c per person.

No Local Revenue Is Lost

TAXPAYERS WILL SAVE THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS WHEN BOONE GOES DRY MARCH 6TH. THE SMALL LICENSE fees charged the beer and liquor saloons by Boone County, to help pay for the damage the liquor outfit creates NEVER HAS paid for the care and maintenance of the DRUNKS THE SALOONS MAKE.

BOONE COUNTY--WET OR DRY

Will Continue To Receive Her Share Of $9,157,255.20

IN LIQUOR REVENUE POURING INTO THE STATE'S GENERAL FUND FROM 7 BREWERIES, 200 WHOLESALE DISTributors and 4,500 beer and whiskey saloons A COUNTY VOTING DRY DOES NOT DISTURB THIS REVENUE. Dry Boone will get her share.

Boone's Liquor Bill Is $253,489.17

BOONE COUNTY'S LIQUOR BILL LAST YEAR WAS APPROXIMATELY $253,489.17. THIS EQUALS $23.43 FOR EVERY man, woman and child. Figure for yourself how much this staggering sum would have contributed to the peace and prosperity of this County, had this amount been spent for useful things.

The Local Liquor Outfit

And the Distillers and Brewers of Louisville, Milwaukee, St. Louis, and Chicago are itching to keep their hands on this enormous sum for three more years.

LET'S VOTE THE LIQUOR JOINTS OUT OF BOONE COUNTY ON MARCH 6. TO VOTE DRY, VOTE YES. Give our boys and girls a break.

SATURDAY

Jon Hall, who co-stars with Ilona Massey in Universal's "Invisible Agent" coming to the Gayety, has been ordered by his physician to quit swimming workouts in the Pacific due to the recurrence of ear trouble acquired in Tahiti where the actor dove to great depths while accompanying natives on pearl hunting expeditions. Injury to the eardrums resulted.

Hall has the title role in "Invisible Agent" which was suggested by H. Well's "Invisible Man."

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

Amazing fellow, this Johnnie Johnston! Johnnie, who shares his top billing with Ann Miller, Vera Vague, Betty Rhodes and Jerry Colonna in Paramount's merry filmusical, "Priorities on Parade" jumped to the movies from radio.

But before he won fame on the airwaves he did enough knocking around the world to satisfy a half dozen men. Born in St. Louis, Mo., he was an amateur boxer with 30 wins to his credit, three losses and six draws. He held a pocket billards championship, traveled to Hawaii, Australia, China and Japan as a sailor. He's been an orange picker, a hat salesman and a dozen other things. But now Johnnie sticks to singing and guitar playing.

Spiritual Need Of American Stressed At Conference

Keyed to the part Christians must play in time of war, Moody Bible Institute's recent Founder's Week Conference brought before an aggregate audience of 60,000 the great spiritual need of America.

Said Dr. Will H. Houghton, president of the Institute, "Many people think America is becoming Christian because here and there a politician in speech or interview deigns to mention the name of Deity. The whole trouble is, men fail to see that the plan of God in human affairs is fundamental, not supplemental."

More than 30 speakers were heard during the seven days, including Capt. Robert D. Workman, chief of Navy chaplains; Col. Alva J. Brasted, former chief of Army chaplains; missionaries, and noted Christian leaders.

This conference held in celebration of D. L. Moody's 106th birthday registered visitors from many states besides the local area. Rev. Harold Wainscott of Florence was among those who attended.

When Norwalk, Conn., entered the Victory Book Campaign to collect books for the men in service, a goal of 10,000 books was set, but in spite of unseasonable weather, 18,300 books were collected, an average of two books for every five residents.

ALL YOU CAN SPARE

Go to your bookshelves, select some books you enjoyed reading and take them to the nearest public library. Your books will be sped to men in all the branches of the armed forces by the 1943 VICTORY BOOK CAMPAIGN

The purpose of the Victory Book Campaign is to provide good books for the U. S. O. centers. Remember, the fighting man of today is still your neighbor of yesterday and tomorrow. He likes to read the same books that every American man or woman likes. Among popular fiction, mystery stories seem to rank first. Poetry, also has a place on the preferred list.

To our fighting men in all branches of the service—give more books—give good books.

$800.00 PLEDGED AT MASS MEETING

TO DISCUSS ORGANIZATION OF VOLUNTEER FIRE DEPARTMENT AT BURLINGTON— $2,000 TO $2500 NEEDED.

At a mass meeting of residents of Burlington community held at the courthouse last week, plans were discussed for the organization of a Volunteer Fire Department to serve the property owners of the Burlington district.

Voluntary pledges were received at the conclusion of the meeting and approximately $800.00 was pledged to the Department. Since that time, several more pledges have been received and at present the pledges have reached approximately $1000.00. According to estimates that the committees have been able to set, $2,000.00 to $2,500.00 will be required to purchase equipment to do our job.

C. D. Benson, A. B. Renaker, C. G. Kelly, Robert Clore and Luther Smith were appointed on the Finance Committee and will soon be contacting everyone who has not pledged to the cause. Anyone desiring to contribute can help this committee by giving your pledge to one of them before they contact you, as their task is not a pleasant one, and the sooner the pledges are in the sooner we will have fire protection. Every property owner should be vitally interested in this worthy cause.

R. R. Robbins Buys Indiana Property

In three of the largest and most important farm real estate deals to be negotiated in Ohio county, Indiana is recent years, Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Robbins, of Pleasant Ridge, became owners of the 213-acre tract, known as the Oliver Douglas farm, near Patriot, together with the dairy cattle, sheep and farming equipment, also purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Aldred, former owners of the farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Robbins first traded their 102-acre Pleasant Ridge farm, known as the Frank C. Green farm, which they purchased two years ago, to Mr. and Mrs. John Utzinger for their 80-acre farm near Cofield Corner. Jim Bob Martin then bought the Utzinger farm from the Robbins' after which they closed the deal for the Aldred place, one of the finest and most productive farms in that part of Indiana. Immediate possession was given in all of the transactions.

Specialist Urges Farmers To Repair Old Machinery

Earl G. Welch addressing the Boone County Farm Machinery Committee last Thursday afternoon and the Utopia Club members at Burlington, Thursday evening urged farmers to order repair parts now and to repair all machinery before spring work starts.

The 30 percent of the 1940 production of new machinery will not meet farmers 1943 needs. This year's demand for new machinery will exceed production by more than 1000 per cent.

The repair of old machinery and the exchange of labor between farmers who have power machinery and those who do not, appears to be the most logical solution. There is a sufficient supply of machinery on the farms if the power machinery could be kept busy a larger part of the time. The great difficulty is that farmers owning this machinery do not favor loaning machinery on operations other than their own.

BURLINGTON P.-T. A. TO MEET MARCH 2ND

SERVICE MEMORIAL WILL BE ERECTED

IN HONOR OR ALL MEN AND WOMEN IN SERVICE OF OUR COUNTRY — SPONSORED BY BOONE HOMEMAKERS.

An Honor Roll is to be erected in the courthouse yard in Burlington. On it will be printed the names of all men and women from Boone County now in Service. This project is being sponsored by the Homemakers' Clubs in the county and is to be financed by popular subscription.

It should not be felt a duty, but rather counted a privilege to donate to this fund. For the convenience of persons desiring to contribute, boxes will be placed in the stores and banks throughout the county, also contributions may be handed to the various Citizenship Chairmen of the Homemakers' Clubs: Mrs. Jonas Stevens, Mrs. Helen Clore, Mrs. John Hempfling, Mrs. George Morith, Mrs. Sterling Dickey, Mrs. J. B. Berkshire, Mrs. Oscar Fugate, Mrs. Grace Renaker, Mrs. Ora Stone, Mrs. Kathryn Faegan. Or to the members of the Committee: Mrs. Sam Sleet, Mrs. Albert Willis, Mrs. Geo. Kottmyer, Mrs. John Boyer, Mrs. R. C. Garrison. Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent, is advising.

It is important that names of all men and women who have seen, or who are seeing service for the United States in this war be included in this list. The committee urges everyone to cooperate by turning in names that will not be included in the list available through the Selective Service office. Turn in names to Mrs. Moore, or members of the committee.

Let's rally together—all do our bit in this expression of pride of our men and women serving our country—America, the Land of the Free.

BURLINGTON FIVE WALTON WINNERS

IN CONFERENCE GAMES DURING WEEK—WALTON TAKES OVER FIRST PLACE IN COUNTY CONFERENCE.

Burlington's basketball team chalked up their first victory of the season Saturday night, when they turned back the New Haven hoopsters by a score of 31-24.

Burlington took an early lead, the score being 11 to 5 at the close of the first quarter. New Haven rallied in the second frame to forge ahead 14 to 13 at the close of the half. Burlington outscored the visitors in the third frame, forging ahead and maintained their lead through the remainder of the game.

Jarrell led his team to victory with a total of 14 points, while Ryan of New Haven collected 17 for the losers.

In a reserve game New Haven emerged on the long end of 14-12 count in an overtime period.

Dr. Barker To Speak At Lloyd Auditorium Wednesday, March 3rd

Dr. Charles E. Barker

Dr. Charles E. Barker will be in Erlanger, March 3rd for three addresses before local groups. In the morning he will talk to the students of Lloyd High School; at noon he will address the members and guests of the Rotary Club, under whose auspices he comes to Erlanger; and in the evening he will address a public meeting of parents and young people. This evening meeting, which will be open to everyone, free of charge, will be held in the auditorium of Lloyd High School at 8:15 p. m., (E. W. T.).

Dr. Barker is a noted lecturer on the principles of health and right living. During his lecture career of more than a quarter of a century, he has addressed some four and one-half million adults and four million high school and college students in the United States and Canada. Much of his success as a lecturer is due to his homely philosophy and humor, his understanding of young people, and the direct appeal which he makes to their mentality. His talks deal with the idealism of youth, its problems and future possibilities.

Dr. Barker is being brought to Erlanger by the Rotary Club as a service to the community.

FOOD RATIONING POINTERS GIVEN

BY HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT—LOCAL HOMEMAKERS PLAN WELL BALANCED BUDGETS FROM OWN SUPPLIES.

The problems that arise from the latest movement to ration food will not so much concern the rural homemaker, according to Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent. Boone County Homemakers have provided well balanced canning budgets from home grown supplies. Many have dried their own beans and have an ample stock of this valuable meat substitute. A few have dried fruits to supplement their canned or stored ones.

Mrs. Moore stresses the following points in regard to the food ration program:

1. Plan well for using the coupons, look for bargains in "Unit Value" foods which provide high quality nutritional constituents.

2. Use fresh foods whenever possible.

3. Coupons of larger unit value should be used whenever purchases warrant larger totals. This will save the lower valued coupons for late in the period when units might be wasted in necessary purchase of smaller amounts.

4. The rural homemaker will not use coupons unless it is necessary. Commercial stocks of canned and dried foods are limited, hence the reason for rationing them. There are many who live in the city areas who depend entirely upon these stocks for their food supplies. Rural Homemakers will only use coupons when home sources do not provide necessary foods.

Attention is called to the following facts which will aid homemakers in providing amply for the canning year.

1. Bulletins and leaflets from U. S. Dept. of Agriculture and University of Kentucky at the office of the Home Demonstration Agent which suggest: Plans for the home garden; budgets for canning and storing; methods for canning and drying. These are free, and will be issued on request.

2. Check canning supplies now on hand. If additional jars, lids, etc., are needed purchase early or order through the merchants.

3. Buy needed canners. If "Victory Canners" can be found, they are investment buys.

Mrs. Moore will advise or assist anyone who makes requests by phone, mail, appointment or personal contact.

BOONE QUOTA SET AT $5100 FOR 1943

WILL BE ONLY DRIVE FOR FUNDS IN COUNTY THIS YEAR ACCORDING TO R. I. ROUSE, CHAIRMAN.

R. I. Rouse, chairman of the Red Cross and War Fund Drive in Boone County stated that this will be the only solicitation for funds for the Red Cross in the County this year.

Stating that there has been some misunderstanding among Red Cross workers and the public as to the nature of the drive, Mr. Rouse said, "I want to make it clear that this drive is a combination Roll Call and War Fund Drive."

The quota for Boone County has been set at $5100 and this is the only Red Cross drive that will take place in Boone County this year.

Inasmuch as Boone County always equalled or exceeded its quota it should be a matter of pride to all residents of the County to see that the quota assigned to it this year is met or excelled.

Boone County has 414 boys in service of our country, so we are not going to let them down, for this is the only means we have of reaching the boys overseas. The Red Cross is stationed with our boys over there ,so let's reach our Red Cross War Fund Drive and quota.

Diphtheria Immunization Given Florence Children

Under the auspices of Florence P.-T. A., Dr. M. A. Yelton, assisted by Boone County Red Cross Nurse gave immunizing vaccine for diphtheria to about fifty children at Florence School last week.

Mrs. George Morith, president of the P.-T. A., Mrs. Robt. Eastman, health chairman and Mrs. Luella Houston member, officially planned and worked in the clinic thruout.

Florence P.-T. A. is taking a forward step in promoting this important work of preventing diphtheria.

All babies should be immunized against diphtheria as soon after they are six months old as possible. The younger the child, the more apt he is to take diphtheria.

Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

Poor posture may be directly caused by defective reasons, eyestrain, impaired hearing, or bone defects which may occur in children during adolescence. Thrusting the head forward to see better may be associated with nearsightedness. Cocking the head toward a speaker may indicate loss of hearing, or bone defects which may indicate loss of hearing in one ear. Marked "round shoulders" may be a sign of some disease of the bones of the spine. All children should have competent and thorough physical examination, including tests of sight and hearing, before entering school, and at regular intervals thereafter.

If the mind and the body are health, the will is after all, the directing factor in maintaining good posture or correcting bad posture. The feet play a very important part in body balance, as they support the entire weight of the body both in standing and in moving and holding it upright against the downward pull of gravity. The feet being the foundation of the body are very important in regard to good posture and without proper fitted shoes, weakness will develop in the muscles causing the bones of the feet to sag and throwing the whole body out of posture. You cannot have good health and unhappy feet.—Adv.

THREE "Don'ts" THAT WILL MAKE YOUR IRON LAST LONGER

DON'T use your iron if handle is rickety. The constant wiggling of a loose handle causes plug to rock back and forth on rigid terminals in iron socket. This in turn produces arcing or dashing of electric current inside the plug, which burns and pits the terminals, resulting in poor electrical contact and slow or irregular heating, or perhaps no heat at all. Always have your iron handle tightened at the first sign of looseness.

DON'T pull plug from iron socket while cord is connected to outlet. Each time you do so, the electricity arcs or flashes when connection is broken, gradually burning and pitting the terminals and eventually resulting in unsatisfactory operation of iron due to damaged electrical contacts. Always disconnect cord at wall outlet. If your iron is automatic, use thermostat to regulate heat instead of pulling plug.

DON'T drop your iron. Of course, you wouldn't do this intentionally, but use every precaution against it. Dropping your iron may break inside connections or damage the thermostat. More irons are put out of commission by being dropped than by any other single cause. Always set iron firmly on a stand or its heel rest . . . never on a sloping or slippery place.

OTHER TIPS on Iron Care: Avoid ironing over buttons, hooks, zippers and other hard articles that might scratch sole plate. . . . Keep bottom of iron clean by wiping with damp cloth when cool or by using mild abrasive or fine steel wool if necessary . . . Never immerse iron in water. . . . To remove starch, sprinkle a little salt on waxed paper and run warm iron over it. . . . Never wrap cord around hot iron. . . . Always let iron cool before putting it away.

To Vote Dry---Votes Yes

AT LOCAL OPTION ELECTION MARCH 6

Liquqor dens, beer joints and road houses are far more disgraceful than the old saloon. The people grew tired and disgusted with the stench of the old saloon—they are sick of the present methods of disposal. BOONE COUNTY IS CALLING A HALT. VOTE YES! MARCH 6.

Bread and Milk--or Booze

THE SAME DOLLAR CANNOT BUY BOTH

Consumption of milk in the U. S. has been from 100 to 200 million gallons LESS annually since repeal than it was during Prohibition, according to reports by the Department of Agriculture. The per capita consumption is from two to four gallons LESS. To feed the extra cows to produce the increased milk under Prohibition, it required 74,000,000 bushels of grain, which is 41,000,000 more bushels than the liquor business used in 1936. Money spent for liquor has NOT BEEN spent for bread since repeal. Government figures show that there has been an ANNUAL average reduction of 78,337,000 bushels of wheat USED FOR BREAD.

What Good Does Liquor Do?

Has it ever made any life Purer, Nobler or Happier? Has it Ever made a better Citizen? Has it Ever contributed to the Peace of any Family or Community?

If you vote to license the sale of liquor in Boone County, you thereby vote for all the damage and degradation and evils that it brings to our people. If you vote to license liquor, you vote to fulfill what was said in McGuffey's reader in 1836, more than one hundred years ago, and is true today:

"Licensed to do thy neighbor harm,
Licensed—to kindle the hate and strife,
Licensed—to nerve the robber's arm,
Licensed—to whet the murderer's knife;
Licensed—like spider for a fly,
To spread thy nets for man, thy prey;
To mock his struggles, crush his soul,
Then cast his worthless form away."

If You Vote For Liquor

WHO IS GOING TO DRINK IT?

The liquor traffic MUST have ONE OUT OF EVERY THREE BOYS AND GIRLS as NEW drinkers EVERY year to take the place of those dying from alchoholism. Some men claim they do not drink but will vote for liquor "so the other fellow can have it." WHO IS THIS OTHER FELLOW? Is it their son—their daughter—the man who marries their daughter—the hired help—their bus drivers—the friend who is driving the car in which they are riding? Remember friends! If you vote to keep liquor in Boone County SOMEBODY MUST DRINK IT if the liquor dealers and the brewers continue to make money. If you MUST vote for liquor WHY NOT BE FAIR AND DRINK IT YOURSELF?

Boone County Challenges The Liquor Dealers

To Prove Their Statements and Stick to Facts About Their Business

What Does Liquor Protect

CAN YOU NAME A SINGLE PERSON IT HAS HELPED?

Does liquor protect the good names of the citizens of Boone County? Do drunk drivers protect human lives and property? Does liquor protect the fair names of the widows and orphans, whose husbands and fathers have spent every dime for drink, then died from the effects? Does it protect the boys and girls of this county from the temptation of drink and ruin many of them for life? Does it protect the earnings of a man who labors for the support of his wife and children? Does it protect the physical strength, stamina and courage of the young men of this county? Look around you. Count up the number of men who have lost their farm, their business, their job because of drink. Pick out the boy or the girl you want to see drink this poison slop, then vote for liquor IF YOU CAN.

IF YOU MUST VOTE FOR LIQUOR—BE FAIR—DRINK IT YOURSELF

Save, oh save Boone County from the naughty bootleggers—help the poor downtrodden taxpayer—keep the bold bad Moonshiners out of the church-pews—and the rest of us from going to the everlasting bow-wows. "My oh! my" if we are "Mentally and Morally right" (their own words) we can give these distressed liquor dealers Three More Years to sell all the liquor they can to all the People they can to make all the money they can.

They Don't Dare Tell The Truth About Liquor

Why Don't They Explain The Bootleggers Now in Boone County

Saloons Breed 'Leggers

Legal Liquor Provides A Smoke-Screen

WET COUNTIES ARE LOUSY WITH MOONSHINERS

High taxes on liquor MULTIPLY Bootleggers. The legal stores in wet counties provide an outlet for their wares. Jos. H. Choat, former chief of the Federal Alcoholic Administration stated 4 years ago that ONE HALF OF ALL LIQUOR SOLD IN THE U. S. WAS ILLICIT LIQUOR. Bootleggers are literally over-running the nation. The U. S. has started using planes to run them down. It is now costing the U. S. $632,000.00 per year MORE to fight bootleggers SINCE REPEAL than the average cost of enforcing prohibition. In wet Nelson County with 17 legal distilleries, a gigantic illicit still was captured last fall. IN ONE SINGLE DAY in the U. S. Court at Paducah, 48 bootleggers were sentenced to federal prison. In wet Princeton during July and August, 1937, out of 60 arrests for drunkenness, 58 were drunk on bootleg liquor according to the evidence. Rowan County voted wet. A short time later two men were killed on poison liquor and later nine illicit distillers were arrested.

The Citizens of Boone County Are Not Fooled

Old Age Pensions

WILL GO CHEERFULLY ON When Boone County VOTES DRY MARCH 6

The liquor dealers in their nervous fears of Boone County voting dry on March 6 have slightly over-stepped the facts when they intimate that we should continue them in the business of making easy money off unfortunates, if we want to protect the old age pensions.

IF YOU WANT THE FACTS READ THIS LETTER

COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY
DEPARTMENT OF WELFARE

Frankfort, Ky., May 25, 1937

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

The attention of this office has been called to the fact that certain interests are stating that the "wet-dry" issue in various counties is connected with Old Age Assistance. Such a statement is false. The revenue derived from liquor is paid into the State General Fund like all other forms of revenue, and are not "ear-marked" for Old Age Assistance. No discrimination is made in this office in regard to religion, race, color, creed, or political affiliation of applicants for Old Age Assistance. Therefore, none will be made because of their attitude toward local option election on liquor.

Sincerely yours,
A. Y. LLOYD,
Director of Public Assistance.
AYL-VM.

Who Wants To Keep Boone County Wet?

The brewers and distillers of Louisville, New York and Cincinnati along with the local liquor dealers who are making the money out of the business and can afford to spend thousands of dollars in an attempt to keep Boone County in the clutches of the traffic by intimidating and deceiving the voters. IT IS THE SAME OLD SALOON OUTFIT!

Don't Be Deceived

NO LIQUOR REVENUE IS LOST TO BOONE COUNTY

Dry Boone County will receive her full share of the $9,157,255.20 pouring into the State's general fund from the 7 breweries, 200 wholesale liquor distributors and 4,500 beer and whiskey saloons over the State. The ONLY State revenue Boone County will lose amounts to LESS THAN TWO CENTS PER PERSON. The local fees Boone County will lose HAS NEVER PAID FOR TAKING CARE OF THE DRUNKS. YES, BOONE COUNTY WILL SAVE THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS BY GOING DRY.

Boone Local Option Committee

REV. R. A. JOHNSON, Chairman
WM. C. RYLE, Secretary

The Liquor Traffic

DOES NOT PAY ITS OWN DAMAGE
SO THE TAXPAYERS PAY THE BILL

"G-man" J. Edgar Hoover stated that last year our crime bill was fifteen billion dollars—$10.00 per month for every man, woman and child. The New York Liquor Commission states in their book "The Effects of Alcohol," that nearly one-half of all crime is CAUSED BY LIQUOR. The liquor traffic makes the money. The people PAY THE BILLS.

Five years ago, Mayor Scholtz of Louisville appeared before the legislative council in Frankfort and appealed for more liquor tax because Louisville was losing money taking care of the product of drink. "Costs," declared the mayor, "have increased steadily, outlays being greater from year to year for the keep of prisoners, their medical care and for the care of dependents of liquor addicts." And NO WONDER. In 1929, the peak of Prohibition, Louisville had 2,155 arrests for drunkenness. In 1937 it had a total of 12,200 ARRESTS FOR DRUNKENNESS and 4,000 of these were boys and girls under age. THAT'S WHAT REPEAL HAS DONE.

The circuit judges of this state declare that 80 to 90 per cent of their criminal cases are caused by drink. "G-man" Hoover declared in 1937 that the past three years have been the most terrible years in the crime history of America. IF THE LIQUOR BUSINESS HAD TO PAY FOR THE DAMAGE IT CREATES, IT WOULD BANKRUPT ITS BUSINESS SO THE TAXPAYERS PAY THE BILL.

NOW IS OUR CHANCE TO BANISH LIQUOR FROM BOONE COUNTY
IF WE FAIL we cannot vote again for three long DANGEROUS years

BOONE COUNTY IS AHEAD OF REQUEST

FOR SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT—ORGANIZATION COMPLETED IN 1942—EQUIPMENT AVAILABLE.

Recently an article was carried in the daily papers where Governor Keen Johnson had written all judges in the state requesting them to assist in forming a Soil Conservation District in their county, so as to combat the soil erosion problems that are here and will arise from the extra plowing that will be done to increase the production of crops this year.

Boone county is ahead of this call for a district including all of Boone county was organized as the ground was started in 1941 when a group of farmers met at the courthouse and a petition signed by many farmers was filed with the State Conservation Committee at Frankfort on October 8, 1941 for a formation of the district. A public hearing on November 14 was held at the courthouse at which time it was determined there was sufficient interest, and a referendum was held on January 10th, 1942 with Mr. C. L. Hempfling acting as polling superintendent. The count showed a vote favorable to a district.

G. C. Ransom and C. L. Hempfling were appointed supervisors by the state and H. E. White, Wm. C. Presser and J. C. Bedinger were elected by farmers, as the law states that two will be appointed and the other three elected to serve as supervisors.

C. L. Hempfling was elected chairman and G. C. Ransom elected secretary of the organization. All supervisors are still serving, as Mr. Ransom was appointed for another term.

The district is now in operation with an office in rear of the Production Credit office at Burlington. J. C. Acree is the work unit leader succeeding O. W. Chinn, who has been transferred to Spartenburg, S. C.

This district has the following equipment available for terracing and ditch work. These pieces are: one six-foot Hummer terracer; one 4-ft. V-type Martin ditcher; one slip scraper; one Fresno scraper, 5-ft. See any of the supervisors or the local work unit leader if you have use for any of this equipment.

Livestock Notes On War Production

The following timely livestock notes are from a brief summary from the Animal Husbandry Department of the College of Agriculture News letter. These notes pertain directly to the 1943 war production program, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

Sheep—Produce heavier lambs in 1943. In the past Kentucky lambs have been marketed well under 75 pounds per head. Eighty-five to 90 pounds per head should be the goal of every sheepman in 1943. Docking and trimming are important.

Hogs—Farrowing.

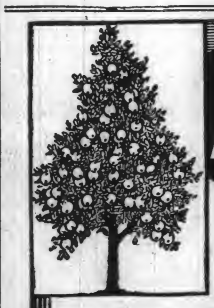
1. Feed sows adequately six weeks before farrowing. Reduce feed three days before farrowing.

2. Clean farrowing of pigs and growing to 100 pounds on clean ground produces pigs with $8 to $10 per head more profit.

3. Provide guard rails and pig nest.

4. Do not give sow too much bedding.

Beef Cattle:



1. Cow and calf plan most promising.

2. Milk and grass produce choice beef.

Miscellaneous—It is recommended that sweet clover hay constitute not more than one-third the daily roughage. Feeding more than this amount may cause poisoning or bleeding trouble. More complete recommendations or production problems are available at the County Agent's office.

Twelve new laying houses and 48 brooder houses were built in Todd county this year, and 40 laying houses were remodeled.

Jars of fruit or vegetables, or fresh vegetables, were contributed by members of homemakers' clubs in Jefferson county to the harvest festival for Army and Navy Relief.

ANNUAL MEETING HELD BY ASS'N.

PRESENT DIRECTORS ELECTED BY NORTHERN KENTUCKY PRODUCTION CREDIT ASSOCIATION.

The ninth annual meeting of stockholders of the Northern Kentucky Production Credit Association was held in Williamstown at noon on February 18, at Hotel Donald, with a luncheon being served.

The members re-elected the two present directors whose terms expired. Namely, Roscoe Jump from Grant County and C. Liston Hempfling from Boone County.

E. R. Raymond, Secretary of the Production Credit Corporation of Louisville, brought the main address. His subject was "A Wartime Financial Program For Farmers."

Another speaker, Leonard C. Taylor, Secretary-Treasurer of this credit cooperative, revealed that during 1942 the organization served 678 farmer-members. He also pointed out the amount loaned to farmers in 1942 was an increase of $10,000 over 1941.

By way of predicting continued activity among farmers in this section, A. Threlkeld, President of the Association said, "I feel sure our record of service to members during the past nine years reflects what we can and must do during the weeks and months ahead by way of supply credit to farmers who are doing all they can to produce food-for-freedom and at the same time are striving to maintain their farmsteads and land in good condition for peacetime production when the war is won."

ENJOYS FURLOUGH AT HOME

Staff Sgt. Robt. F. Horton, of Oklahoma City, Okla., recently enjoyed a 10-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. R. Horton, of Union, Ky.

Purchase Certificates Needed To Purchase Riding Cultivators

Purchase certificates will be needed to buy one-row, horse-drawn cultivators of the riding type, previously unrationed, under an amendment to Food Production Order 3, M. D. Royse, Chairman of the Kentucky USDA War Board, said today.

Purchase certificates, needed to buy rationed farm machinery and equipment, are issued by county farm rationing committees.

The amendment also provides that the Department will no longer control distribution by manufacturers of garden planters and of two-row or larger horse-drawn cultivators of the riding type.

In the past, about 40 percent of the riding type, horse-drawn cultivators were sold in the corn belt. They are used extensively in Kentucky, however, principally in the cultivation of such row crops as corn, hemp for seed, cotton, potatoes, and beans of various varieties.

Desire Names For Service Roll Board

Boone County Homemakers' Committee, on the erection of an Honor Roll for Service men and women, urges that names not available through the Selective Service office be turned in to members of the clubs for their citizenship chairman, or to Mrs. Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent.

The Honor Roll will be placed in the yard of the courthouse at Burlington and will be paid for by popular donation. Contribution boxes will be found in banks and stores throughout the county. It is a privilege to contribute to the fund which honors our citizens who are in the Service of our country.

Red Cross War Fund Drive Now In Progress

The annual Red Cross War Fund drive began Monday. March 1st in Boone County, with a quota of $5,100. As this will be the only drive for the year of 1943, each citizen should consider it a privilege to double his or her contribution of last year.

This War Fund drive is to help enable the American Red Cross organization to meet war-time obligations, especially to the armed forces. A part of Boone County's quota will be remitted to the National organization, and the remainder to be used by Boone County Chapter for service to families of service men and many other worthy needs.

Precinct chairmen have been named, and other workers have volunteered their services for this drive. The following is a list of precinct chairmen: Burlington, Mrs. J. G. Smith; Beaver, Joe Heizer; Walton, Mrs. Lula Huey; Florence, Mrs. Jane Utz; Union, Mrs. Joseph A. Huey; Hebron, Mrs. Jameson Aylor; Bullittsville, Miss Lucy Lee Grant; Petersburg, Mrs. Mary Witham; Belleview, Miss Betty Cason.

Workers will be in the field for contributions thruout the month of March. If for any reason any person should be missed, contributions can be mailed in to either Irvin Rouse, chairman or Carroll Cropper, treasurer.

KITE FLYING IS DANGEROUS

NEAR ELECTRIC POWER LINES OR CONGESTED HIGHWAYS—PARENTS URGED TO WARN CHILDREN AS SEASON NEARS.

A soaring kite dives into a power line. A small boy climbs a pole to untangle it. Suddenly there is a flash and a limp little body hurtles to the ground.

Dozens of times each year this tragedy is enacted in communities throughout the land. Dozens of little children annually lose their lives or suffer painful injuries in accidents involving kites and wires, either through lack of knowledge of the hazards involved or because of a youthful disregard of danger.

It is to prevent occurences of this kind from happening here that the local power company annually publishes warnings in the newspapers and schools. This year the company again asks the cooperation of parents in calling the following safety rules to the attention of their children:

1. Don't use fine wire or metallic string.
2. Don't use wet string or fly kites in damp weather.
3. Don't use metal kite sticks.
4. Don't climb poles to get kites caught in wires.
5. Don't poke sticks at tangled kites or attempt to pull them down by their tails.
6. Always fly kites in open fields, clear away from power lines and busy highways.

"Both fine ware and the tinselled string sold for gift wrapping are conductors of electricity and so is string that is wet," cautions R. M. Hall, power company manager. "When any of these falls across a power line, it may result in a fatal shock to the kite flyer, and may also cause a short circuit that will interrupt power service. Children should use only dry cotton string in flying their kites and they should avoid the use of metal or wire in making them. If a kite becomes tangled in electric lines, it is best to call the light company office and let one of our men take it down. In climbing a pole to get a kite a child may come in contact with a live wire or in attempting to pull it down by its tail or poke it loose with a stick, he may cause two wires to come together causing a service interruption."

PICTURES OUT FOR DURATION OF WAR

During the past several months we have been carrying many pictures of our boys in the Armed Forces. This practice will be discontinued for the duration of the war, due to shortage of metal needed in producing these cuts.

We regret that we are compelled to discontinue this service, but our engraver informs us that the metal used in these cuts is one of the most vital metals to our war effort, and at this time is very scarce.

We will be allowed to use any cuts that we now have on hand, or any cut that may be furnished us, but will not be able to have new cuts made from pictures.

Persons having cuts which they desire to appear in our paper in connection with an article of interest, will gladly be accepted, provided the cut is in good condition and will give a clear print.

East Bend Landmark Destroyed By Fire Friday Afternoon

The home of Frank Green, one of the oldest buildings in the East Bend neighborhood, was destroyed by fire Friday afternoon. It is believed the blaze started from a spark igniting the shingle roof.

The building, a large six-room frame building was completely destroyed. All contents of the building with the exception of a few clothes were lost. Loss was estimated at $1200.00.

The building and furniture was insured with the Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Co., of Boone County.

Farmers Get Gas For Six Months

Farmers may obtain gasolipe for their tractors, engines, and other non-highway equipment for a period of six months instead of three months under a change in rationing regulations announced by the OPA.

The change is being made because of the variability of farming operations which frequently make it difficult for farmers to estimate their requirements for only a three-month period. It will also save the farmers time.

Rev. and Mrs. E. M. Helton and son, Mr. and Mrs. John Whitaker spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jess Barnes and family.

Dress And Morale Is Subject Homemakers Will Study In March

Clothing leaders in local Homemaker groups will be in the spotlight at March meetings. The lesson "Dress and Morale" will offer many interesting features to the woman who plans and sews for her family. Homemakers learned methods of re-cutting and setting-in sleeves at classes last month. Mrs. Mary Scott Moore reports that improved practices adopted are already showing in the changing sleeve lines exhibited at meetings.

The county agents are cooperating to bring information to the Homemaker with regard to the victory garden and food production programs. Questions on these subjects will be answered by the agent, at local meetings. Mrs. Moore will add information of the point food ration program.

The schedule is as follows: (visitors and new members will be welcomed) for the month of March.

400 ENLIST IN 4-H PROJECTS

TO AID IN WAR PRODUCTION PROGRAM—OPEN TO EVERY BOY AND GIRL OF CLUB AFE IN COUNTY.

Four hundred Boone County boys and girls have already enlisted in the 1943 4-H Food and Fiber for Victory program, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Enrollment is mounting rapidly with more than eighty percent of all boys and girls between eight and twenty years of age expected to carry one or more Victory projects before the enlistment program closes.

The Victory garden project ranks first choice of members, poultry second and the labor service project third in favor among the agricultural project members. These projects are followed by tobacco, castor beans, hemp, dairy cattle, beef cattle, sheep, and hogs.

The Victory clothing project ranks first, home canning second, and foods third among the Home Economics projects, according to Mary Scott Moore, Home Agent.

The 4-H Club program represents those rural boys and girls interested in producing the maximum amount of food and fiber crops and work for the war effort. The boys and girls are organized into community clubs and project groups to facilitate instructions on carrying out the program. The project work is done on the farm and in the home under the cooperative supervision and guidance of the mothers and fathers. The boys and girls elect local adult community and project leaders to assist in the organization.

The 4-H Club program is open to every boy and girl of club age in the county. Enlistment cards may be secured from the local community clubs adult leaders, schools, or at the county agent's office in Burlington. 1300 CATTLE WILL RECEIVE T. B. TEST

TESTING WORK UNDER SUPERVISION OF FEDERAL AND STATE VETERINARY DEPARTMENTS.

Thirteen hundred cattle will be tested in Boone County for T. B. during the next three weeks, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. This is the regular three-year test of 10 percent of the cattle that is necessary to keep the county on the Federal T B. free accredited list.

The testing work is being done under the supervision of the Federal and State Veterinary departments. The government pays up to $25 on grade and $50 on registered animals on the appraised value of animals that react.

Herds tested this week include those of T. P. Dunlap, George Knox, Albert Parker, Vernon Pope, Robert Youell, Wilton Stephens, R. B. Huey & Son, S. B. Scott, W. G. Kite and Purdy, T. W. Rice, Franklin Maurer and R. C. Garrison.

Farmers who desire their herds tested should call the county agent's office immediately. There is no charge for the testing. Farmers agree to sell those animals found infected with the disease.

CORNS

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

The most frequent of foot ills is that disagreeable growth which usually is found on the outer side of the little toe, or on top of the second, third and fourth toes, and in some cases on the bottom of the great toe joint. The chief symptom is a burning, stinging pain of varying degrees. The formation of the growth produces a pressure upon the nerves which in turn gives rise to pain varying from a dull mild sensation to a sharp and intense irritation. These pains are usually increased when the parts affected are further irritated by ill fitting shoes, by friction or by other pressure.

In the case of a soft corn, which is found in the web between the fourth and fifth toe, the cause is usually due to pressure brought about by the dropping of the fourth metatarsal bone, which in turn presses upon the face of the fifth. The possibility of eliminating a soft corn is very good provided proper shoes are worn and a metatarsal pad is placed directly under the head of the fourth metatarsal bone to set it up in posture. The soft corn will gradually become smaller and finally disappear.

Vascular corn is an over growth of skin, the same as occurs in hard corns, but in which blood vessels are found. The pain is more severe in this type of corn than in any other form, usually resulting in a burning sensation even when the victim is not standing or walking. —Adv.

KEEP BOONE COUNTY CLEAN AND LAW ABIDING

EVILS OF LIQUOR

It is a conceded fact that liquor is the source of much evil and, if voting the Nation, the State or smaller territory dry would abolish liquor from such an area and eliminte the evils, it would be a blessing. But, as conclusively proven by National prohibition, it does not do this, it merely diverts the industry from legaliged, controlled channels to the bootlegger, the "blind tigers" and disreuptable dives, any of which is really dangerous and the source of even greater evils. During National prohibition, liquor in the hands of the racketeers, the gangsters and the bootleggers produced the greatest evils in history and brought about a wave of crime, murder, misery and court corruption, the like of which was never known before.

Enforcement Impossible

It is generally known, that with millions spent by the Government to enforce it, NATIONAL PROHIBITION WAS AN UTTER FAILURE. Now, if with a nation-wide area legally dry the law could not be enforced, how would it be possible to eliminate the sale in so small a section as our county which is entirely surrounded by wet territory. In addition to the accommodating bootlegger, all one would have to do would be to step over the county line and get all he wanted.

Prohibition History

The Wickersham Committee appointed by President Hoover in 1930 to investigate prohibition, stated in their report based on actual investigation that, "MORE PEOPLE WERE KILLED IN ATTEMPTED ENFORCEMENT OF PROHIBITION FROM 1920 TO 1930 THAN WERE KILLED IN THE SPANISH AMERICAN AND REVOLUTIONARY WARS." GANGSTERS, HOODLUMS AND RACKETEERS HAVE TAKEN CONTROL OF OUR COURTS AND WERE RULED BY BRIBERY, CORRUPTION, THREATS OF VIOLENCE AND MURDER."

WOULD WE WANT TO RETURN TO THE "GOOD OLD" PROHIBITION DAYS?

Hear What The State Has To Say

Quoting from report of the State Revenue Department published last September 14th: "THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT THIS YEAR ISSUED MORE THAN 300 RETAIL ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE LICENSES IN 50 DRY COUNTIES OF THE STATE." THINK OF IT, AN AVERAGE OF OVER SIX TO THE COUNTY, TO SAY NOTHING ABOUT THE INDIVIDUAL BOOLEGGERS. DOES THAT LOOK LIKE VOTING A COUNTY DRY ELIMINATES THE SALE OF LIQUORS WITHIN ITS BOUNDARIES? "BLIND TIGERS" DO NOT TAKE CHANCES WITH THE GOVERNMENT BUT EVIDENTLY, DO NOT FEAR LOCAL ENFORCEMENT.

A Stab In The Back To Our Soldiers

For their fiscal year ending June 30, 1942, the Federal Government received in revenue from the liquor industry the huge sum of $1,048,516,705.00. Think it over, over a billion dollars. WAS THERE EVER A TIME OUR COUNTRY NEEDED THE MONEY MORE? TOO, REGARDLESS OF THEIR VIEWS ON THE MATTER, IT CERTAINLY IS A QUEER KIND OF GRATITUDE FOR OUR BOYS IN THE SERVICE, MANY OF WHOM ARE FIGHTING AND SOME DYING TO PRESERVE OUR LIBERTY, IN HAVING THE ELECTION HELD AT A TIME WHEN THEY ARE DEPRIVED OF HAVING A VOICE IN THE CONTEST. AS A WHOLE, WOULD IT NOT BE MORE PATRIOTIC AT THIS IME AND MORE CONSIDERATE OF OUR SOLDIER BOYS TO GET BEHIND A MAJOR DRIVE TO SELL WAR BONDS TO HELP THEM WIN THE WAR?

Some Real Highlights

The dry leaders tell you, "Bootleggers are over-running the State." In event this is true, how would voting any section of it dry, put them out of business? IT DID NOT DO IT DURING NATIONAL PROHIBITION. THE DRYS DO NOT TELL YOU THIS. It did not do it in the two central Kentucky cities during their three years of local option, wherein the only business that really prospered was the bootlegging business. THE DRYS DO NOT TELL YOU THIS. IT DID NOT DO IN THE 50 SUPPOSEDLY DRY YCOUNTIES OF THE STATE WHEREIN OVER 300 RETAIL ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE LICENSES WERE ISSUED BY THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT. THE DRYS DO NOT TELL YOU THIS. Locally, there are no bootleggers in Boone county but, during National prohibition there were dozens of them and barrels of moonshine were sold in the area. The Drys do not tell you this. IN OTHER WORDS, EVIDENTLY BOOTLEGGING IS ALL RIGHT AS LONG AS IT IS IN DRY TERRITORY.

Boone County At The Top

THERE IS NO BETTER COUNTY IN THE STATE THAN THE COUNTY OF BOONE. A STATE REVENUE AGENT MADE THE REMARK A SHORT TIME AGO, "IF ALL COUNTIES OF THE STATE WERE AS CLEAN AS BOONE, I WOULD BE OUT OF A JOB." IT HAS NO LIQUOR JOINTS, NO ROAD HOUSES AND NO SLOT MACHINE HIDE-OUTS, A COMMENDABLE CONDITION FOR WHICH WE SHOULD BE THANKFUL. IT HAS BEEN WELL GOVERNED AND ITS FINANCIAL CONDITION IS ANOTHER OF MANY THINGS TO BE PROUD OF. OUR JAILS THROUGHOUT THE COUNTY PRACTICALLY AT ALL TIMES HAVE BEEN EMPTY THO, DURING PROHIBITION THEY HAD MANY "GUESTS." COMPARE BOONE, BOTH MORALLY AND AS TO ITS FINANCIAL CONDITION, WITH ANY OTHER COUNTY, EITHER WET OR DRY, IN THE STATE, YOU WILL FIND NONE THAT SURPASS IT.

TAXES or MORE TAXES

The ultimate goal of the Professional Drys is to vote the State dry. In this event, you would have nothing to gain, liquors would continue to be sold as it was during National prohibition and as it is now in other supposedly dry counties of the State but, you'd have plenty to lose. For their fiscal year ending June 30, 1942, the State received in revenue from the industry the sum of $9,157,255.00. The present tax of 5 cents on each $100.00 worth of real estate produces only about $500,000.00. It would require an increase of the real estate tax from 5 cents to 90 cents on each $100.00 worth of real estate to produce he amount of revenue paid by alcoholic beverages in event the State should vote dry. WOULD YOU BE WILLING TO DIG DOWN DEEP IN YOUR POCKETS TO PAY YOUR PART OF ADDITIONAL TAXES THAT WOULD HAVE TO BE LEVIED TO MAKE UP THE HUGE AMOUNT OF OVER NINE MILLION DOLLARS EACH YEAR? "Why "kill the goose that lays the golden egg?"

Why Try It In Boone?

Sometime ago Clark and Montgomery voted dry. During the 3 years that followed while these counties were dry, the bootleggers handled the liquor business so openly and so profitably and all other business in the areas became so demoralized that in a second local option election, both counties voted wet by large maporities and many of the original Drys helped do it.

Some Proven Facts

If voting dry would drive liquor out of the county entirely, a large majority would be for it. BUT REMEMBER, THE QUESTION TO BE DECIDED IS POSITIVELY WHETHER IT WILL BE HANDLED LEGALLY AND CONTROLLED OR BY THE BOOTLEGGER AS IT WAS DURING PROHIBITION, WHO WOULD SELL BQYS OF ANY AGE AS WELL AS GROWN-UPS AS LONG AS THEY HAD THE PRICE.

OUR YOUNG FOLKS

It is a sad thing that in some of our large cities young people indulge in liquor. But, bear in mind, THIS PRACTICE WAS A PRODUCT OF PROHIBITION. Before that period, such a thing, as well as women drinking in public was unknown. Prohibition plainly proved that the consumption of liquor cannot be eliminated by legislation. The American people respond to persuasion and reasoning, but cannot be driven. Tell a child, "You cannot have a certain thing," that is the very thing the child is determined to have. Human nature is the same at all ages. Continued kindly appeals for temperance instead of "You cannot have it," will work wonders toward reducing the sale and consumption of liquor.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT ISSUES PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS The American National Red Cross during the first year of our participation in the war has rendered vital humanitarian services to the members of our armed forces and to their families; and

WHEREAS the demands made upon the Red Cross are steadily increasing from day to day as it is called upon to accompany our Army and Navy into worldwide theaters of action, to provide blood plasma for our wounded, to send relief to American and United Nations prisoners of war, and to expand its preparations to meet emergencies at home; and

WHEREAS The American National Red Cross is under the necessity of raising further funds in order that these essential services may be continued and expanded:

NOW, THEREFORE, I FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, President of the United States of America, and President of The American Red Cross, do hereby designate the month beginning March 1, 1943, as "Red Cross Month," and I request that during that month our people rededicate themselves to the splendid aims and activities of the Red Cross. I summon the men, women, and young people of our country, in every city and town and village, in every county and state throughout the land, to enlist in the army of mercy mobilized under the banner of the Red Cross and to contribute generously to the Red Cross War Fund in order that the sum of One Hundred Twenty-five Million Dollars, every cent of which is needed, may be raised promptly.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this twenty-third day of February in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and forty-three, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and sixty-seventh.

SAMPLE BALLOT
FOR LOCAL OPTION ELECTION MARCH 6

Are you in favor of adopting Prohibtion in Boone County? YES [X] NO [ ]

THE LIQUOR DEALERS SAY:

That we lose state and county revenue when Boone County votes dry March 6th.

THE FACTS ARE:

The saloon outfit knows...or ought to know if they care anything about the truth . . . that whether Boone County votes WET OR DRY she will continue to receive her full share of the $9,157,255.20 pouring into the state's general fund from the 7 breweries, 200 wholesale liquor distributors and over 4,500 beer and whiskey saloons over the state. The ONLY state revenue Boone County loses amounts to LESS THAN TWO CENTS PER PERSON. The local license fees collected from beer and whiskey joints DO NOT PAY for the care and maintenance of the drunks they produce. Boone County WILL SAVE MONEY when she votes dry March 6th.

To Vote Dry --- Vote Yes

Saloons may go like the brook, forever, and men may die by the thousands in them, but

NOT BY MY VOTE

Truth may be wrecked and character dismantled, homes may be destroyed, and women and children beggared, but

NOT BY MY VOTE

Children may be caught in the saloon snare, the victims of alcohol may fill our jails, almshouses and insane ayslums, but

NOT BY MY VOTE

The saloon may degrade and impoverish the people; producing idleness, disease and pauperism. It may breed anarchy and crime, but

NOT BY MY VOTE

The government may license the drink traffic and for a consideration take "a reward against the innocent" and bargain away the public morals, but

NOT BY MY VOTE

The liquor traffic may corrupt the social and political life of the nation; it may worm its way into all business and even into the sacred precincts of the home and the church, but

NOT BY MY VOTE

The bells may toll the death knell of a human being slain by rum every five minutes of the day, but

NOT BY MY VOTE

THE LIQUOR DEALERS SAY--

It's not a question of "Wet or Dry"---It's Legal or Illegal Liquor.

Listen to the sad, sad wail of the saloon outfit . ... PLEASE, OH! PLEASE don't vote liquor out, 'cause if you do this naughty thing to us, more liquor will be sold in Boone County. WELL! IF IT'S LIQUOR THEY WANT SOLD . . . WHAT ARE THEY CRYING ABOUT?

THE LIQUOR DEALERS SAY:

That Prohibition was a failure. Their favorite gossip—between drinks—is to drag out the old threadbare chestnuts about prohibition being so terrible—causing more crime, more drunkenness, etc.

Let The Dealers Read The Following and Weep:

Prohibition Stopped Liquor Advertising

LEGAL LIQUOR IS NOW ADVERTISED AND UNDER OUR NOSE EVEYWHERE

In restaurants, candy, drug, cigar, and grocery stores, pool rooms and on our highways, in filling stations and crime breeding roadhouses. It constantly and "legally" tempts and destroys our youth, debauches our womanhood, breeds pauperism and misery and corrupts our government. Enticing liquor signs clutter our highways. Liquor forces its way into our homes through alluring pictures and outrageous statements in magazines and newspapers. Brilliantly colored lights advertise liquor on our streets. Tempting window displays greet our children. And blatant beer radio programs invade our family circle.

Prohibition Decreased Drunkenness 70%

SINCE REPEAL GENERAL DRUNKENNESS HAS INCREASED300% according to the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Drunks are everywhere. In Louisville "illegal" liquor in 1929, the very peak of Prohibition, caused 2,155 arrests for drunkenness. In 1937, 12,200 persons were arrested for drunkenness. And the terrible tragedy of it all was that nearly 4,000 of those arrested WERE CHILDREN AND YOUNG PEOPLE UNDER AGE. In this city and county—everywhere drunkenness has increased. MOST PEOPLE DRINK BECAUSE IT IS HANDY. Very few people in comparison will hunt up liquor over in the hollow. GIVE THE UNFORTUNATES IN THIS COUNTY A CHANCE TO CLEAN-UP. DON'T KEEP LIQUOR UNDER THEIR NOSE EVERYWHERE THEY GO.

Prohibition Decreased Crime 54%

SINCE LEGAL LIQUOR RETURNED UNDER REPEAL general crime has increased, according to "G-man" J. Edgar Hoover. He further stated in 1937 that the past three years have been the most terrible i nthe criminal history of America. J. M. Watters, director of the division of correction of the State Welfare Department at Frankfort, declared recently that "Unless something is done, crime is going to bankrupt the State." In wet Floyd County the grand jury declared that murder was on the increase in that county due to the increased sale of liquor at roadhouses. Judge James M. Gilbert said recently that liquor and roadhouses were breeders of crime. We have 1,000 more men in Kentucky prisons than we had in 1935.

69 Counties Dry

And Every County Satisfied

Kentucky Is Going Dry Faster Than Any State in the Union Excluding All Liquor Above 1%.

Let's Vote Boone Dry

And Make It the 70th in This Steady March Toward A Dry Kentucky.

The Liquor Dealers Say:

Local Option Does Not Work

THE FACTS ARE—

Testimonials of business men, law officers and others in dry counties prove that it does work. Hundreds are on file but space forbids quoting only a few.

MENIFEE COUNTY—"County officers signed statement saying, cases in court decreased as much as 75 per cent."

CARTER COUNTY—"Less bootlegging and drunkenness and safe for our boys and girls"

ELLIOTT COUNT—"It doesn't seem like the same place."

OWEN COUNTY—"We are surrounded by wet counties, but conditions are so much better, it is not the same place."

ALLEN COUNTY—Scotsville Chief of Police says: "I have very little to do since we voted liquor out."

POWELL COUNTY—"About 75% improvement."

METCALFE COUNTY—"100% improvement. I was County Judge during liquor and am now County Attorney, and I am in a position to know."

HARDIN COUNTY—"The first week-end after prohibition became effective, only three arrests were made, two for drunkenness, as compared to 27 on previous week-ends," so stated the Jailer.

Let's Make Boone County A Clean Place To Live In!

THE LIQUOR DEALERS SAY:

HELP KEEP THE MONEY SPENT FOR LIQUOR AT HOME.

THEY WOULD HAVE YOU BELIEVE THAT VOTING LIQUOR OUT will drive people to other places. This, of course, is false. People do not go to beer joints and whiskey saloons to buy dry goods and groceries. The good people of this community would like to have some place to get a lunch without having to eat in a beer joint. Certainly with liquor under their nose everywhere, it is more tempting to buy than if they had to go 20 miles away.

THE ONLY LIQUOR MONEY THAT REMAINS IN this county NOW is what goes in the pockets of the dealers. The rest goes to the wholesalers outside the county. The food and clothing stores suffer and the taxpayers pay the bills for the crime, the drunks and pauperism caused by liquor.

TO VOTE DRY--VOTE YES

THE LIQUOR DEALERS SAY:

THAT WHEN BOONE VOTES DRY, OLD AGE PENSIONS AND OUR SCHOOLS WILL SUFFER.

THIS IS WRONG. Hon A. Y. Lloyd, State Director of Public Assistance, declares that "such a statement is false." And he ought to know. Old age pensoins and our schools receive support from the state's general fund. Liquor revenue is NOT earmarked for these agencies. BOTH WILL CONTINUE TO RECEIVE THEIR USUAL SUPPORT. As a matter of fact Boone County, WET OR DRY, will continue to receive her share of the over six million dollars in liquor revenue coming from the distilleries, breweries, wholesalers and 4,500 beer and liquor saloons over the state. THIS COUNTY'S ONLY LOSS in state revenue amounts to LESS THAN TWO CENTS PER PERSON.

TO VOTE DRY---VOTE YES

BOONE COUNTY LOCAL OPTION COMMITTEE

R. A. JOHNSON, Chairman WM. C. RYLE, Secretary

THE LIQUOR DEALERS SAY:

"Local Option means the return of the bootlegger."

SINCE WHEN HAS THE BOOTLEGGER EVER LEFT US?

LEGAL LIQUOR is the smoke screen for bootleggers. High liquor taxes BREEDS THEM like flies. Liquor control authorities claim that one-half of ALL THE LIQUOR sold in wet territory IS ILLEGAL LIQUOR. Moonshiners and bootleggers are getting so numerous the government is planning to hunt them down with planes. According to a statement made in December, 1937, by the Northern Kentucky Liquor dealers, "many beer joints BOOTLEG HARD LIQUOR." VOTE YES MARCH 6 AND REMOVE THIS SMOKE SCREEN.

CLEAN UP THESE DEPLORABLE CONDITIONS. DRIVE THESE DESPICABLE AND DANGEROUS CRIMINALS OUT IN THE OPEN WHERE THEY MAY BE DETECTED AND CAPTURED.

TO VOTE DRY--VOTE YES

THE VOTERS HAVE HAD ALL THEY WANTED OF SO-CALLED "REGULATED LIQUOR." THEY ARE GOING TO THE POLLS SATURDAY, MARCH 6, AND OUTLAW ALL LIQUOR

Gayety Theatre

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

Seven of Hollywood's most gorgeous brunettes will be seen as Moroccan harem dancing girls in Paramount's "Road to Morocco," coming to the Gayety with Bing Crosby, Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour co-starred.

The girls were chosen from among several hundred aspiring applicants because they are all five feet, five inches tall, weigh an average of 120 pounds, delightfully distributed so as to do right by the harem costumes designed for them.

These seven girls represent the best Hollywood can produce, and that's awfully good. They also represent a new standard for feminine beauty, a little taller and a little heavier than last year's model.

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Red Skelton finds himself involved in another hilarious murder mystery in "Whistling in Dixie," at the Gayety, Sunday and Monday.

The comedian will be seen in the role of the radio detective which he created in his first starring production, "Whistling in the Dark." Ann Rutherford and Rags Ragland, who were with Skelton in this comedy, are in the principal supporting roles in "Whistling in Dixie."

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

Barbara Britton, who, with actor John Archer, supplies the romantic interest in Paramount's "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," is a favorite with the armed forces.

Barbara is now the official sweetheart of A Battery, 305th' Coast Artillery, Camp Davis, N. C. She is also Honorary First Sergeant of Company E. 151st Infantry, 38th Division, Camp Shelby, Miss.

Fay Bainter has the "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" title role.

The manager of a Pueblo, Colo., hotel cut down the metal heads of his bedsteads and sent 8,000 pounds of scrap brass and steel to the local salvage committee.

Since no new steel dies, used in engraving stationery, cards, etc., are now available, the industry has been polishing and using both sides of old dies.

A cut in the amount of 35 mm. film that the motion picture industry may use in 1943 will save enough film to stretch three times about the earth at the quarter.

CONSERVATION NEWS

Two diversion ditches were staked out on T. H. McCaffey's farm, about three miles north of Walton on highway No. 25. A district conservation plan has been developed on this farm. Mr. McCaffey built six diversion ditches last fall. They are doing the job of diverting concentrated runoff water which normally went down the slope, causing erosion. Mr. McCaffey plans to make a "Garden of Eden" out of 8 acres of land—plainly speaking—is tough. He has already started plowing in the ditches and smoothing over the rough places. He will then lime and phosphate, and after sowing a rich mixture of grass and legumes, he will mulch the entire plot. A diversion ditch will be built at the brow of the hill to check the run-off.

The district farm plan on G. C. Ransom's farm near Verona, calls for a stock pond. The district technician will stake out the pond and furnish Mr. Ransom with plans for building it.

On a once badly gullied field across the railroad on the J. R. Worthington farm west of Verona, pine and locust are now growing. They were planted four years ago. Erosion will gradually stop.

Plans are now under way with the farmers in the Verona community to work together and get about three hundred tons of lime crushed. The Boone county district is cooperating in this undertaking by contacting those who have lime to crush and routing the crusher in this as well as other communities in the county. Anyone having limestone that they want crushed contact J. C. Acree of the district office, or H. R. Forkner, county agent at Burlington, Dance Bros., at Verona, or any of the Soil Conservation Supervisors. Piles of lime rock around in the county look like monuments. Let's convert these monuments into working capital by crushing and spreading.

J. E. Riddell of the Hebron community says he hopes his neighbors won't see him plowing when he starts breaking land on the contour on his farm at Hebron. Mr. Riddell is rearranging his garden so it will be planted on the contour, also. Stakes will be placed by the district so that Mr. Riddell will be able to carry out these practices.

Grow More Tomatoes

Mr. Woods, with the Walton cannery, says that he would like to have contracts on two hundred acres more. There are two good reasons why you should grow tomatoes: 1, Uncle Sam needs them, and 2 they are really a good cash crop this year. Farmers in western Kentucky grew tomatoes for a third of this year's price and they said they made money. See Mr. Woods for a contract and if he gets his capacity, grow them anyway, for there will be a big demand for canning tomatoes this year. You know it don't take long to use up those precious 48 points.

Play Safe, Son!

Don't Fly Your Kite Near a Power Line

KITE FLYING is great fun but danger lurks when kites are flown near power lines. Many a child has lost his life by using wire for a kite string or climbing a pole to get a tangled kite. Don't take any chances. Play safe by following these suggestions:

Rules for Safe Kite Flying

1. Do not use wire or metallic kite string.
2. Do not fly your kite with wet string or in damp weather.
3. Do not use metal kite sticks.
4. Do not climb poles to get tangled kites.
5. Do not poke sticks at tangled kites or try to pull them down by their tails.
6. Fly your kites in open fields away from power lines and busy highways.

If your kite becomes caught in electric wires, call our office. We know how to remove it without endangering anyone or causing a service interruption.

HEBRON WINS 65TH DISTRICT TOURNEY

DEFEAT NEW HAVEN BY SCORE OF 42-19 AND BURLINGTON BY SCORE OF 55-19 IN FINAL GAME SATURDAY NIGHT.

In the first round of 65th District Tournament, Hebron turned back the New Haven five to the tune of 42-19, with Bessler leading the attack for the Hebron boys with fourteen points.

In a preliminary game Hebron's reserves chalked up 23 points while their opponents, the Burlington reserves collected nine.

Saturday night in the opening game Hebron's reserves trounced New Haven 39-13 to win the title in the Reserve division.

Hebron took an early lead in the final game, over Burlington and maintained a safe margin throughout. The score by quarters was 8-5, 19-8, 35-14 and 55-19.

Burlington's defensive play in the first quarter worked very effectively against Hebron, but after that time Hebron had no difficulty in running their plays.

Getker led the scoring for the winners with 16, followed by Hogan who collected 14 and Marshall 12 for the winners. Jarrell, playing his last game for the Burlington team collected eight points for the losers.

At the close of the final game, D. H. Norris, Superintendent of Boone County Schools, presented the trophy to the Captain of the Hebron team. The trophy was donated by C. D. Benson, County Clerk.

Representatives of the eight competing schools of the Ninth Regional Tournament voted at a meeting at the Dixie Heights High School to hold the tournament in the Newport High School gymnasium.

Drawings for the tournament, which will be held Wednesday through Friday, pitted Erlanger against Dayton in the opener at 7:30, Campbell County against Highlands at 8:45 the same night; Covington Holmes against Walton at 7:30 Thursday and Dixie Heights against Hebron at 8:45, Thursday.

The winners of Wednesday's games will meet at 7:30 o'clock Friday and the victors in Thursday's contests will oppose each other at 8:45 Friday. The finals will take place at 8 o'clock Saturday.

State Inspector Auditing County Books

J. L. Reihm from the Office of State Inspectors and Examiners, Frankfort, Ky., is auditing the books of the Boone Fiscal Court. He is expected to complete his work here this week.

AIRPORT BIDS WILL BE RECEIVED TODAY

CONTRACTORS VISIT SITE DURING PAST WEEK—WORK TO BE COMPLETE WITHIN FIVE MONTHS.

Bids for the airport in Boone County will be received today, (Thursday), March 11 for its construction. More than 100 representatives of contractors and material firms interested in construction of the airport, visited the site last week, preparatory to submitting bids March 11.

Louis Larson, Chicago, Associate Airway Engineer in the Airways Engineering Division, Civil Aeronautics Administration, explained plans and specifications. Bids must be submitted to the CAA. The contract probably will be awarded within two weeks after the bids are opened.

Federal agencies have allocated $2,000,000 for initial construction of the airport, which is designed to serve the middle Ohio Valley area. Coincident with its construction the Kentucky Highway Department is to build a new road from the airport site to Erlanger. Another access road from Covington to the airport also is proposed.

The airport site, located on a plateau overlooking the Ohio River, was purchased last year by Kenton County Fiscal Court.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Hodges, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hodges, of Petersburg has been spending the past week, March 1 to 8th with her sister and brother-in-law, Lt. and Mrs. Frank B. Helms at Atlantic City, N. J.

Boone County Red Cross Nurse Reports Activities

Certificates have just been awarded to those making the grade in Bullittsville Home Nursing class, namely, Misses Mattie J. Kreylich, Lucy Lee Grant, Messrs. Azora Willis, Alberta Gaines Stevens, Helma Aylor, Bessie Hill, Ann Boone and Mrs. Unie Marshall. A number of others attended, but not regularly enough to receive certificates.

All classes were held in the comfortable convenient home of Mrs. Bessie Hill where necessary equipment was furnished. Mrs. Hill gave a party the day certificates were awarded. The class presented Mrs. Hill and the instructor with lovely gifts, which are highly appreciated by the recipients.

Besides home visits to all types of cases, particularly tuberculosis, the nurse has given health inspection to a large number of school children and a goodly number of handicapping physical defects have been corrected.

Diphtheria is a dangerous disease from which you can protect your children. Take them to a doctor or a clinic and ask to have them immunized. The doctor or nurse will tell you how often to return and what to do. If you wait until there is diphtheria in the neighborhood it may be too late, because it takes a few months for the protection to develop.

Every child 6 to 9 months of age or older should be immunized against diphtheria. The treatments are safe and harmless. More than 4,000 children died from diphtheria in the United States last year. Immunization would have made these children safe. Protect your child today.

VICTORY FUND MEETING HELD

AT LEXINGTON SUNDAY—COUNTY EXPECTED TO BE INCREASED, ACCORDING TO A. B. RENAKER, CHAIRMAN.

Approximately 200 bankers and Victory Fund chairmen of the eastern half of Kentucky met at Lexington last Sunday in the interest of the approaching Victory Fund drive scheduled to open in April to raise what is anticipated to be thirteen billion dollars to finance the war.

This is four billion dollars more than the December drive, which means that, in all probability, Boone County's quota will be larger than the December quota. The details, quotas, and class of bonds to be offered has not as yet been fully decided, but it is presumed that the issues will be about the same as offered in December, according to A. B. Renaker, County Victory Fund Chairman, who attended this meeting.

Mrs. James Bines, a Red Cross Nurse, gave a most heartrending eye witness account of the fall of Singapore. She related the horrors of war and the death and destruction of the people in that section, and made a stirring appeal to the people of this country to get behind these bond drives with which to furnish the implements of war to defeat our enemies at the earliest possible moment. She stated that she saw ambulances moving with human blood streaming from these vehicles carrying not only wounded soldiers, but women and children as well and with hundreds of human beings lying on the ground without arms or legs and tanks driving over them mashing them into a jelly and that Red Cross nurses worked day and night with their uniforms soaked in human blood and within a few minutes after changing their uniforms they would become soaked again. Mrs. Bines asked that everyone take her message home with them and to tell their people that such distress and suffering could happen here.

Plans are being formulated in Boone County for speaking engagements in every precinct, along with instrumental and vocal muscial entertainment preceding an address by a well known speaker.

Watch your county paper for further details of this campaign. Boone County did not reach its quota in December. We must not fail this time.

Precinct chairmen who served in December will continue to serve in this the second Victory Fund campaign. The County Chairman is requesting the precinct chairmen to begin giving thought to workers and plans for their precincts. A meeting of all precinct chairmen will be called as soon as full details of the drive are announced.

Four-H Clubs Are Ready

Most all the organization work in ten community 4-H Clubs of Boone County has been completed, according to O. D. Perkinson, Assistant County Agent. The boys and girls are enthusiastic about their 1943 Victory food and fiber production work and are waiting for old man winter to release his grip on the soil so they may begin their projects.

The latest enlistment report indicates that garden, poultry and hogs are the most popular projects among members. There is also a large enrollment in the corn, tobacco and labor service projects.

Mr. E. E. Fish, Assistant State 4-H Club leader, will be in the county on Wednesday of this week and will meet with several of the community clubs to assist members and leaders in their 1943 programs.

RED CROSS DRIVE UNDER WAY IN CO.

BOONE'S QUOTA SET AT $5,100—$2,400.00 WILL BE RETAINED BY LOCAL CHAPTER FOR RED CROSS ACTIVITIES.

In its second War Fund Campaign the American Red Cross is asking the American people for contributions to the War Fund to enable the organization to continue to meet its wartime obligations, particularly those to the armed forces of the United States as prescribed in its Congressional Charter and in Army and Navy regulations. This fund will be raised by the Chapters throughout the country and part of the fund will be remitted to the National Organization for the conduct of national and international Red Cross activities, and part will be retained and expended by the Chapters for the conduct of authorized Red Cross activities in their several jurisdictions.

The total sum to be raised by the Boone County Chapter in this campaign is $5100.00, of which $2,700.00 will go to the National Organization as this Chapter's share of the sum required for the national and international activities and $2400.00 will be retained by this Chapter for authorized and essential Red Cross activities in its jurisdiction.

All funds contributed to the Boone County Chapter in this campaign will be collected and handled subject only to the authority of The American National Red Cross and this Chapter, and all such funds will be divided between the National Organization and this Chapter in accordance with the ratio which this Chapter's quota of the national fund and the sum required for its local activities, as stated above, bear to each other.

FARM FAMILIES WILL BE VISITED

BY BOONE COUNTY NEIGHBORHOOD LEADERS IN INTEREST OF 1943 LIVE-AT-HOME PROGRAM.

Boone County neighborhood leaders will visit all Boone County farm families during the next three weeks on the 1943 Live at Home program, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent and Mary Scott Moore, Home Agent.

Every farm family is expected to produce the maximum of the home food supply this year. The program calls for not only the production but the canning preservation and storing of this food for winter and the better feeding of the farm family

The home food production program is probably the most important and the most profitable of all the farm war programs. The farm that feeds well the farm family is in a better position to produce surplus and much needed additional war crops.

The schedule of the neighborhood leaders meeting to train leaders and supply food production information is as follows:

All meetings are held at 8:30 (E. W. T.)

Walton—Basement room of bank Thursday, March 11th.

MISSIONARY TO SPEAK AT WALTON

WILL TELL OF EXPERIENCES FOLLOWING SINKING OF "ZAMZAM" ON WHICH SHE WAS A PASSENGER.

The Women's Christian Missionary Societies of the Seventh District East will hold their annual meeting at the Walton Christian Church on Wednesday, March 17, beginning at 11 a. m. (E.W.T.). Mrs. A. G. Henderson will be the guest speaker.

Mrs. Allison Henderson arrived in the United States recently, eighteen months after the sinking of the "Zamzam" on which she and her husband were passengers enroute to Bolenge, Belgian Congo, Africa.

They were going out as Missionaries for the Disciples of Christ. Those eighteen months were filled with strange experiences, among which were two months on a German freighter converted into a prison ship; five times in German prisons; discomfort of prison trains both to the North and South of Germany; eight months internment with women prisoners of war at Liebenau, Germany; 9 months of uncertain civilian life in Berlin.

Mrs. Henderson left Germany in June, 1942, with other repatriates, having to leave behind, her husband, who is a physician in a prison camp in Germany. Dr. Henderson and another British doctor are serving in the camp hospital which provides for 1500 British prisoners.

Mrs. Henderson is a trained nurse, taking her training in the School of Nursing at the Winnipeg General Hospital, Winnipeg, Canada, where she was an honor student.

Walton is fortunate in securing the services of Mrs. Henderson for the Women's Missionary Societies Convention of the 7th District, on Wednesday, March 17th. Other speakers on the program include Dr. Stephen J. Corey, president of the College of the Bible, Lexington, Ky; Mrs. June E. Stanley, secretary of Kentucky Women's Christion Missionary Society; Mrs. W. R. Humphrey, Lexington; and Mrs. J. T. Sullivan, Louisville, Ky.

The program will begin at 10 a. m. Pastor and leaders of churches are urged to attend this convention. Lunch will be served at a nominal price.

Pvt. Marvin Rouse Porter and Miss Mary Belle Smith were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Porter, Sunday evening.

REGISTRANTS GIVEN WARNING

BY FBI TO CARRY CLASSIFICATION AND REGISTRATION CARDS—ASKED TO COMPLY WITH ALL PROVISIONS.

Herbert K. Moss, Special Agent in charge of the Louisville Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, has announced that all men who have been liable for training and service under the provisions of the Selective Service Act for a period of six months are required to carry their classification as well as registration cards.

He pointed out that the FBI has primary jurisdiction in investigating suspected violations of the draft laws, and emphasized that this responsibility was placed upon the FBI by Presidential request and at the direction of the Attorney General of the United States.

The investigation of draft delinquents has progressed smoothly, Mr. Moss disclosed, and the entire situation is well in hand. There have been no "slacker raids" such as those which occurred during the first World War. Consequently, rumor and hysteria caused by such wholesale round-ups of possible draft dodgers have not occurred. As a matter of policy the FBI is opposed to large scale arrests and indiscriminate challenging of men of Selective Service age. Persons having evidence of draft evasion should promptly report their information to the nearest office of the FBI.

According to Mr. Moss, Director J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation has pointed out that there is about one delinquent for each 1,000 registrants, or about one for each 3,000 of the entire population. To illustrate the futility of mass raids Mr. Hoover has declared:

"If a slacker raid were conducted by surrounding a ball park with 30,000 people, you could expect to locate approximately ten registrants who were delinquent with their local boards. It would be necessary to detain hundreds who would no doubt neglect to carry their registration certificates, and would bring hardship to thousands of innocent people."

Mr. Moss explained that it is the duty of every registrant to keep in touch with his local draft board in order that he may comply fully with all provisions of the Selective Service Act. He outlined the following requirements and precautions to be observed:

(1) Carry your registration and classification cards with you at all times;

(2) Answer and return your questionnaire promptly;

(3) When ordered to do so, report for examination and induction;

(4) Advise your local board of any change in your address; report immediately any change in your family status or occupation which might have a bearing on your classification;

(5) Comply with all provisions of the Act yourself and do not aid or attempt to persuade anyone to avoid complying with the draft laws.

Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday the blood bank will be open from 1 to 6 p. m. and 7 to 8 p .m. and on Saturday hours are 10 a. m. to 12 noon and 1 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. ADVERTISING AND WAR

It doesn't matter much what Washington is doing about advertising just so long as Government restrictions are reasonable. The big advertising agencies are changing step and showing speed in shifting the character of national advertising.

There couldn't be any advertising unless brain power created it. Advertising agencies are useful because they create customers for their clients. It's up to advertisers to change their methods wherever there is a change in national conditions. The war brings us face to face with new methods in the daily habits of life.

A big news item says that 50 percent of the normal volume of national advertising has been withdrawn from the country papers. That shows that brains are slowing down somewhere, and it is up to the advertising agencies to right this injustice. Agencies that do not make an effort in this direction are failing to give first-class service to advertisers. It stands to reason that a national advertiser who buys space in a metropolitan daily and doesn't use the local newspapers is missing half of the American people, who live in the homelands.

Advertising is in the war, and the war reaches into every nook and corner of the Nation. So do the local newspapers. National products are sold by local merchants who are supplied by distributors, wholesalers, and manufacturers. Every kind of business has been built up from the patronage of the people scattered across the country. Local newspapers must continue to carry local and national advertising.

A merchant who finds himself in a hole can find a way to dig out by explaining his predicament in the advertising columns of his local paper. He must watch his step, and if he doesn't the chain stores will be ahead of him when peace comes again.

In short, brains and advertising are co-partners. There are advertisers in every town and city in the United States, and it's up to them to keep in touch with the public these times, or lose their shirts in the struggle.

UNPOPULAR FACT

The prime war objective is the preservation of individual freedom. All other objectives are incidental, including economic security. Of course, everyone wants economic security. But our form of government does not and can never guarantee both freedom and 100 per cent security. It just isn't in the cards. The government that extends the promise of bread and butter to all citizens, must also extend the heavy hand of dictatorial control. This is a highly unpopular fact. But it is nonetheless true.

It is also a fact that we have been steadily working toward greater security for the average citizen by the slow, sure path of enlightened industrial operation, coupled with ever wider distribution of the products of industry. American citizens enjoy the highest standard of living in the world. Rare is the man who does not have electricity in his home, a refrigerator, radio and auto. In peacetime, he can pack up and go fishing or migrate with his family to another section of the country, with notice to no one. If he does not like an employer, he can choose another. There are millions of employers. If he has an idea, a service or a gadget that the public wants, he can soon become an employer himself. More important, he can help choose our public servants by secret ballot. He can worship as he pleases and say what he pleases at any time and any place.

If these things do not constitute independence and security, what in the world does? At least these are the things our soldiers and marines and sailors believe they are fighting to save. They can exist only under a representative form of government supported by free enterprise.

SOME WILL DIE

A brief news item from a Western city reports an auto accident. The driver was burned to a crisp. In his car were found heat-seared container that had held gasoline. Before gas rationing these containers would not have been there; that man would not have died.

A five-gallon can of gasoline in the home, in the garage or in the back of a car can bring almost instant death to anyone in the vicinity. Gasoline does not merely burn. Its fumes in a confined space have the force of dynamite. They will explode without warning, the detonator often being an invisible spark incurred by static electricity.

As spring and summer approach, the temptation will be strong to "save" a little gas for a trip to the mountains or the seashore. A percentage of those who succumb to this temptation will meet a horrible death. In all probability there will be cases where entire homes are destroyed and members of families killed or malmed. They will have learned about gasoline—too late. But there are millions of others who will avoid tragedy by heeding the warnings of fire prevention experts; experts who have studied the dangers facing the gasoline hoarder. These experts have pointed out that no gasoline container is really leakproof. A little water in the bottom is sufficient to rust through the best can. They also point out that gas fumes in a basement in which a furnace is operating are nothing less than a time bomb. Even pouring gas into the car tank may prove disastrous, for here again static electricity flashing from tank to funnel could result in instant oblivion.

These warnings have been issued in an endeavor to save lives and property. They are not appeals to patriotism. Good excuses by the gas hoarder might avoid the issue of patriotism. But no amount of rationalizing can avoid the prospect of death.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

BY HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.
Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for March 14

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

IN THE UPPER ROOM

LESSON TEXT—John 13:12-20; 14:1-6.
GOLDEN TEXT—Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, and the truth, and the life: no one cometh unto the Father, but by me.—John 14:6.

Calvary and crucifixion were just ahead. Jesus gathered His disciples for a time of communion and instruction as they spent their last evening together. On the morrow would come betrayal, but now they and their Lord were together in the upper room.

But even here strife and dissension had apparently come in. There was probably some difference of opinion as to who should have the place of honor. To teach them the virtue of humility Jesus gave them an example, after which He continued with the precious counsel and prayer which are found in John 14 to 17.

Our lesson presents three things which our Lord gave to His disciples and to us (see John 17:20).

I. His Example—"Do as I Have Done" (13:12-20).

The act of Jesus in washing the disciples' feet placed Him, their Lord and Teacher, on the level of the most menial servant. It was an astonishing thing that He did, lowering Himself below their level to serve them.

His application of the object lesson was equally startling. "Ye call me Teacher and Lord, and ye say well," said He. Then as learners and servants He required of them the humility which would make them eager to do lowly service in His name.

There are more than enough folk who are willing to do the nice, pleasant things in the church, where they will be given recognition and praise. All too scarce are those Christlike folk who will serve in the hidden places where darkness, suffering, disease and sin make the natural man recoil in distress or fear.

II. His Assurance—"If I Go I Will Come Again" (14:1-3).

Following His resurrection Jesus was to go to the Father. He wanted them to be prepared for that time by making known to them the fact of His coming again. In that day His own shall be received unto Himself to abide with Him forever.

The second coming of Christ is not a strange doctrine held by little groups of people who are riding a theological hobby. It is one of the most blessed truths of Scripture. The hope of the Christian—yes, the only real hope of this disordered world—is the coming of Christ to reign. The New Testament is full of plain and helpful teaching on this subject.

While we await His coming, then, is there any encouragment for us as the burdens bear down and the way seems long? Yes, He says: "Let not your heart be troubled" (v. 1). There is little question that this passage has comforted more people than any other word in Scripture.

Countless bewildered and broken souls in all lands and times have here found the steadying assurance of the one who has the power to give them rest and comfort.

There is good foundation for their composure of heart in a troubled world. They believe in God, and in Christ, who is one with the Father. Here is real security—infinitely superior to aught the world can give.

Then at the end of the road are the eternal dwelling places. What they are like is sufficiently revealed in the fact that they are in the Father's house. How shall we reach them? That is our last point. We have

III. His Guidance—"I Am the Way" (vv. 4-6).

To Christ's declaration that they knew the way, Thomas responded with a request for a definite statement. He wanted to be sure, and Christ responded by reminding him that He, their Lord, is the "way, the truth, and the life." Surely there could be no more complete provision for the guidance of the heavenly pilgrim.

Christ is "the way." If one takes the right road he will reach the right destination though he "cannot at first see it clearly. Perhaps this is the commonest mistake of the Christian. He frets too much about what lies ahead . . . and not enough about taking the right road" (Lesson Commentary).

He is "the truth." He is the final and complete revelation of God, and is therefore the One who will lead all those who walk the way by faith into the fullness of the truth. To know Christ is to know God.

He is "the life." He is life, and He alone can give eternal life to man. There is none other to whom man may turn for life, but in Christ it is found, and from Him it may be received by faith.

We have only touched the briefest beginning of what took place on that remarkable evening in the upper room. It was a time of richest spiritual significance, of dark betrayal, but also of closest communion. We continue next Sunday.

WITH OUR BOYS IN SERVICE

LETTER TO A SLACKER

We are out here on a job to do
For country and Uncle Sam;
You cowards will not do it, too
You stay home any way you can.

You figure out some real smooth lies
To stay home anyway you can;
You do not care if gun smoke fills the skies,
For you cannot stand up as a man.

You have a yellow streak on your back
Just about 3 inches wide;
You wont go with your buddies
And stand up by their side.

We do not have much respect
For a guy that is not a man;
And boys we'll remember it
When we all get home again.

This fight is for our Country,
And our God and Uncle Sam;
So we will whip the enemy
The best way we can.

You get deferred as farmers
With yellow on your backs;
So just stay at home you suckers
And we'll attend to the Japs.

You think you'll have a sweet time
To stay home with the girls;
But boys when we get home again
We'll comb out all those curls.

This is just about all that I know,
For there is not much to say,
But when all of us boys get home again,
Just step aside and clear the way.

We had a home the same as you,
But we had to give it up;
So we are going in for action
To get back that old home bunk!
—Just A Soldier.

Before sugar rationing, Carmen Miranda invariably took no less than seven or eight lumps of sugar to one cup of coffee. This is an old Brazilian custom, since in Rio the boys and girls like their demi-tasses half-coffee and half-sugar.

It was during the filming of her current film success, "Springtime in the Rockies" the 20th Century-Fox Technicolor musical romance, however that her fellow Thespians noticed that she was using only one lump of sugar in her coffee.

After accepting many congratulations, Miranda calmly explained that half her cup was filled with —honey!

"Springtime in the Rockies," stars Carmen Miranda, together with John Payne, Betty Grable, Cesar Romero and Harry James and His Music Makers.

Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

Mother Nature gives the birds microscopic eyes to see tiny grain from a distance, and how she cares for us humans.

For instance, when we bruise our feet by wearing poorly constructed or ill fitted shoes, Nature sets up protective layers, corns, callouses and bunions, at the point where the attack is directed, and by means of pain telegraphs the brain that danger is at hand and how do we respond to nature's signal? Usually, by padding these protective layers, or paring them. This of course, does relieve the pain but does NOT remove the cause of the trouble; corns, callouses and bunions are merely symptoms telling you there is something wrong inside your feet.

Permanent relief will be obtained when you relieve pressure on delicate nerves and tissue, when you straighten up weak, inrolling feet that throw the strain of weight bearing into the outer arch. So, if you would really get at the bottom of your foot ill, by all means, see our foot comfort specialists—they will make a scientific foot analysis of your foot. Then foot comfort is absolutely assured.—Adv.

Synthetic Insecticides Hope For '43 Vegetables

FOOD LOSS DUE TO ROTENONE SHORTAGE MAY BE AVERTED BY DEVELOPMENT OF LETHANE.

If U. S. farms this summer escape an insect scourge that not only would balk the necessary 30% increase in vegetable crops but might well cut our food supply far below normal years—we can thank American chemists for their foresight and determination.

For this summer the stage is set for an invasion of bean beetles, pea aphids, cabbage loopers, leaf hoppers, worms, soldier-bugs and weevils which can devastate far more than the billion dollars' worth of vegetable crops destroyed in normal years. The stage setting consists of a serious shortage of rotenone—the toxic ingredient in imported derris or cube root—which has held these vegetable destroyers in check for the past dozen years. This crucial war year finds us with less than half of our normal year's supply of this insect-killing ammunition—the rest of it being shut off by Jap battle fleets and German submarines.

Before the war, roots containing insect-killing rotenone were largely imported from the Far Pacific, though some rotenone-bearing roots came from Brazil and Peru. Now far eastern sources are shut off by war in the Pacific, and Axis submarines have cut South American imports to less than 3,000,000 lbs.—although Brazil and Peru are harvesting the largest cube crop in their history despite labor shortages. In 1943, farm experts estimate we ought to have upwards of 6,000,000 pounds of rotenone if we are to get even "normal" harvests of cabbage, potatoes, beans, peas, turnips, cauliflower and other vegetables—so farmers are going to be 3,000,000 lbs. short.

The picture would be black were it not for the fact that American chemists had started searching for a synthetic insecticide to equal the effectiveness of natural rotenone long before the war. A group of U. S. chemists began research on this problem way back in 1926. For twelve years, in the laboratories of Rohm & Haas Company, Philadelphia, they concocted lethal brews for insects, but their efforts received scant attention from growers as long as rotenone was plentiful. But these chemists continued work till finally, in 1938 they perfected an insecticide promising enough to try out on peas, beans and other vegetables.

For years growers and agricultural authorities held firmly to the belief that you couldn't kill pea aphids and cabbage loopers, bean beetles and other insects by using insect dusts containing any less than ¾ percent to 1 perecnt rotenone. Yet, in 1938, experimenters at the Rohm & Hass farm in Bristol, Pa., found that by adding this new laboratory-made insecticide, a thiocyanate known as Lethane, they could get as effective a dust with only half the amount of rotenone normally used in dusts. For instance, on the Mexican Bean Beetle, whose taste for beans has carried him to nearly every state where beans grow, addition of 2 percent Lethane halved the needed.

Tests on these and other insect pests on various vegetable crops were then extended to experimental stations throughout the country, with essentially the same results.

These findings spell success for farmers in making scarce supplies of rotenone go twice as far. Actually, the incorporation of Lethane in insecticide dusts can replace about 3,000,000 lbs. of rotenone roots, making up for that much of the deficit in imports.

Thus is American research helping to remove serious threats to a full vegetable basket in 1943.

Livestock Production Notes

The following is a brief summary of timely livestock information prepared by the College of Agriculture according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. More detail information on feeding and production problems are available at the county agent's office in Burlington.

Hogs—It pays to raise hogs the clean way—free from worms. Healthy pigs make their gains on 20 percent less feed and are ready for market in a third less time. When hogs are worth $15.00 per hundred a litter of healthy pigs net the farmer from $75.00 to $100.00 more than a litter of wormy pigs.

Access to clean soil the first week payments anemia in young pigs. Anemia is characterized by wrinkled skin, dull listless appearance, quick breathing, rough hair, dropping ears and tail.

Slanting the floor of the farrowing house toward the door helps prevent overlaying or mashing of pigs. Feeding the sows liberally before farrowing helps to prevent many pig diseases.

Beef Cattle—Farmers who have plenty of roughage and pasture and some grain should find beef cattle profitable this year.

Sheep—Ewes should be fed to produce a good supply of milk. Plenty good legume hay and small grain pasture will supply most of the protein and mineral requirements.

The creep feeding of lambs produces better lambs with superior carcasses. Corn alone in four experiments gave faster gains on less feed and at considerable less cost than complicated grain mixtures.

There are many interesting results from experimental work in the feeding and management of livestock.

Walton-Verona Coach Called To Army

Coach Homer Lee Osborne, of Walton left Wednesday to become a member of Uncle Sam's Armed Forces. His leaving is a great blow to the Walton Bearcats, who have done admirable work under his tutelage.

A native of Walton, "Oz" graduated from Walton-Verona High School in 1938, having started his basketball career under the late Raymond Beverly, who was responsible for the success of so many local athletes.

Immediately following his graduation from high school he entered Eastern Kentucky State Teachers' College, where he continued to make a name for himself on the the basketball court. He was a member of the freshman team in '38-'39 and played on the Varsity the following three years. He was graduated from Eastern in 1942. Always a fair and sportsmanlike play, he distinguished himself many times by his brilliant playing.

This year represented Coach Osborne's first coaching assignment; and, although the Bearcats had won the regional championship last year, it was necessary for him to develop a new team—two of last year's first stringers having been lost through graduation and two to the services of Uncle Sam. One member of the present squad, Berkshire, had never played a game of basketball before this year.

Despite an uphill grind, "Oz" led his boys through a successful season. The Bearcats have played sixteen games this season, losing but three—New Haven, Dixie Heights, and Dayton. In their final game against Hebron they clinched the Boone Conference title. Twice this season they defeated the Pioneers, their tournament foes, by narrow margins.

It is with much regret that the Walton-Verona High School loses its coach, but it is confident that in his new assignment he will display the same spirit of determination and enterprise that distinguished him as a student, as an athlete and as a coach.

Early History Of Boone Co.

By A. M. Yealey

Among other early settlers of Boone County were Benjamin Stephens and two sons Leonard and John, who immigrated to Boone and what is now Kenton County from Orange Co., Va., in 1807. The father of these two boys acted as a guard against the Indians on the trip here. They came from Georgetown over the Ridge Road or what is now the Dixie Highway and located near Devon. Here they built a fine colonial brick mansion from brick of their own making. (This building was wrecked lately and a frame bungalow adorns the old site).

Benjamin Stephens, the father, had considerable experience with Indian warfare as he had previously assisted Dr. Thomas Walker in running the boundary line between Virginia and North Carolina. He carried on his horse a very short rifle with straps so he could swing it on his back. Being such a small gun, all the troops made fun of it, and Dr. Walker said to him, "We don't think much of your short gun, here is a target, see if you can hit." The target was a wild turkey 100 yards distant, high up in a tree perched on a dead limb. Stephens leaned his gun against a tree took aim at the head of the turkey and fired. The turkey fell to ground, and Dr. Walker in praise of the shot and small gun said, "If my father had risen from the dead, and told me he could kill that turkey with that short gun, I would not have believed it."

John was the older of the two boys and lived on the Ridge Road. (L. D. Rennecker owns the farm at present.) He took a great interest in the development of Florence and owned land at the Junction of the Ridge Road and the Union pike and gave one-fourth of an acre of ground for the purpose of erecting a Christian Church, and with the help of others he erected a frame building on this land. For some reason two old ladies became angry at some of the members and burned it to the ground. However, this did not deter Mr. Stephens as he and his wife made a deed for this same one-fourth acre in 1842 to the trustees of the Church and the present brick structure was built.

The writer visited his burial ground and found this on his tombstone, "In memory of John Stephens, born in Orange County, Va., March 2nd, 1785, died in Boone County, Ky., May 4th 1856, age 71 years, 2 months and 12 days."

Mr. Stephens was united in marriage to Francis Faulconer, who preceded him in death having passed away April 22, 1842.

Mr. John Stephens was the father of Benjamin Stephens, who was at one time County Judge of our County and also represented Boone County in the General Assembly of Kentucky, during the Taylor and Goble controversy at the State Capitol, Frankfort, Ky.

The life work of Leonard, a brother of John will be given in the next chapter. Although he lived in what is now Kenton County, yet at that time was Campbell, and the boundary line was near Devon. The last two years of his life was spent in Boone County.

BUSY DAYS AHEAD FOR HOMEMAKERS

Busy days are head for Kentucky farm homemakers, with larger gardens and more chickens being requested by Uncle Sam. In addition, many women will be taking the places of men in the fields. With these things in mind, home economists at the College of Agriculture and Home Economics suggest that now is the time to get certain jobs out of the way. Men folks are less busy now and they can help with some of them.

Heading the list are repairs and improvements to lighten the homemaker's work. Windows that stick, doors that won't latch, floor boards or linoleum that need repairing, and drawers that refuse to pull out are annoyances that can easily be taken care of. A bigger and important job might be the building of convenient kitchen cabinets, or the rearrangement of kitchen equipment to save steps.

Other things to check off the list include the repairing of furniture, doing inside painting and putting garden tools in good condition. A large garden space must be planned for and plans made to plant seeds at various times to avoid a peak load at canning time.

AIRPORT ROAD PLANS READY

MACHINERY WILL BE PUT IN MOTION AS SOON AS AIRPORT CONTRACT HAS BEEN AWARDED—SURVEYS COMPLETED.

Construction of a new road from Dixie Highway to the proposed airport near Hebron, Boone county will be started by the Kentucky Highway Department as soon as the airport contract has been awarded, it was announced Monday.

Survey for the four-mile roadway, beginning at the Dixie Highway and following over Commonwealth avenue, in Erlanger, to the airport site, has been completed. Construction work probably will get under way within ten days after letting of the contract for the airport, it was believed.

The highway will have a 22-foot pavement, and grade work is to make it possible for the pavement to be widened to at least 30 feet later, which would provide a three-lane highway.

Bids for the airport construction work were received from 22 contracts by the Civil Aeronautics Administration office in Chicago last Friday. They are being tabulated and a contract is expected to be awarded this week.

The airport project is a $2,235,000 undertaking. Five months will be allowed the contractor to complete its construction. The highway will be completed before the airport is ready for use, it was reported.

OPA Point Value Tables Can Be Obtained At Various Post Offices

Mrs. Dils, Public Relation officer of Ration Board No. 8, announces that all retail grocers may get official OPA tables of point values, used in point system on rationing processed foods from their local Post Office.

It is advised that simple "point arithmetic" will assist in the budgeting of the family point allowances. Point values are high and unless caution is exercised, some housewives will use their 48 points per person faster than they realize.

All persons in the Armed Forces are requested to send their ration Book 1 in to the local board at Walton, as are those who are deceased to be sent by some relative.

Engagement Announced

The engagement of Miss Helen Mae Flora, of Covington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jump, of Taylor Mill Pike, to Pvt. BOONE CO. TEAMS ARE ELIMINATED

IN TOURNAMENT HELD AT NEWPORT — HOLMES DEFEATS WALTON; DIXIE HEIGHTS DEFEATS HEBRON.

Covington Holmes eliminated Walton from the regional tournament Thursday night when they emerged on the long end of 46-33 count, and Dixie Heights turned back the Hebron five by a score of 34-28.

Covington, centering the entire defense against the high scoring Demoisey, overcame an early Walton lead and had little difficulty after the first quarter. The quarter scores were 8-8, 18-14, and 32-23. Charley Leistner, hit the hoop for 14 points, while holding Demoisey to 13 points for the Walton Bearcats.

Hebron gave the highly-favored Dixie Heights Little Colonels a scare before the Colonels won out. Hebron trailed, 6-2, at the quarter and 11-10 at the half, but passed the Colonels midway in the third quarter, leading the Dixie quint, 17-16. Dixie regained the lead by the end of the third period, holding a margin of 24-17 at that time. The winners went on to decision the Hebronites despite a determined rally by the losers. Cady with 14 points was high for the winners, while Getker was high for the losers with 8, with Hogan and Witham collecting seven each for Hebron.

Once again it is possible for men of draft age to volunteer for service in the SEABEES, the Naval Construction Regiment. Men from eighteen to thirty-eight years of age may now volunteer at the Covington Recruiting Station, and, if found professionally qualified, be assigned a Petty Officer rating in the SEABEES. All such men must still pass through the induction center as formerly, but are now assured of obtaining enlistment in the SEABEES.

Seventeen-year-olds and men of thirty-eight to fifty years are also desired, but do not have to go through the induction procedure.

Here is an excellent opportunity for qualified men, especially those whose induction is to occur in the near future, to obtain a Petty Officer rating in this specialized branch of the Naval Service. Any men desiring more information on this may call at the Covington Recruiting Station and receive all the particulars.

The bride wore pale blue crepe and a shoulder corsage of white gardenias, the maid of honor wore old rose with a pink carnation corsage.

A reception followed the ceremony for the guests who were the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Siekman and brothers Donald and Denver Siekman, Rev. and Mrs. E. S. Caldwell, of Rising Sun, Ind., the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Kruse, her brother John Kruse, sisters Misses Julia and June Kruse, Mrs. Virginia Lucas and son, of Erlanger, Mrs. Mildred Smith and children, of Belleview, and Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hodges, of Rising Sun.

TRACTOR MACHINERY SAVES MUCH LABOR

How tractors help farmers to get their work done is revealed in a study which the farm economics department of the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics made in the Lower Ohio Valley area of the state.

On a farm of 115 acres of tillable land, tractor-powered machinery, used in place of horse machinery, saves 60 days of labor in a year. On a 120-acre farm, tractor-drawn machinery saves 10 days of labor in May and June, and 15 days in September and October. Where combines were used, still greater savings were made.

Tractors helped out most in corn growing, being used in breaking the ground, in cultivating, and to pull a corn-picker. Disking is another job where tractors are highly efficient, it was found.

Combines for harvesting grain, grass and legume seed crops were found to be great labor-savers. In harvesting 12 acres of barley, a combine saved four days over the use of a binder and threshing machine.

Another machine helpful in saving labor, especially in growing alfalfa, is the pick-up hay baler. It is particularly valuable for handling the first crop of alfalfa, which comes in a rush season.

Since few new machines are for sale, and since many of the machines already on Kentucky farms are not used to capacity, three possibilities exist for greater use of these machines and the obtaining of greater production from the labor on those farms. First, hire the more-important labor-saving machines. Second, purchase an interest in a labor-saving machine already on a farm in your community but not being fully used. Third, and most important, swap labor, teams and horse-drawn machines for the needed labor-saving power machinery.

MEAT PROGRAM PLAN ANNOUNCED

THREE PHASES OF PROGRAM TO PREVENT BLACK MARKET OPERATIONS ANNOUNCED—EFFECTIVE MARCH 31.

Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard today announced three phases of a national meat management program designed to prevent black market operations, to obtain adequate supplies of meat for direct war needs, and to secure the necessary control over the supply of meat so that it can be fairly distributed through consumer rationing.

The three orders issued require:

(1) All livestock slaughterers who sell meat, including farmers and local butchers, to operate under a slaughter permit system, and, as an aid to enforcement, to stamp their permit number at least once on each wholesale cut;

(2) All livestock dealers to obtain permits to buy and sell livestock and to keep complete records of their operations (Farmers are not required to obtain dealer permits but they are asked to keep records of their purchases and sales);

(3) All slaughterers operating under Federal inspection to set aside for war uses designed percentages of their production.

The permit orders become effective after midnight March 31. The set aside order becomes effective immediately.

Butchers and slaughterers also were warned against unduly large slaughter between now and the date the slaughter permit order becomes effective. Slaughterings are limited by the present Meat Restriction Order of the Office of Price Administration, and any excess slaughter will be deducted from the new quotas to be set up.

The new orders are designed to provide closer control over the slaughter of livestock and sale of meat so that black market operations can be stamped out and all meat brought into legitimate channels of trade where it will be available for war needs and for rationing among the civilian population.

The Secretary called upon livestock producers, packers, dealers, health authorities, local law enforcement officials, and consumers to help in eliminating the illegal slaughtering, selling, and distribution of meats. The Secretary further stated that responsible citizens will be asked to form city and town meat committees to aid in the administration of the program.

"The new measures will not be a cure-all for the defects in the present meat situation," Secretary Wickard said. "They are a part of the total meat management program which will include consumer rationing, enforcement of retail ceilings on meat products, the dollars-and-cents ceiling prices for pork announced this morning by the OPA to become effective April 1, and other measures that will be found necessary from time to time."

1943 Live At Home Program Of Greatest Importance

The 1943 "Live at Home" or "Grow Your Own Food in 1943 Program" is of greatest importance this year, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Three hundred seventy-one neighborhood leaders began work this week supplying "Live at Home" information to their neighbors and are cooperating in an important war service.

It will not be a difficult job to convince every rural family that they should:

1. Milk—Have two cows, one spring freshening and one fall freshening.

2. Poultry—A small flock of chickens—with five laying pullets per person in the family.

3. A good garden that will supply 21 servings a week throughout the year.

4. Where possible, have 200 strawberry plants, 100 raspberry plants, 12 fruit trees and 10 grape vines to supply the family of five fruit needs.

Such a program has three outstanding features—it is patriotic, economical, and healthful.

It will not be so difficult under the present and prospective food rationing program to convince rural people they should carry such a program. The great difficulty will be in carrying out in a workman like manner such a program after it is planned. The County Agricultural and Home Extension Services are ready to advise with rural people not only on their production but on the preservation and storage of food products after they are produced.

BIG BONE BAPTIST W. M. S.

On Thursday, March 11, the Big Bone Baptist W. M. S. met at the church for their regular March meeting and Season of Prayer. The regular meeting opened with song, 'All Hail The Power."

Devotion, "Noah" brought from Ez. 14:12-14, Gen. 8:5-20; 9:12-15, by Mrs. Huff, who followed with prayer. Watchwords were then repeated. Our new secertary, Mrs. Harry Rouse began her new duties by reading the minutes of last meeting, treasurer's report and roll call. After the business session and reports of chairman, Mrs. Gruelle led in special prayer for shut-ins.

Mrs. Rouse read a farewell note from Mrs. K. Aylor to the members of the society, which touched each of our hearts. Mrs. Orin Edwards and Mrs. Tom Huff brought readings from Royal Service on "The Christian Witness in American Democracy." We were then dismissed with prayer and thanks for the noon lunch by Mrs. Ella Rouse.

Season of Prayer was opened in the afternoon with song, "I Love To Tell The Story." Mrs. Gruelle delivered the devotional from Rom. 10:15-14; Isa. 65:24; Acts, 4:31; Heb. 11;6; and led in prayer.

Theme of the week was "Entrusted With the Gospel in America." Those bringing the program were Mrs. James Aylor, Mrs. Myrtie Adams, Mrs. Harry Rouse, Mrs. Orin Edwards, Mrs. Tom Huff.

The April meeting will be held on the second Thursday at the church.

QUARANTINE PLACED ON DOGS

IN PETERSBURG PRECINCT FOLLOWING REPORT ON HEAD OF DOG KILLED LAST WEEK—IS OFFICIAL ORDER.

Dr. M. A. Yelton, health officer of Boone County placed a quarantine on all dogs in the Petersburg precinct this week, following a report from the College of Agriculture, Experiment Station, stating that the head of a dog killed at Petersburg last week and sent to the laboratory had proved positive for rabies.

Persons owning dogs should either confine, muzzle, or place their pets on a leash, according to Dr. Yelton. This is an official order by the health officer and the Boone County Court, and anyone violating this notice are subject to heavy penalty.

Any person who had handled the dog which was killed in Petersbur, or who had been bitten by same should contact their physician and receive the anti-toxin immediately.

Quarantine of dogs in this neighborhood may prevent spread of rabies throughout the county, Dr. Yelton stated.

OPA Places Ceiling On Used Machinery

Regulation No. 133 places a ceiling price on five types of used farm machinery, namely farm tractors (except crawler tractors), combines and hay balers. The maximum price is 85 percent of the list published manufacturers list price if it is over one year old.

The regulation applies to dealers, farmers and auctioneers.

A copy of these regulations has been posted in the county agent's office, Burlington.

Utopia Club Committee To Meet At Burlington Tuesday, March 23rd

A special meeting of the program planning committee of the Boone County Utopia Club, together with various precinct co-workers appointed at the regular meeting in February, will be held Tuesday night at the courthouse in Burlington.

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 8:00 p. m. (E. W. T.) and all officers, committee members and committee program chairmen are urged to attend.

LEADERS URGED TO ATTEND MEETINGS

The County Nutrition Committee urges the attendance of all neighborhood leaders at community meetings being held by the extension agents in the interest of the Live-at-Home foods program, according to H. M. Hauter, County Chairman.

FRUIT GROWERS URGED TO SPRAY

CROPS IN ORDER TO PRODUCE NEEDED HIGH QUALITY FRUIT —SCHEDULES ARE AVAILABLE AT COUNTY OFFICE.

Fruit growers should spray their crops to produce needed high quality fruit, according to W. W. Magill in addressing Boone County fruit growers in two meetings last Tuesday.

Scab is the apple growers greatest production problem in this section. Two lime sulphur sprays, a pre-pink and pink are the most important scab sprays. A weak full bloom Bordeaux, a petal fall and a cover spray two weeks later are the minimum spray that should be applied.

Prospects for good peach crops were found on the farms of Frank L. McGlasson and C. L. Hempfling, of Constance. A leaf curl spray consisting of either lime-surphur or bordeaux and oil should be applied before the buds begin to swell.

Norman Herbstreit, of Constance and William Moore, of Hebron, both commercial grape growers report good prospects for a grape crop.

Recommended fruit spray schedules are available at the county agent's office.

HE SPEAKS FROM THE HEART

Captain Eddie Rickenbacker is stating some blunt truths that both labor and political leaders have carefully dodged. Captain Rickenbacker has been saying what the public has been thinking—"Unity must begin by setting an example of unity, 'equality of sacrifice' must honestly mean sacrifice by all, not sacrifice by the many for the financial and political advantage of the few." The efforts of Captain Rickenbacker's critics to undermine public respect for his opinions are as futile as the efforts of children to hold back the tide with their sand dams on the ocean beach.

ACTION, NOT HOT AIR, NEEDED

Colonel Paul Logan of the U. S. Army Quartermaster Corps, has said that: "Every person working in the food industry is just as important to this war effort as any person working in ammunition or airplane factories . . . Their services could not be dispensed with if we are to hope to win this war."

In spite of such opinions from men in authority, the distribution industry has been bedeviled by red tape, confusing directives, loss of vital employes to "assential" war industries, and other handicaps too numerous to mention. Notwithstanding official comment, the distribution industry is far from being included in an integrated civilian supply program. The latest proof of this was the announcement by selective service officials that war work rather than dependency would determine deferments. Workers were advised to get an "essential" job. Consternation spread through every retail establishment. Vital employes began looking for "essential" jobs. They were not told that distribution of necessities is as essential as building ships.

The retail distribution industry is doing everything within its power to ease the plight of consumers suffering from the blight of shortages. It is doing everything within its power to efficiently carry out the controls and restrictions imposed by the government. Proprietors spend long hours figuring out rules written by lawyers which other lawyers cannot interpret.

The task of the merchants can be made infinitely easier and the welfare of all of us will be immeasurably improved if the essential character of retail distribution is recognized without further delay.

WHY MORE COMMITTEES?

A proposal has just been made in the House of Representatives to establish a new standing committee on aviation. There is about as much sense in that as in advocating a new standing committee on railroad transportation, in addition to the Interstate Commerce Commission, or a new standing committee on labor, in addition to existing agencies.

What this country needs is fewer committees with fewer uninformed persons on them, and consolidation of many existing committees. The Washington Post points out that arguments in favor of a new committee of this kind are weak—that tying it up with the problem of international airways is getting the cart before the horse, as the President will deal with such international matters subject to senatorial ratification.

The Post further points out that the existing Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce which includes aviation, has long handled that subject well. No committee chairman is more hard working, more impartial and less sensitive to pressuring than Representative Clarence F. Lea. "Representative Lea's committee," says the Post, "has played a notable part in the development of aviation. It has been so consistently in the lead that its members may be properly described as aviation pioneers and trail blazers."

The Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce began its study of aviation in 1923. This resulted in the Air Commerce Act of 1926. From that time until the passage of the Civil Aeronautics Act in 1938, the Committee was progressively pushing economic research and regulation of the aviation industry. Since then its handling of aviation problems, and the coordination of our air transport resources with our armed services, has been phenomenal.

The present attempt to promote a new committee to tamper with aviation is just another example of political tinkering such as is creating waste and confusion in many lines of industry, and thereby hampering rather than aiding the war effort.

NO ACT OF GOD

No tales of fuel shortage have been brought back from the fighting fronts. In spite of disruptions in the transport system and the loss of priceless oil fields to the enemy in various parts of the world, together with shattering changes in production methods, the oil industry has managed to produce the gas and lubricants needed by the armed forces. Not a single tank, plane, ship or truck has failed to move for lack of fuel. This fact should give comfort to every citizen, for oil is vital to victory. And the American oil industry has proven that it is equal to the demands of military necessity.

Increased output of 100 octane gasoline stirred Secretary of the Interior Ickes to remark: "I wish that I might make public, as a tribute to your industry, the present production of 100 octane, because it represents a near miracle, the proportions of which cannot, unfortunately, be appreciated by anyone who does not understand the intricacy of the refinery equipment which is necessary and the complications of process involved."

It was an act of God which gave our nation her vast oil reserves. But no act of God makes that oil available for our use. The latter was done solely through the efforts of men who dared to take risks, men who strove to build and to produce under the stimulant of possible profit. They were encouraged in their activities by a Government and a people with boundless faith in the competence of individuals. The performance of the oil industry in time of national emergency has justified their faith. It was built by individuals.

OUR LORD'S INTERCESSORY PRAYER

LESSON TEXT—John 17:1-8, 18-26.
GOLDEN TEXT — "Holy Father, keep through thine own name those whom thou hast given me, that they may be one, as we are."—John 17:11.

There are some times and places so sacred that one is instinctively hushed into reverent devotion. When Christ prayed in holy intercession (as recorded in John 17) on the night before His suffering His disciples must have been lifted into the very presence of the Eternal One. It was a holy experience.

He prayed for Himself, but even more did He pray for His believing followers. To know that someone is praying for us is indeed an anchor in a time of storm, a strong help in the hour of conflict or of service for Christ.

But to know that the Master prayed for you and me—that is enough to send us, like the disciples of old, out to face an unbelieving world in His conquering name. He prayed for Himself—and He prayed for me!

I. He Prayed for Himself (vv. 1-8).

He looked up and said: "Father," and then He was ready to pray. So close was He to God that there was just this simple recognition of their communion. In Christ are we not as close as He?

What did Jesus ask for Himself? At first thought it seems a little unusual that He asked

1. For Recognition of His Divine Glory (vv. 1-5).

Why would He who had just given the disciples an example of and an admonition to humility desire to have His glory manifested? Be sure it was not a matter of selfish pride. He had finished His work (for He counted redemption as complete throughout His prayer), and now the glory which He laid down when He came to earth (Phil. 2:6-8) was to be resumed.

He wants man to see Him now not only as the compassionate Son of man, but the glorious Son of God, able to save. It is right that the glory of Christ should be magnified and recognized by the whole creation. He is worthy!

2. For the Manifestation of His Grace (vv. 6-8).

The Father had given Christ the heart devotion of those who believed in Him. Note that their faith rested on the name of God (v. 6), and upon His Word which had come to them and to us through Christ.

He recognized their position and standing in Him and established it before God and man. He then prayed for them (read vv. 9-17) that they might be kept in an evil world as a testimony to the grace and power of God in the human heart.

This leads to His intercession for all believers.

II. He Prayed for All Believers (vv. 18-26).

Christians are not simply the avowed adherents to a particular form of belief, they are "sent" ones. As the Father sent Him into the world, "even so send I them into the world," said Christ.

Christ has gone to be with the Father, but He has left those who believe in Him as His witnesses, His representatives. For this they need holiness. He prayed:

1. For Their Consecration (vv. 18, 19).

For their sakes He consecrated Himself. Surely if He needed it, we do far more. It is not only His will for us, but His prayer. How wonderfully that prayer was answered we see as we look back over the intervening 19 centuries, from His immediate disciples on through the martyrs, the missionary pioneers of all ages, the faithful preachers and teachers of the gospel, yes and "livers" of the gospel too. He knew, He prayed, God answered. Are you in that blessed host of consecrated believers?

2. For Their Unity and Glory (vv. 20-26).

There is a refreshing simplicity about the Christian faith which is utterly different from all the complications which man has prepared and superimposed upon it. Essentially it is a matter of God having sent His Son into the world to be the Redeemer of men. He and the Father are one, He and His followers are one, and so we are all one. We who today believe are included (read vv. 20-23).

This is an inward unity of the Spirit, not an outward union of organizations. The answer to our difficulty is not the dissolution of denominations (although there do seem to be far too many subdivisions, too), but the uniting of all groups in a oneness of love and devotion to Christ, and a united emphasis on the gospel.

There is something more here. This unity puts Christ's followers into the place where His glory may be revealed in and upon them. It is His prayer that we should behold in our Saviour the glory which God had given Him because He loved Him before the foundation of the world.

Money Talks

By FREDERICK W. STAUDT, Economist, Director of Adult Education, UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

The United States Treasury will begin its second major fund drive of the War April 12 with a minimum goal of $13,000,000,000. This is not only the greatest financing campaign in the history of our country, but the greatest financial campaign attempted by any country in the world.

This War Drive should be oversubscribed considering the financial condition of this country. The farmers are making more money than ever before. Hogs recently sold as high as $16 on the Chicago market; wheat is currently quoted at $1.49 a bushel; corn at $1.00, and oats at 60 cents.

Labor is receiving the highest wages in history. The price of stocks and bonds has gone up rapidly the past several months, and dividends are at a fairly high level. In fact, there are few people who do not have more money today than they have had for the past decade.

In addition to these facts, we cannot buy consumer goods, automobiles, washing machines, etc.) due to restrictions, as we could several years ago.

Where can we invest our money with more security than in government bonds? A planned program of buying government bonds, say one a month, is one of the best ways to accumulate an investment for old age. An $18.75 bond bought today will amount to $25 in ten years. If you take this $25 and reinvest it in bonds, you would again accumulate interest over the years. Now suppose you buy one $18.75 bond each month, or one every two months—this would mean a monthly income at the time you may need it when wages and agriculture prices are not so high.

Or you may be planning for a new house after the War. How can you better save for this than thru the purchase of war bonds? Or you may need a new automobile, a new washing machine, or a new tractor. Why not plan ahead and use war bonds as a means of saving up for these commodities? Your principal is same and you are earning interest every day. You are not only investing in the soundest security in America, but you are aiding the democracies in attaining ultimate victory.

THIS IS ONE CAMPAIGN THAT CANNOT FAIL. BE PROUD TO DO YOUR SHARE.

About four million British families now grow their own vegetables.

Bronze medals will continue to go to servicemen cited for bravery or efficiency, but reduction in copper material for insignia and apparel of the armed forces will save more copper than the amount used in medals.

A Week of The War

Washington, March 12—A comparitive lull pervaded in southern Tunisia last week after the British Eight Army's decisive defeat of Rommel before the Mareth Line. But although land operations subsided somewhat, the Eighth Army increased its air patrol operations, attacking enemy tanks and motor transports which were retreating to the shelter of the Line.

In northern Tunisia, the British First Army contacted General Von Arnim's forces in the region of Sed Jenane, and twice during the week stopped the Axis attacks cold. Von Arnim has made heavy sacrifices in trying to budge the British from the northern end of the Allied line, but his gains have been minor.

In central and southwestern Tunisia, other Allied gains were scored. General Jacques Leclerc's French forces, advancing into Tunisia from the direction of the Mareth Line, effected a union with some of General Giraud's troops and occupied Tozeur, on the northwestern shore of Chott Dferid Salt Lake, and later Metlaoui, an important rail and road center from which to strike at Gafsa.

Air Combat In Tunisia

Air activity, though restricted by weather, continued over the entire line—Allied planes attacked enemy airfields near Tunis, carried out offensive patrols in the northern and central sectors, destroyed a number of Axis vehicles and planes in the Sed Jenane region, and attacked targets at Gafsa in the south. Discussing air combat in Tunisia, Secretary of War Stimson said Allied planes continue to show "gratifying superiority," and pointed to last week's score of 58 enemy planes down at a loss of 31 Allied craft. In one day, he said, flying fortresses and Lockheed lightnings without loss shot down 17 enemy planes, while 2 German planes collided and crashed into the sea.

Stimson Reveals Tunisian Casualties

In the same press conference, Secretary Stimson set at 2,242 American casualties suffered in Tunisia in the week of February 14 to 20—the period of the Allies' retreat toward the Algerian border and their initial counterattack. This included 59 killed, 176 wounded and 2,007 missing, presumably taken prisoner. Losses during the past month have been substantial for both sides, he said, but the Allies have probably fared better than the enemy, as more than 1,000 Germans and Italians were taken prisoners during the month, and over 100 enemy tanks were captured and destroyed.

American Raids On Europe

Good results have also been clocked up by American planes in their daylight attacks on Axis-held Europe. In one day's raids against Rennes and Rouen in Brittany, U. S. bombers downed more than 20 Axis fighter planes with a loss of only four of the bombers, and Allied fighters, escorting the bombers on their missions, accounted for five more.

Play Safe, Son!

Don't Fly Your Kite Near a Power Line

KITE FLYING is great fun but danger lurks when kites are flown near power lines. Many a child has lost his life by using wire for a kite string or climbing a pole to get a tangled kite. Don't take any chances. Play safe by following these suggestions:

Rules for Safe Kite Flying

1. Do not use wire or metallic kite string.
2. Do not fly your kite with wet string or in damp weather.
3. Do not use metal kite sticks.
4. Do not climb poles to get tangled kites.
5. Do not poke sticks at tangled kites or try to pull them down by their tails.
6. Fly your kites in open fields away from power lines and busy highways.

If your kite becomes caught in electric wires, call our office. We know how to remove it without endangering anyone or causing a service interruption.

TO PVT. G. S. ATHA

One night when Pvt. G. S. A.
Put down his hoes to hit the hay,
Like lightning through his mind did pass,
The memories of his days gone past.
Of Dad back home behind the plows,
And little brother milk cows,
Of dear old Mom and sisters too,
All helping him to see it through.
So Mr. Pvt. G. S. A.
As you journey on your way,
Remember God, and those back home,
And you'll never, never feel alone.
How proud is he in there,
And Uncle Sam's burdens help to share;
And when this cruel war is done,
God bless him and return our son.

His sister, Mrs. Alfred Robbins

The following letter from Tallahassee, Fla., was written by L. Wooley, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Moore, Sr., of Hill Top:

"Hello Everyone:

"Received your letter dated March 3 and was very glad to hear from you. How is everybody? Hope well and feeling fine. Everything down here in Florida is fine, including myself. The weather is very warm. On Xmas Day of last year it was 92 degrees in the shade so you can guess what we are going to have to put up with this summer. However, they say the temperature has never went higher than 107.

"Four weeks of basic training was all we had to take. I think Army life is great and enjoy it very much. The food is very good. In the four months I have been in the army we have had beans only four times. We have fried chicken every Sunday and there is variety in the meals thru the week. We do not use mess kits to eat in, but we eat in the mess hall.

"We get up each morning at 6 o'clock, start to work at 8:00 and work until 1 o'clock. From 11 to 12 o'clock we exercise and drill; start back to work at 1 o'clock and work until 5:00. We have the rest of the day off. We get one day off each week. Today is my day off so I thought I would answer your letter before going into town.

"We have a theatre on the base, two PX's where we can get most anything, a Day Room where we write letters, read, play ping pong, etc. There are also three theatres in town. I have seen only 63 shows since I have been in the army. Of these, fifty I have seen this year.

"I suppose the farmers are going to find it hard to get help this spring and summer with the army taking more and more every day, but maybe a solution to the problem can be worked out whereby the farmers can secure help.

"It sure makes me want to go right over to Germany after Hitler when I think of all the human lives, horses, dogs and other animals that are being taken as a result of the destructive thoughts of one or two men.

"It sure is great to be an American, for I agree with Bub Goodridge that we don't know the blessings we have, that is why everyone must realize the importance of the outcome of this war and do everything within their power toward the winning of this war. There is no doubt in my mind that we wont win and I think the time is near.

"I am working in the laboratory at the base and I enjoy the work very much. At present I am in E very much. I worked in the blood department for two months before coming to this department.

"Florida is sure a nice state. We have plenty of pine trees and spanish moss down here. There are planty palm trees and wild species of ferns and other wild flowers. Mother Nature is at her best in Florida.

"I guess I will close for now but will write again soon. You do the same as I am always glad to receive letters from my friends. Say hello to all for me.

"With my best

"Littly"

It was Jean Parker's talent for painting that originally launched her on her screen career. The petite star, who appears in "Hi Neighbor," Republic picture, won a poster contest and through the contacts made in this manner she became a model. Film stardom was but one step from her modeling career.

"Girl Trouble," 20th Century-Fox's sparkling romantic comedy starring Don Ameche and Joan Bennett, is the first motion picture to use dimmed-out Manhattan as a background.

TUESDAY
Double Feature
One of the longest scenes ever to be a part of any screen comedy was filmed for "Moonlight Masquerade," the Republic laugh hit co-starring Dennis O'Keefe and Jane Frazee. It lasted over four minutes and covered six pages of the screenplay.

On rare occasions some scenes have been known to last seven, eight, or even nine minutes—but all of these were for pictures of a "dramatic" nature. The length of an average scene is less than a single minute!

Plus
Mona Maris and Martin Kosleck, who earned high praise for their performances as a Nazi official and his secretary in "Underground" last year are teamed again in similar roles in "Berlin Correspondent."

Heading the cast are Virginia Gilmore and Dana Andrews. The film was produced by Bryan Foy and directed by Eugene Forde from an original screenplay by Jack Andrews and Steve Fisher.

In England it has been estimated that one efficient man or woman, averaging four hours a day working in a "Digging for Victory" garden, can produce more than $100 worth of food in a year.

The dies used by the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing Company of Chicago in building the nation's first streamlined trains are being scrapped for metal.

Iron slugs, weighing 95 pounds each, shot into a mountain side near the Picatiny Arsenal, New Jersey, in testing munitions explosions, were being duge out for scrap.

Present production of shoes in Britain is sufficient for 1¾ pairs of shoes, including sports and house shoes, per person per year.

Care Of The Feet

N. TULCH

Foot Comfort Specialist at—

PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE

814-816 Madison, Covington

The human body, a wonderful structure of energy and beauty and, like an architectural structure, depends primarily on the strength of its foundation—the feet.

The feet are the most overworked part of the body, and functioning under unfavorable conditions, usually results in (1) weakening, (2) impairment and (3) discomfort.

Facts — Ninety per cent of all people in the country suffer from some kind of foot trouble, and many of them suffer all their lives without knowing the source of their ailments.

Just think, the skeleton or frame work of the human foot contains 26 bones. (A person's foot contains more than one-fourth of the two hundred bones in the entire human frame). When the bones become abnormally positioned as when the metatarsel bones or arches drop, it affects other component parts of the foot such as muscles, ligaments, tendons and nerves.

When you step on a hose it pinches it, and the flood water is stopped at the point of pressure.

The same applies when a bone is pressing on the blood vessels that traverse the foot. When pains are the result of this pressure, they can and should be relieved.

Always remember this, painful feet interfere with one's work, discourage the exercise so vital to health, and spoil life's pleasures. —Adv.

This Week On The Home Front

What's the war going to do to the Monday morning wash day in the old homestead? Well, the washing will go on in just about the way it always has there will be a few changes, but not very many.

The armed forces are going to get most of the $46,000,000 worth of commercial laundry machinery that will be produced this year—and when you consider that they are going to buy 48 million pairs of socks in the next 6 months, you can see that they need the equipment.

There won't be any new washing machines or mangles this year, but there will be repair parts for the old machines and there will always be a wash board, although it may not be of metal. Glass now faces many a wash board. Hand wringers have changed, but the new ones, with only 9 pounds of metal in them still separate the clothing from the water. Galvanized and painted metal water pails and wash tubs are being released and manufacture of them is on the up-grade again.

Borax, washing soda, and salsoda are still available for softening hard water, the soap supply probably will be ample, and sunlight will still whiten fabrics if bleaches are found not to be so readily obtainable. Several types of bluing are in unrestricted production. Starch is available in as large quantities as ever.

Clothes lines are still to be had, but pulley will be of wood. Ironing boards and ironing board covers are in stock; cotton padding is abundant.

The supply of new electric irons is diminishing and the old fashioned irons are coming back.

Late last week, the secretary of agriculture authorized the OPA to institute rationing of meats, edible fats and oils (including butter), cheese, and canned fish on or before April 1.

Thus the people take another step forward in assuring a fair distribution of the available food supply. The per-capita supply of these foods in 1943 will be just about that of the period from 1935 through 1939. Weekly rations of meat for individual consumers is expected to be in the vicinity of 2 pounds weekly—more or less—to start.

Not rationed are fresh and frozen fish, poultry and game, unblendid olive oil, soft or perishable cheese.

• • •

Reserve automobiles, trucks and trailers may not be stripped to supply parts for emergency use.

• • •

WPB hopes that 95 million gross tons of ore can be brought down the Great Lakes this season. This is about 3 million more tons than moved in last year's record-breaking season.

• • •

The inland waterways need more sailors.

• • •

American women will save an estimated $50,000,000 a year in their hosiery bill as a result of reductions from 5 to 40 cents per pair for rayon stockings, announced by the OPA. For instance, 45-gauge, full fashioned type rayons now selling at $1 and $1.15 a pair, will be sold April 15 at from 81 to 92 cents a pair.

Regional OPA offices may adjust the maximum price of any seller of fresh lettuce, spinach, carrots, green beans, snap beans, tomatoes and cabbage when the ceiling is higher or lower than others generally prevailing in the area and likely to disrupt normal distribution.

• • •

The OPA is going to stop certain wholesalers who have used various dodges to pay creameries higher prices for butter than the legal ceiling permitted.

• • •

Peas, beans and lentils when bought exclusively for use as seed, are exempt from the processed foods rationing program and do not require point stamps or ration certificates, provided they are legally labelled as seeds, the OPA has decided.

• • •

Shark steaks are being added to the nation's menu. The soupfin shark is the victim, and the keppered flesh, especially, has a delicate flavor not unlike that of smoked salmon. The steaks are so good that the demand for them has driven the Seattle price from 4½ cents a pound dressed, to 8 cents a pound.

• • •

The Victory Hour, official radio program of the High School Victory Corps, is on the air Tuesdays at 3 p. m. EWT, over more than 100 Blue Network stations. Next week's program (March 23) is entitled "A Victory Corps in Action."

• • •

Hotel operators and owners are feeling the pinch of manpower and material shortages to such an extent that WPB is studying plans to assure continued operation of the country's hotels for the duration without curtailing essential services.

• • •

Landlords of tourist cabins, auto courts, cabin camps and similar establishments are now required to offer such living accommodations at monthly rates in addition to daily and weekly rates. OPA expects this action to correct the existing situation whereby defense workers who use the cabins as their permanent homes are paying rent many times greater than the maximum rents for comparable dwelling units.

• • •

Further clarification of the OPA shoe ration order reveals that the following types of shoes are not rationed: sueded sheepskin or kipskin uppers; men's house slippers with leather soles; women's house slippers with fabric uppers; leather-topped lumberman's 'overs.'

• • •

More than 42,317,000 copies of informational publications and press releases of the federal government have been eliminated in adjusting government information operations to wartime needs.

• • •

The OPA denies a widespread report that it has placed a ban on civic club luncheon meetings and club suppers at which food is served.

LAMBS SELL BEST MAY 15-JUNE 10TH

Kentucky lambs sell best from about May 15 to June 10, according to a study which the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington made of prices paid on four of the principal auction markets in central Kentucky. However, more lambs are sold in June and July, when prices are steadily going down, than in May, when prices are highest. After May, as a rule, the later the sale the lower the price.

One reason why the average price of lambs goes down after mid-June is the fact that receipts later in the season contain a larger proportion of lower-quality lambs. The average price declines more rapidly than the price of better-quality lambs.

In some seasons lamb prices follow a somewhat different course, and the peak fails to come from May 15 to June 10. Those years, however, are the exception and not the rule. Those farmers who have their lambs ready to sell in late May or early June year after year hit the market right more often than they miss.

Lambs weighing between 76 and 84 pounds bring higher prices than lambs of other weights regardless of time of sale. Eighty-pound lambs sold in May bring the highest price. Average weight of lambs declines, as a result, as the season progresses. For lambs of any given average weight, the value per head declines from month to month throughout the season, following closely the decline in price per pound.

In the past seven months, nine cars of phosphate have been received in Harrison county.

KENTUCKY POULTRY FLOCKS PROFITABLE

Reports from county agriculturaland home agents indicate that Kentucky poultrymen are successfully increasing production. About 35 dozen eggs a week from her flock of 100 hens was reported by Mrs. Noah Hardison of Adair county. The flock is comfortably housed in a Kentucky shed-roof type laying house 18 feet square and is fed on laying mash, yellow corn milk,oyster shell and water. It is estimated that the total cost of the feed is not over half the income received. An increase in production from five or six to 50 eggs a day was the experience of Mrs. Lee Smither of Shelby county when she started giving her chickens warm water instead of cold When the water is cold the hens drink only three gallons a day, but warmed, they more than double the amount. Mrs. Smither culled her flock to 85 hens, confines them in the henhouse, keeps feed before them and turns the lights on at 4 o'clock in the morning.

With laying, corn ground limestone and plenty of clean water before her flock of 140 white leghorns at all times, Mrs. William Bath of Letcher county gathered 2,983 eggs in January.

Mrs. Bill Hagan of Nelson county, who has three members of her family over-seas in the service, has been selling an average of 18 dozen eggs a week since the third week in December. She has 100, 80 of which are pullets, and feeds ground wheat and yellow corn, with 10 gallons of water daily.

Mrs. Earl Ritchie of the same has 125 hens, 115 being pullets. She has been selling an average of 17 dozen eggs a week since the latter part of September. Yellow corn, oyster shell, laying mash and nine or ten gallons of water make up the daily ration of this flock.

LAUNCH PROGRAM TO ENCOURAGE FARMERS TO GROW MORE FOOD

A program to encourage families on farms and in towns to produce more of their food is again being directed dy the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics, with the assistance of county farm agents, county home demonstration agents, homemakers' clubs, neighborhood leaders and other agencies.

With the amount of canned foods limited by rationing, families in position to produce some of their own food are indeed fortunate. Farm gardens will be larger than ever this year, and thousands of backyards in towns will grow vegetables to help supply the family table.

Through the help of neighborhood leaders, the College expects to reach at least 500,000 families on farms and in the towns this year. Each man or woman serving as a neighborhood leader will reach 10 or 12 families to urge them to have gardens, chickens and cows, as a means of producing more of their own food. All who possibly can, are being asked to try to to produce three-fourths of their total food supply.

The College says that on every farm there should be a tenth of an acre of garden for each member of the family, the garden to include 15 kinds of vegetables. The farm should also have two of the following: a dozen fruit trees, 200 strawberry plants, 10 grape vines or 100 berry bushes. A large amount of potatoes, stored root crops, squashes and pumpkins, dried beans, corn and other foods will provide variety in the winter meals.

Families who can, also should put up two gallons of sorghum or honey per person, says the College. Home-produced corn and wheat can be made into meal and flour. Good living calls for a quart of milk daily per child, a pint for each adult, and a half pound of butter for each person a week.

To have at least five laying hens for each member of the family, 15 chicks should be started this spring. Those who butcher should plan to put up at least 130 pounds of meat per adult and about half that much per child.

Families who render the distinguished service of producing three-fourths of their food will receive a Certificate of Merit signed by the Governor and the dean of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics. Last year, when the live-at-home program was hardly begun, 49,280 families were enrolled, and 27,785 families received Certificates of Merit.

Information about getting the best results in gardening, poultry raising, dairying, fruit growing, canning and storing can be had from local leaders trained by the extension service of the College. Also, county agents and home agents have printed leaflets giving helpful suggestions and directions. Some of these leaflets are: "Grow Your Own Food in 1943;" 'Your Vegetable Garden;" "Grow Fruits and Berries for Home Use;" "Chickens and Eggs for Home Use;" "More Pork;" "Farming in 1943;" and "Victory Gardens for City People."

Many Pendleton county farmers are again enrolling in the shearling pelt program, having had excellent results last year.

In Owen county, 17 out of 19 schools have enlisted 100 percent in the food-for-freedom program, with a total enlistment of 937.

Early History Of Boone Co.

By A. M. Yealey

Leonard Stephens was the younger of the two boys and was born in Orange Co., Va., March 10th, 1791 and died in Boone County, Ky., March 8, 1873. With the aid of his father and brother John, he erected a fine colonial mansion on the Richardson pike not far from the Boone County line and at that time the residence was in Campbell county, as Kenton county was not organized until 1840.

When Mr. Stephens came here with his father in 1807 there was no Williamstown, Dry Ridge, Walton or Florence. Cincinnati had two brick buildings, two frame buildings and a few log cabins. Burlington had a log court house, a log jail and a few cabins. Where Covington is now located we find that Thomas Kennedy had a stone residence at what is now Second and Garrard Streets. Mr. Kennedy also operated the ferry across the Ohio River and transferred the soldiers who took part in the Indian raids. His craft consisted of row boats for foot passengers and the cost per person was 12 cents. For carrying horses across, he used large flat boats controlled by oars. In 1823 when the side wheel or tradle came into use, this mode of transportation was used until 1833, when steam ferry boats were used. This was the best crossing for travel of the inhabitants over the Ridge Road for the central part of the State.

Mr. Stephens represented Campbell County in the lower House of the General Assembly from 1823 to 1826 and the counties of Campbell and Boone from 1829 to 1833 in the Senate.

When Kenton county was organized in 1840 he became the first high sheriff.

Mr. Stephens built this large brick residence on the Richardson pike with the assistance of his father and brother. The bricks were by them and this mansion was the high spot for northern Kentucky and as Mr. Stephens was always deeply engrossed in politics it became the meeting place of all politicians.

W. M. U. NEWS

The Women's Missionary Society of Union Baptist Church held their regular monthly meeting at the church on Wednesday afternoon, March 10th, with our president, Mrs. Winston Mason, presiding.

The meeting was opened by singing our hymn for the year, "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name" and repeating watchwords in unison. Opening prayer by Mrs. Flora Mullins, followed by secretary's report and roll call, with sixteen members present. Mrs. Austin Gschwind, treasurer, gave a good report, as were the reports from Community Missions and Stewardship Chairman, Mrs. Kirtley McWethy and Mrs. Flora Mullins, respectively.

A request that each member bring cookies to the church on Sunday, March 28th to be packed and sent to Baptist Training School, was made by Mrs. Mason.

This society will meet at 11 a. m. (E. W. T.) March 31 for the studying of a book, "Guide To Community Missions," which will be taught by Mrs. McWethy. All members are urged to be present and visitors and friends are cordially invited, since we feel that this part of our work must be faithfully upheld in our community. Won't you come and bring someone with you?

Mrs. Viola Friend will serve as Mission Study Chairman and Mrs. B. Aylor as Sunbeam leader, since Mrs. Brooks has moved away.

The business meeting was brought to a close with the announcement of the State meeting to be held at Louisville, April 6, 7, and 8th. Several of our members are planning to attend.

The program taken from Royal Service and under the direction of Mrs. Fothergill, was given. Those participating on the program were Mrs. Mullins, Mrs. Dora Mae McWethy, Mrs. Gschwind, Mrs. Mertie Marshall, Mrs. Raymond Newman, Mrs. Winston Mason, Mrs. Emerson Smith, and Mrs. Henry Beach.

Next meeting will be March 31, when the society will meet for our study class.

Mrs. W. S. Friend.

LESSONS LEARNED IN HEMP GROWING

Here are some of the things the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics says farmers learned about growing hemp seed last year: Hemp for seed may be planted as late as June 1, or even letter. April 10 is about as early as it should be planted.

Much seed hemp was planted too close last year. On rich bottom land the hills probably should be 5 to 6 feet each way, and on upland 4 to 5 feet.

Seed hemp should be thinned to 2 to 3 plants on bottom land and 3 to 4 plants on upland. In many instances last year, too many plants were left. This interfered with branch growth and reduced seed production.

Cut worms, grasshoppers and groundhogs eat hemp. Be prepared to scatter poisoned bran mash in the hemp field.

EASIER WORK WAYS STUDIED BY WOMEN

In a number of counties of Kentucky where homemakers' clubs are studying the easiest and quickest ways of getting work done, "Mrs. Ever-ready" and "Mrs. Never-ready" have had leading parts in the club program under the direction of Miss Ida C. Hagman, home management specialist of the State College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

In compartive demonstrations in potato peeling, salad-making and dish washing. "Mrs. Ever-ready" proved the importance of collecting supplies before starting to work, sitting while working when possible, having a comfortable rest chair in the kitchen and convenient working surfaces, organized work, sufficient storage spaces, sharp knives, well-cered for equipment and exercise periods.

FARMERS MAKE MONEY GROWING HEMP SEED

John H. Ewing, farm agent, notes that farmers in Green county made some worthwhile hemp seed production records last year. Lee Price, who operates the farm of Milton Vaughn, harvested 58 bushels and 16 pounds from three acres of hemp, netting approximately $464, or an average of $154 an acre. J. W. Pickett harvested 57 bushels of hemp seed from three acres, receiving approximately $455. He plans to plant 10 acres this year.

BETTER THAN CORN

Farmers in Monroe county who grew seed hemp last year received an average of $103 per acre, notes Justis L. Ellis, agricultural agent. The highest yield was on the farm of Henry Richardson, where 110 bushels on three acres were realized. Mr. Richardson said that the creek bottom, overflow land he used for hemp would have produced only 50 to 60 bushels of corn to the acre, and the growing of hemp was little more work.

James Weir of Nelson county expects to market 50 spring lambs about March 15, their estimated average weight being 90 pounds.

A Farm Bureau committee has been set up in Carlisle county to see that Kentucky hybrid seed is available to every farmer in the county.

It is estimated that at least one-half of Hancock county's corn acreage will be planted to hybrid corn this year.

ROUSE HOME BURNED SAT.

ON U. S. 42 AT UNION—ESTIMATED LOSS OF HOME AND FURNITURE IS SET AT $2,000.00.

Fire completely destroyed the four-room frame residence of George E. Rouse, Union, on Saturday afternoon and most of the furniture of the two families living the house was reported as a complete loss.

Origin of the blaze has not been definitely determined, however, it was stated that the fire was discovered in the part of the house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Amel Hopper. W. W. Craddock and sister living in the other part of the same building. Only a small part of the furniture of both families was saved.

The Florence Volunteer Fire Department was summoned and succeeding in bringing the flames under control, saving both the store building belonging to V. Dickerson and the frame building on the other side.

The extreme heat damaged the artificial brick walls on the nearby home, but the very efficient work of the fireman saved the building from being destroyed. Damage to this building was set at $100.00.

An ample water supply was available to fight the flames, and the Florence Department was very successful in their efforts.

DAIRYING WILL BE DISCUSSED

BY 4-H CLUB MEMBERS—BUTTER MAKING, CARE OF MILK AND PAILS WILL BE HEARD AT MEETINGS.

The 4-H Club work in the county for the next two weeks will center around dairying and the many problems arising in producing and handling of milk for the farm family. Such questions, as to what to feed the cow while on short early pasture; how to care for and groom a cow in order to produce clean milk and how to handle the milk after it is taken from the cow, will be discussed. Many 4-H Club members are taking care of one or more cows as a labor service project and they will want to know the best way of carrying on their work. There will also be discussion on making butter, care of milk pails and cans. The food value of skimmed milk and comparison of its relative value to other high priced protein foods will be discussed.

All adult leaders of the livestock project are urged to be present at their 4-H Club meeting which will be held at the schools; the dates will be given later.

Homemakers' Advisory Council Will Meet Friday

87 ATTEND FARM BUREAU BANQUET

J. E. STANFORD, EXECUTIVE SECRETARY URGES FARMERS TO SUPPORT THEIR ORGANIZATION.

Eighty-seven farmers, wives and friends attended the first annual Farm Bureau Banquet held at Burlington last Friday evening. Floods, heavy rains and high water were estimated by the program committee to have reduced the attendance by fifty percent.

J. E. Stanford, executive secretary of the Kentucky Farm Bureau urged that all farmers support their county, state and national Farm Bureau organizations in the attempt to get a fair representation in the national income. The war and postwar period presents serious problems for the farmer unless he maintains a strong militant organization.

Stanford praised the Boone County Farm Bureau. It is the youngest of 82 county organizations in the state. Its 1943 goal of twenty-five members has been exceeded by 100 percent and is growing fast.

The banquet program committee expresses thanks to all who helped make the meeting a success. They invite membership of all farmers. Membership blanks may be secured from Lloyd Siekman, president; Stanley Ransom, Vice president; John E. Crigler, secretary; or from the following directors, C. L. Hempfling, Charles B. Beall, John J. Klopp, William H. Presser, H. E. White, George Heil, J. C. Acree, S. D. S. Ransom, Walter King and Joseph A. Huey.

RIVER REACHES CREST TUESDAY

IS FALLING FROM ONE AND ONE-HALF TO TWO TENTHS OF FOOT PER HOUR FROM DAM 13 TO 33 INCLUSIVE.

The swollen Ohio river reached its crest of 58.6 feet at Dam 38 Tuesday and was falling slightly according to E. E. Newman, lockmaster, at four o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

The river, fed by heavy rains that reached their most severe proportions Friday, rose half a foot in the 12 hours preceding 8 o'clock Monday night. It fell in the next hour, then began to rise again. The Cincinnati stage at 1 o'clock Tuesday morning was 59.9 feet.

While the flood areas will be practically the same as they were January 4, little damage is reported to property in Boone County. Heavy rains falling Friday, however, caused considerable damage to various roads throughout the county.

Mr. Newman reported that the river was falling from one and one-half to 2 tenths of a foot per hour from Dam 13 to Dam 33 inclusive. At Dam 38 the river had fell from 58.6, the crest to 58.5 late Tuesday afternoon.

Extra Food For Temporary Workers

An employer who temporarily hires workmen for periods of less than 30 days may obtain rationed foods for them by applying to his local War Price and Rationing Board. This is of special importance to farmers who hire labor during the planting and harvesting season, to employers of construction workers on temporary jobs, lumber camp operators, and other seasonal employers.

FOOD PRODUCTION MEETINGS ARE SET

GOAL FOR 1943 IS SET AT 75 PER CENT HOME PRODUCTION OF RURAL - FAMILY FOOD SUPPLY.

The production of the home food supply is a most important war program, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The 1943 farm goal is 75 per cent home production of the rural family food supply.

The state will award certificates to those families who produce three-fourths of their family food supply this year and report to the county office this fall. Enrollment certificates in the home food supply program are being supplied all rural families through their neighborhood leaders.

Neighborhood leaders have held meetings on the home food production program recently in Constance, Verona, Hebron, Burlington and New Haven communities. Meetings in other communities will be held as follows:

Belleview, Tuesday, March 23.
Petersburg, Wednesday March 24.
Florence, Town Hall, March 25.
Walton, Tuesday March 30th.
Hamilton school, soon as the river falls below flood stage.

While the food production program may not carry the thrill to farm people as the salvage program and some of the other war programs it does serve one of the most important means in which rural people may serve. Efficient food production under war conditions involves all the skill and hard work along the lines of production, harvesting, preservation and consumption of all food produced so that America may be strong in the war effort.

Important farm sources of food production are dairy, poultry, garden, fruit, meats, cereals and sweets.

A good slogan will be: "Produce twice as much as you think you will need—see that nothing is wasted."

Mrs. Amanda Ingram was ill last week, due to a severe throat condition.

Emergency Meals To Fit The Food Budget

Miss Florence Imlay, Foods Specialist from the College of Agriculture, will present the lesson "Emeregency Meals to Fit the Food Budget," for project leaders for local clubs on Thursday, March 25, at the Burlington school. The class will begin at 10:30 a. m. E. W. T. Arrangements for the meeting are being made by Mary Scott Moore, Home Demonstration Agent.

Navy Recruiter Will Be In Burlington

There will be a Navy Recruiter in Burlington on Friday, March 26. He will be available for interviews with prospective applicants for the WAVES and SPARS, the SEABEES and all young men seventeen years of age.

Of special interest to men of draft age is the new program for recruiting skilled tradesmen for the Naval Construction Battalion. Anyone having experience in any of the various construction trades should see the Recruiter and find if they may qualify for a Petty Officer rating in this service.

All who are interested in applying for the WAVES or SPARS may obtain information on enlistment. Seventeen year olds are still being recruited and they may volunteer for either the Regular Navy or the Naval Reserve, the latter being for the duration of the war only.

APRIL 1ST SET AS DEADLINE

FOR SLAUGHTER DEALER PERMITS—FARMERS ALLOWED TO SLAUGHTER FOR HOME CONSUMPTION.

Farmers, dealers, and agents who contemplate the sale, purchase, or slaughter of livestock or sale of meat from farm-slaughtered livestock after March 31 must obtain a slaughter or dealer permit from their county USDA war board.

The only exemptions to the regulations found in Food Distribution Orders 26 and 27 which have been enacted to stop the black market practice of meat and to assure an equitable supply and distribution are cases where farmers slaughter for home consumption only and farmers or bona fide producers who are engaged in dairy, wool, or meat production or in breeding, feeding or finishing livestock and who keep such livestock 30 days or more are not required to obtain a permit but must keep records concerning the weights, heads, and prices of livestock as well as the purchasers and sellers.

In most cases, slaughter quotas will be established by the county USDA war boards. These quotas will be based on information concerning the slaughter of meat during 1941. Slaughterers who apply for permits should have available all records on 1941 livestock slaughter.

U. S. ARMY PLANE WRECKED TUESDAY

IN FORCED LAND NEAR HEBRON AFTER MOTOR FAILS—PLANE BADLY DAMAGED, BUT PILOT ESCAPES INJURY.

A single engine, four-passenger U. S. Army plane was badly damaged Tuesday when the pilot was forced to bring his plane down in a field just south of the home of Harold Crigler on the Limaburg-Hebron road.

Citizens of Burlington heard the plane over the town when the motor failed, but later the motor started and then cut out again, causing the pilot to make a forced landing.

One wing of the plane and the landing gear was demolished when the plane crashed through a fence near Mr. Crigler's barn, finally coming to a stop just a few feet from the barn. The pilot, Capt. R. F. Brown, 22, of the A. T. C. Ferrying Command, Detroit, Mich., escaped injury in the crash. His home was given as Columbia, S. C.

According to reports the pilot was enroute to Bowman Field, Louisville, from an airfield in Detroit.

SPECIALIST WARNS OF FEED SHORTAGE

LIVESTOCK NUMBERS HAVE INCREASED MUCH FASTER THAN FEED SUPPLY, ACCORDING TO WILLIAM JOHNSTONE.

Mr. William Johnstone, Crops Field Agent from the College of Agriculture, advised farmers in a meeting at Burlington last Wednesday morning to plan for a feed shortage, Livestock numbers have increased much faster than the feed supply.

Johnstone pointed out that we are experiencing a hard winter on small grains, hay and pasture crops that ordinarily would supply much spring feed. Kentucky's increased number of livestock this next year will require 10,000,000 more bushels of corn. Protein supplements have already become scarce and difficult to get.

The following points were given at the greatest aid for farmers to meet the feed shortage:

1. Corn offers the greatest possibility. Increase production both by increasing the acreage and thru the use of adapted Hybrid seeds. Johnstone warned farmers that there are many hybrid seed corn sold in the state that are not adapted.

2. Oats—Spring oats, Columbia variety preferred, seeded at the rate of two bushels per acre along with ten pounds of lespedeza will supply spring and summer pasture.

3. Hay crops this year may be increased through use of soybeans and lespedeza.

4. Pasture yields are increased through use of mixtures of lime and phosphate.

5. Seed winter cover crops early next fall.

6. Sorghum crops drilled at ten pounds of seed per acre, produce large yields of feed for work stock and dry cows.

Farmers have a tough job ahead if they are to properly feed their livestock. All resources of the College of Agriculture and Experiment Station are available to farmers through the county agent's office.

Three Types Of Farm Machinery Released

Restrictions on distribution of three types of rationed farm machinery have been lifted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The order permits manufacturers of farm cream separators to release without restriction 80 per cent of their authorized production of separators as allowed by WPB Order L-170 and all remaining stocks produced under L-26. It similarly permits manufacturers of power spray pumps and horse or tractor drawn rod weeders to release 100 percent of their production under L-170 and all inventory stocks produced under L-26.

Mrs. Cecil Riddell, Mrs. Lewis Riddell and Mrs. Omar Stubbs were called to Camp Butner, Durham, North Carolina, due to the serious illness of Pvt. Lewis Cecil Riddell, who is suffering from an attack of spinal meningitis. Mrs. Lewis Riddell and daughter Mrs. Stubbs have returned home while Mrs. Cecil Riddell remained at the hospital for several days. At this writing Pvt. Riddell is improving rapidly.

AMPLE GASOLINE ASSURED FARMERS

NO FARMER NEED RESTRICT 1943 ACREAGE BECAUSE OF PRESENT GASOLINE OR MILEAGE ALLOTMENTS.

Farmers may schedule their 1943 crops with the assurance that they will be able to obtain enough gasoline for all necessary truck operations, local fuel supplies permitting, Joseph B. Eastman, Director of the Office of Defense Transportation, stated.

"The ODT's mileage control program for commercial motor vehicles is completely flexible," Mr. Eastman said. "Farmers may request adjustment of their Certificates of War Necessity whenever conditions warrant."

Such requests for gasoline, load or mileage adjustment should be made to the Farm Transportation Committees of the USDA County War Boards. These committees are composed of the farmers' neighbors and their recommendations will be accepted by the ODT District Office making the adjustment.

If a farmer's allotment is still insufficient after an adjustment, he may appeal through his Farm Transportation Committee to his ODT District Office, or he may appeal directly to the ODT District Office. A final appeal can be made to his ODT Regional Manager. Emergency gasoline rations may be obtained from local War Price and Rationing Boards while the requests for adjustment or appeals are being considered.

"Hence," Mr. Eastman said, "no farmer need restrict his 1943 acreage because the present gasoline or mileage allotments on his Certificate of War Necessity are insufficent for an expansion of his operations."

At the same time, Mr. Eastman pointed out the increased necessity for farmers to carefully husband their present trucks and tires and to eliminate all waste mileage from their truck operations.

"There are very few new trucks and trailers left in the civilian stockpile," Mr. Eastman said.

"The rubber situation is equally critical and imposes similar responsibilities upon all truck operators to conserve their tires and reduce to the minimum the number of miles which they operate empty or partically loaded," he emphasized.

Second War Loan Drive

During April the U. S. Treasury will borrow the sum of $13,000,000,000 in its second war loan drive. "This money, which is needed to back up our armed forces, will be raised through the continuing sale of War Savings Bonds, and tax saving notes, treasury bills, and the offering of a number of new treasury issues designed for every class and type of investor," said Secretary Morgenthau.

"As we move forward into full production in the war effort, it is increasingly important that every American invest in his Government's securities to the limit of his or her ability."

$2500 NEEDED TO MEET CO. QUOTA

IN NATIONAL RED CROSS DRIVE WHICH ENDS MARCH 31ST—WORKERS URGED TO MAKE COMPLETE CANVAS.

The National Red Cross drive in Boone County is progressing nicely, however only $2600 of our quota of $5100 has been reported, according to R. I. Rouse, chairman of the Boone County Chapter.

Many persons have been missed by the workers, and all persons who have their contributions ready may mail them direct to Mr. R. I. Rouse, Burlington, Ky., and your receipts and Red Cross emblems will be mailed to you promptly.

Many of the workers may have called when you were not at home, and since everyone is very busy during these times, they have been unable to call the second. If you desire to give, and you have not been contacted as yet, please send in your money and help make Boone County go over the goal of $5100, which was set up by national headquarters.

In its second War Fund Campaign the American Red Cross is asking the American people for contributions to the War Fund to enable the organization to continue to meet its wartime obligations, particularly those to the armed forces of the United States as prescribed in its Congressional Charter and in Army and Navy regulations. This fund will be raised by the Chapters throughout the country and part of the fund will be remitted to National Organization for the conduct of national and international Red Cross activities, and part will be retained and expended by the Chapters for the conduct of authorized Red Cross activities in their several jurisdictions.

The local Boone County Chapter is standing ready to assist those persons in Boone County in the flood districts who may need shelter and food if the Ohio River continues to make many homeless in the low sections. Just what the needs will be will be determined at a later date, however, it is expected that several families will be forced to leave their homes if the river continues to rise.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. B. F. Carpenter, Cincinnati and Mrs. Tanner; three sons, Lloyd, Cocoa, Fla., Kenneth, Warsaw, Ky., and Dr. Robert Stephens, Earlington, Ky.; one sister, Mrs. Ira Aylor, Walton, Ky.; 15 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

CORN BORER IS HERE TO STAY

ACCORDING TO W. A. PRICE, STATE ENTOMOLOGIST, IN ADDRESS TO FARMERS HERE WEDNESDAY.

The European Corn Borer is here to stay, according to W. A. Price, State Entomologist, in addressing farmers in a meeting at Burlington last Wednesday. The borer has infested fields in all sections of the county. It will reach its heaviest infestation and damage in five to six years unless adequate control measures are carried out.

Control measures that will assist communities of farmers in producing corn under corn borer controlled conditions are:

1. Delayed plantings—corn under 10 inches by July 4, is not usually affected seriously.
2. Plowing under all stalks or corn stubble by May 1.
3. Ensilagging the corn crop.
4. Shredding the fodder and using the waste shredded feed for bedding.
5. Planting of hybrids resistant to the borer.

Dr. Price pointed out that effective control measures will enable farmers to live with the corn borer and produce profitable crops. This has been demonstrated in many of the old corn borer infected areas.

CHAOS MUST BE AVERTED

Government officials have yet to perfect a definite food production and distribution program. In the meantime, farmers and merchants are struggling desperately in a maze of red tape with a steadily deteriorating labor force to feed and clothe the nation, to say nothing of the armed services. They are asked to fight a total war against the Axis, and at the same time are obliged to fight for survival in the insane Washington war of bureaucrats. It is an appalling situation.

The National Association of Food Chains has warned that American consumers will go hungry this year unless the government moves promptly to solve the pressing manpower and supply problem confronting the food industry. It says: "The situation already has reached the stage where it is creating a serious problem of getting an adequate supply of food distributed to communities and to individual consumers."

Unless corrective measures are taken without delay, there is danger in the not distant future of hunger and food riots. Representatives of chains, independent retailers, wholesalers and food processers have reported that following the "work or fight" order of the War Manpower Commission, experienced employes left in droves for "essential" war jobs. Labor turnover in these industries is now at the rate of 10 per cent a week. The government's price control and rationing programs, together with efficient distribution, are directly threatened by removal of experienced men from behind the nation's retail counters.

A determined Congress must bring order out of the chaos.

START SAVING

There is no longer any way of loading the tax bill "onto the other fellow." It is now in the lap of every family in the land. Taxes come ahead of all family bills. The American family will have to learn to economize as never before.

A single person with an income of $100 a month will pay the Federal government approximately $175 in 1943, and this does not include any state income tax, property tax or excise taxes. A single person earning $15 a week, with no dependents, will pay some $56 Federal taxes, not counting taxes.

We will have to go without a lot of things hereafter to accumulate tax money. As we scrimp to meet our tax obligations, we will take increasing interest in seeing that city, county, state and Federal governments also economize; that frills and furbelows in government are eliminated for the duration, and for a long period thereafter.

Congress could ease the situation for the taxpayer by passage of the Rumi, pay-as-you-go tax collection plan.

—o—

ON THE FARM FRONT

Only the farmer seems to really understand how critical the food situation is and that is why he feels he is doing the patriotic thing when he takes a fighting stand through his organizations, on the vital question of farm labor, supplies, prices and production. It is part of the big job of winning the war and he knows it. Not only the farmers but the whole nation may thank God for the farm organizations, when this war is over.

—o—

SOME DIFFERENCE

It is one thing for government to broaden individual opportunity and provide a maximum of care for the needs. It is quite a different thing to build up government to where it dictates to the individual in the commonest affairs of life. The first type of government is what our boys are fighting to preserve. The second type is what they think they are fighting to prevent coming to America.

—o—

SPLENDID CONTRIBUTION RECOGNIZED

The Office of Price Administration has issued a public statement thanking the thousands of newspapers in the United States for the million dollars worth of space they donated to the government in repeated publication of the voluminous data regarding War Ration Book No. 2. This was an incalculable saving to the government in money and man hours, and a great convenience to the public.

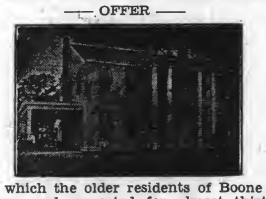
POSTWAR MEDICAL SERVICE

The National Conference on Planning for War and Postwar Medical Service, under the auspices of the Carlos Finlay Institute of the Americas, met in New York City on March 15 to mobilize medical resources. This is the most pretentious and potentially important effort made by medicine and supporting industries toward that end.

Our young men are scattered in every country on earth. Our ships and airplanes reach every part of the globe. As they will all be potential carriers to this country of various diseases, the importance of such a meeting as this is self evident.

Among the topics discussed by authorities at the meeting, were "War and the Migration of Tropical Diseases," "Epidemiology of Influenza," "Malaria — A World Menace," "Nutritional Diseases as a Postwar Problem," "Postwar Need for Medical and other Trained Personnel," "Postwar Channeling of Drugs and Other Medical Supplies," "Trends in Scientific Research," "The Health Problems of the Americas," "Health—a World Problem," "The Place of the American Red Cross in Medical Rehabilitation," and "American Medicine's Contribution to the Post-War World."

Leaders in our medical profession our universities, our armed services, and our drug and medical supply industries took part in this meeting.



As a people, we can be thankful that such resources for the alleviation of human suffering, now center in this nation, and that our country can be a leader in planning for postwar medical services.

THE APPEARANCES AFTER THE RESURRECTION

LESSON TEXT—John 20:19-31.
GOLDEN TEXT—I am alive for evermore.—Revelation 1:18.

The most important day in all history was the first day of the week following the crucifixion of Christ. Then He appeared to His disciples as their risen Lord. All the hope of all mankind for all eternity depended on His victory over death.

By eventide news had come to the disciples of His resurrection, and half in hope and half in uncertainty they had gathered to talk over these matters. Fearful of the Jews, they met behind closed doors. All at once He was there—the Lord Himself. What a wonderful change came over them as He made Himself known to them. They went

I. From Fear to Gladness (vv. 19, 20).

Their eyes had been upon their enemies and they were afraid. Now they "were glad, when they saw the Lord." We need to learn that lesson. If we look within we are ashamed and discouraged. If we look around us we are confused and fearful. If we look to Christ we are glad and strong.

Notice that their joy was not based only on an emotional impulse. They saw Christ in His resurrection body—the very One who had died. The evidence was there before them. Now they could understand the things He had said to them. The whole realm of spiritual truth was now in focus again, and they were glad. So are we when we really see Christ.

II. From Weakness to Strength (vv. 21-23).

The disciples who were called to be witnesses for Christ had lost their testimony when He died on the cross. Unbelief and discouragement had so weakened them that they were in hiding instead of being out proclaiming His truth.

Now the risen and victorious One sent them forth with the Father's blessing. They were empowered by the Holy Spirit, and given great authority (v. 23). Note that it was given not to one man or to the leaders, but to all the disciples. It was "a declarative right, and it belongs to every true disciple. Those who have received the gift of the Holy Spirit are in a position to declare to men that their sincere repentance brings forgiveness" (Douglass). The opposite is also true.

III. From Doubt to Faith (vv. 24-28).

Thomas, who had doubts and who cultivated them by his stubborn attitude (v. 25), did himself and his brethren a serious disservice by being absent from the meeting on the evening of the first Easter Day. When he did appear he had only doubts to contribute. Let those who make a custom of absenting themselves from the place and hour of service beware lest they do likewise.

His doubts were honest ones—and God always meets such questions, honestly and intelligently. When the evidence was before him, the heart of Thomas leaped the chasm from doubt to faith in one cry of complete devotion (v. 28).

It is significant that down through the ages many doubters have been won to Christ by the proof of the resurrection of Christ, which is by the testimony of historical scholars "the best authenticated fact in all history." The risen Christ stands before men today and says, "Be not faithless but believing." May many respond with Thomas, "My Lord and my God."

IV. From Death to Life (vv. 29-31).

Christ arose from the dead not just to show that He had power to do so, but, as Paul puts it, "for our justification" (Rom. 4:25). The reality and dependability of the entire plan of salvation hinged on the return of Christ from the dead. Had the grave held Him, His claims of deity and of the ability to forgive sin would have been entirely discredited. Because He lives we shall live.

The experience of regeneration is therefore likened in Scripture to a passing from death to life (John 5:24). Thomas saw the Lord, and believing, passed from doubt to faith. We cannot see Him now, but we have the blessed privilege of believing and thus receiving life (vv. 29, 31).

This was the mssage which the now radiant and empowered disciples went out to preach. The book of Acts tells us how effectively they did it, and shows how much of their preaching centered on the fact of the resurrection.

The command and the commission was not to them alone, but also to all of us who believe in Christ. May God take out of us the fear of men, overcome our weakness, and send us out with renewed faith to make this life-giving message known to our fellow men.

CONSERVATION OF WILDLIFE AND THE LAW

After the Norman Conquest and before the Magna Charta of King John the ownership of wild game in England was vested in the English king, who claimed such ownership in his individual capacity and as a personal prerogative. Under such a system no one could acquire ownership in or title to game except by reason of a special license of the king.

The colonists who settled in America carried with them the common law of England which governed their dealings. After the American Revolution the question arose as to whether the newly independent colonies had a common law. It was judicially decided that the common law of England plus all English statutes prior to the Revolution so far as applicable to our conditions constituted the common law of the various states.

Among the principles of common law accepted as appliable to American conditions was the principal in question. It was accepted with this qualification. The State acquired the title of the King, and so it has been uniformly in this country that the wild game is owned by the state in its sovereign capacity in "trust" for the people of the State.

Since Kentucky owns the game in its wild station in its sovereign capacity, it follows that an individual cannot obtain an absolute property right in such game except upon such conditions, restrictions and limitations as may be permitted by the State. The individual may acquire an absolute property right in game only as a matter of privilege; not as a matter of right. The conditions under which an individual may acquire property rights in game are matters within the province of the Legislature. The Legislature may impose such conditions as it deems necessary and expedient, so long as they do not contravene any principle of the Constitution.

While the State has an ownership of the wild game within its borders, the individual owner of real estate has an interest in the game on his premises. This interest is not an absolute property right, but is only in the nature of qualified property interest in such game.

The Division of Game and Fish has been set up as an agency to carry out and enforce all regulations pertaining to wildlife which have been enacted by the Legislature. In order to carry out and enforce laws and regulations pertaining to wildlife in Kentucky which have been enacted by the Legislature, acting upon the sentiments of the general public, the Division of Game and Fish has a working force of 50 Conservation Officers appointed to certain apportioned districts throughout the state.

Since all wildlife belongs to the general public until it is subdued to private ownership and since the Legislature has handed down laws and regulations governing and controlling wildlife and since the Division of Game and Fish has been set up to carry out such set standards of government and since the general public has been rather reluctant to learn and obey such laws the Division must see that they are enforced through arrest and punishment of the violator. This is carried out by the local Conservation Officers.

The need for protection of soil, guarding against destructive forest fires, and freeing streams from pollution are part of an educational program, all-important to the improving of our out-of-doors, which is preached by the Conservation Officers of the Division to sportsmen, landowners, teachers and students. Since wildlife joins closely with land use and farm practice and since the farmer uses, to the greatest extent, the natural resources of soil, water and vegetation, then he and his children are the ones who must be contacted and educated on conservation methods and practices.

In many instances violation of game and fish laws are committed through ignorance of the law. It is ample proof that these particular people must be educated against destruction of things belonging not to any one individual or group but to every one living at present and to those coming on after the present generation has passed away. Very few violation of Game and Fish laws can be traced to individuals who were well educated and who knew better. Most usually it is the uneducated type of man who commits such crimes. This is proof that people must be schooled against killing, robbing driving reckless and etc.

In many instances the Conservation Officer does not receive cooperation from the local courts when violators are brought up for prosecution. This lack of cooperation could be eliminated if the general public so desired but it has not been sufficiently educated to the importance of conservation of wildlife and other natural resources and its laxity permits the courts to also become less stringent which in turn brings about the lack of cooperation between the conservation agency and the general public.

The objective for which the Division of Game and Fish is striving is the education of the younger generation to the importance of conservation practices and strict obedience of laws so that when they grow to manhood and womanhood they can take the places of their parents and possess an out-of-doors suitable for good hunting and fishing and other forms of recreation, in addition to an out-of-doors that will produce the necessities of life—food, clothing and shelter.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

For a main dish to take the place of meat, try a combination of eggs and cheese suggests Mrs. Pearl Haak, food specialist at the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics. Both contain body building proteins and are foods that stick to the ribs.

Cheese Puffs—8 slices of bread, ½ pound cheese, grated (2 c), 3 eggs, 2 c. milk, ½ tsp. salt, pepper, paprika, mustard if desired.

Fit four slices of bread into a greased baking dish. Sprinkle with half the cheese, cover with remaining bread. Beat eggs, add milk and seasonings; pour mixture over the bread and cheese and cover with remaining cheese. Set baking dish in a pan of hot water and bake at moderate temperature, 300-350 degrees, for about 40 minutes, or until the custard is set and the bread is puffed up. Dishes containing considerable cheese must be cooked at a moderate temperature, otherwise the mixture becomes tought.

Menu: Cheese puff, buttered peas scalloped tomatoes, green chopped salad (lettuce, celery, spinach, apple and radishes, or whatever fresh vegetables are on hand), corn sticks and butter, applesauce-cake and milk.

EGG PROFITS AT NEW HIGH RECORD

Kentucky poultrykeepers cooperating with county agents and the State College of Agriculture and Home Economics reported an average income of 28 cents per hen above cash expenses in January. This is the best poultry income for that month since 1932, when the profit was 12 cents a hen.

The highest flock production in January was almost 24 eggs a hen, and the 10 best flocks had an average production of about 22 eggs, while the 10 lowest-producing flocks had an average of less than four eggs a hen.

Copper salvaged from copper-coated carbons of motion picture projection arc lamps in 8,500 U. S. theaters would bring in 270,000 pounds of copper.

According to a Stockholm report, Russians and Poles engaged in forced labor in Germany are forbidden to go to church.

The slogan of the Ordnance Division of the Army is: "The difficult things we do immediately. The impossible takes a little longer."

HEALTH PROTECTION FOR BABY CHICKS

An Easy "Ounce of Prevention" Plan to Help Grow Vigorous Chicks.

So simple are the rules of health! By just a little cleanliness, lives are saved. General Gorgas conquered the Panama with all of its malaria and yellow fever with only one slogan—"Get rid of the mosquito!" And equally as simple are the rules of baby chick sanitation. Have a look at these.

Disinfect the interior of the brooder house with a Cre-so-fec solution.

To prevent serious losses caused by disease, first get the brooder house ready for the baby chicks several days before they arrive. Brush down all loose dirt; sweep the cobwebs from the ceilings and walls; then scrape the floor. Nothing very hard about that, is there?

Regularly scrub and clean the wire floors of sun porches and use a disinfecting solution of Purina Cre-so-fec.

Next scrub the walls and floors like a Dutch maid with plenty of soap and water; then disinfect with a 3% solution of Purina Cre-so-fec. Let it dry thoroughly before putting the chicks in the house.

To do a really good job of killing the disease germs and worm eggs after the chicks are started, disinfect the brooder floors and wire sun porches at cleaning time with a 2% solution of Purina Cre-so-fec.

Keep a pad saturated with Cre-so-fec at the entrance to the brooder house and always wipe feet on it before going inside.

Avoid Overcrowding

One important thing not to overlook is ample floor space. Avoid overcrowding. So many folk pay too little attention to that, you know!

And the brooder house should be a sort of private reception room. Visitors should be kept out. Purina Cre-so-fec saturated into a pad and placed on the threshold of the house, on which all who enter must wipe their feet, will do much to act as a safeguard.

Of course, clean feed is a necessity. And the hoppers in which it is placed should be kept as clean as the dishes on a table.

Only clean ground should be used for range. When runty, sick or undeveloped birds occur, remove them at once. Then go a step further and guard against outbreaks of roup and infectious bronchitis by ventilating properly. Dry, clean houses, free from drafts and dampness, are an absolute essential.

Drinking water should be kept clean and fresh, with Purina Chlorena Powder added to the water to help prevent the spread of disease and infection.

The Dusting Treatment

Colds, roup and bronchitis . . . once they get started . . . can be helped by dusting Purina Chlorena Powder over the birds' heads, as directed on the can. This helps to expel the accumulations of mucus from their respiratory tracts.

Money in your pocket to follow these simple rules . . . yes! They're so simple—and the cost is but a little time plus a few pennies. And every dollar saved through lessened losses is a dollar made!

COVER CROPS HELP MIDWEST WIN WAR ON SOIL EROSION

CHICAGO.—Cover crops as a weapon for winning the battle of soil erosion are being used at a rate that has increased the area planted to legumes by 9,700,000 acres in seven midwestern states in the past 20 years, according to a statement made public here by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

"Farmers know that in legumes they have crops that will deposit nitrogen in the soil and add to its supply of organic matter. They are coming to realize, however, that legumes must be reinforced by intelligent soil management such as the use of fertilizers high in phosphorus and potash.

"Legumes require a good diet of phosphorus and potash. If this diet is not provided by fertilization, the legume crops may use up the soil's supply of these two plant foods."

More than 500 pastures in Knott county have been treated during the past month with phosphate, and many old ones seeded with lespedeza.

KENTUCKY 4-H CLUB NEWS

A 4-H club membership of 300, as compared with 28 last year, is the record of the Hyden high school club, the highest membership in Leslie county. Half the number was enrolled when a special program was put on by the club.

A total of 415 projects is being carried by 315 club boys in Fleming county. Most popular is poultry, followed by gardening, baby beef, swine, tobacco, farm labor, corn, sheep, foods and dairy products.

Through the cooperation of the 4-H club members of the Chrisman school in Jessamine county, a hot dish is served daily to the pupils of the school. The kitchenette was completely equipped, even to a cookstove, with money received for salvage.

Ten years of 4-H club work has been completed by Billie Gray, now in the Navy, and Billie Martin of the Park City club, Barren county. Marjorie Duke of the same club would have completed her tenth year, but became canning leader for the club.

From a total of 303 pupils in the Lily high and grade school in Laurel county, 276 members have been enrolled in 4-H club work. The majority of those not enlisted were below the minimum age requirement.

Two 4-H club calves weighing 1,900 pounds brought approximately $280, or $14.35 per hundred, to their owners, Orvella and Gleason Bloyd of Greensburg, Green county. The calves were 18 months old.

TON-TO-THE-ACRE TOBACCO MADE ON EXPERIMENT FARM

New burley tobaccos developed at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station produced more than a ton of leaf to the acre, in tests made at the Station the past season, on land free from black root-rot disease. Grown under ordinary farm conditions and on common tobacco land, they produced 25 to 30 percent more than common kinds of burley.

Ky. 16, a root-rot resistant variety now widely grown in Kentucky and other states, yielded 2,108 pounds to the acre. Eighty-four percent of it graded as smoker tobacco.

Ky. 41A, another root-rot resistant burley variety, produced at the rate of 2,089 pounds to the acre. Eighty-seven percent of it was smoker grade.

Ky. 33, an early-maturing tobacco resistant to root-rot and fusarium wilt, produced 2,144 pounds to the acre; and Ky. 19, another new root-rot resistant variety, yielded 2,238 pounds to the acre.

Two other varieties developed at the Experiment Station, Ky. 52 and Ky. 48-7, which are resistant to black root-rot and mosaic diseases, produced 1,559 and 1,579 pounds, respectively, with 87 and 80 percent smoker. Although the yield of Ky. 52 is only that of common varieties it produced tobacco of exceptional quality.

J. C., a root-rot resistant variety being developed at the experiment station at Greenville, Tenn., produced 1,767 pounds to the acre, in tests at the Kentucky Experiment Station. Other varieties tested at the Kentucky station last year produced as follows: Barnett, 1,575 pounds; Warner, 1,576 pounds, and Kelley, 1,682 pounds. These graded from 82 to 84 percent smoker tobacco.

He used to be one of our most valued linemen, but he's climbing poles for Uncle Sam now . . . in the Signal Corps. He's one of the 100 employees of this company who are serving our Nation in the armed forces. We're proud of every one of them.

Naturally it hasn't been possible to replace all of these men—many of whom were veteran employees—with men of equal skill. But with training and expert supervision to substitute for experience we hope to be able to maintain a high standard of service despite our turnover in personnel.

As time goes on, however, operating difficulties arising from manpower and material shortages may be expected to increase. This is inevitable in total war and is not peculiar to our business. Therefore, if at any time in the future our service is not quite what you expect it to be, we know you will understand and make allowances. We'll be giving our best to our job in the drive for final victory.

The following letter was received from James Rogers stationed at Camp Beale, California:

"Editor Boone Co. Recorder
"Burlington, Ky.

"I've been enjoying the paper more and more lately, so thought I'd better write and tell you just how much good I get out of it. When I was in the barracks and very busy it took me two days to read it, but one came day before yesterday and I just laid down on my bed and read it from beginning to end. It sure did help me, for if you were ever in a hospital you know there is nothing to do. So reading your county paper really makes a person feel good. Again I say thanks a million for sending it to me. Reading The Boone County Recorder this far from home is just like eating a big meal.

"They tell me I can go back to the Company, the 23rd. Always they keep you 21 days for mumps. However, I feel fine and have felt that way for the last few days. I've been here 12 days now. They feed us real well, but there is nothing much to do. This is no place for me to be. It's just like being in jail for they won't let you out of the ward.

"How is everyone back home? I think of everybody and wonder how they are getting along. Until I came here we were so busy that a person didn't have time to think of anything but his work. I'm getting a nice rest here but I think I've rested long enough.

"News is very short here, in fact there is nothing of importance to tell you. There are 11 of us in this ward and part of them are in bed yet. They kept one boy in bed for 11 days, but I stayed only 6. That is the news from here—important wasn't it?

"So long Pete, but I'm waiting here for another paper to inspire me and have something read that is important. I read the last one three times.

"There is a Corporal here that works in this ward from Warsaw. His name is Louis Roberts—know him? He liked the paper about as much as I did for he doesn't get his county paper. He knows several people in Burlington and Belleview. He is a real nice fellow.

"Goodbye now, always hoping that I'll be back some day in the near future. The war can't last forever—or can it?

"All my love
"Jim."

1942 BURLEY AVERAGES $42.11

FINAL BURLEY SALES HELD ON FEBRUARY 19TH—$102,000,000 REALIZED BY KENTUCKY FARMERS.

The final sale of the 1942 crop of Kentucky burley tobacco was held on February 19th, bringing to a successful end a season witnessing many innovations in the manner in which the crop was sold under the auction system of selling tobacco.

The tobacco companies paid $42.11 per hundred pounds for some 244 million pounds, returning to the Kentucky farmers approximately 102 million dollars, an increase of about 29 million dollars over the amount paid for last year's crop. Farmers were mostly satisfied with the return they received for their tobacco but did not think it was unduly high when the increased cost of production, the lack of farm help, their inability to secure new machinery and numerous other facts were taken into consideration which made it the most expensive crop of all times to have produced.

Ceiling prices were placed on the sale of tobacco this year for the first time in the history of the tobacco trade. Ceiling prices were opposed by this department as well as most farm organizations. We were sufficiently well organized that they would not pay more for the tobacco than they could resell it for at a fair profit. However, in the end the authorities in Washington thought it necessary to have a ceiling so as to prevent an unduly high market which would result in increased prices and ultimate inflation; and although we did not agree as to the necessity for it we have done all in our power to make it work in the interest of our national welfare.

A price of $38.00 per hundred pounds was decided as a working basis for determining ceiling prices on 68 grades of tobacco, which ranged from $11.00 for the grade known as NGR to $59.00 for the highest grade labeled AIL. This was an exceptionally good crop of tobacco, practically all smoker and of high grade. As a result of its high grade it brought $42.11 per hundred, or $4.11 in excess of the basic figure of $38.00. However, let us remember that this crop could just as well have been an inferior crop and based on grades brought less than the $38.00 figure originally used in fixing the prices by grade.

There was some confusion on the market at first but after a few days the system became familiar to the buyers and worked satisfactorily except for one thing. The buyers all wanted the tobacco and each would bid the ceiling price. This made it necessary for the auctioneer to divide the tobacco among the buyers. Naturally he was unable to do this to the satisfaction of all and so it was necessary for the government to step in and allocate to each company the percent of the crop each could buy.

In view of these conditions and similar conditions which will likely prevail next year it would seem highly important to try to come to market next year with as high quality a crop as possible. Ceilings by grades rather than an overall average seem to compensate rather than penalize a farmer who who produces premium tobacco. Since after all tobacco is our biggest cash crop let us produce it in a manner to realize the highest cash return.

Don't forget "Bolts and Nuts" to be given by the Florence High School on Friday, April 2nd, 8:15 p. m. (E. W. T.)

Twenty-six members of 4-H clubs in Fayette county grew gardens in a project sponsored by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation, and supervised by Miss Ruth Latimer, county home demonstration agent. Seed was furnished for 18 to 20 vegetables in both early and late gardens. Families of the boys and girls ate out of the gardens, and from 20 to 160 quarts were canned from each garden. Each member kept a complete record of his or her garden. An exhibit at the 4-H District Fair in Lexington attracted attention. Eight prizes were awarded on gardens and eight on canning. Elizabeth Emmert was first in production, and Willa Dean Rose first in canning.

● Everybody has extra responsibilities in wartime—and that includes Greyhound. It is all-important today that every bus be used when and where it will do the most to help the war effort. You can help by timing your travel right — by taking trips in the early Spring when travel is lighter, rather than in the mid-summer rush period. You can aid by choosing mid-week rather than week-end days. You can aid still further by choosing from Greyhound's many daily schedules the buses on which more seats are usually available —and Greyhound will gladly tell you which these schedules are.

Buses will serve you better if, in addition to timing your trip right, you get tickets and information in advance, take along less baggage than usual, and accept wartime changes and slight inconveniences with a smile!

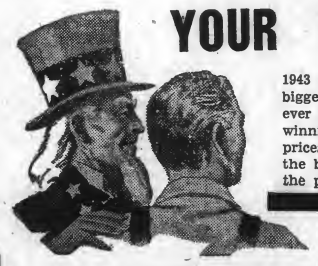
SPRING BURNINGS OF PASTURE LANDS DESTROYS FERTILITY

Burning off pasture lands in early spring, a practice still followed in some parts of Kentucky, not only fails to improve the grazing, but may cut grass production in half in a single year, while doing considerable damage to the forests, according to a statement issued today by K. G. McConnell, Director of the Division of Forestry.

Experiments with blue grass pasture in Kentucky by the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, showed that burning in winter or spring reduced yields the following year from 50 to 75 percent. These results were believed due to the damage by fire to the roots and crowns of the grass plants, some of which were killed entirely.

McConnell pointed out that observations have revealed that on land consistently burned, the perennial grasses and other more valuable forage plants are rapidly replaced by annual weeds that are nearly worthless for pasture.



A still greater loss caused by fire, although not so apparent in a single year, is the destruction of soil fertility. Burning off grass or woodland litter increases water run-off from 5 to 30 times, and speeds up soil erosion 4 to 11 times.

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

The Surgical Shoe, designed after exhaustive studies of the many factors responsible for "foot trouble," achieves a long-sought objective in affording proper support and scientific body weight distribution within the shoe. Built on a last which closely approximates configuration of the normal foot, it is not a "corrective shoe" in the orthopedic sense of the word.

It's primary purpose is to maintain the foot comfortably in proper position, thus overcoming or avoiding ankle pronation and the accompanying weakness or sagging of the longitudinal arch.

By properly distributing body weight over the foot surface, this unique shoe relieves excessive strain on the first two metatarsals and transfers weight bearing to the fourth and fifth metatarsals and to the outer half of the heel.

Thus excessive stress and tension on ligaments and articular surfaces are reduced, leading to relief of pain, fatigue, and weakness.—Adv.

Money Talks

By FREDERICK W. STAMM, Economist, Director of Adult Education, UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

Most of us have just filed our Federal Income Tax return and paid at least the first quarter installment. But we cannot forget taxes, for Congress is working on a new plan for next year which will "hit many of us harder than ever."

Several new plans have been recommended, the most discussed being the so-called Ruml Plan. Under this plan, most of our 1942 income taxes would be cancelled and a "pay-as-you-go" plan would be inaugurated by July 1. We would then have our taxes deducted from our pay each week or month, and consequently our taxes would be put on a current basis. We would not be paying last year's income tax this year. The advantage for the Government would be prompt collections and for the taxpayers, the fact that if your income dropped considerably, you would not be burdened by paying a tax later on when you didn't have the money.

Congress and the President, however, have rejected this plan, for they are against cancelling any taxes, even though the Government would be getting taxes every month.

Now the House Ways and Means Committee has come out with a new plan which is more complicated than ever. This plan provides for no forgiveness of the 1942 taxes and a 20 percent payroll deduction tax, probably beginning July 1, 1943. It goes one step further and will give a taxpayer a 6 percent discount if he pays his estimated 1943 income tax by June 15. The Government is offering you an opportunity to pay all of your 1942 taxes and your 1943 taxes, less 6 percent, by June 15. Then you would go on a payroll deduction plan July 1, but the deductions would apply as a credit on your 1944 taxes.

This plan seems to me to be a poor substitute for the present plan. In the first place, how many people can pay two years' taxes before June 15 and take advantage of the 6 percent discount? Surely not the thousands of middle class taxpayers who have been "hit the hardest" by the present high rates. In the second place, you would have "double taxation" in 1943, for you would be paying 1942 taxes and 1943 taxes in one year. In the third place, the plan is complicated which is against all sound principles of taxation.

The Ruml Plan seems to me to be sound. It would be easy to administer, and although a part of our 1942 taxes would be cancelled, the Government would begin to collect 20 percent of our income each month, and there would be no stoppage of income to the Government. Furthermore, it would put you on a sound pay-as-you-go basis without double taxation.

This Week On The Home Front

Wartime shortages haven't taken the glamour out of the main floors of America's department stores.

Substitutes, often better in some respects than peacetime products, have done much to keep "main floor" merchandise attractive and plentiful.

HANDBAGS—Leather goes to the Army, workers who formerly made metal frames are now making small munitions, plastic frames must be non-critical, and metal and critical plastics are prohibited for zippers.

COSTUME JEWELRY — Plastic earrings, shell necklaces, wood pins straw bracelets and glass beads are replacing jewelry made of critical metals, and many jewelry manufacturers are making military insignia and cartridge clips.

NYLON STOCKINGS—Few stores have nylons, but all reclaimable nylon is needed for parachutes and powder bags, and hosiery counters have already received more than eight million pairs of old stockings, with lots of fight left in them

GLOVES—Many skilled glove workers have already left for war production jobs and more are going. Goatskin, horsehide and capeskin are less available, but dress gloves so far reflect little war change.

UMBRELLAS—Still plentiful, but most new umbrellas have metal only in ribs, and these are fewer in number. Wood is available for frames.

Automobile graveyards in 44 northern Ohio counties and 10 in the western tip of Pennsylvania have yielded 24,774 tons of scrap iron and steel in 3 months.

• • •

The first war alarm clocks are expected to be ready by April 1. There will be no metal in the cases and only 7 pounds of brass and 400 pounds of steel in each 1,000 of them. There will be but one model made—and if you don't happen to like it, you can sleep mornings.

Local slaughter of the early spring lamb crop in California, Oregon, Washington, and Nevada, much of which normally is shipped to mid-west slaughter houses, has been facilitated by OPA orders. The meat will aid local shortages and save the transportation eastward.

• • •

Prices of edible beans below the wholesale and retail levels, have been adjusted by the OPA to allow for increases in parity. The increase to consumers will be considerably less than 1c a pound and almost 1c a pound on red kidney beans.

• • •

Two wholesale poultry companies, one in Akron and one in Cleveland, have been named in federal court in connection with price-ceiling violations.

• • •

The OPA has taken direct action to close the black market in white seed potatoes by prohibiting their sale unless sellers establish that they are to be used for planting purposes only. The price of certified white seed potatoes in sales by country shippers has been frozen at the highest price obtained between February 15 and March 1.

When the non-skid pattern has worn off your tires, have them recapped at once. Restrictions have been lifted on recapping, but it is up to the citizen to protect his tire casings. After the tread wears off, two thirds of the potential value remains, for the first retread often delivers close to the original new-tire mileage.

Living costs of city workers advanced 0.2 percent in the month ended February 15 to bring the cost of living to a level to 22.6 percent above August 15, 1939, a month before the outbreak of war in Europe, the secretary of labor reports. The rise of 0.5 percent in food costs was primarily responsible for the advance. but increases in service charges and higher coal prices also contributed to the rise. The cost of goods and services under OPA control on February 15 remained unchanged.

Seafood production has dropped about 1,240,000 pounds in the year because of our depletion of the fishing areas. Many of the vessels will be returned to fishing.

A new type of soapless soap which makes water wetter is now used for laundering clothes by American fighting men all over the world. This product is made with a base of petroleum or coal tar, and combines with whatever water is available to form a penetrating solvent. Greasy particles are removed without the formation of insoluble curds. After the war is over, civilians will be able to obtain the product.

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

One of the funniest comedy teams in Hollywood's history comes to the Gayety in "Tish," based on Mary Roberts Rinehart's beloved fiction character, with Marjorie Main as the redoubtable spinster Letitia Carberry, aided in laughmaking by ZaSu Pitts and Aline MacMahon. The three feminine musketeers go through side-splitting adventures ranging from being treed by a tame bear to being arrested by a game warden and spending a night in jail.

ALBERT PARKER WILL SELL LIVESTOCK, DAIRY EQUIPMENT, ETC., SAT.

Having sold his stock farm of 244 acres, Albert Parker will sell his livestock, dairy equipment, farm equipment and household goods, at public auction, Saturday, March 27, 10 a. m., Eastern War Time. The sale will take place at Richwood, on Ky. State Highway No. 338, 15 miles from Covington, and one-fourth mile off the Dixie Highway.

The sale will be of special interest because among other livestock will be 30 head of registered Jersey cows, of which 23 are heavy producers. The advertisement in this issue of The Recorder gives complete details.

Rel C. Wayman, 623 Washington St., Covington, will conduct the sale, with Col. Lute Bradford, Auctioneer.

Cotton fabrics for women's work clothing have been cut from 14 types to five.

COLLEGE TO TRAIN SHEARERS TO HANDLE STATE'S WOOL CLIP

To help take off Kentucky's big wool clip this season, the State College of Agriculture announces that it will offer two short courses in shearing sheep at Lexington April 5 and 6 and April 7 and 8, and one course at the Western Kentucky Experiment Substation at Princeton April 12 and 13.

Training will be given to new shearers, and to increase the speed and efficiency of men who already have done some shearing. The selection, care and adjustment of shearing machinery also will be discussed.

Along with the general farm labor shortage there is a scarcity of sheep shearers in Kentucky. In fact, there was a shortage of shearers last year, and it is thought the situation will be even worse this season.

In addition to about 1,100,000 ewes to be sheared this spring, several hundred thousand lambs will need shearing in July and August in the shearling pelt program.

Most of Kentucky sheep now are sheared by machinery, although a few farmers still shear by hand. In the central counties of the state, custom shearing is used by many flock owners, when professional shearers are to be had.

While plans call for full use of all shearing machinery in Kentucky, it is believed that some new equipment will be available. Manufacturers of shearing machines have been granted the normal amount of metal. Most shearing of ewes is done in May, but shearing may have to be spread over a longer period this season.

BURNING FAILS TO KILL BROOM SEDGE

Burning does not kill broom sedge, according to a Kentucky College of Agriculture leaflet. After burning it comes back stronger than ever and crowds out valuable grasses. When lime and phosphate are applied to most soils, forage plants grow vigorously and drive out the sedge.

Mowing pastures before broom sedge has seeded helps get rid of this weed. Sedge also can be destroyed by turning it under with a heavy plow. Given sufficient time, it decays and improves the soil.

'Don't burn fields," says this leaflet. Burned pastures green up in the spring and temporarily fatten stock more quickly than pastures not burned off. However, during July and August cattle usually will be found grazing on pasture not burned, because the soil contains more moisture and therefore more plant food in the grasses.

$2 DAILY PROFIT FROM SMALL FLOCK

Among the chicken raisers in Ohio county, Kentucky, who are doing their part in the war effort is W. C. Tichenor. He has 210 April-hatched pullets which he says are doing their "stuff" in a new, hollow-tile laying house. They laid 1,006 dozen eggs during the last four months of 1942, bringing $358.95. The cost of the feed for that period was $115.40, leaving a profit of $243.55. The number of hens has been reduced some by culling and mortality, but there is still a good flock on the farm.

Success with hens doesn't just happen. "Gabe," as this producer is known in Ohio county, takes a real interest in his flock. He not only thinks and talks chickens, he does something about them.

Mr. Tichenor buys chicks from sources that he believes to be good and then gives them the best of care. In particular he does a good job of feeding the growing pullets so they are big enough to lay in fall of the year. Mash and grain are self-fed. The hens eat all they want, and do well when that method is used.

When the size of the flock was increased in 1942, Mr. Tichenor built a new hollow-tile laying house. Then, in order to "up" the winter production of his flock, he gave the hens a longer day by turning on the electric lights in the hen house at 4:30 each morning.

HIGH MARK SET FOR VICTORY GARDENERS

Mrs. Maynard Ragsdale, a member of the Pottertown Homemakers' club in Calloway county, is again mapping out a large Victory garden this spring. Last year, for her family of three, she canned 600 quarts of food, most of it vegetables. Included were poke, turnip greens, mustard, tendergreen, green beans, two kinds of lima beans, okra, squash, tomatoes, tomato juice, two kinds of pumpkin, corn-on-the-cob, two kinds of shell beans, four kinds of peas, kraut, kraut juice, carrots, beets, soup mixture, baked beans and pimentoes. She also canned rhubarb, grape juice, grapes, pears, apples and Damson plums, as well as chicken and beef. She had 50 quarts of peaches and berries left from the previous year.

In addition to putting up her own food supply, Mrs. Ragsdale gave two canning demonstrations, and assisted six families in canning 1,500 quarts with her pressure cooker.

British "Pig Clubs" of amateur pig-raisers accounted for 7,000 tons of bacon in 1942 and provided enough pig meat for 100 million breakfasts.

"Sunbonnet Jane Of Sycamore Lane" To Be Presented April 2

The Seniors of New Haven high school are very much in a stir. Why? They are completing the rehearsals necessary for presentation of one of the liveliest comedies presented on New Haven's stage in a long time.

The scene is laid in Indiana—the farm home of Miss Miranda Jasper, the spinster aunt of Jane Jasper.

You will enjoy seeing Catherine Carroll portraying the role of the lovable spinster aunt, while Jeanette Edwards takes the leading part in the character of "Sunbonnet Jane." Frances Barlow, quiet and reserved, has the lovely role of Grace Jasper and is smitten by cupid when Bobby Slayback appears as a lawyer in the role of Schuyler Pell. Bobbie Smith will portray the character of a good-natured hitchhiker, who serves as a farm hand and later comes back to reveal himself as a well bred city boy who would like to claim the hand of Jane—when she grows up some more. However, he has a very active rival, Toby Simpkins, a partner in all the pranks and mischief at school, played by Clinton Shields.

Equally strong character parts are played by the following students:

Ollie Dinklebury, the school teacher, Vera Robinson.

Jason Gouch, a stingy and rather testy old gentleman who is in love with the school teacher, Ben Al Riley.

Crystal Cluett, the villianess, Anita Gullion.

Nola Miller, the 15-year-old school girl who always does her "dooty" (reports Jane's mischief), Anna Jean Love.

Marion Marsh, Jane's mother, Betty Thomas.

Don't fail to see this play if you are looking for an evening of fun and first class entertainment. Time 8:30 (E. W. T.) Admission 17c and 28c.

LESS INSTALLMENT BUYING

Customer credit outstanding at the end of January was estimated $5,760,000,000, a drop of $4,000,000,000 from the peak reached in September, 1941. Reductions in installment purchases of customer durable goods have been the chief factor in the declining trend.

Reducing sizes and stock items of grocers' and variety bags will save about 80,000 tons of wood pulp and use of 4,000 freight cars in 1943.

Simplification of cotton fabrics will add approximately 230 million yards of cotton textiles annually through increased loom capacity.

CARD OF THANKS

The P.-T. A. of Burlington wish to thank everyone who helped in any way to make the banquet a success; also the fine cooperation of the Farm Bureau. 1t-p

CONTRACT LET FOR BOONE CO. AIRPORT

CONSTRUCTION WORK WILL BE STARTED AS SOON AS WEATHER PERMITS—HIGHWAY BIDS TO BE RECEIVED APRIL 9.

According to an announcement made this week, contract for the construction of the airport in Boone County has been awarded the Frank Mashuda Co., Milwaukee, Wis., by the Civil Aeronautical Administration in Chicago.

The contract was approved at Washington and the approval of the contract to the Milwaukee company was then given by the Chicago CAA authorities. The approximate bid of the successful bidder was $1,860,000.

Construction work on the airport will be started as soon as weather permits, according to reports. The work, no doubt, will be started within the next two weeks and under the specifications the contract and work are to be completed within 150 days.

Specifications under which the contract was awarded provide for asphalt runways. They will be constructed of 16 inches of stabilized gravel with a pentration coat of oil, a three-inch surface of hot-mixed asphalt, and a final surface of oil and sand, a total thickness of 19 inches. Light conduits are to be installed under the runways at the time of their construction.

Lighting contracts will be awarded at a later date.

Necessary buildings such as an administration building and hangars, are to be erected by Kenton County. The contract entered into provides, however, that all grading, sodding, and seeding extend around the building sites and 300 feet beyond building lines.

Awarding of the contract for construction of the airport climaxed almost two years of effort on the part of the Covington-Kenton County Chamber of Commerce, Covington-Kenton County Industrial Association, Kenton County Fiscal Court, Kenton County legislators and civic leaders in Boone and Kenton counties.

The State Highway Department will take bids on April 9th for the construction of a two-lane road from the airport to Erlanger to connect with the Dixie Highway at that point.

Free Picture Show Scheduled For April 5

Two free motion picture shows will be given in Boone County on this Monday, April 5th, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The pictures sponsored by one of the nation's leading oil companies will demonstrate methods of getting most from our machinery under war conditions.

One of the pictures is entitled "War on Wear," another "Power at the Draw Bar." The program is sponsored jointly by the oil company and the Engineering Department of the College of Agriculture. The shows will be of interest to all farmers and their families.

SUGGESTS AWARD TO FOOD FARMERS

WOULD AWARD RECOGNITION SIMILAR TO THE ARMY-NAVY "E" TO FARMERS WHO INCREASE FOOD PRODUCTION.

A local farmer the past week has written a letter recommending that the government award recognition similar to the Army-Navy E award to farmers who increase food production. This recommendation is worthy of consideration, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

The farmer is faced with greatly reduced machinery, feed and labor supplies, yet he has been called upon for marked increases in food production. He is as a whole, one of the most patriotic groups in America today. It is hoped some worthy recognition for farmers can be worked out.

Similar recognition has been recommended for the fine group of farm neighborhood leaders that have so nobly served in the Inflation Control, Fats, Nylon Hostion, 4-H Club Victory Project Enery, Tin Can Salvage, Fire Prevenlistment and the present 75 percent goal Home Food Production Program.

Plans Being Made To Set Up Farm Labor Committee

Plans are being made to set up a county Farm Labor Committee, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The committee will be composed mainly of farmers.

The committee will serve in analizing the local coordinating and correlating activities to see that farmers receive maximum labor assistance in producing and harvesting their 1943 crops.

Soldiers Back To Farms

The War Department has announced procedures by which soldiers, as individuals, may obtain discharges from the Army to return to their farms. Soldiers on active duty in the Continental U. S., who are 38 years of age and over, may be discharged upon favorable consideration of written applications submitted prior to May 1, 1943. These requests must be accompanied by a letter or statement from local farm agents to the effect that the soldiers will be employed in essential agricultural activities if discharged from the Army. Such requests are made by the soldier to his immediate commanding officer. A soldier meeting these requirements will be discharged promptly unless his release will seriously affect the efficiency of his unit.

Florence School Will Present 3-Act Play Friday Night

A three-act comedy, entitled "Bolts and Nuts," will be presented by the Florence High School on Friday evening, April 2, at 8:00 in the high school gym.

Much to the dismay of Benita Bolt, (Dorothy Cody) her masterful aunt, Rebecca Bolt (Betty Yelton) turns her mansion she inherited from her brother, Benjamin, into a mental sanitarium, whereupon the nuts starts to pour in, and the fun begins. Lutie Spinks, (Kathleen Woods) the man hating maid, has a nervous habit of winking, that gets her into trouble with flirtatious men patients.

Gertie Glossop, (Mary E. Lutes) for fear of contagionphobia, all but asphixiates everybody else with her spraying machines. Cadwallader Clippy ("Pete" Poe) has a cat phobia and is frightened nearly out of his wits by the pet cat of little Wilbur Glosson (Bobby Martin) a problem child. Prunella Figg (Jean Sininger) suffers from Claustrophobia, Martha Grubb, (Jo Ann Kinman) is a melancholic, and Plunkett, (Lee Roy Mullins) develops a persecution complex, while Henry, (George Ward) the darky porter, has a fear of lunatics. Even Twink Starr (Renaker Miller), Benita's fiance, joins the company of nuts in disguise, in hopes of finding a chance to soften the heart of Rebecca, so that she will consent to his marrying Benita.

Hilarious situations develops with the arrival of Dr. Joy, (Bobby Pike) who undertakes to cure the patients. It soon becomes apparent that most of the patients are fakes, hunting for the hidden money left by the late Benjamin Bolt.

The real doctor, appearing in act three, Dr. Jack Gordon (Verne Arnold) discloses the identity of Dr. Joy, who is really in inmate of the Boaz Asylum. The final discovery, through the ingenuity of Twink Star, forms a fitting climax for the fast moving farce of many laughs.

Admission will be 20c and 30c. The public is cordially invited to attend.

$1500 NEEDED IN RED CROSS DRIVE

CLOSE OF CAMPAIGN DRAWING NEAR, SAYS COUNTY CHAIRMAN—SUPPORT OF EVERY-ONE IS SOLICITED.

Boone County needs $1500 more to reach our quota in the Boone County Red Cross and War Fund campaign, according to R. I. Rouse chairman.

Citizens of Boone County have given their full support to drives of this nature, and no doubt will see that our goal is reached or exceeded. The campaign is due to close in the near future and everyone is urged to help boost the total to $5100 or more. Now is the time to contribute your share toward the welfare of our five hundred boys in our Armed Forces.

If you have not been solicited by one of the precinct workers, you are asked to mail your contribution to the local Chapter at Burlington or mail your contribution to Carroll Cropper, treasurer or R. I. Rouse, local chairman.

Let's all get behind this drive and show our boys in the Armed Forces that we are standing behind them. 100 per cent on the home front. Let's show them thru our contributions that we appreciate their services.

American sailors, Marines, and members of the U. S. Army cherish the American Red Cross. In peace or war they know that the Red Cross symbol means a link with home—prompt help in time of trouble. They know it carries the message of their loved ones to them in distant ports, and that it stands by their families in moments of distress.

The past year's record of achievement of the Red Cross has revealed activities on an unprecedented scale. Through its services to the armed forces, survivors of torpedoed ships have been provided with clothing and Red Cross comfort kits as soon as they have been rescued. Emergency operations have been performed on shipboard, utilizing blood plasma collected by the American Red Cross.

Through two branches of Red Cross service, that of the Military Welfare in the field with the troops wherever they may be, and the Home Service functioning in the 3,755 Chapters, the customary services are maintained.

With the unprecedented expansion of our war effort on far-flung battle fronts this Red Cross task is in itself gigantic and needs to be kept at full strength. As a new service, the American Red Cross, at the request of the War Department, has established clubs for our soldiers in the British Isles, Australia and other points.

VEAL MAY NOT BE PROFITABLE

TO FARMERS ACCORDING TO COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE DAIRY HERD IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION.

It requires ten pounds of milk to produce one pound of veal, according to College of Agriculture Dairy Herd Improvement Association news-letters of the past week. If the calf nurses the cow until veal weight is produced the cow's annual milk production is reduced from 15 to 20 percent.

The 1700 pounds of milk (1000 pounds for calf and 700 pounds reduced annual milk production), required under these conditions to produce a 150 pound veal of the Jersey breed would produce 25 pounds of dry edible matter compared with 24 pounds of dry edible matter from the veal calf.

The three main points the dairyman should consider in raising veal calves are: 1. The price of veal; 2, the price of milk; 3, the size of calf at birth.

Heifer calves raised for herd replacement may best be raised with a minimum of milk and with use of one of the numerous calf meals.

The Boone, Shelby, Carroll County DHIA testing association was second highest and the Northern Kentucky DHIA testing association seventh highest in production of ten DHIA testing associations in the state last month. Both associations serve Boone County dairymen.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Cress and daughter Catherine, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Eckler, of Rising Sun, Ind.

Convention Is Cancelled By K. E. A.

At a called meeting of the Board of Directors of the Kentucky Education Association Saturday, March 20th, the question of the cancellation of the formal program of the K. E. A. convention was discussed.

It was the opinion of the Board that in view of the continued efforts of the government to curtail gatherings, which would involve travel, that as a patriotic measure the convention should not be held this year.

It was further stated that facilities for entertaining such a convention in the city of Louisville in the month of April would be entirely too inadequate—that the crowded conditions of hotels and the consequent inability of members to obtain rooms would make it impossible for many delegates to come.

Further reasons cited were the fact that service for hotel and restaurants has been so hampered and that the rationing of food supplies has been so necessary that the entertainment of large delegations is no longer practicable.

Mrs. Mary E. Beschmann

Mrs. Mary E. Beschmann, aged 68 years, passed away Thursday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Armin Hummell, 116 Carlisle Ave., Elsmere, Ky., after several months illness.

SECOND WAR BOND DRIVE WILL BEGIN APRIL 12TH

THIRTEEN BILLION DOLLARS TO BE RAISED IN UNITED STATES BY SALE OR BONDS—LOCAL CHAIRMEN NAMED.

On April 12th a campaign of solicitation for the sale of War Bonds will begin all over the nation to raise $13,000,000,000 to finance the war. Boone County's quota has not as yet been assigned, but it is safe to predict that our quota will be approximately 50 percent greater than our quota last December when the quota for the nation was $9,000,000,000. This means that everyone must subscribe for larger amounts than during the December drive and many who did not subscribe the last time will be asked to lend a hand this time, even though one may have to borrow on future earnings in order to subscribe.

A. B. Renaker, chairman of the Victory Fund Committee and A. D. Yelton, chairman of the War Savings Committee of Boone County will serve as co-chairmen of this April drive. These gentlemen are willing and anxious to work with all precinct chairmen of both the Victory Fund Committee and War Savings Committee.

The following will serve as precinct chairmen and are the same as served in the December drive: C. D. Benson, Burlington; John L. Conner, Hebron and Bullittsville; C. Liston Hempfling, Constance; C. E. McNeely, Grant; C. F. Blankenbeker, Florence; Miss Lillian Bristow, Union; C. W. Thompson, Walton; G. C. Ransom, Verona; R. L. Green, Beaver; Thomas Huff, Hamilton; W. H. Presser, Carlton; H. R. Hensley, Petersburg.

The War Savings Committee is expected to join with the above committee in this drive. It is planned to appoint a woman in each precinct to work with the precinct chairman as soon as the quota is announced for Boone County. The County committee will be called together shortly to map out plans of this campaign for a house to house canvass.

The following bonds will be offered in addition to the Series E, F, and G, bonds: A 2 percent bond maturing September 15, 1952, callable in 1950, in denominations of $500,00, $1,000.00, $5,000.00, $100,-000.00 and $1,000,000.00. All types of investors may subscribe, including banks.

A 2½ bond maturing June 15, 1969, callable in 1964, in denominations of the same as the 2 per cent bond. All types of investors may subscribe to this issue except banks. Tax savings notes will continue to be offered also.

The 2 and 2½ bonds will be dated April 15th and no accrued interest will be charged during the drive on subscriptions of $1,000.00 or less, over this amount accrued interest is charged from April 15th.

The soldier boy is being asked to give something. We are only asked to lend our money to our Government at a good rate of interest with the principal returned to us at maturity. Let's do our bit by subscribing our limit to these bonds and put Boone County "over the top" this time.

COUNTY IS GIVEN INCREASED QUOTA

IN SWEET POTATO PRODUCTION—QUOTA OF 150 ACRES SET FOR 1943—INCREASE OF 32 PERCENT.

Boone County has been assigned a quota of 150 acres of sweet potatoes for 1943. This will be a considerable increase over the past production of sweet potatoes in this county. No particular varieties of sweet potatoes have been designated.

The 1943 goal for sweet potatoes recently was increased 32 percent over the earlier goal, which had called for the same acreage as planted in 1942.

The Department of Agriculture several days ago announced that it will support prices of U. S. No. 1 grade sweet potatoes produced in 1943 at $1.15 to $1.45 per bushel, depending on seasonal differences, to encourage growers to meet the production goal of 1 million acres.

Secretary of Agriculture Wickard emphasized the necessity of a substantial increase in planted acreage for sweet potatoes.

"We will need larger than normal quantities in 1943 to insure an adequate supply," he said. Sweet potatoes are a highly nutritious food, and we must have enough of them so they can be substituted to some extent for other foods that may be scarce.

Prices will be supported through purchases by the Food Distribution Administration at $1.15 per bushel during the harvesting season from August through November; at $1.30 per bushel in December and January, and at $1.45 per bushel during February, March, and April. These prices apply to sweet potatoes grading U. S. No. 1 and packed in either bushel crates, baskets, or hampers. U. S. No. 2 containing 75 percent or better of U. S. No. 1 quality will be supported at 15 cents per bushel below the price for U. S. No. 1.

Sweetpotatoes will be purchased in 50-pound sacks, but at a discount of 10 cents under the designated bushel prices. This differential takes into account the the lighter weight of the packed sacks and the lower packing costs.

No Restrictions On Food In Lockers

Food in frozen food lockers may be used by farmers and other consumers without rationing restrictions, OPA has stated. The total amount of perishable food stored in lockers in private homes, on farms, and in commercial plants is considered too small to justify the inconvenience it would cause all consumers either to have this food declared, or to place any legal restrictions on its use.

Mrs. Wallace Ryle was taken to Christ Hospital, Cincinnati, last Thursday, due to severe attack of neuritis.

The Committee on Manpower of the Petroleum Industry War Council has outlined a constructive plan for every oil company to inform employes as to the part each individual company and the industry is taking in the war program. Employes should be made aware of the fact that oil is an essential war industry and is so classified by the Selective Service Bureau of the War Manpower Commission and by the Petroleum Administrator for War.

Petroleum is the lifeblood of mechanized war. Airplanes, tanks, jeeps, trucks, submarines and battleships are fueled and lubricated with petroleum. Add butadiene for rubber, toluene for explosives, asphalt for runways, and the importance of petroleum is self evident.

But these facts must be brought home to the gauger in an isolated oil field, to an oiler at some faraway pump station, and to the geologist pondering data which may lead to new sources of supply. They must be told that what they do and what thousands of others like them do in many jobs, is an indispensable contribution to this essential war industry. The gauger running the crude oil will be more impressed with his job if he learns from the management of his company that he is starting a stream that may end in an engine in a tank in Africa or a plane over Guadalcanal. Such morale-building information can be brought to employes through employe meetings, through stories simply told, and through questions and answers at such meetings.

It is of the utmost importance to any industry that men and women who keep that industry going realize the importance of the positions they occupy, and take pride in their work, engage in civilian defense, watch their health, buy war bonds, refrain from talking business outside business, write employes in service, and conserve cars and tires.

The petroleum industry is doing a great job in presenting a pattern to help workers realize the importance of their efforts in carrying the war to a successful conclusion.

INTOLERABLE SITUATION

The Honorable Howard W. Smith congressman from Virginia, has introduced a bill in the House of Representatives to amend the National Labor Relations Act so as to specifically exclude supervisory personnel from the term "employe."

Under the word of the present act, the National Labor Relations Board recognizes no limitation on the term "employee" says Congressman Smith, ". . .even the highest officials of a corporation or employes of the corporation, for the purposes of the Act.

"This creates an intolerable situation from the standpoint of management. If there is to be collective bargaining there must be somebody to bargain on each side of the table."

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, has taken advantage of this situation and instructed local unions to proceed to enroll the 60,000 management representatives of the bituminous coal companies, and under the present construction of the National Labor Relations Act, they have no ready alternative but to join the union and pay $10 initiation fee and $1.50 a month dues whether they wish to or not.

"The issue is not confined to the bituminous coal industry," says Mr. Smith. "If representatives of management in that industry are within the terms of the National Labor Relations Act and may thus be taken over, the same thing could be done in every industry in the country, and the theory that there can be free collective bargaining under any such conditions, is pure fiction."

In their own interests, labor unions should not condone such acts of their leaders, for they, and not the leader's responsible for such policies, will suffer most in the long run.

—o—

FACTS AT LAST

The Secretary of Agriculture has frankly said before the Senate Appropriations Committee: "Since I appeared before you a month ago, I have become increasingly alarmed about our inability to get enough farm labor to reach the goals we have established for farm production. I am more alarmed today than I was yesterday."

"Economic planners" have largely taken farm crops for granted like air and water—something the Lord provides. They have considered almost everything else an "essential" industry ahead of farming. They have a farmer so tied up with red tape restrictions that the time required in complying with them is actually cutting down farm production.

We are not living in horse and buggy days. A minority of our people on farms are feeding a majority of our people in cities. They can't do it without manpower and machinery, nor can they do it on a price basis that ignores farm production costs as compared with industrial production costs.

CHICKEN BUSINESS UP

According to Clay Colson, farm agent, chicken raising in Estill county, Kentucky, this year will be double normal peace-time numbers. Farmers are anxious to produce chickens and eggs to help win the war, and also to make money. Hatcheries have been operating at full capacity most of the year.

Last year, British "Digging for Victory" gardens produced between 40 and 60 million dollars' worth of fresh vegetables.

Four thousand pounds of fat were salvaged by housewives in Fleming county, and collected by one grocer.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for April 4

PETER AND JOHN BECOME DISCIPLES OF JESUS

LESSON TEXT—John 1:29-42; Mark 1:16-20.

GOLDEN TEXT—And Jesus said unto them, Come ye after me, and I will make you to become fishers of men.—Mark 1:17.

Personal faith in Christ is the heart of Christian experience. Since persons are won by other persons it was vitally important that the Lord choose the right disciples at the very beginning of the Church. Outstanding among the twelve disciples were Peter and John, whose lives and letters we study during the next three months.

The manner in which they became disciples is of unusual interest—and is instructive as well. We will observe that our Lord is working in much the same way on the Peters and Johns of our own day. They came to Him by way of

I. Testimony—They Heard About Jesus (John 1:29-34, 41).

John, who modestly refrains from naming himself (v. 40), heard about Jesus from John the Baptist. His testimony is notable for its pointed presentation of Christ, and its unmistakable desire that they follow Him. John was an important man with a vigorous message, but he recognized that his only real business for God was to point men to Christ. He enjoyed having men follow him, but only that he might lead them to Jesus.

In doing Christian work we should learn so to bear our testimony that we may magnify Christ, and not ourselves. We must be careful to win men to Christ, and not to ourselves or our cause or church.

Peter was brought to Jesus by his brother Andrew. Andrew was a quiet, modest man of whom we do not read that he preached a single sermon. But he did do personal work (see John 6:8, 9; 12:21, 22). He has been called "Andrew the finder." May "his tribe" increase. We need more like him.

Hearing about Jesus is not enough. There must be the next step, the indispensable personal meeting with the Lord.

II. Experience—They Saw Jesus (John 1:35-39, 42).

The necessity of a personal experience with Christ is so clearly stated in Scripture that one can only marvel that it is so neglected in many churches today.

Neither John the Baptist nor, later, Andrew was content to tell about Jesus. They brought John and Peter to the Lord. John said, "Behold the Lamb of God" (v. 36); and Andrew "brought him to Jesus" (v. 42). These sum up the soul-winner's duty. We must bring our family, our friends, yes, the stranger with whom we deal, into the presence of Jesus.

He will look into their eyes and into their souls and see in them all the gifts and graces which may make them useful to Him (v. 42). John was the brother of James and Peter the brother of Andrew—just two humble fishermen in the sight of men. But Jesus saw in them two of the most useful men who have ever lived. Let us give Him a chance to deal with our friends and acquaintances.

Hearing and seeing are both excellent, but they lack one final step—and here it is—

III. Action—They Followed Jesus (John 1:40; Mark 1:16-20).

First of all they followed Jesus in becoming believers on Him as the Messiah. That experience of John's we find in John 1:40, and of Peter's (by inference) in verse 42. There is no salvation apart from that act of the will which follows a knowledge of Christ.

In the passage in Mark we find Him calling them to leave their secular calling as fishers of fish to follow Him and become fishers of men. Before they could become what He wanted them to be, they had to do something—rise up and follow Him.

Their unquestioning response indicated their faith, but, more than that, it showed that they were the kind of obedient men who could be used of the Lord. Jesus might have called His disciples from the learned and the mighty. But one wonders whether they would have been willing to respond without argument, and to learn of Him without prejudice or preconceived ideas of theology.

God must often pass the mighty and the noble of this world, and call those who are foolish enough to believe Him and obey (read I Cor. 1:17-29). The reason is given there—"That no flesh should glory in his presence." The glory belongs to the Lord, not to His servants.

Because they did obey they became "fishers of men." He led them, trained them, encouraged them, blessed them, and used them.

A disciple is a "learner," but he is learning for a purpose. Learning for its own sake, as an ornament or a selfish pleasure, is always a sad thing, but with the disciple of Christ it cannot be that if he rightly knows Christ.

The disciple is to win other disciples. That is the very heart of Christian witness.

Town And Farm In Wartime

Drive Against Black Markets

A total of 783 court actions against 1,025 individual defendants have been begun in the first two months of OPA's intensive drive to stamp out black markets in meat. Of the total 149 were criminal actions against 246 defendants, and 634 were civil actions against 779 defendants. They charge wholesalers, packers and retailers with delivering meat for civilian use in excess of permitted quotas or selling it at higher than ceiling prices, or both.

Farm Machinery

The Government freeze on the last item of farm machinery needed for food crop production has now been lifted, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Distribution directive for all haying and harvesting machinery are expected to be issued to manufacturers before April 15. Approximately 75 percent of all types of rationed farm machinery, which was frozen November 1, 1942, has now been freed for distribution and local rationing through county war boards.

More Frozen Foods for '43

Expanded facilities for producing quick-frozen foods are expected to bring total frozen vegetable production to over 200 million pounds in 1943. The increase in output will be primarily for the purpose of meeting expanding requirements of the armed forces. Approximately 30 per cent of the production increase, however, will be available to civilian consumers, and will give them a total of about 180 million pounds—about 20 percent more than in 1942.

Restrictions on Seed Potatoes

Seed potatoes cannot be sold by retail stores for any purpose other than planting, OPA has announced. OPA has also ruled that seed potatoes must be tagged as such in sales at retail and cannot be sold by retailers in quantities of less than 50 pounds. Similar steps were taken by OPA, March 18, 1943, at the country shipper and other distributor levels. The amendment became effective on March 25 and is expected to help curb the potato black markets.

Tire Certificates

Rationing certificates for tires and tubes may be used at any time convenient to the holder, according to a recent OPA order withdrawing the provision which limited the life of a certificate to 30 days after the date of issuance.

Pressure Cookers For Canning

About 150,000 pressure cookers will be produced for this year's canning season. Although that will be twice as many as were made in 1942, it is believed that demand will be far in excess of the supply. It is uncertain, however, whether more than 150,000 can be produced this year because of the scarcity of critical materials required in manufacture, such as metals and synthetic rubber rings required to seal pressure cookers.

Slaughterers Must Have Permit

All livestock slaughterers who sell meat, who are not registered with OPA under meat restriction Order No. 1, including farmers and local butchers, are urged to get their permits early and avoid difficulties. Slaughterers must stamp their permit number at least once on each wholesale cut delivered after March 31. Permits to farmers in all areas and to local butchers and meat packers in small towns will be issued by County U. S. Department of Agriculture war boards. Farmers who slaughter animals for home use only need not obtain permits, but a permit is required for all meat sold. Slaughterers who sell meat must keep complete records of all livestock slaughtered.

Fats Collections Are Short

Collections of waste kitchen fats during January increased nearly 900,000 pounds over the preceding month but fell short of the monthly quota of 16,667,000 pounds, according to the Salvage Division of WPB.

Stove Pipe Supply Limited

Stove pipe will be obtainable only in limited quantities next winter, according to the Plumbing and Heating Division of the War production Board. Some precautions for saving pipe for next season are: 1. Clean pipe and remove rust with a wire brush; 2, Apply asbestos furnace cement to all holes; 3, Carefully apply a good heat resisting paint; 4. Wrap in heavy paper and store over summer in a dry place.

Dealers To Give "Point Invoices"

All dealers in foods covered by the meats and fats rationing program have been advised by OPA to give "point invoices" along with their customary dollar and cents invoices for products sold.

Get Out Your Bicycle

Bicycles, which have been stored should be put into shape to relieve overburdened transportation systems, says the ODT. A valuable service can be rendered by the nation's estimated 11 million bicycles, and an additional 283,000 new bicycles are available for those who can meet requirements under the OPA rationing program. Purchase of second-hand bicycles is not restricted.

Recapped Tractor Tires

Farm tractor and implement tires will be recapped hereafter only with a material made almost entirely of reclaimed rubber, and replacements will not be issued for tires that are recappable, the OPA announced in a rubber conservation move.

Jeffers Urges Reduced Speed

In a letter to state governors recently, Rubber Director William M. Jeffers, stressed the importance of reduced speed in connection with the unrationed tire recapping program, pointing out that reclaimed rubber is now being used exclusively for this purpose. This material is more apt to fail and cause accidents if driven at higher speeds than 35 miles per hour.

Keep Heating Ration Stub

Oil-rationed householders have been cautioned by OPA to preserve the identity stub of their heating ration as it will be required when next winter's rations are issued. The stub is the remaining part of the coupon sheet after all the individual coupons have been removed. It contains the code number of the individual's ration, the date of issuance and expiration, the amount of the ration, and similar information. Local boards will require the consumer to present the stub when the 1943-44 rations are distributed.

V-Mail Volume Increases

Eighty-three per cent more V-mail was sent overseas during February than in January. For the short month of February, there were 5,990,570 microfilmed V-mail letters as against 3,281,504 in January.

Fish Catch Smaller

The 1942-43 catch of pilchards (usually sold as California sardines), which in tonnage taken holds first rank among all fishes from American waters, was 20 per cent lower than in the previous season, according to the deputy co-ordinator of fisheries. Contrary to the general impression, there is no specific fish known as a sardine. The term may include pilchards, herring, anchovies, and other varieties of small fish.

Money Talks

By FREDERICK W. STAMM,
Economist,
Director of Adult Education,
UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

"BUY WAR BONDS" will be the popular slogan in every American community during the month of April. The United States Treasury Department is beginning its thirteen billion bond drive April 1, and I am sure every one of us will want to do our part in this vital War Campaign. Several weeks ago I wrote about this, but in the light of recent events, I think it is worth repeating.

Our Government is now spending over six billion dollars a month or over two hundred million every day on tanks, planes, guns, ships, and other war equipment. This is at the rate of seventy-eight billion a year. The Government cannot raise this amount through taxes, and it must depend upon us to buy bonds in ever-increasing amounts. Very recently I noticed a newspaper headline which read "Bond-Cashing Still in Style." It seems that the American people are not only buying bonds but also cashing them. From March 1 to 15 our citizens cashed a total of $70,342,126.43 worth of bonds or a daily average of over five billion dollars. There may have been a good reason for this, for many people had large income taxes to pay on March 15 but had made no provision for taking care of them. But even after March 15 this bond cashing kept on and from March 16 to 20 over twenty-five billion were redeemed. This was still at a rate of over five billion a day.

I realize that often times emergencies arise which demand ready money and one way to secure it is to cash in your War Bonds. But we must realize the Government needs our money not for one day but for a long period of time. We are not helping out much when we buy a bond one day and cash it in the next. These bonds runs for 10 years, and we should make every effort to keep these bonds for the entire period of time. It is also to our advantage to keep the bonds, for we get a higher interest rate if we keep them for five, six or seven years than if we cash them in after six months or a year.

We may have to sacrifice and give up some of our pleasures to keep these bonds, but isn't it worth it? War demands sacrifice, and although only one out of twenty Americans will be called upon to enter the Armed Forces, the rest of us can do our part by purchasing War Bonds and keeping them. When we buy the bonds in this April drive let's plan to put them away for the duration of the War, at least.

After all, that is a small price to pay for VICTORY!

MORE POTATOES.

Farm Agent S. V. Foy notes that Fulton county will increase its acreage of Irish potatoes, some farmers planting from 10 to 15 acres. Four carloads of seed potatoes have been distributed among the delta farmers of the county. It is possible that there will be three different means for marketing the fall crop: by individual local buyers, by group marketing, and by dehydration.

Approximately $130 worth of garden seed was sold by the Leslie county cooperative association before the first of March.

Claude Young of Bath county, who has been milking 10 high grade Jersey cows, turned the calves in with the cows because of the labor shortage.

In Letcher county, the 4-H club membership goal is 3,500—one member for every man in service from the county.

A Week of The War

Washington, March 26—Some of the hardest fighting of the North African war was in progress last week in south and central Tunisia. The British Eighth Army having taken 2,000 Axis prisoners, was attempting to widen its break-thru at the Mareth Line, engaging the enemy in heavy artillery dueling and carrying terrific aerial assaults against Rommel's tank and troop concentrations. Light and medium bombers have pounded air fields, vehicles, road, docks—any objective that the Axis could use in its counterattacks.

American forces, tightening their part of the ring around Rommel, pushed forward in the Gafsa area and made further local gains in the drive-to-the-sea near Maknassy. Two American columns, having gained more than 100 miles before the enemy counter-attacked near El Guettar, repulsed the counterattack successfully, took 1500 Italian prisoners, and moved on towards Gabes and Sfax, the big Axis reinforcement bases on the Eastern Coast.

Air activity was heavy over the entire Tunisian front. According to Secretary of War Stimson, American fliers have been shooting down three or four Axis planes for every U. S. plane lost. But, as Mr. Stimson pointed out, the "grim, conclusive battles" must always be fought on the ground. He warned that American forces in this theater must expect heavy casualties, but said that in ground fighting our forces have more than justified themselves against the veteran German troops.

Daylight Bombing of Europe

One reason for the success of American air power in Tunisia is the heavy day and night raids currently being made on Nazi war plants in Germany and occupied Europe. These raids, Mr. Stimson explained, are keeping at home Axis fighting planes that would otherwise be used against us in North Africa. He called the recent (March 18) American raid at Vegesack, Germany, the war's "most successful American raid on German territory," pointing out that the target—the powerhouse—was completely demolished and the area enveloped in flames.

The success of this raid and of the March 22 raid on Wilhelmshaven was cited by Major General Ira C. Eaker, commander of the USAAF in the European theater, as proof of the practicability of high-level daylight precision-bombing. General Eaker revealed that fortresses and liberators, in the attack on Vegesack, destroyed 52 German fighters, probably destroyed 20, and damaged 23 more. The raid on Wilhelmshaven, he said, netted 28 Axis fighters destroyed, 9 probably destroyed and 9 damaged. Already, he said ,the Germans are struggling for an answer to the flying fortresses, the types of aircraft they are sending against them indicate how badly the Axis has been forced to stretch its defenses. Therefore, the American Air Force in Britain will proceed at once with plans for a true "round-the-clock" air offensive against German-occupied Europe, using new, bigger and faster American bombers, bombers that will carry three or four times the bomb weight of the present flying fortresses.

Elaborating General Eaker's statements, Brigadier General Newton Longfellow, commander of the Eighth USAAF, predicted that in the near future we will have sufficient forces to make daylight raids comparable to those now being made at night by the RAF, and disclosed that between November 1 and March 20 flying fortresses and liberators made 28 high-altitude raids, dropped more than 4,000 tons of bombs, destroyed 329 enemy planes, probably destroyed 265, and damaged 168.

Airpower in The Pacific

General MacArthur, too, spoke last week about the value of airpower. Replying to congratulations on his Bismarck sea victory, General MacArthur said the infinite possibilities and strategic application of air-power are not yet fully understood—airpower nolds the key to victory, if we "have sufficient imagination to seize the opportunity." All week, General MacArthur's air force has been busy throwing its strength against the Japanese invasion base at Lae on New Guinea Island, against Rabaul on New Britain Island (destroying or damaging "a substantial portion" of at least 250 grounded enemy planes) and against Mubo in the important Salamaua area of New Guinea. These were heavy raids, calculated to frustrate any Japanese attempt to launch a new drive against Allied-held territory, and they were accompanied by strategic ground movements along a wide stretch of New Guinea's North Coast.

200,000 Youths Are Members Of 4-H Club In State Of Kentucky

Four-H Club members of Boone County have a great part to play in our war effort this year. Your boys and girls are members of a large organization whose chief aim this year is food production for our Armed Forces.

Approximately 200,000 4-H Club members in the state of Kentucky are enlisted in such war time projects as garden, poultry, canning, clothes, swine, beef, sheep and crops. They are going to have a lot to do with meeting our 1943 food production goal.

Your son or daughter should be proud to be a member of such an organization. It has been through the efforts of local club members that the organization has been made important.

We want to do our part to help these boys and girls carry out their projects to completion. Most of the project work is done in the home or on the farm and club members will be helped this year by the captains of the projects, adult leaders and the Extension agents whenever it is possible. The adult leaders have or will be contacted by the extension agents, and in all cases where they have been asked, expressed themselves as being ready to advise and help the club member in any way possible.

We are assured of a large number of boys and girls beginning their project and the wholehearted cooperation of the adult leader, and now we are asking that the parents get behind these boys and girls and see that the interest in his or her particular project does not cool off until the project is completed.

MARTINIQUE MUST BE GOOD

Friendly relations with the United States and the French West Indies Island of Martinique have been suspended. It appears that the French officials in control of the Island have violated their agreements with the State Department in Washington and that the High Commissioner of the Island is taking orders from Vichy. Assistant Secretary of State Sumner Welles says that no food will be sent from the United States to Martinique until that Island plays ball with the Allies. Our State Department has been very patient with Martinique, but patience has ceased to be a virtue.

Joe has a bigger job now... helping to defeat Hitler, Hirohito & Co. He's one of the 100 employees of this company now serving in the armed forces.

Joe will be back some day, we hope soon. But meanwhile we must carry on without him and his fellow employees in uniform. A few of them we have been able to replace with men of equal experience. Others we are having to train. Some we have not been able to replace at all. In wartime there are simply not enough skilled men like Joe to go around.

As time goes on, the manpower shortage will become more acute. So will shortages of material and equipment. As a result there may be times when our service is not quite as good as you expect it to be—or as good as we would like to make it—but this is unavoidable in wartime and is true of all lines of business.

We're going to continue to do our best to keep your service at a high standard despite the difficulties of wartime operations. You can help by keeping your electrical equipment in good condition, by learning to replace your own fuses and by giving us time to answer your service calls on regular trips. Your cooperation and understanding will be appreciated and will help us serve you more efficiently.

J. D. Riddle, Hebron, newly inducted personnel of the U. S. Army has been sent forward from the Reception Center at Fort Thomas, Ky., to Camp Wolters, Texas.

In a letter to his mother, Mrs. Truman Lucas, of Hilltop. he whites:

"If anyone wants to know how I like the army, just tell them I like it fine if it wasn't so far from home. I have been away from home three weeks and it seems like ages.

"As we were going down the river from Cincinnati, I could see the Cedar trees on Carder's place and it sure made me home sick. There was no one on the train that I knew.

"Mother what do you think? Last night I was writing a letter when I heard that a troop train from Ft. Thomas had just arrived. I found out where some of them were staying and I looked them up. So far I have found two boys that I know, Willis Sturgeon, of Verona and Raymond Geltys, of Florence. I was so glad to see them I couldn't talk, and they were about the same way. I hope I can be close to them all the time. We are not in the same barracks, but we can be together every night.

"The three of us went to church Sunday. We heard a splendid sermon rendered by a good Chaplain. I bet he is a Baptist.

"I think we will be able to get what is called a Class pass sometime this week, that will enable us to remain outside camp until 12:00 every night and 2:30 on Saturday night.

"I am planning to visit Mineral Wells one night in the near future. it being only three miles from here. There are about 10,000 people in Mineral Wells except on Saturday night, when there are 25,000 soldiers, so they say.

"A few items about Texas weather: Yesterday the men that were outside and had their sleeves rolled up, were sunburned. This morning when we fell out we had to put on our overcoats, after dinner our jackets and about 3 o'clock we took our jackets off. It's no wonder that everyone has a cold. If this thirteen weeks down here don't kill us the Japs can't I know.

"Tell Truman to limber up his fingers and write a line or two. I know he'll say he knows nothing to write, but anything means a whole lot down here. That's what makes army life a lot better. I bet Truman would like it here in Texas. I sure would like to see you."

"Burlington, Ky.
"Dear Pete and all:

"I am here at my first station and head over heels in work. Where I had one person to serve in civilian life I now have ten or more. In fact, there has been so much to do that this is my first opportunity to write and let you know where I am.

"It is a great pleasure to receive The Recorder. I look forward to its coming with great anticipation. One does not realize how much these things do mean until he actually experiences such a life as this.

"Give my best regards to all my friends in Boone County. I trust everything is going well there.

"Sincerely yours,
"Thomas O. Harrison, Chaplain"

RED CROSS HOME NURSING

Thursday, April 8 at 2 p. m. at the Town Hall, Florence, has been set for a meeting of those interested in taking the Red Cross Home Nursing course.

There is a new and very interesting text book; also a new instructor's guide has just come in from Washington. This gives us the very newest methods of preventing disease and caring for the sick and aged. If, not enough persons come to the April 8 meeting to make a class worth while, we shall probably organize in some other part of the county and get to Florence later when it suits better.

There will be a diphtheria immunization clinic at Burlington School on Monday. Bring your children, especially babies.

Every child 6 to 9 months of age or older should be immunized against diphtheria. The treatments are safe and harmless. More than 4,000 children died from diphtheria in the United States last year. Immunization would have made these children safe. Protect your child today.

Other schools may arrange for a clinic if they wish. If you are interested call the County Red Cross Nurse, office 141, home 87.

CLOTHES RATIONING BRINGS NO WORRIES

Talk of rationing of clothes probably will never worry two members of the Williamsport Homemakers' club in Webster county. Mrs. Virgil Wells and Miss Ethel Wells recently had a display in a store window of some of the articles they had made from bleached, tinted and printed feed sacks. Dresses, aprons, pillow cases, dresser scarfs, tea towels and luncheon cloths were exhibited.

MAKE CLOTHES FROM MATERIALS ON HAND

How homemakers can help in clothing conservation by using materials on hand instead of buying when it isn't necessary, has been demonstrated by Mrs. Elmer Leet, a member of the Liberty Homemakers' club in Oldham county.

From used coats, Mrs. Leet made spring coats for herself and her eight-year-old daughter, then reconditioned and retrimmed their spring hats. By the use of clever sewing tricks, she also made or brought up to date a number of dresses for each of them, according to Home Agent Lilah Hembree.

FOODS THAT ARE ABUNDANT

Reports of food shortages abroad ranging from meager rations to actual starvation, serve to emphasize the fortunate position of this country. In spite of all restrictions, many foods are still abundant and unrationed.

Americans will be able to maintain a varied, nutritious and appetizing diet, executives of the Kellog Company recently predicted, through greater use of the foods which are plentiful. Cereals, fresh fruits and vegetables, home-cooked soups, home-canned fruits and vegetables are unrationed and deserve an important place in wartime meals.

Cereal manufacturers are said to be pushing production in anticipation of increased civilian needs, in addition to supplies they are furnishing the armed forces. Cereals that are either made of whole grain or restored to whole grain nutritive values of thiamin (vitamin B1), niacin and iron supply valuable food elements. A bowl of such cereals with milk and fruit or milk alone provides vitamins, minerals, protein and food energy in one dish.

Wasted money is wasted lives. Don't waste precious lives. Every dollar you can spare should be used to buy War Bonds. Buy your ten per cent every pay day.

Foot Health In Relation To Mental Health

N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
814-816 Madison, Covington

When you suffer from flat feet, your muscular system is taxed and irritates the nerves of the foot, simultaneously affecting the entire delicate nervous system, causing it to function at less their normal capacity. The result of this whole action is a generalized irritability and unrest in the individual.

Ordinarily the body can overcome the irritations of its various sick parts, and is capable of removing the effects of the disease. The disturbances of the foot, however, are often subject to influences which the body has great difficulty in combating.

The foot according to dictates of society should be housed in a protective leather or cloth covering, which must meet the aesthetic tastes of the prevailing fashion. Thus, if the fashion dictates that long thin shoes be worn, thousands of individuals with short wide feet will attempt to crowd them into long, thin shoes, and visa versa.

The vagaries of fashion may thus make you comfortable one season and uncomfortable another. However, when we consider the permanent effects of this change of style, we realize that the foot, which has a fairly permanent shape, has to respond like an elastic band. The harm wrought in one season does not disappear the next, but may rather be accentuated in some significant defect as for example the BUNION.

Once this defect is formed the foot is placed daily in what may be considered a vice or mold and the normal metabolis or growth activity of the foot is interferred with. The attempts of the body to overcome the irritation are frustrated and the physical ailment grows and becomes more pernicious. The mental effects of this constant irritant are such as to set up a continual hypersensitiveness in all behavior.—Adv.

We Print Everything But Dollar Bills

Early History Of Boone Co.

By A. M. Yealey

In the settlement of Florence the writer has found the period from 1808 to 1820 had been a period of time that the Rouses, Beemons, Zimmermans and Tanners were developing the Hopeful neighborhood.

Little was done in the Florence neighborhood, but in 1819 the Legislature granted a charter for building a road from Georgetown to Covington. The Legislature also granted Boone County a right to levy a special tax in order to purchase tools for public road work. By the passing of these laws, the Stephens, Maddens, Crislers, Wilhoits, Varners, Conners, McDonaldes, Stanfords and Nichols could visualize that at the junction of the Ridge Road and the road that led to Burlington would be an ideal location for a town.

A Mr. Fish owned the land and Shelby Street was laid off and so named after Gov. Isaac Shelby. Garrard Street was named after Gov. Garrard; Montgomery Street, named after Gen. Montgomery; Center St., so named as it splits west end of town in two equals; Youell Street named after Orlando Youell, who was quite an active man in Boone County.

So from 1820 to 1830 we find the names of Mr. Madden encouraging the building of houses along the streets heretofore mentioned. Two log houses were built on Garrard St. A Mr. Varner built a frame house on Shelby St., two frame buildings were built on Locust Street, so named on account of the large locust trees along its sides. It was given the name of Maddentown in 1825 and continued to hold this name until Mr. Madden left in 1827 when the name was changed to Connersville in honor of Jacob Conner, who at this time was owner of considerable of the land that had previously been mapped out for the town.

In 1830 the name was changed to Florence, because another Connersville was found to be in Shelby County and we find that the Legislature of Kentucky incorporated our town in 1830 as Florence and at this time the Federal government gave it a population of 63.

One hundred and twelve years thereafter, 1942, the writer had the population enumerated of the same village and found that fourteen more streets had been added and that 950 people reside within the corporate limits.

(To Be Continued)

Fred Rover of Jessamine county sold 1,305 eggs in January, netting $39.50. His 59 hens averaged 22 eggs each.

COMMERCE CLUB TO PROMOTE DAIRYING

Cooperating with Farm Agent Justice L. Pidcock in the promotion of more dairy products in Pulaski county is the Somerset Chamber of Commerce. The program includes the increase of herds of four to six cows by the addition of one or two more, better feeding and care of cows, and the feeding of milk substitutes and home grown grains to calves, pigs and chickens so that more milk may be marketed.

THE GARDEN

GREENS, LETTUCE, ONIONS
By John S. Gardner, Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics

For all of these the soil should be well prepared and excessively fertile. The "general" fertilizing scheme discussed some weeks ago is a good start, but extra nitrogen should be provided by side-dressing with poultry manure, a bushel to 300 feet. Nitrate of soda and sulphate of ammonia "have gone to war."

GREENS—Among the so-called "cabbage greens" are Siberian kale, Southern Curled mustard, Essex rape and Tendergreen. For 100 feet of row 1 ounce of seed is needed. The rows may be as close as 15 inches. The other green is Bloomsdale spinach, but for 100 feet of row, 2 ounces of seed is needed.

LETTUCE—Although it appears to be the dearest wish of so many gardeners to produce head lettuce, the leaf sorts should by no means be ignored, as leaf lettuce comes much earlier than the head sorts. In fact, a heading variety may be used for both, by sowing seed now, a half ounce to 100 feet, and as it is used, thinning to 8 inches. A better way, to grow head lettuce dependably, is to have 4-leaf plants to set, now, as they will make heads before the warm weather causes them to bolt to seed. Of the leaf sorts, Grand Rapids is the most reliable. The semi-heading sorts are Simpson and Hanson, but the really fine heading kinds are New York and the newer Bibb, the best of all lettuces.

ONIONS—By far the most commonly grown onions are produced from "yellow sets," handled by all grocers and seedsmen. Setting distances vary, but if they are "sown," 2 to 3 quarts to 100 feet, some may be used green, thinning to 3 inches to make onions for winter-keeping.

Another onion coming to the fore is that produced from "slips." These are to be had in all the "Spanish" and Bermuda varieties, as well as the less showy but better keeping sort, American Prizetaker. The spacing may be from 3 to 5 inches, and in rich soil, the latter spacing is not too wide. These onions are usually grown to maturity, but as they cannot be kept from sprouting except in cold storage, no more should be grown than can be used by Christmas.

Still another way to grow onions but only for pickling, is from seed. One ounce to 50 feet is the rate, but the seed should be spread out in a "ribbon" rather than in a narrow drill. Southport Globe or Danver Globe White are the varieties.

USES HOME-GROWN LESPEDEZA SEED

Roy Wheat, a young farmer in Russell county, reported some good crop yields recently to Farm Agent R. V. Trosper. In 1932, the first year lespedeza was sowed in the county, he purchased 25 pounds of korean clover seed. Since that time, Mr. Wheat has sowed 100 to 200 pounds each year, all harvested from his own fields. Tobacco yielded well for Mr. Wheat, too. On eight-tenths of an acre last year, he grew 1,024 pounds, for which he received $46.50 per 100 pounds.

TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

The greatest cast ever seen in one motion picture is assembled in "Tales of Manhattan," the 20th Century-Fox picture. The film, produced by Boris Morros and S. P. Eagle, stars Charles Boyer, Rita Hayworth, Ginger Rogers, Henry Fonda, Charles Laughton, Edward G. Robinson, Paul Robeson, Ethel Waters and "Rochester."

* * *

SATURDAY

They don't like to be called "hillbillies"—the Weaver Brothers and Elviry, whose specialty is small town and backwoods drama such as they enact in "The Old Homestead."

"Hillbillies are dirty and uneducated," Elviry says vehemently. "They don't like modern conveniences and they refuse to have their kids vaccinated in school.

"On the other hand, there are no finer, cleaner or more advanced people in the world than honest-to-goodness country folks, who live off the land."

* * *

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

There's no doubt about the fact that Henry Aldrich is growing up. His problems seem to be more mature than they were. In other words, what happens to him could happen to anybody . . . but it shouldn't!

Henry's newest misadventure, Paramount's "Henry Aldrich Editor," will be shown at the Gayety Sunday and Monday. In it Henry's problems stem from his ambitions as editor of the school paper.

* * *

TUESDAY

Resuming their film careers after an extended series of stage appearances, the Ritz Brothers will be seen in Universal's "Behind the 8 Ball" at the Gayety in one of a double feature, Tuesday.

Plus

"Riders of the Northwest Mounted," thrill-packed Columbia western, starring Russell Hayden and featuring Bob Wills with His Texas Playboys. Dub Taylor and Adele Mara head the supporting cast.

* * *

WED., THURS., AND FRIDAY

Listen, matey, when you see "The Black Swan," at the Gayety, you'll run plumb into five of the briniest buccaneers who ever waylaid a windjammer on the high seas.

They're known in Hollywood as Charles McNaughton, Stuart Robertson, Frank Leigh, David Thurs and Charles Irwin. But seafaring souls know them and fear them—as vicious veterans of such bloody campaigns as "Mutiny of the Bounty," "Treasure Island" and "The Sea Hawk."

They appear in support of Tyrone Power and Maureen O'Hara, stars of the Technicolor film based on Rafael Sabatini's adventure classic, which features Laird Cregar, Thomas Mitchell, George Sanders, Anthony Quinn and George Zucco.

HOW YOUR WAR IS PAID FOR

AND IT ISN'T A 10 PERCENT WAR—YOU MERELY LEND—OUR FIGHTING MEN GIVE THEIR LIVES.

It's like this, Neighbor:

Your America wants to borrow every dime you can find. That doesn't mean who you can spare after you've fixed yourself up with a little of every kind of goods that's offered for sale in stores.

No, Uncle Sam wants us to stop buying anything that we can possibly do without. Not only does he want us to buy bonds with our daily savings, but he wants us to lend him the idle money we have been accumulating. He wants us to go to the bank and actually borrow money to lend to him.

It may shock you to know how much money Uncle Sam needs and must get, some way or other. There won't be any fooling. The old Uncle must get the money somehow—by higher taxes, or by bank borrowing if he has to.

None of us can lose, now or later, by liberal lending to Uncle Sam because our money is real money, quite different from printing press money.

When we lend our money, we take that much purchasing power off the civilian market and make it available to buy war material. The civilian market is short of goods today and the supply is getting less and less. What's the sense of us bidding against each other for these scarce goods, sending prices skyward and cutting down the purchasing power of our money? No, it simply doesn't make sense and that's why the success of this 2nd War Loan is so important to the financial future of every last one of us.

The loan won't be successful if we try to kid ourselves into believing that the Big Shots will take care of it. This war is too gigantic for buckpassing. All of us are in it right up to our necks, whether we happen to be in uniform in the South Seas, in overalls in a war plant, or in an apothecary's jacket in the corner drug store.

The money's here, fortunately, and it's real money. Uncle Sam is spending $7,000,000,000 (that's billions!) every 30 days, and more than three-fourths of it finds its way into somebody's pay envelope. Uncle Sam picks up some of the money in the form of taxes. Your 10 percent payroll savings are vital. But this isn't a "10 percent war." And all this isn't enough by anybody's accounting. In this campaign he's reaching out for $13,000,000,000.

To get an idea of what your share should be, just jot down the amount of your total income tax for this year; that might give you an indication of the size of this job. If, by some rare circumstance you paid a relatively small income tax this year, then add up your worldly possessions and in April buy bonds equal to ten percent of your whole net worth.

It isn't expected that you'll find the cash in your checking account. You'll have to dig for it in your accumulated reserves. Perhaps you'll have to borrow it and pay off your borrowing from future earnings and savings.

These savings can be definitely forecast by anyone who is willing to be realistic. Everyone of us is spending less today, or should be. We are compelled to save on gasoline and tires because of rationing. We can't spend as much for railway travel, vacations, liquor, meat, silk stockings, and fancy groceries because these things are either out or greatly reduced in availability for the duration.

It means self-denial to go without many things that make life comfortable. But think what our men are going without who are in active service. They're not complaining. We should be proud to economize, save and lend to back them up.

Probably your own son is out there on the high seas or in a foxhole. He's ready to give his life. We're merely asked to lend our money—which we will get back, with interest.

AN ANSWER TO THE SOLDIER WHO FAILED TO SIGN HIS NAME

Evidently the soldier who wrote the article in The Recorder of March 11, about the Slacker farmer, who was a coward with a wide yellow streak down his back, lost sight of the fact that Uncle Sam and the world require farmers to produce to the limit for our fighting men at home and broad—that they may live and have enough to eat as they go along.

I am the mother of two boys working for Uncle Sam. Only one is in uniform and he is doing his part in the hot desert of Africa. The brother Bobellis is doing his part in overalls as all other farmers are working hard on the home front to produce so you soldiers can have something to eat as you go along. Well we know, you cannot live on atmosphere.

No doubt many other mothers and fathers too, resent your attitude toward farmers, when you call them "slackers."

As you did not come out and sign your name, you must have had a guilty conscience. We would like to know who you are.

When you are at the battle front or just on a tramping hike and come in tired and hungry, and ready for your meal—just stop and think! Don't forget that group of slacker farmers you called the cowards. Don't forget, he toils from early morning until late at night. Don't forget that he is the man, behind the man, behind the gun, who keeps you all alive.

—Mrs. Geo. W. Terrill.

KENTUCKY 4-H GIRLS ON ALERT TO BUILD UP RECORDS AS HOMEMAKERS

Rural girls throughout Kentucky are on the alert to achieve "all-round" records in a twofold project that doubtless will be one of the most important undertakings of their careers—to help win the war, and to fit themselves for peace. Teresely, they seek to become highly efficient homemakers.

To achieve that ambition, many of these future managers of their own household are enrolled in the National 4-H Girls' Record activity to gain a broad understanding of, and take part in the major phases of homemaking, and thereby contribute to the nation's 1943 wartime program by helping to relieve the farm labor shortage.

Outstanding records of achievements in this activity will receive honor awards provided by Montgomery Ward, which includes medals to county winners, an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago to each State's champion, and a $200 college scholarship to one national winner from each of the four extension sections, and two at large.

This is the twenty-first consecutive year of 4-H Club work support by the donor of the current activity, which will be conducted, along with other 4-H Victory projects, under the direction of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, State Agricultural Colleges, and County Extension Agents.

To get the most use from kitchen utensils, homemakers in Caldwell county have been learning new tricks in caring for such items.

Most of the 46 million dollars' worth of new commercial laundry machinery in 1943 will go to military uses, some of it will be reserved for civilian hospitals, but almost none for around-the-corner laundries.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

In answer to requests on how to use a supply of home-dried apples and other fruits, so they will not be held over through the summer months, food specialists at the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics suggest the following recipe. There is an advantage in making a dessert of this type in large amount (this one makes 30 to 40 servings) as a portion may be re-heated as needed.

Dried Fruit Pudding—2 eggs, 1 c. brown sugar, 1 c. ground suet, 2 c. soft bread crumbs, 1 c. milk, 1 tsp. vanilla, ¼ c. fruit juice as grape, cherry or orange, 1 c. flour, 1 tsp. soda, 1 tsp. each of cinnamon, mace, cloves, 1 tsp. salt, 3 c. chopped dried fruit as apples or peaches, 2 c. broken nut meats.

Beat the eggs, add sugar and beat until smooth. Add suet, crumbs, milk, vanilla and fruit juice and stir to blend well. Sift the flour, soda, spices and salt together and add to the mixture. Dust the dried fruit and nut meats with flour and fold into the batter. Pour into one large mold, or a number of smaller ones and steam for three hours. Serve hot with lemon sauce or cream.

CROPPER SEEKS UNEXPIRED TERM

WILL CAMPAIGN FOR COUNTY JUDGE—HAD SERVED AS ACTING JUDGE UNDER N. E. RIDDELL FOR TWELVE YEARS.

Judge C. L. Cropper who was appointed County Judge of Boone County on September 8, 1942 by Governor Johnson to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Judge N. E. Riddell, now makes his formal announcement as a candidate for County Judge for the unexpired term beginning January 1, 1944, subject to the Democratic primary election to be held August 7, 1943.

Judge Cropper served as Acting Judge under Judge N. E. Riddell for twelve years and is thoroughly acquainted with the affairs of the office of County Judge and the Fiscal affairs of Boone County. He is well qualified to advise and help manage the financial affairs of the County due to his eighteen years' banking experience. He is forty-five years of age, was born in Boone County and attended the public schools of this County, and graduated from the Burlington High School in 1916. He then entered the University of Kentucky where he studied until April 1918, when he enlisted in the United States Army in World War I. After the war he returned to Boone County and farmed with his father for four years. In 1925 he was made Assistant Cashier of the old Boone County Deposit Bank and in 1927 when the two banks of Burlington merged he was transferred to the present Peoples Deposit Bank as Assistant Cashier and he is now connected with this bank as Vice President.

In 1934 he was elected to the State Legislature to represent Boone and Grant Counties and served in this capacity for two years. For the past seven years he has been Chairman of the Boone County Democratic Executive Committee, is a member of Boone Post No. 4, American Legion, Treasurer of the Boone County Chapter American Red Cross, member Burlington Masonic Lodge and the Burlington Baptist Church.

Judge Cropper makes the following statement:

Boone County has the reputation of being one of the best governed counties in the State and that it will retain this reputation as long as he serves as County Judge; that the financial affairs of the County are in splendid condition due to the efficient and business management of the late Judge Riddell and the Fiscal Court, and that he intends to carry on this efficient management with the cooperation of the Fiscal Court; that the affairs of the County will be operated within the budget and to the best interest of all the people in the County; that it is a privilege and pleasure to serve the people of Boone County, and their support and influence will be greatly appreciated in the August election.

Walton-Judy

The marriage of Miss Donna Louise Walton, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Walton to Mr. Franklin Judy, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Judy, was solemnized Saturday, April 3rd at 8:00 p. m. at the Sand Run Baptist Church, with Rev. E. Helton officiating at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Robt. Bradford the pianist gave a recital and Mrs. Geo. Wohrley and Rev. John Bishop sang "Because" and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told."

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. James Slade, cousins of the bride. At the appointed hour Rev. Helton, Mr. Judy and Mr. Slade took their places at the altar which was banked with ferns and lighted by glowing white tapers.

Mrs. Slade wearing a gown of ice blue satin and chiffon, a snoulder length veil of matching net and carrying a bouquet of yellow roses came slowly down the aisle followed by the bride who entered on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. The bride had chosen a white satin gown with fingertip length veil of net, fastened to a coronet of seed pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed, after which Mr. and Mrs. Judy departed for a short wedding trip, Mrs. Judy wearing a beige and turn tan ensemble with a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Walton chose for her daughter's wedding an aqua crepe ensemble with corsage of pink roses, and Mrs. Judy chose a light blue crepe with matching hat with which she wore a corsage of pink roses.

Pvt. Carroll Rice and wife are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rice. Pvt. Rice has formerly been stationed at Camp Joseph T. Robinson, Arkansas, but has been transferred to Ft. George Meade, Maryland.

ZERO SHOT DOWN BY WALTON BOY

IN BOMBING RAID IN SOLOMON ISLANDS—THREE OTHERS ARE SHOT BY OTHER CREW MEMBERS.

Sergeant Thurman L. Wolfe, Walton, was credited with shooting down one Zero fighter while on a bombing raid in the Solomns, the War Department reported.

The crew of the Flying Fortress of which Sgt. Wolfe was a member shot down three Japanese Zero fighters and fought off twenty others when flying their bullet-riddled ship back to Henderson Field on Guadalcanal.

In the raid, the B-17 with two other Flying Fortress had scored three bomb hits on Japanese transports despite heavy anti-aircraft fire. Four of a swarm of Japanese planes were shot down by the formation.

Two of the big Fortresses were forced down in enemy territory. The lone B-17 started its trip home under almost constant attack by Zeroes.

Two engines of the Fortress were out and the steering mechanism was badly damaged, when Captain Jay P. Thomas, Salt Lake City, put the plane down on Henderson Field.

Sergt. Wolfe was cited for bravery in the battle of Midway. His assignments have included duty at Hickam Field, Honolulu, and he was present for the bombing of Pearl Harbor.

He enlisted in the Air Corps, February 12, 1941, and has not been home for two years. His first station of training following enlistment was at Ft. Slocum, N. Y.

He has been in the Solomons since last September. He is a graduate of the Florence high school. He was a former member of the Boone County Utopia Club.

Several Farm Sales Reported During Week

A. B. Renaker reports the following farm sales made through his office the past week:

Earl Sullivan of Burlington, purchased 131 acres from Carl Cason, near Belleview, including live stock and farm tools. Mr. Sullivan will move to the farm as soon as convenient for Mr. Cason to give possession.

Elijah Pendry purchased 91 acres from Lee R. McNeely in the Beech Grove neighborhood. This farm adjoins Mr. Pendry's home farm.

Orville Pruiett of Newport purchased 11 acres from Lee R. McNeely which includes the three-room dwelling, formerly Beech Grove school house, and the tract across the road known as the McAtee farm. Mr. Pruiett is employed at the Newport Rolling Mill and will use this farm as a Victory Garden, coming to it over weekends.

Urges Care Of Farm Machinery

Meetings on the care of farm machinery were held at Hebron and Hamilton schools on Monday of this week, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Earl Welch Agricultural Engineer of the College of Agriculture and Mr. Pfowler of the Texaco Oil Company addressed 120 farmers and farm boys and girls at the meetings on means of getting greatest service from the machinery available for 1943 crop production. Motion pictures on machinery care were shown.

Welch advised farmers that many machines now giving good service are from sixteen to fifty years old. Proper adjusting, lubrication and care gives machinery that does a better job of work with less power. He urged farmers not to leave machinery out in the weather to rust and rot out. Replacement parts seldom fit as well or give as efficient service as the original new parts that receive good care.

Others treated at the same hospital were Porter Campbell 21, cuts on the forehead and left hand; Woodrow Campbell, face cuts and Ernie Tyra 20, knee bruises. The three youths are residents of Baptist, Ky.

Irvine Man Injured In Accident Near Devon

Simpson Clemons, Irvine, Ky., suffered a possible skull fracture, broken shoulder and other cuts and bruises when a truck in which he was riding left the road just south of Devon at Red Arrow Tourist Camp, according to J. T. Williams, Sheriff of Boone County.

The driver, Russell Wright, of Berry, Ky., stated that a man staggered in front of his truck, and in order to avoid striking the man, he swerved the truck, hitting the pole. A wrecker was required to extricate Clemons from the cab. He was rushed to St. Elizabeth Hospital in the ambulance of Tharp & Stith, where he received treatment.

Sheriff Williams stated the truck was traveling south when the accident occurred. The driver escaped injury.

WOOL POOL ELECTS OFFICERS FOR 1943

PLANS MADE TO PURCHASE WOOL SACKS AND HAVE THEM PLACED AT CONVENIENT POINTS IN COUNTY.

The Boone County Wool Pool members elected officers for 1943 in a county meeting held at Burlington, Monday. Officers elected were H. E. White, president; Lillard Scott, secretary-treasurer. Directors are, B. W. Frank, Walton; Mrs. Alma Riley, Union; J. W. Conley, Beaver; C. F. Blankenbeker, Florence; C. S. Riddell, Hebron; L. C. McGlasson, Constance; Charles Stevens, Petersburg; W. H. Presser, Carlton; Walter Johnson, Verona; H. E. White, Burlington; and Lillard Scott, Grant.

Plans were made to purchase wool sacks and have them available to all pool members at convenient points in the county.

Reports of the secretary showed the pool handled last year 63,931 pounds of wool which brought members a net total of $31,281. The Boone County pool has served local sheepmen for forty years. It has rendered a valuable marketing service to the sheep industry, selling more than 90 percent of the county wool clip in recent years.

The pool extends a hearty invitation for all sheep raisers to join in with their fellow farmers in selling the 1943 clip. The clip is pooled and sold as a whole under sealed bids. The buyer receives and pays for each member's wool at one of three convenient places in the county.

All farmers may pool their wool without cost by signing up with one of their local directors or solicitors. It's your pool. Give it your support by signing up before May 1st.

Toxoid Clinic Conducted At Burlington School

Under the auspices of the school Parent-Teacher Association, Dr. M. A. Yelton, assisted by Mrs. J. K. Cropper, Mrs. W. L. McBee and the Red Cross Nurse conducted a clinic for the prevention of diphtheria at Burlington School, Monday, April 5th.

All mothers in the community were invited to bring their babies from 6 months up, as well as school children. Attendance was fair, but more babies should have been registered, as the younger the child the more apt he is to contract diphtheria.

There will be a clinic of the same type at Hamilton School on Friday, April 9th at 10 a. m. and at New Haven April 8th at 10 a. m.

BOONE QUOTA SET AT $657,000

AS SECOND WAR LOAN DRIVE GETS UNDERWAY APRIL 12—TO RAISE TOTAL OF THIRTEEN BILLION DOLLARS.

At a call meeting of the County Chairman and workers at the courthouse Tuesday night, plans were formulated to promote the sale of war bonds in the second war loan drive which is scheduled to begin April 12th and to continue approximately three weeks.

Boone County's quota for this second drive was set at $657,000.00. Of this amount $183,000.00 was assigned for banks to purchase, and the remaining $474,000.00 will have to be sold to individuals, charitable organizations, religious organizations, etc. The eight banks in Boone County can only buy the amount of bonds that has been designated for them, as the government is interested in getting more individuals to purchase War Bonds in order to keep down inflation. Each bond purchased by an individual with money saved as a result of curtailed spending plays its part in checking inflation.

Plans were also discussed for precinct meetings and programs for the benefit of all who desire to purchase bonds. A trial meeting of this nature has been planned for the Walton community, and the date and program will be announced in the near future. If this meeting proves a success, and it is thought to be advisable, a meeting of this nature will be planned for every precinct in the County during this drive.

This is a huge task for all who have so willingly been assigned to solicit during this second drive, and their job is not easy by any means. You can make this task a much easier one if you will buy all the bonds you can afford when he or she makes their first call.

The allied nations have entered the second phase of the war. We are now on the offensive, on almost every front. We're closer to Victory, but there is still a long, hard road to travel before our armies march victoriously through the streets of Berlin and Rome and Tokyo.

This 2d War Loan is an all-out drive to help finance the staggering costs of total war.

What has already been accomplished is a magnificent tribute to the patriotism of the American people. More than 50 million men, women, and children, through their purchases of savings bonds, now own a share in America. And they are investing in an average of nearly 20 million bonds every month. Yet we aren't even close to meeting the necessary costs of war.

From now on, it's up to us on the home front to really sacrifice, to forget until after the war those civilian luxuries which are still on the market, tempting us on every side. This year, we who have so long been rightfully proud of having MORE can only be proud if we do with LESS.

To insure a quicker Victory, to save American lives, invest in United States Government securities to the very limit of your ability—and do it now—Our boys are giving their lives—won't you lend your money?

APRIL CALL CANCELLED

FOR BOONE COUNTY—ACTION RESULTS FROM REDUCTION IN STATE QUOTA—20 COUNTIES AFFECTED.

State headquarters of the U. S. Selective Service system has notified Local Board No. 9, Burlington of the cancellation of its April draft call, scheduled for the latter part of the month, according to dispatches from Louisville.

Word from Louisville explained that inasmuch as draft board quotas and arrangements for transportation are scheduled a month in advance, less confusion would result from cancelling those calls set for the last week in April than disrupting the program for the entire state for April.

Such a decision brought cancellation of April calls in 20 Kentucky counties.

This order does not affect the call for three colored men for April 16th, according to C. G. Kelly, Clerk of Local Draft Board 9.

NO CHOICE

When the specter of food shortage looms over the family dinner table, the immediate conclusion is now drawn that something is wrong at the production end of the food industry, for the reason that the problems of the farmer have at last reached the headlines for all to see.

However, the problems of processors and distributors of food are equally critical.

Retail food distribution is in danger of collapse. Retailers have reported that employe turnover has reached 500 per cent a year. Loss of manpower is acute and is largely attributable to the "work or fight" order of the government, the "raiding" of key employes by the United States Employment Service, and to the draft. Because food distribution has not been declared essential, many men have felt morally bound to look for jobs in "essential" industry. The resultant impact on the operating efficiency of organized retail distribution, has been staggering.

It would be tragic indeed if food, once produced, failed to reach the tables of consumers. Yet, that is exactly what will happen if the distribution industry is crippled. Approximately 85 percent of the total volume of food distribution is handled by the organized food distribution system calling for highly trained personnel. This system is composed of proprietary chains, supermarkets, retailer-owned wholesale cooperatives, retailers affiliated with voluntary groups, and large individual retailers. It is the backbone of retail distribution. Without its support, price and rationing regulations and inflationary controls would become virtually unenforceable. Without its continued efficient operation millions of people would go hungry even if every farm in the country produced to capacity.

There is no choice. The food industry, from farm to merchant, must be freed of red tape and given the necessary skilled manpower to get food into American homes—or American homes will go without food.

IT MUST NOT HAPPEN HERE

Tragic stories of death from starvation and exposure in Europe are so commonplace that their horror has lost significance to many of us. But is should never be forgotten that lack of production is not the sole factor in the plight of Europe's millions. Europe has no organized distribution system. What few necessities exist are transported at the convenience of military authorities. Points of final distribution to consumers are places rife with disease and dirt. What a contrast to the distribution system of this country!

Retail distribution in America is scientifically organized. Its principles are comparable to those of mass production. The core of modern retail distribution is the chain stores and voluntary groups of independent merchants, both of whom are heavily counted upon by the government to help maintain a stable and adequate supply of necessities, within equal reach of every civilian. It is a formidable task.

Fair and adequate distribution can be accomplished. The record of retail merchants gives strong reassurance of that. However, they will need the utmost cooperation from the government and from the public. The government must do all in its power to simplify rationing and price regulations, just as it must recognize the essentiality of merchandising. The public can cooperate by being tolerant toward inexperienced employes and by avoiding the temptation to hoard non-rationed commodities.

The tragedy in Europe should spur us on to help our producers and distributors in every possible manner. We want no recurrence of that tragedy, in this country.

HOUSECLEANING BILL

Some labor leaders have announced that they "will be willing to accept" the bill by Representative Sam Hobbs of Alabama, to subject labor unions to the Federal anti-racketeering law, if an amendment is inserted providing "that activities of union members and labor organizations recognized as legal by Congress in the Clayton act, the Norris-LaGuardia act, the railway labor act and the national labor relations act" are safeguarded.

Labor leaders contend that the Hobbs bill in its present form will "have the effect of prohibiting legitimate labor activities along with actual racketeering." The public has no desire to interfere with "legitimate labor activity," but it is in no mood to be longer subjected to actual racketeering practices such as it has had to endurse in many fields of activity under the guise of union rules and regulations. The rank and file of labor is opposed to racketeering practices, but it has been helpless to correct iniquities forced on it and practiced in the name of legitimate labor unions.

Representative Hobbs will have rendered an outstanding service to the public and to labor if he can provide legislation which will curb the evils at which his bill is aimed. Intelligent labor leadership is wise to cooperate with him in his efforts, and thereby retain public confidence and respect.

Wasted money is wasted lives. Don't waste precious lives. Every dollar you can spare should be used to buy War Bonds. Buy your ten per cent every pay day.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

PETER AND JOHN WITNESS CHRIST'S GLORY

LESSON TEXT—Mark 9:2-8; II Peter 1:16-18.

GOLDEN TEXT—A voice came out of the cloud, saying, This is my beloved Son: hear him.—Mark 9:7.

Christ is God! The one who comes to know that truth is ready to follow Christ, and to make Him known to others. The want of such a true conception of the Son of God weakens our convictions and hinders our usefulness.

"Where there is no vision, the people perish," said the wise man (Prov. 29:18). For want of a true vision of Christ as God, and the God-given constraint which makes men give themselves in sacrificial service, the people perish in their sins.

Peter and John saw our Lord in His transfiguration, and the glow of that experience lighted their entire life and ministry. The touch of the supernatural was on these men and their message—for they had seen the glory of Christ.

I. The Amazing Glory of the Son (Mark 9:2-6).

The transfiguration of Christ is one of those wonderfully beautiful and deeply spiritual experiences which defy analysis or satisfactory description. Poetry and art have vainly tried to depict it only to become "in fact a confession of the impotence of the loftiest art to rise to the level of the divine" (Van Dyke).

Peter was so dazzled that he could only suggest that they remain there, forgetting for the moment that down in the valley was demon-ridden humanity waiting for the divine deliverance of the Son of God (see Luke 9:37-42).

What took place on the mount can possibly best be explained as the outshining of the inner glory of the Christ. He had laid aside His glory when He became flesh, but not His divine attributes as very God. There in the presence of God and the heavenly visitors that glory shone through His humanity and His appearance became dazzling in its whiteness.

II. The Approving Word of the Father (Mark 9:7, 8).

A cloud, like the cloud which filled the Temple of old (I Kings 8:10,11), covered them, and the Father spoke out of it words of approval of His Son.

These words carry "both judgment and command; judgment concerning Jesus, 'This is my beloved Son,' and command to the disciples, 'Hear ye him'—that is, 'Listen to him' " (Lesson Commentary.)

John and Peter came to a fuller conviction that He was the Son of God as they saw Him transfigured and heard the words of the Father. They learned more plainly the fact that He was God manifest in the flesh for the redemption of man. They saw in the indescribable beauty of that moment a foregleam of His coming glory. What important truths—His deity, His redemption, His coming kingdom. Have we learned them as we have beheld His glory?

III. The Assured Faith of the Disciples (II Pet. 1:16-18).

These words were written by Peter when he was nearly eighty years of age—about thirty-five years after the transfiguration. John wrote sixty years after the event and said, "We beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father" (John 1:14).

The one who follows these eye-witnesses in believing in Christ may share their assurance expressed by Peter that we do not "follow cunningly devised fables" in making known to the world the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ. Our faith is built on God's Word, and upon such testimony as this by eye-witnesses. Here is real ground for assured belief in Christ.

Great experiences of spiritual renewing and power lead to effective life and testimony for Christ. They may not be in outward manifestations, in fact they are most often in the inner recesses of man's soul; but they do transform men and send them forth to magnificent living for God. One wonders if much of the dearth of power in the Christian Church is not to be attributed directly to the lack of such experiences with God.

The disciples had an unforgettable mountain-top experience. Even so have many others found the secret of power. It came to D. L. Moody as he walked down a New York street, praying in agony, "Deliver me from myself. Take absolute sway." The story of what happened to him and through him as a surrendered instrument in God's hand is written large on the pages of history. Others have had similar experiences.

Let us remember that such privileges are not reserved for a few, they are the birthright of every Christian. Power without knowledge is a dangerous and destructive thing, but knowledge without power is a dead thing, resulting in a stale and unfruitful orthodoxy that in turn produces a dreadful and unchristian religious system.

SATURDAY

Marking the anniversary of her first year in motion pictures, Donna Reed has a leading role in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Apache Trail." Remembered for her performance as Mickey Rooney's girl friend in "The Courtship of Andy Hardy," Miss Reed shares top billing with Lloyd Nolan, William Lundigan, and Ann Ayars in this Western action drama.

"Apache Trail" was adapted to the screen from Ernest Haycox's Collier's magazine story, "Stage Station."

TUESDAY

Dorothy Lamour and Jon Hall Hall are one pair of movie stars who laugh in the face of danger. In "The Hurricane" they giggled as they clug to a tree during the raging storm. In "Aloma of the South Seas," the pair are caught in a dread tropical volcano eruption. In rescuing Dorothy, Hall accidentally tickled her, and though admittedly nervous, both stars broke into an impromptu laugh.

WED., THURSDAY AND FRIDAY

An authentic picture of Naziism in operation inside Germany as recorded by a school teacher who lived there for years and saw it at first hand is given to audiences in RKO Radio's "Hitler's Children." Based on the sensational factual book, "Education for Death" by Gregor Ziemer, the film is a dramatic love story played against the sinister philosophy which is being instilled into German youth and the tragic fate which befalls those who refuse to be converted.

Tim Holt, Bonita Granville, Kent Smith, H. B. Warner and Otto Kruger are featured.

A Week of The War

The German Afrika Korps, retreating up the Tunisian coast toward the Tunis-Bizerte triangle, has been playing a series of delaying actions. Having made a safe exit through the Gabes battleneck before the American and British armies could effect a junction. Rommel last week turned to make a stand at prepared positions north of Audref. Attacking Allied forces found their advance hindered by mine fields laid to cover the Axis retreat.

According to OWI director Elmer Davis, Rommel's withdrawal from the Mareth Line was made under cover of a sandstorm, which saved Rommel from the devastating air pounding the Allies had been prepared to inflict on, him and allowed him to get out with most of his material intact. As a consequence, the Afrika Korps will now be in a position to fight a good delaying action, Dr. Davis said, and the more delaying actions it can fight, the longer it will postpone "the eventual invasion of Europe."

Reports of Axis losses so far are incomplete, but Secretary of War Stimson said the Axis has lost large numbers of Germans and Italians killed, several thousands made prisoners, and large quantities of guns, tanks and vehicles. He said that several American divisions are on this front, to take part in the expulsion of the Axis from North Africa, and predicted that before the final phase of the campaign is over there will probably be a great deal of fighting.

Eight Army Success

The Allied success at the Mareth Line—forcing Rommel to abandon his defense system and flee to the North—was attributed, by both Director Davis and Secretary Stimson, to the leadership of General Sir B. L. Montgomery and the skill of the British Eighth Army. Mr. Stimson explained that what forced the Axis retreat was the Eighth Army strategy of sending a flanking force to the rear of Rommel's troops, but said that co-ordinated operations of American and French troops in Central Tunisia and the British First Army in the North, plus the able support of American and British fliers, contributed substantially to the Eighth Army's success.

All week Allied air forces have been harassing the retreating enemy columns, and a cordon of British, American and French ground troops continues to press the Axis forces into an ever-narrowing area in Eastern Tunisia. Through this gap, Secretary Stimson said, Rommel must try to move his forces. And apparently this is what he is trying to do, heading for a union with the Axis forces in northern Tunisia under Col. Gen Von Arnim. Union of Rommel's and Von Arnim's troops would give the Axis a strong army in good defensive positions—the defense perimeter of Bizerte.

Reports From The Pacific

The recent conference held in Washington between high commanders from the Pacific combat theaters and the U. S. chiefs of staff brought out valuable first-hand reports of developments in the Pacific. There is evidence, Secretary Stimson said, that Japan is augmenting her front line air strength in Burma, China and the Southwest Pacific, but on the basis of the commanders—reports the Army and Navy are preparing detailed plans for forthcoming operations.

All week Japanese positions in the Aleutians and in the South Pacific have been under attack by American planes. In the north, Navy planes hit at Kiska and at Holtz Bay, Attu Island, and the Army defense command announced that American bombers in one attack dropped more than 80 tons of bombs on the uncompleted Japanese runway in the Salmon Lagoon.

FAMILY OF 9 SONS WORKS FOR VICTORY

A family of nine sons, seven of them now or at one time 4-H Club members, and all directly engaged in the war effort, is the unusual record of the Maxey family in Ballard county, notes Farm Agent S. C. Bohanan. Three sons are already in armed forces; the fourth has completed signal corps training at Lexington and is awaiting his call.

The other five sons, all members of the Blandville 4-H club, are enrolled in production projects, three in beef, one in tobacco and one in pig and corn projects.

GARDEN CHAMPION PLANS BETTER JOB

Thirteen-year-old Lamont Hornbeck, 4-H club member in Hardin county, has his plans all made for a better garden this year than last, says Home Agent Dorothy Gentry. Then he received the goal medal for having the outstanding 4-H club garden in the county, although it was his first year in club work.

After the plowing of the garden was done by Mr. Hornbeck, Lamont and his younger brother took over, doing the planting and cultivating. They spent $7 for seed mostly for potato seed.

The garden not only supplied fresh vegetables all summer for the family of five, but Mrs. Hornbeck canned 267 quarts, including among other things 33 quarts of peas, 38 quarts of corn, 74 quarts of beans and 100 quarts of tomatoes. Products were sold from the garden for $3. Then there were 35 bushels of potatoes, 2 bushels of turnips and 1 bushel of onions to store.

SUNDAY, MAY 2ND GO-TO-SUNDAY-SCHOOL DAY

The 29th annual Go-To-Sunday-School Day in Kentucky will be observed on the first Sunday in May—May 2nd, 1943. Sponsored by the Kentucky Sunday School Association, hundreds of Sunday Schools and churches over the state will united in this definite program which has as its objectives (1) the focusing of attention upon the Sunday school and its importance in the development of Christian character; (2) stimulating all Sunday schools to greater activity in reaching and teaching the people; (3) extending to each individual in Kentucky a special invitation to attend the Sunday School and church of his choice, regularly, and particularly on May 2nd.

Kentucky was the first state ever to observe Go-To-Sunday-School Day. It was inaugurated on May 3rd, 1914, by the late Dr. George A. Joplin, at that time General Secretary of the Kentucky Sunday School Association. From then on the promotion of the day became an annual feature of the Association's statewide program and thousands have been brought into the Sunday school through its observance.

As part of the preparation for Go-To-Sunday-School Day, special publicity will be carried on in counties and communities all over the state. The Kentucky Sunday School Association will assist by furnishing, free of charge, printed posters for use in the Sunday schools, stores and other strategic places. Hundreds of these posters already have been mailed out. Additional copies may be secured from the Kentucky Sunday School Association, 554 South Third St., Louisville. Requests will be handled in the order received.

The Association is also uniting with the International Council of Religious Education and major denominations over the country, in encouraging the observance of Christian Family week, May 2nd, through May 9th. As a matter of fact, the movement is being known this year, as National Family Week and Roman Catholic and Jewish leaders in family life are joining in the general observance. Agencies of the Federal Government are also cooperating.

Approximately 2,000 pounds of waste fat were collected by grocery stores in Murray in February.

SCHOLASTIC STANDINGS HIGH FOR FALL QUARTER AT U. OF K.

A total of 253 students in the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Kentucky, and 50 students in the College of Agriculture and Home Economics made scholastic standings of 2.0 or better during the fall quarter of the current school year.

In the College of Arts and Sciences the freshman class led with 69 students achieving that high standing. In addition to the freshmen there were 67 seniors, 63 juniors, and 54 sophomores attaining the average, which is the equivalent of a "B".

In the College of Agriculture and Home Economics the seniors took the lead with 18; while the freshmen had 15, the juniors ten and the sophomores seven.

Among those students attaining this high standing are Robert Lewis Tanner, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Tanner, Florence; and John Irvin Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Anderson, Burlington and Keith R. Vice, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Vice, Burlington.

HOUSEKEEPING HINTS WORTH REMEMBERING

Facts About Fish

Fresh fish isn't a matter of guess work. Watch for these characteristics say Westinghouse home economists: Gills should be red. Scales should stick closely. Eyes should be bright and bulging. Flesh must be free from slime, elastic and firm to the touch. In fact, when you touch the flesh with your finger, the finger should leave no impression.

Short Cuts On Washday

Dry clothes correctly and they iron with less effort, according to Westinghouse home economists: Fold sheets and tablecloths right side out, hem to hem, and hang so hem extends over the line 8 to 12 inches and you prevent dog-eared corners. Hang towels and pillow cases square and they give longer service. Hang shirts by the tail, dresses by the hem, anchor several handkerchiefs, napkins and washcloths with a single clothespin.

For A Change

Instead of cookies—or when the cookie jar unexpectedly resembles Mother Hubbard's cupboard—Mrs. Julia Kiene, Head of Westinghouse Home Economics Department, makes a filling of powdered sugar, butter and vanilla, spreads on one graham cracker and puts another on top. Makes a nice change in a lunch box, but do wrap carefully in wax paper.

Plan Before You Pack

By planning a lunch box meal well in advance and by doing much of the preparation at dinner time the night before, Mrs. Julia Kiene, Manager of Westinghouse Home Economics Institute, packs a good-and-good-for-you box lunch in less than eight minutes. For example, take butter out of the refrigerator so it will spread more easily in the morning . . . Slice or grind meat, wash lettuce, vegetables and fruits, then wrap in wax paper and store in refrigerator overnight . . . Put stewed fruits, puddings, salads or mayonnaise in separate containers. . . . Keep cocoa syrup on hand, if possible, and add a tablespoon or so to hot milk at the last minute.

Care Of Electric Cords

Don't disconnect lamps or appliances by pulling on the cord, warns Miss Myrtle Fashbender, Director of Home Lighting for Westinghouse. It loosens the wires in the plug. Instead, grasp plug itself and remove with a firm quick motion from all outlet or appliance.

Housecleaning Aids

In anticipation of Spring cleaning, Westinghouse home economists have rounded up some cleaning hints worth remembering the year around: Rubbing wax on window sills, Venetian blinds and work surfaces protects the finish and simplifies cleaning . . . An ordinary paint brush saves time when dusting furniture, especially elaborate furniture . . . Dip a cloth in vinegar and water to wipe off furniture—makes polishing easier and finger marks don't show . . . Grease spots on walls vanish with a dusting of French chalk—let chalk remain for several hours and brush off with a soft clean cloth or small brush.

HOME-CANNING QUOTA OF KENTUCKY TOTALS 284,562,700 QUARTS

Kentucky's essential wartime home-canning goal for 1943 totals 284,562,700 quarts, a leading food distributor estimated today.

"This huge job facing the state's 694,055 housewives represents an average of 100 quarts of home-packed food per person, the amount the United States Department of Agriculture has recommended for rural families and which it considers desirable also for urban families.

Jim was a lineman and a good one. But Uncle Sam needed men of his calibre in the Army, so now he's in North Africa.

Jim is only one of 100 employees of this company who are serving in the armed forces. Their departure leaves a gap in our ranks that is hard to fill. Men who have spent years learning the know-how of the electric business aren't easy to replace in times like these.

Already the pinch of the manpower shortage is making itself felt in certain phases of our operations. Despite the fact that we are constantly training new men, we are being forced to operate shorthanded in some localities. Wartime restrictions on the use of automotive equipment and shortages of materials, repair parts and supplies are also complicating the problem of rendering first-class service, but like other concerns in all lines of business, we're doing the best we can with what we have.

While things may not be quite the same with so many of our men away — and more going all the time — we intend to safeguard the adequacy of your electric supply and see that you get the best service possible under the prevailing conditions. You can help by keeping your electrical equipment in good condition, by learning to replace your own fuses and by avoiding rush calls and requests for special trips except in cases of genuine emergency.

Your cooperation will help conserve manpower, materials and rubber and will enable us to serve you better.

The following letter was received Tuesday afternoon from Aubrey Knox, stationed with the U. S. Army in Tunisia:

"March 18, 1943

"Dear Sirs:

"Just a few lines to tell you how much I enjoy the Boone County Recorder over here. They are a little old by the time they arrive here, but after a year overseas service any newspaper from home even though six weeks old brings news that we really want to hear.

"My APO number is now 512 and as the paper gets slowed up by going to my old APO I am sending my new APO so service will speed up a bit, (I hope).

"Bob Butler and I send greetings to all our friends back in Boone County. Bob and I are the only Boone County boys in this anti-aircraft outfit. I think Bob and I have seen just about as much enemy air attack as anyone over here. We were under 20 attacks by German Stukas and fighter bombers in five days and since then we lost count of the attacks. We have weathered everything "Jerry" could throw at us. Although it's a rather dangerous spot it's had a lot of humorous angles to it too. The Arabs and their clothes gave us quite a few laughs at first, and the sight of a six-foot Arab riding a very small burro and being required to hold his feet up to keep them from dragging the road.

"We have a powerful short wave radio with which we get the news from Boston every day. I was able to reach WLW one night and that really was a thrill to hear it after not hearing it for a year.

"We get plenty to eat here and all the cigarettes we can smoke. We haven't seen any of the movie actors and actresses that were in Casablanca and Oran. We heard where they had some close escapes etc., while over here, but we don't see how they figure that as they were only about 1200 miles from the actual front. We would have enjoyed seeing some of the shows they put on for the boys there, for we haven't seen a picture show for about 7 months now.

"We sure are looking forward to the time we can be back in old Boone to stay. It's a grand place to live, and don't let anyone say it isn't.

"Your Resp.,
"AUBREY KNOX."

NAVY RECRUITING SERVICE LAUNCHES STATEWIDE DRIVE

Sending the very type of able-bodied men the Navy wants to replace in search of replacements, the Navy Recruiting Service launches a state-wide drive in April for the enlistment of WAVES and SPARS that will reach into every county and hamlet where the huge U. S. S. Recruiter can travel. A complete recruiting station on wheels, the U. S. S. Recruiter carries a full complement of seamen to talk to women interested in replacing Navy men and Coast Guardsmen on shore duties. More than eighty civilian occupations are useful to the WAVES and women who have had at least two years of high school education and who can pass the physical requirements should investigate carefully when the U. S. S. Recruiter arrives.

Moving pictures of the WAVES will be shown by the Cruiser at every major stop and talks will be given over the loud-speaker system in order to reach the crowds that have gathered everywhere that the U. S. S. Recruiter has stopped in other states.

The ladies will find the interior of the Cruiser extremely interesting for it consolidates all the better features of living room, bed room, bath room, recruiting station and broadcasting station in true Navy fashion.

To enlist in the WAVES or SPARS a woman must be between the ages of 20 and 36 (20 to 49 for officer candidates) with at least two years of high school education and with no children younger than 18 years of age. She must be able to pass the Navy physical examinations, the first of which is given her by her own physician.

Free booklets telling in detail about enlistment and service in the WAVES and SPARS are now available and may be obtained either at the nearest Navy Recruiting Station or during the visit to the U. S. S. Recruiter which will carry a supply at all times.

"Kentucky men have consistently led the nation as volunteers," said Lieutenant Commander G. E. Kincannon, Jr. in commiss.oning the U. S. S. Recruiter for the Kentucky trip, "and I am firm in the belief that Kentucky's women will make an equally fine record as volunteers in the WAVES and SPARS."

"It is vitally important" he continued" that women be enlisted to replace the thousands of seamen now serving in shore capacities. Such jobs range from stenographer, to parachute rigger, to medical assistant and cover some 80 civilian occupations in which women are equally as good as men. The Navy will train those who have no special background. The important thing is to enlist now."

Men interested in joining the Navy's SEABEES can also obtain full information from the personnel of the U. S. S. Recruiter. "Voluntary induction" is now open to men between the ages of 18 and 38 who can prove ability in Construction work.

The 2nd War Loan Starts April 12

UNITED STATES TREASURY WAR FINANCE COMMITTEE

13 billion dollars must be raised!

THE GOVERNMENT of the United States is asking us to lend it 13 billion dollars in the next few weeks. We can do it. And we must do it. Every American must realize the truth:

In this, our toughest war, we've made a good start. We've trained a lot of men—made a lot of weapons—built a lot of ships.

But it's only a start. No man or woman among us would contend for a single instant that we're doing enough now to win this war!

We've Got to Build More!

We broke all records building 8 million tons of shipping last year. But grim-faced Army and Navy men will tell you that the 18 MILLION tons we're building this year still won't be enough!

We've Got to Fight More!

From now till this war is won, America must be on the offensive. In ever-increasing numbers, your sons, brothers, husbands must go into actual battle. Our losses have already begun to mount—and they will not grow less.

And We've Got to Buy More War Bonds!

Sure we're all buying War Bonds now. But we've got to help pay for our increased fighting and building . . . We've got to match, as best we can, the sacrifice of those Americans who are toiling and sweating on a dozen battle-fronts—with the bloodiest yet to come. The blunt fact is this: to keep our war machine going, we've got to dig up 13 billion extra dollars this month. 13 billion dollars over and above our regular War Bond buying!

In the next few weeks you may be visited by one of the thousands of volunteers who are contributing their time and effort to this Drive. But don't wait for him. Make up your mind now that before this drive is over, you're going to march right down to your nearest bank, Post Office, or place where they sell War Bonds, and do your duty. And don't ever forget this: in doing your duty, you're doing yourself one of the biggest favors of your life!

For United States War Bonds are the greatest investment in the world—bar none. They're investments tailored to fit your particular situation. And they give you the chance of a lifetime to order and get the kind of world you want to live in after this war. Every cent you put in War Bonds now will help to guarantee plenty of peacetime jobs making peace-living for every one of us.

For your Country's sake—for your own sake—invest all you can!

There Are 7 Different Types of U. S. Government Securities—Choose The Ones Best Suited For You:

United States War Savings Bonds—Series E: The perfect investment for individual and family savings. Gives you back $4 for every $3 when the Bond matures. Designed especially for the smaller investor. Dated 1st day of month in which payment is received. Interest: 2.9% a year if held to maturity. Denominations: $25, $50, $100, $500, $1000. Redemption: any time 60 days after issue date. Price: 75% of maturity value.

2½% Treasury Bonds of 1964-1969: Readily marketable, acceptable as bank collateral, these Bonds are ideal investments for trust funds, estates and individuals. A special feature provides that they may be redeemed at par and accrued interest for the purpose of satisfying Federal estate taxes. Dated April 15, 1943; due June 15, 1969. Denominations: $500, $1000, $5000, $10,000, $100,000—also $1,000,000 if registered. Redemption: Not callable till June 15, 1964; thereafter at par and accrued interest on any interest date at 4 months' notice. Subject to Federal taxes only. Price: par and accrued interest.

Will they thank you for good strong feet?

Oh, you mother of a child—you want his manners to be nice, you want his brain to be quick, you want his hands to be agile—but don't you want his feet to be sturdy and true, well shaped and graceful? Are those of your daughter?

You mother of a child, twenty years from now his feet will be walking up to get a diploma, or confidently marching in to get a job, maybe walking up to an old church alter to meet a bride in white. (Or it may be the bride herself). Your child may never thank you for good strong feet, he'll take them as a matter of fact.

But what will he think if they're not good strong feet? Sure, he'll still love you—but "why didn't mother make sure I was growing up right?"

It is a responsibility, just one of the many a mother takes on when she brings a child into the world.—Adv.

Early History Of Boone Co.

By A. M. Yealey

We can realize from the preceding chapter that the beginning of Florence dates back to about 1820. From this date to 1835 quite a number of residences, inns or taverns and a few store buildings were erected on the Ridge Road.

Several old maids built a house of brick opposite the intersection of the Burlington pike with the Ridge Road but later sold it to a Mr. Williams, who added to it and converted it into a tavern, and it became known as a stopping place for the stage coach and the passengers were allowed to refresh themselves with a good meal. Aaron Burr, LaFayette and his son stopped here on their way to Lexington.

Another tavern was built at the junction of the Ridge Road and Banklick Streets. This was a large frame building and fifty years ago the writer himself in passing thru this structure wondered why so large, but later found out that often from 50 to 75 guests were accommodated here during one night.

As late as 1870 great droves of hogs, cattle and sheep on their way to market in Covington stopped at this place for the night. Turkeys were driven in great flocks from the central part of the state and roosted on the fence and in the barnyard in rear of the tavern, guarded by a faithful watchman during the night.

This was the last stop going north and it was only 9 miles to market and these stockmen and farmers would arise early and be on market by 8 or 9 o'clock.

As the population was now increasing the need of a school building was called for and a small school house was built beyond the end of Banklick Street and it was called Squirrel Hollow on account of the great number of squirrels that played around the building while school was in session.

In 1835 Mr. John Stephens owned the land at the junction of the Ridge Road and Union pike and he and Mr. Varner and several others built a frame church at this corner, but a couple of old women who lived opposite Perry Carpenter's house became disgruntled about something and burned it to the ground. However, in 1842 the present brick church was erected.

John Stephens was the father of Benjamin Stephens who was at one time County Judge and also represented Boone County in the General Assembly during the Goble and Taylor controversy.

Town And Farm In Wartime

Wives of Service Men To Get Maternity Care

Maternity care for wives of service men and care for their infants will be available shortly for those who apply to State Health departments, according to Katharine F. Lenroot, chief of the Children's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor. Following appropriation by Congress of $1,200,000 to meet estimated need to July, plans are being rushed to extend such aid to women in the 48 states, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the District of Columbia. The care will be available to the wife or infant of any "buck" private, private first class, corporal, or sergeant, in the Army and comparable grades in the Navy, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard. It is not available to wives of men in higher ranks.

Maximum Prices For Meat

Maximum prices for all retail cuts of pork went into effect throughout the U. S. April 1, and the OPA will issue, in the immediate future, similar schedules of maximum retail prices for beef, lamb, mutton, and veal. Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown regards the action as a major blow against the black market in meats and a step toward simplifying retail food pricing.

Tires For Farm Equipment

Tire dealers or persons selling or servicing farm equipment are now entitled to keep on hand a maximum of six rear-wheel tractor tires. Dealers who have the replenishment portions (Part B) of rationing certificates calling for truck tires may restock with tires suitable for farm equipment instead.

Examintions For Tuberculosis

Since the outbreak of war, the U. S. Public Health Service has given X-ray examinations for tuberculosis to nearly a quarter of a million of people. Slightly more than one in every 100 persons examined have significant tuberculosis of the lungs. From 55 to 60 percent of the cases are in the early stage most amenable to treatment, usually without sanatorium care. From 35 to 45 per cent of the cases discovered by the Public Health Service are moderately advanced, and only three to four per cent far advanced.

Relief For Battery Shortage

Some relief is anticipated in the current farm radio battery shortage, the Consumers Durable Goods Division of WPB has announced. Lack of batteries has been acute in those farm areas where radio reception depends solely on battery sets. In some sections of these areas, reports have indicated that as many as one-third of the farm radios have been inoperative due to a lack of batteries.

More Ice Boxes

About 400,000 household refrigerators, 148,847 electric and gas-operated, and the rest "ice boxes," will be available to the general public this spring, according to the Consumers Durable Goods Division of WPB. Only those who cannot be served by other types of refrigeration are eligible to buy gas or electric refrigerators, the order provides.

Legal Help For Soldiers

Free legal assistance will be available for all military personnel under a plan sponsored jointly by the American Bar Association and the War Department. Legal assistance offices will be established at each post, camp and station in the U. S. A qualified commissioned officer who is also a licensed attorney is to be appointed by the commanding officer of the post as the legal assistance officer. Assisting the legal assistance officer, will be volunteer civilian lawyers from nearby communities.

Advance Payment of Points

Payment of points "in advance" for home deliveries of butter and cheese by dairymen or salesmen operating mobile conveyances over a regular delivery route has been authorized by OPA. For example, the housewife who on Monday wants a pound of butter left at her home, the following Thursday, can give the deliveryman eight currently valid stamps to cover the later delivery.

Ceilings On Veal

Maximum prices have been established for veal at packer and wholesale levels in all parts of the country as the Government continues its nation-wide campaign to protect housewives against excessive prices and black markets. Veal is outranked only by pork and beef in national meat sales.

Food Distribution Discontinued

Distribution of foods through state welfare departments to local communities for use in school lunch programs is being discontinued on April 30, according to the Department of Agriculture. Under a new program announced in February, schools are able to purchase foods locally for their lunch programs and receive reimbursement in part from the Food Distribution Administration.

Reclassification of Manpower

The Bureau of Selective Service of the War Manpower Commission began promptly on April 1 to reclassify registrants in certain activities and occupations designated on February 2 as "no-deferrable" regardless of dependents, WMC Chairman Paul V. McNutt has announced. This order affects only registrants of military age.

Gas For School Busses

School bus operators who did not receive revised certificates of war necessity before April 1 may obtain supplemental gasoline allowances if necessary, ODT has announced. An appeal form may be obtained from the nearest district office of ODT's division of Motor Transportation, completed and presented to the public school superintendent of his recommendation and returned to the district office.

2,000 Sacks of Army Mail Lost

Through enemy action more than two thousand sacks of U. S. mails carried on United Nations ships and destined for American soldiers overseas in recent weeks have been lost, the Army Postal Service reports. In making this announcement, the War Department said that the loss of these mails was a striking illustration of why V-mail should be more fully utilized in communicating with soldiers overseas since 30,000,000 pieces of such mail have been handled thus far without the loss of a single letter. This is made possible by holding the originals at the ports of embarkation until the duplicate copies arrive safely at their overseas destinations.

Ceilings on Used Vehicles

Used commercial motor vehicles have been brought under price control by the OPA. By establishing ceilings at a percentage of the value of the vehicle when new, the new regulation is expected to halt the activities of speculators which have resulted in some instances in prices that are 200 per cent or more over the normal value of the used truck.

Farm Trailer Shortage

An increasing shortage of trailers to handle farm produce is reported by truck trailer industry advisory committee. The need for trucking facilities to transport farm products is now pressing in some sections of the country and will increase with the coming of warm weather and harvesting. The committee pointed out as an example the situation in Texas where there are some 2,600 towns not served by any railroad.

Price On Baked Goods

Housewives who buy pastries, doughnuts, pies, cakes and sweet yeast raised goods from producers who sell direct to ultimate consumers may expect to see a printed retail celling price on the wrappers, the OPA said. The price is now required to be printed on the package wrapper.

More New Cars

A quota of 38,000 new passenger automobiles was set by the OPA for rationing in April. Only 37,100 were released in March.

Increase In Bicycle Quota

A quota of 88,200 new bicycles for rationing in April was announced by OPA, 87,100 were released in March.

Textiles "Essential"

An order establishing yarn and fabric as "essential" for military and civilian needs and classifying important position in cotton, wool and rayon plants as "necessary" will soon be issued by the War Manpower Commission. The cotton fabric and yarn industry has been urged to increase its 1943 production by at least 10 per cent.

Transportation Rumors False

Rumors now circulating to the effect that the Office of Defense Transportation intends to apply priorities to civilian train and bus travel are completely an entirely false, says Joseph B. Eastman. However, passenger transportation facilities are under severe strain, and people who have no real need to travel should stay off trains and buses.

More Can Openers

Production of can openers for civilian purposes will be more than twice as much as previously allowed. The quota, previously held to 35 per cent of the base period rate including army orders, has been increased to 50 per cent, not including military requirements.

Reduced Vehicle Speeds

State support of the nation-wide 35-mile limit has effectively reduced motor vehicle speeds on rural roads. According to Public Roads Administration of Federal Works Agency, fifty-three per cent of all cars still travel in excess of 35 miles per hour; ninety-one per cent were exceeding this limit about a year ago. Rationing had little effect on speeds, but the appeal for a 40-mile limit about a year ago reduced average passenger-car speed from 47 to 44 miles per hour. The federal order for a 35-mile limit, effective last October, brought the average down to about 37 miles per hour.

The Circus Is Coming

The circus—delight of American boys and girls—will be coming to town again this summer. The ODT has issued a general permit authorizing railroads to transport the employees and property of circuses, carnivals, or similar shows in railways cars owned or leased by the circus or carnival companies. The first movement under the general permit was that of Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey combined shows, which left its winter quarters at Sarasota, Fla., on March 29.

BIG ANDY'S GONE

There's an echo in the barracks,
Of a soldier's cheerful voice;
There's a rolled-up mattress,
That isn't there by choice;
Big Andy went away today
And he isn't coming back;
His khaki's on the hanger
And his rifle's in the rack.

They're going to miss you, soldier,
They're taking it pretty hard;
They just can't seem to understand
Why you had to punch your card;
But you'll get used to that new bugle,
When you go to stand retreat;
Though you have a new Commander,
And new people you will meet.

Good luck to you Big Andy,
This is a far as we can go;
But we're going to miss you, fellow
And we'l like for you to know;
We'll meet you at your new base
On that great Inspection Day;
My buddies send their best regards
That's all that we can say.

In memory of a friend and buddy killed in an airplane crash. Written by Pvt. Robert C. Ryle, AAF Sec. Staff, Bolling Field, Washington, D. C.
